

Render Unto Caesar: Being In the World But Not Of It

1994-04-15

Indeed, beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of Light divine, I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing, as you have chosen to set aside this time interval to abide with me in this manner.

For truly, it has been a choice on your part to set aside this time so that we may commune in this way, for you could have chosen to be somewhere else. There were many choices before you and many reasons that you would have seen to stay in your home, to not venture out in what you would call your chariot with the horses inside, to stay indoors, to stay out of the weather that was raining, to stay indoors to watch the square box that brings you the pictures of the world right into your living room.

But yet, there has been a calling, a very deep calling from what you would term the soul that has called out to know, "Who am I?" It is a yearning; it is a question that I, myself, experienced, for as a lad, I had heard the stories that were told of my birth. I had heard the prophecies of how I was to be messiah of my people. I had heard that I was the Son of God. And as a lad, I questioned, for I saw myself to be as a small lad experiencing the feeling of a body, finding out what one does with a body, finding out what one does with emotions, for I, too, had emotions. I, too, had doubts, questions. I, too, had congestion of the emotions from time to time, and my father, my earthly father, Joseph, who was a grand healer and still is, spoke unto me when I had what you would call the congestion or a cold, and he sat with me and he asked me to get clear with the emotions for truly this was what was causing the congestion that I felt within the body.

For the body is your perfect servant. Every message that you send unto the cells of the body is immediately responded to. Every feeling of constriction within the body is instantly registered; every feeling of peace is instantly registered. I was at a place where I was jealous of my cousin, John the Baptist, my cousin who was almost my age - slightly older - and I adored him. I saw him as being able to do many physical things for he was somewhat older and very athletic, very strong of body. I was also but I wasn't quite as old or quite as developed, I would say, as he was at that point, and I was jealous of what he could do.

I didn't recognize those emotions at that time. I just knew that I had feelings, feelings which registered as congestion. And my father, Joseph, sent me out of doors to sit by flowing water and to be at peace with the emotions and with myself, with my soul, to get in touch with the Life that I am and to get in touch with the image of myself as the holy Child. Not as the holy Child that had been prophesied - that I was the one and only - but as the holy Child, as you are. For you are the holy Child of our Heavenly Father, created before time was, and after the purpose of time has been fulfilled, you will still be always and forever eternally the holy Child of our Heavenly Father: Light, energy that can be measured as Light and energy experienced as Love, Love incarnate.

You will always be the holy Child. That is Who you are. Even though you might choose to hold another image of yourself, that does not change Who you are. There have been lifetimes - many lifetimes - when you have chosen to hold a limited view, a limited image of Who you are and yet, that has never touched and never will touch Who you are.

So I sat by flowing water and allowed myself to come to peace and allowed the congestion of the body to be released - as all of you have learned to do. In taking one deep breath, instantly it restores you unto the place of the heart. It restores you unto the place of peace.

Breathe with me now one deep breath. Breathe in the golden white Light that you are and take it deeply within the cells of the body. Feel it reaching even unto the toes. Feel it reaching even unto the fingertips. Breathe in the golden white Light that you are and take it deeply within to the heart chakra, as you would know it. Breathe again, and take it deeply into the solar plexus and allow the muscles to relax. Every one of them. Instantly with a deep breath it restores you unto the place of the heart. It restores your connection with what you would term your God Self, your centeredness, your oneness as the Child of the Heavenly Father that you are.

If there would be questions of the mind, remember to breathe and to come unto the place of the heart and then all wisdom will be revealed, for there is nothing hidden from you. You are the holy Child. You are the creator of all that you manifest, and if there be a question, know that there be an answer. And it is not hidden and it is not far away. It is within. It is in that place of stillness where you hear the still small Voice, where every answer is revealed.

This evening I desire to be among you, and I thank you for honoring my invitation and choosing to be here. This evening I desire to speak unto you of a topic known as "Rendering Unto Caesar" the things that are of Caesar, of the world. Of being in the world but not of the world. It is a very timely topic, for many of you have sent in by your carriers today your taxes unto Caesar. Beloved Elder found the post office, as it is called, within this city and sent off his return, I think it is called, unto Caesar.

This was a question that was posed to me during the week leading up to my crucifixion, when I was in Jerusalem and teaching in that last week, as you would see it.

It was not the last week of my expression upon this plane for truly, after the crucifixion I came back as you all know, for there was a resurrection. I resurrected the body, and I spent fifty days with my disciples and my friends of the community of Essenes after the resurrection. But during the week preceding the crucifixion, I went into the temple in Jerusalem and taught as I have often done. I did this to share with my brothers and sisters the inner wisdom that was revealed to me: how I knew myself to be one with our Father.

You have heard it said many times, and it is a grand Truth, that I and my Father are one. You and your Father are one. It could not be otherwise. For if you are Life - and I assure you that you are - are you alive? Yes. If you are Life, you are one with our Heavenly Father. You are the expression of our Heavenly Father upon this plane.

So I taught. I taught to share the insights, the inner wisdom, and I taught also to lead up to what would be known as the demonstration, my demonstration upon this plane. And at that time the priests were much annoyed with what was going on and they sent delegates you would call them unto the temple to question me, to trap me into what they would judge to be blasphemous, for I had said many things that they thought were blasphemy and they wished to get rid of me. They saw me as a rabble rouser and they saw me as a threat to the established power, the power of the organized religion in that time.

So they sought to ask me was it lawful to pay a tax unto Caesar? For this was a grand controversy, and they thought that if I said that it was not appropriate to pay the tax unto Caesar that they would have me, for it would be treason against the State and they would report me, as it would be, unto the Romans and they would get rid of me.

You all know the story of how I asked for a coin, and they brought forth a coin and I asked, "Whose image was upon the coin?" And they replied, "Caesar's." And my answer unto them was to "render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's and unto God that which is God's."

All of you have chosen to be here as the expression of our Heavenly Father upon this plane in this time. All of you have chosen to be in the world, to participate in what is going on in the world. But all of you are much more than the world. All of you are Spirit. And what is transpiring upon this plane at this time is a homecoming - much as you have experienced in this room this evening with beloved Elder and the one known as Judith: coming and reconnecting with old friends. This is a time of reconnecting with old friends, with family, with what would be known as your heart family, Who you are in the Heart.

It is a time of awakening, a time of remembering, a time of bringing the Spirit that you are into the physical manifestation known as the body one hundred percent. Not giving up the body, laying it down somewhere in order to ascend unto Heaven. That is not the purpose at all. It is to express with the body - as you are doing so well - and to remember one hundred percent Who you are and to allow that to express through the very molecules of the body: to express the Light that you are. This is why we did the small, what you would call, exercise in the beginning, of breathing in the golden white Light that you are, of returning again unto that place of the heart, the place of peace. For as you do that momentarily, you allow the very cells themselves to radiate the Light that you are.

You allow each and every cell to be what it is designed to be: a receptor and transmitter of the Light that you are.

This is why I have said, "Let your Light shine." It is not just fancy words that sound beautiful. It is a grand Truth to let your Light shine. That is Who you are. It can be measured even in this day and time by your scientists. It can be seen by ones who have the eyes to see: the aura, as it is termed, around the body. It can be seen. It can be measured. The energy that you are can be hooked up to run one of your mechanical devices, and even more can you do as you remember Who you are, as you allow the very cells of the body to come alive as the Light that you are.

As you awaken to the Truth of your being, you allow the Light that you are to come one hundred percent incarnate. For truly, many of your brothers and sisters are not incarnate. There is such a tiny percentage, as you would see it, activating the body. Most of who they are is not being used, transmitted, received, allowed to shine. This is why you see so many of your brothers and sisters calling out in such clarity to know Who they are.

This is why you see the events upon your television sets, the square box that brings the world right up in front of you, right up into your living room, as it is said. You see the acts of violence, but you also see the acts of Love, the acts of nurturing, of support in what was known as the recent shakeup in one of your western States known as California: the earthquake, I believe it is called. There were many who found themselves helping brothers and sisters who a day before they would not have crossed the street to even smile upon and yet, in a time of what is known as crisis, they found the shutters of the heart being flung wide open and they found themselves to be much more than they had ever thought themselves to be.

It was a grand opportunity for sharing the Love that they are with the brothers and sisters. And if you will receive it, many of the brothers and sisters, ones who would be seen as the victims, were there as the servants of the others who had the opportunity to open the heart and to share. Many of the brothers and sisters that you would see and judge to have had this calamity befall them were servants unto the others. They did not have a calamity befall them. They chose to be where they were in order to be the servant for another, to extend unto another the opportunity.

For if you will receive it, all of you have experienced countless lifetimes, more lifetimes than you could ever bring back into what you would call right now the conscious memory. And yet, it can be done. You can have every lifetime pass in front of you as it would be a movie, but it would take you in your timing, it would take a while - quite a while - for that to happen.

All of you have experienced laying down the body countless times. All of you have experienced raising up another body, being born of woman. You have experienced also, if you will receive it, manifesting a body not born of woman. Can you imagine bringing together the molecules of physicality into what is known as a body for a time interval to sit with a friend and to share with them what is needed? And then when that has been fulfilled, to allow the molecules to return unto the dust, unto the Light that they are. Can you imagine what that would feel like? To bring together for an instant, for an hour or longer, what that would feel like? Can you? Yes.

You can imagine, as it is called, doing that. And if you will receive it, the reason that you can imagine doing that is because you have done that. There is a part of you that knows how to manifest a body for a short time interval. Otherwise, what I would be speaking of right now would go into the air, into the ethers, and it would mean nothing to you. You would not even understand what I was speaking.

You are much more than the body that sits upon the chair and the personality with which you identify in this time and space. What you identify with right now is but a small percentage of your total Self. You are unlimited. You go with me in what you would see as other realms. You fly with me. You fly with the angels. What does that feel like to fly with the angels?

I should go like this.

Yes.

I can feel.

Yes, you can feel the energy uplifting, and then you can feel the very motion of flying with the angels. You do. Even in this time as we speak, you fly with the angels. That is how unlimited you are. You are the only Child, the only creation of our Heavenly Father, created perfect, unlimited from before time began. For time is of this plane. Time is of your creation upon this plane. Time is seen to be as a process that has a beginning, a middle and an end, and hopefully the end will not come too soon - if it is something you don't want to see - and there will be more of the middle.

I felt that way in the Garden of Gethsemane. I felt that way and I asked my Father, "If it be Thy will, let this cup pass." In other words, "Heavenly Father, if there is some other way we can make this demonstration, let's go back to the drawing board and think about this again." But it was to be as prophesied and it was important that the prophecies be fulfilled, the ancient Scriptures.

I knew from my studies with the masters in India and in the area known as Tibet, and with the masters in the area known as Great Britain, I knew that it was possible to resurrect the body. I knew that I - and this is the same for all of you - I, as the Spirit that I am, activate the body. I am not the body. I am the consciousness that brings it together to express Who I am. I knew that it was possible to lay down the body, to allow it to be what you would call dead, and to resurrect it.

But on the evening before the crucifixion, I, too, had to work with my emotions, my trust. I had to come past the veil - as all of you feel now that you are facing a veil. There seems to be something in front that keeps you from knowing the totality of Who you are, and yet, the veil is that thin. It is as gossamer. It is, if you will receive it, a belief. It is a belief that it is there. And all of you are in process of allowing the veil to dissolve.

That is why you have called me forth in this manner: because you are willing to entertain new ideas, expanded ideas, as you would call them, of what reality can be. That is reality with a small "r". Your Reality with a capital "R" is the Light that you are, the holy Child that you are, the angel that you are. That is your Reality with a capital "R".

But you are willing to entertain, to play with new ideas. You have always been thus. When you were as an Essene, you studied, you questioned, you read the Scriptures, you sat with our Holy Mother, the Earth and you asked of Her to share with you Her secrets and She did. And you sat under the heavens and you asked the stars - as you have done in this very lifetime - to share with you their secrets. And as you have sat out under the stars in that vast canopy, you have felt yourself to be much more than just the body, much more than just the personality. You have felt such an expansion that you have said, "Truly, there must be more to life than what I am experiencing on a day to day basis."

That is why you are here this evening: because you are willing to experience the vastness that you are. You are the holy Child, unlimited, always and forever Love. And your Heavenly Father, Who is not separate from you, Who lives His Life as you when you remember to abide in the heart as the Love, your Heavenly Father loves you. It cannot be otherwise. You are Love itself. You are beauty itself. Even the design pattern that you have chosen of the body, the very way you style the hair, the beautiful colors that you adorn yourself with, speak of the inner beauty that you are.

You put upon yourself the colors, the very vibration of colors that allow you to resonate with the vibration of who you are. You are the rainbow of all colors and yet, there are certain times and certain days that you will feel what you would call an alignment with certain colors and you choose that color to wear because there is an alignment, a resonance that you feel. On another day you feel somewhat different, and you choose another color.

You allow the Light that you are to sparkle, to radiate as with this beautiful raiment {referring to a vest decorated with sequins}.

{Public address system squeals.} We apologize, as they say, for the mechanical interference.

In the day and time that we shared together, we did not have the mechanical devices. The words were carried upon the air. The words were carried from heart to heart. The words were carried from mind to mind as concepts and often we did not even need the words. We spoke from heart to heart - as we do in this day.

For as I speak with you, I speak words that you hear. I speak words that convey concepts that the mind grasps and plays with, concepts that will be as a catalyst for remembrance, for opening the heart.

And yet, as we share the concepts of the mind, there is beneath that a language of the heart that is transpiring in every moment. There is much more happening here than just the words, than just the ideas and the concepts of the mind.

I give you concepts of the mind to keep the mind busy. The mind likes to be busy. The mind goes from one topic to another topic to the next topic to another topic, and as we keep the mind busy, it allows the heart to open, and that is where we truly commune: in the heart.

If you would seek me, seek me first in your heart, for that is where I abide, always.

You have heard it said that you are in the world, but not of the world. What is the world? The world is not your Holy Mother, the Earth. That is different. Your Holy Mother, the Earth is very much a living energy, a Light being, as you are, very much alive and expressing and allowing - allowing all of you and your brothers and sisters to take what is needed to nourish the body, allowing you to take the very molecules of physicality from the dust of the Earth - yes, literally true - of matter from your Holy Mother, the Earth, to bring it together into a vehicle of expression.

That is what the body is. It allows you to express the Spirit that you are. It allows you to speak a language unto your brothers and sisters that they understand. For if you came to your brothers and sisters as the Light being that you are, would they pay attention? Would they believe you? Would they see you?

So, you have attracted to yourself what is intelligible to the brothers and sisters so that you may speak a language that they can relate to. And you, as you fulfill your purpose of becoming totally incarnate, knowing yourself to be the Spirit that you are, activating the body and activating it joyously, you speak a language unto your brothers and sisters that will turn them on.

It will turn on the Light that they are. I know that that expression is used in other manners but we speak here of turning on the Light.

{Laughter.}

The world is the activity of the mind of man and woman. I will not be sexist, I guess they call it. Man and woman. It is all of the activity that keeps one so busy that one tends to forget that one is more than just the activity that is going on in the world.

The world is made up of the "shoulds" and the "have to's," of the schedules, of the judgments, of what you would see as the constrictions that say that you must be a certain way in order to fit in - all of the things that society, as it is called, teach you that are acceptable or are valuable or attractive, as in much that you see on your square box that brings the world into your living room. There are many messages that tell you how to be attractive. How to be wanted by others. What products to use. And yet, as you have discerned, that is external. That goes on outside. It is the Light that you are that is attractive.

You have felt this with ones. You have spoken unto ones who have come into the room where you were and you may not have consciously remembered who they are although you have met them in other lifetimes, and they have come and you have felt such an attraction to them. You have felt, "This is an old friend. I don't know exactly where we met or who you are," but you have felt such an attraction. You have felt at home, and you have even said it in those words. "I feel so at home with you." And it is because they are allowing their heart to be open and you are allowing your heart to be open and there is the bond of Love. It is a very physical energy that is exchanged, for you are energy.

There is nothing hidden. As you would have emotions, as you would have judgments of yourself or of others - and your world teaches you to keep a lot of those hidden and to be as they call the "poker player" and not to allow that to be seen - you cannot hide that from your brothers and sisters. For what you feel is registered in the energy that you are and it goes out immediately as vibration.

This is why, as the converse of what we have just spoken of, you will meet someone and you will feel instantly a misalignment of energy. You will feel a jangling. You will feel something that does not feel right. Have you ever experienced that? You would say, "I do not feel at peace with that one." It is because the very vibration that they are sending out, even though they would try to be the poker player, it is registered. There is nothing hidden. There is no separation. You can be very honest with yourself and with others. You might as well come to that place, for you will come there sooner or later and you will see that it is no use to try to hide the feelings from another. You will even, if you will receive it, come unto a place where you know it is not even worth having the judgment.

For you will remember that what you see the other one doing is something that you have done and experienced in other lifetimes; otherwise, you wouldn't see it. You would have no place of computing, as they say, within. You would not recognize it.

So when you see one doing a behavior that you would judge or even giving an appearance that you would judge, know that you have exhibited that behavior or that appearance in what you would see as another lifetime - or perhaps even this lifetime - and know that it is all for the experience of the holy Child - for that is what is transpiring upon this plane - and allow them to play in their sand-box as you have played in your sandbox.

The world is a place that would speak of separation, that would say unto you that you, as the holy Child, have gone far from the Kingdom of our Heavenly Father, that you must somehow be far from the Kingdom. The holy Child - Who you are - has desired to experience what it feels like to create. The holy Child has desired to be as the Heavenly Father and to create. And the holy Child has asked, "What is the Kingdom of my Heavenly Father? How far does it reach? What is within this Kingdom? What are the parameters of this Kingdom? What can I create?" And with that very thought were born all of the journeys that you have ever thought yourself to be upon, all of the lifetimes, as you would call them: the Grand Adventure. For that is truly what you are on: a grand adventure.

And the holy Child, thinking himself/herself to have experienced so many journeys, thinks himself/herself to be far from the Kingdom for, "Look what I have experienced. Look how far I have traveled. Look what I have done. I must be far. I must have traveled a grand journey." And yet, you have never left the Kingdom of our Heavenly Father. You cannot. The Kingdom is Who you are. That is why I have said, "The Kingdom is within." The Kingdom is the place of the heart. The Kingdom is the place of peace. The Kingdom is the place, yes, of spiritual ideas.

Where do these ideas come from? They come from you, the within part of the Spirit that you are, the creative place that you are, the place where you connect again with the oneness that you are. And yet, the holy Child has thought himself/herself to be far away as you have listened to the voice of the world.

But if you will receive it, I abide always in the Kingdom of our Heavenly Father. That is why I come and I say in the very beginning with my opening greeting to you, I come in great joy. For that is where I abide at all times - and beyond time. I abide in joy, which is your true home. For the holy Child awakened knows himself/herself to be unlimited Love, to be never threatened, cannot be harmed, cannot be threatened, cannot even be limited - although there would be times when you would choose the image that speaks of limitation.

But the holy Child awakened knows herself to be the free Child of our Heavenly Father and to know that there is nothing left to do except to be Who you are and to go with such a grand freedom, such a joy, spreading it, as it would be - you have someone in your history known as Johnny Appleseed - spreading the joy as it would be seeds of apples, allowing the joy to be contagious.

Have you ever been with one who laughed and laughed and you didn't even know what they were laughing about, but you found yourself laughing? It was contagious. That is what joy feels like. It does not even have to have a reason. You just find it bubbling up from within and, if you will receive it, it is the momentum of joy that brings you Home. It is not the momentum of worry that brings you Home. It is not the momentum of judgment or of doubt that brings you Home. It is the momentum of joy that brings you Home, for Home is where the Heart is, and the Heart is Love and the Heart is joy and the Heart is peace.

The awakened holy Child knows herself to be beautiful. For truly, you are, a beautiful expression.

You have chosen - it is not by accident that you find yourself here this evening; it is not by accident that you find yourself upon this plane. It is not some god afar off who has said, "Okay, it is your mission to come down to this plane and express, and if you are good enough I'll take you back Home again." Hmm, no, it doesn't work that way.

You have chosen to be the expression of our Heavenly Father upon this plane. You have chosen to be Spirit one hundred percent incarnate. You have chosen to be in the world but not of the world. You have chosen that this is the lifetime that you will come Home. Not laying down the body, although all of you in time will lay down the body as the purpose for the body has been fulfilled, but you will still go on expressing as the Light and the Love that you are.

For there are many rooms in my Father's mansion, many places, ways of expression, and you will find yourself very busy and very joyful, expressing as the holy Child that you are. But you are all on what you would see as a path, for it is part of the belief system of this plane to believe in process, to believe in a path that leads somewhere and truly, it does - although it is a journey without distance, a journey that brings you Home, a journey that brings you unto one moment in time when you sit and you realize, "I have created everything that I see in my experience. I have created all of the lifetimes. I have created all of the adventures. I have created all of what I have seen as the relationships for the one purpose of knowing Who I am, for the one purpose of coming Home, realizing I have never gone from Home. I may have forgotten what it feels like but I have never left Home." And there will be such grand laughter, for you will sit and the bubbles of joy will rise up and you will have such a grand laugh. You will realize that it has been a grand drama and you have been the playwright. You have been the director. You have been the actor. You have been the actress. You have been the actor and you have been the actress for you have experienced all - all for the purpose of knowing the total Self that you are, for knowing the creativity of the holy Child.

What you experience is for the purpose of showing you your grand creativity. It is to show you your strength. It is to show you your power. Not the power as the world would define it, but the power as the holy Child that you are.

Often mankind will look at experiences, circumstances, relationships and will see what they judge to be failures or limitations and will say, "Oh, I should have done such and such. Oh, I should have...." All of the "shoulds" that come in and yet, what it is showing you is how powerful you are as the creative holy Child. All of the events that you manifest are there to show you your strength, not your weaknesses. It is to show you how strong you are, how powerful and unlimited you are.

For truly, all of you have gone through what you would see as horrendous experiences in other lifetimes - and some of them in this, what you would see as this lifetime. All of you have laid down the body and yet, where are you now? Are you alive? Yes, and always will be, always will be expressing in one form or another, whatever you choose. You are the Life of our Heavenly Father.

You have heard it said that my Kingdom is not of this world and this is true. My Kingdom is your Kingdom. It is the place of the Heart, abiding in the Heart as the Life and the Love that you are. That is why it is not of the world. You cannot take the world and put it in the Kingdom. It does not work. But you can take the Kingdom of peace and Love and put it in the world, and it will transform the world.

That is your mission should you choose to accept it. And that is what you have chosen to accept. That is why you are here. Any of you ever ask, "Why am I here? Who am I? Why am I here?" Yes. I asked those questions myself. You are here to bring the Kingdom into the world and transform the world, and it is not a heavy responsibility. It will not mean the crucifixion of the body. It will mean the crucifixion of limiting images that you have held of yourself and of others. It will mean the crucifixion of anything that is not True with a capital "T". But it will not be a difficult thing to do, for you are very much in process of doing that. It will be a very natural unfoldment, as is already happening.

For you have released many of the chains that have been upon the heart for what you would see as lifetimes. Where have they gone? They have dissolved as the nothingness that they are. For you have allowed them to go. It is as a child who plays with a toy when he/she is a very young child, and as he grows a bit older or she grows a bit older, the toy is outgrown and just left in a corner. This is what you have done with many of the beliefs that you held in other lifetimes, the chains upon the heart. You have left them as a toy that is outgrown. You have no need for them any longer, and you are coming Home.

And it is a grand homecoming. That is what is transpiring upon this plane now. That is why many of you have felt an acceleration. You have felt that there are so many things happening in a rapidity, so many choices, what to do, where to go? So many choices, not enough time. Ever said that? Yes, and it is growing, as you have discerned. It is growing for the purpose of allowing you the grand clarity of priority, for the grand clarity of choosing to either abide as the Love that you are or to abide as the fear, the constriction, the frustration that the voice of the world would speak unto you.

That is why you are calling forth the acceleration: so you no longer have time, as it would be, to abide in the grayness of the middle place. You now are being forced not by entities, individuals, masters outside of yourself, but you are being forced by your own unfoldment to choose in each moment where you will abide, and you have felt the joy that comes with abiding as the peace and the Love that you are. And you have felt the pain that comes from abiding as constriction and as frustration, and even this has accelerated. In what you would see as other times of even this lifetime if you have chosen to abide in fear and frustration, it was tolerable. Not pleasant perhaps, but tolerable.

But you are coming unto a place now where each moment when you come out of the place of peace, out of the place of Love, it is instantly right there in front of you and it feels terrible. Yes. You are bringing that forth in grand clarity to make your choice. Making it easy to make your choice. Unless, of course, you like abiding in the pain - but not for long.

You are in the world, yes, for you have chosen this as your path of service, the service that brings you Home. You are in the world but you are not of the world. You are bringing the Kingdom that you are into the world to transform the world, and as you choose momentarily to be the angel that you are and to spread the healing balm of the Love upon every situation, you will see the very events of the world change before your eyes.

Even what you would perceive now as being violence and calamity, tragedy - and there is much that could be judged that way in every day, for you are bringing forth right in front of you events that would seemingly be happening around the world, as it would be seen, around the Earth right in front of you - and yet, if you will pause for a moment and choose to look anew, you will see how every event provides an opportunity for the ones involved to come Home.

That is why they are manifesting what is transpiring. That is why they are choosing to be right where they are. You have events happening in what you see as this day and time in a place known as Africa, where there is much violence going on, much inhumanity as it is called, and yet, there is much Love that is going on there, for the ones who are seemingly being the victim and laying down the body in what you would see as horrible manner are being the servants of the others to allow the others to experience an opportunity to choose anew, an opportunity to look upon circumstances and to see that "I am my brother."

The opportunity is afforded and the choice can happen in an instant. And ones are offering, as the servants that they are, an opportunity for other ones to experience what they feel to be the power of decision, the power of deciding whether the other one will continue to express with the physical body or whether they will seemingly take the body.

Know you that no one takes the body from you. It is always a choice to lay it down. It cannot be taken from you except as you choose to lay it down. This is why I say that the ones who are seemingly the "victims" - that is in quotation marks there - are the servants of the others. They are also servants unto themselves for they are allowing themselves a grand opportunity to see that life is much more than the expression with the body, that the body matters not except as the expression of the Love and the Spirit that one is.

For you have all laid down the body countless times and you will do it again. It allows the one who is laying down the body to see that it is but as raiment as you would choose for a time interval to put upon the Spirit that you are, to express. That is all it is. It is changed as easily as one would unbutton this raiment and take this off and to put on another one. The world would not teach you that. The world does not teach you that.

The world teaches you to preserve the body, otherwise you'd be lost. This is not true. But the ones who choose to lay down the body have in that instant the opportunity to come Home, to see beyond the body, to see beyond the violence, to see beyond what would be an act of violence against them, and to be in that place that I was when I was upon the cross and being crucified, and to have the nails, the large spikes - they were not tiny carpenter's nails, but the large spikes - driven through the hands and to look upon the one who was driving that spike into the hand and to know no separation with that one, to love that one as myself, to know that one as the holy Child and to look upon that one with grand Love - to the place where one of those could no longer drive that spike, but he awakened and ran away for he saw the Love and in that instant his world was transformed.

The ones who are participating in this grand drama that you see in the place called Africa are grand masters, each and every one - as you are - grand masters upon the stage of experience, of expression, and they are not victims. They are choosing to be there for their own opportunity to come Home and for their own affording to others the opportunity to see past the activity and the belief of the world.

Render unto Caesar what is necessary in the world, remembering at all times to give unto God that which is God's. For truly, you are the Spirit of Love upon this plane. Be in the world but remember Who you are. You are the holy Child. Nothing less than your Father's only Child in whom He is well pleased.

Awaken in every morning of your time and give thanks unto yourself for the Love that you are. Give thanks unto the total Self that you are. Breathe it in deeply every moment and know that you have chosen to be here as the servant of our Heavenly Father, as the expression of His Love upon this plane, and with that, beloved ones, you come Home.

Coming Home is done momentarily. It is not just a grand occurrence that happens once and instantly you are transported off unto the angels. This can happen if you so choose, but coming Home happens momentarily as you choose in each moment to be the Love that you are, to be the strength of the unlimitedness that you are, knowing that no one and no circumstance can ever alter Who you are. Never. Never has done and never will do.

You have chosen sometimes to keep the blinders on and to say, "This is all I am and I must protect it." And you have gone about in that lifetime protecting what you thought you were unto a place where the body itself became so dead that it no longer allowed you to express the Light that you are and you laid it down. And it was not with judgment, for you experienced what it felt to be very constricted.

There were lifetimes that you went about very constricted in the mind and you thought that this was the only way that life could be. And when one of your brothers and sisters disappointed you in what you thought was the way they "should" react to you - perhaps you had a lover who did not return your love the way you thought they should - you laid down the body out of sorrow, devastation. And you laid it down for the very experience of knowing that you could lay it down and raise up another and start a new chapter, as it would be.

And you started another chapter and you fell in love again, and you found another one that you loved and you desired to have their love, and they again did not return the love in the way you wanted it, but in that lifetime you looked and you saw something different and you said, "It does not matter if that one does not turn and shine the Light of his countenance upon me in the way that I would like to have it. I still love that one. No matter if he choose someone else or if he go to a far country, I will always love that one." And in that choosing anew, you allowed yourself the grand freedom of knowing that your happiness, your very being did not depend on that one returning your love in the way that you would ask for it, and you allowed one of the heavy chains upon the heart to be released.

You did not know that as a conscious thing. You didn't sit there and say, "Oh, thank goodness I allowed that chain to be released." But it was released and you became what is known as enlightened, for you no longer had that heavy chain upon the heart. You have done this in your process of unfoldment in all of the circumstances, relationships, that you have brought before yourself in what you would see as other lifetimes and in what you see as this lifetime for the very purpose of looking beyond and knowing that you are the very Love that you would see in another, and all that matters is the extension of the Love that you are unto another one. All that matters, as you have discerned, is to be the fountain that pours out and out and out the Love that you are in service unto whoever stands in front of you. Just to be the Love that you are in grand freedom.

And if they desire and they choose to look upon you and to shine the Light of their countenance upon you, then it is a grand sharing. But if they choose to look upon someone else, you still keep pouring the Love as the fountain that you are, and you feel no lack. For you know yourself to be unlimited Love. For as you pour it out, instantly there is more. It is unlimited, for it is Who you are.

And as you allow it to be extended, guess what? You come into the joy that brings you Home. You come into the joy as the holy Child that you are, and the smile is upon the face and within the heart and you know yourself to be in the world but not of the world. You know yourself to be the very activity of the Heavenly Father in this plane at what you would see as this time.

Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's and render unto God that which is God's. Render unto your Self - the Self with the capital "S" - that which is God's. For you are God. It is as one of your actresses has shown you in grand clarity when she went out upon the beach and she stood there with the ocean and she said, "I am God." You are God. You are God expressing upon this plane. That is how unlimited you are. You are the very image and likeness of God.

What does that mean? Think upon it. What does God mean to you in your belief? And if you are the very image and likeness of God, what does that make you? {Public address system squeals.} Makes you a grand vibration, and even more.

{Laughter.}

In your times of questioning... do you ever have times of questioning?

No, never.

Yes.

It is the way of mankind/womankind. In your times of questioning, in your times of perhaps doubt, ask yourself, "How would the holy Child look upon this? How does my Heavenly Father see this?" Look upon whoever stands in front of you with my eyes. Imagine how it would feel to look with the eyes of Jeshua ben Joseph, the one known as Christ.

That is Who you are. You are the Christ upon this plane, if you will accept it, if you will live it. Look upon all of your brothers and sisters through the eyes of Christ, for that is Who you are. Be in the world to transform the world, remembering always that you are not of the world. You are much more.

You have manifested the world out of your grand creativity for the very purpose of knowing Who you are, and sometimes you look at the reverse side of the coin and you do not know Who you are. But if you will look with the eyes of Christ, you will behold such beauty in every one of your brothers and sisters.

You will see each one as the holy Child, playing in the sandbox of experience: some of them throwing more sand in the air; some of them allowing the grains of sand to come down upon what you would feel as your head sometimes, and yet, you can brush it off; some of them making what you would call the sand castles. Look upon each and every one as the holy Child that they are. Appreciate their grand beauty, for you are beautiful.

You have chosen to manifest your unique beauty in this design pattern, each and every one of you. You have chosen such exquisiteness of the delicacy of a strand of hair, of the eyebrow, of the little muscles of the face that allow you to smile, of the ear. Think of the miracle of bringing all of those cells together in the design pattern that you have chosen, and yet, you take it all for granted - most of the time. Sometimes you look in the mirror and you would change it - then you don't take it for granted.

You are all beautiful. Each and every one of you in the process of allowing your Light to shine. You are the true Child of our Heavenly Father. You are His true servant. You listen unto the guidance of the heart and, as the heart dictates, know that you will never make a mistake.

Go always unto the heart for it has been said and is true, that out of the heart come the issues of life. Pause and breathe deeply of the golden white Light that you are, for this is Who you are, and return unto the place of the heart. Abide in the heart, and then if there be decisions to be made, you will have the insight to make that decision. If there need be words spoken, you will know the words. You will also know if it is to be without the words and just to be what is understood.

The words convey messages, concepts of the mind but the true communication is from heart to heart. It is what is called communion - common union - where you know yourself to be one with whoever stands in front of you; you are one as the holy Child. Always and forever.

It is a grand time to be alive upon this plane at this time. You have all chosen it because you knew at some level that it was a grand time to come Home, and you have all chosen to be here at this time. Even though there might be days when you would say that you would end it all and you would want to leave it - what you have desired to leave is the constriction of the world - at a very deep level you have not wanted to leave this experience, for you have known that there is a grand Homecoming occurring upon this plane. It is called the awakening, the atonement, known as the atonement, the awareness of oneness.

It is a grand family reunion, as you would see it, and all of you are very busy preparing the picnic baskets and there will be much to share with your brothers and sisters. The reunion is well in progress and it brings joy unto me to be again reunited with you in this fashion.

I have desired to be able to reach out and touch ones that I have touched in other lifetimes as you would see it, to be able to physically say with the touch how much I love and honor you. Thank you, beloved one. This is why I have asked my ancient friend and teacher, the one known as Judith - although there was some resistance - I have asked this one to make this demonstration of being very active, in allowing me to be in communion with you in such a manner.

Thank you.

Thank you, beloved brother, for you are the one who has chosen to be the expression upon this plane. I have what you would see as the easy part. I come and I borrow the body for a time interval and then I allow the one known as Judith to take care of it in between. It is a good arrangement. You should try it sometime.

{Laughter.}

You will, for nothing is kept from you. If you desire to do what you see being experienced right now, it is quite possible. All of you have known that. It is not a foreign idea to you. All of you have heard me speak unto you many times. For we are often in communion and many of you have allowed me to speak through unto your brothers and sisters, for there have been times when you have been with someone and they have been in sorrow and in confusion, and the shutters of the heart that have been so tightly closed in other times have been flung wide open and you have wanted to share with this one in front of you what would be of help. And you of yourself - the small self - have not known what perhaps to say, but you have allowed the heart to be wide open, and the words have come and have been shared. And afterwards you have said, "Where did those words come from?"

Yes, you have been as is known in your world, you have been the channel for allowing that Love to flow through in a language that is understood by the one in front of you. You have allowed the higher Self of you - it is not a separate Self; I am not separate from you, although you would see the bodies to be separate; I am not separate from you - you have allowed the Self that you are to speak through to offer the Love, the nurturing, the comfort unto another one, for you have felt related.

Know you that word "related"? You say, "I can relate to that." Why do you think you can relate to it? It is because you are family. That is what it means to relate. And when one comes and is before you and is in sorrow and confusion, in constriction, frustration, searching, you have opened the shutters of the heart and you have allowed the wisdom and the Love that you are to pour forth, and I have spoken through you. Yes.

You might identify it as Jeshua ben Joseph and that is okay. You might identify it as another guide or a master and that is okay. You might identify it as the Christ and that is the Truth, and the Christ is not separate from you. The Christ is you and you are beautiful, beloved ones.

All of you are the beautiful holy Child of the Heavenly Father and all that has been ascribed unto me as one Jeshua ben Joseph is Who you are as well. For you can relate to it, and we are as family - and closer than family, for we are the one Heart.

Be in the world but remember always that you are not of the world. Bring the Kingdom that you are into the world and you will see it transformed before your very eyes. This is what you have chosen to manifest for yourself as a catalyst for remembrance and it serves you well. You serve your Self well - the Self with a capital "S" - for you are Love. You are Love expressing as David, as you would see yourself as David.

{David laughs.}

Very much alive in vibrations. And as Lisa, and as Christine, and as Barbara, and as Bunny, as Keith, as Gloria and John and Ann who has just renamed herself to take on a name of ancient times to reconnect with an ancient lifetime of remembrance. All of you are the holy Child. All of you are the Heavenly Father expressing upon this plane. All of you are in the world but not of the world.

That is what you have chosen to manifest in this time and upon this plane, and, to share with your brothers and sisters the gospel of good news. Not the gospel of one Jeshua ben Joseph, but the gospel of Who you are. For as you share that gospel with them, they begin to remember Who they are and you all come Home and the world is transformed.

Now would be a good time to take a break, to refresh the bodies, and we will reconvene in what you will see as... I will call it twelve minutes of your timing. I often say that and it does not usually work out to be twelve minutes of your timing, but we will say that. It is an arbitrary choice. And then we will entertain the questions if there be questions.

So be it.

Indeed, did you pause during what is known as your break to behold in another the holy Child that you are? For as you look into the eyes of another what you behold is Who you are. Did you pause and look deeply into the eyes of another and behold Who they are? Yes. Remember to play with that. It is fun, is it not? A good place to be. Very comfortable.

And I heard many of you speaking of taking off the constriction upon the feet. You may do so. Whatever feels comfortable. I have found that allowing the feet to be in freedom and very much in touch with the vibration of the Holy Mother, our Earth, even though it must be a bit filtered coming through the flooring of the building, there is still a vibration that is felt and it allows, it allows a freedom of expression.

Have you ever played with the toes? Just to allow them to be? Just to wiggle them? Remember how you did that as children? You are still a Child.

Pick up marbles.

You bet, or pencils as it would be. Yes, it is grand flexibility.

And the inner child.

Yes. It allows the inner child to come out and be expressed not only with what you see as the upper part of the body but allows the bottom its expression. A lot of your brothers and sisters go about practically dead from the waist down - except for once in a while.

A lot from the neck down.

Get in touch with the body and how it feels to express, for you are the ones who are attracting the molecules of physicality unto you each moment in your timing. Each moment you are designing, attracting the molecules in the pattern that you have chosen. That is how powerful you are. Each moment. You do not do it by sitting down and thinking, "Well, I have to collect this molecule and this molecule and put it together as what would be the heart, and it has to beat and there has to be the blood that circulates." This is part of what you are manifesting for yourself. If you have the inner eyes to see, you are manifesting for yourself how powerful you are as the creator. Look at what you have created, what you create in every moment.

For if you, as the consciousness that you are, decided to let the body go, allowed it to be dissolved to the dust that it is, allowed the Light to go as the Light that it is, the body instantly would be gone. That is how powerful you are. That is why you manifest it for yourself. But many of you and your brothers and sisters don't even take time in a morning - some of you do - to appreciate the body.

Some of you get up and you are in such a rush to get to wherever you need to be that you just hope the body is going to be there and going to be your servant and that you will get there in time so that you don't get talked to by the employer or whoever would be seen as the boss, and you take it all for granted.

Allow yourself time in each day to just play with the body. See what it can do. Play with the muscles. It is a grand servant and you are the one who has manifested it in the design pattern that you have chosen, and it is beautiful.

Look at the beauty in this hair, in the color, the delicacy of it, the eyes that are so expressive. There is beauty - as with this one who so easily manifests the beauty of the hair, and she does it without sitting there and saying, "Oh, please, hair, grow." It grows.

All of you are manifesting the design pattern that you choose. And I know that this does not apply to any of you in the room, but I know that many of your brothers and sisters have said, "Oh, the body is too big" in certain parts - or maybe overall. "I must go on what is called a diet. I must change it. I must exercise it, make it healthy." The body is healthy as you allow it to be healthy, as you know it to be healthy. You choose various design patterns for a reason, a very powerful reason, a purpose.

And you, beloved brother, have been abiding with that very question many times and you have come unto a place of knowing that there is grand wisdom in what you have chosen. It is a grand blessing and a gift unto yourself as the experience that it is. And it is a grand blessing unto others for it affords them the opportunity of pausing for a moment and looking beyond what they would see as appearance, immediate appearance, and being able to look into the eyes and to see the Light and the Love that is there, to see the inner wisdom. You allow them the opportunity of looking past what would be the expression of the body and seeing the beauty that is within. You are a grand blessing. As are all of you.

Allow the inner child to play. The inner child is Who you are. It is the holy Child. Sometimes it gets a bit contaminated, I guess is the word, gets a bit warped, constricted, tries to be a certain image. I think it is known as trying to be the pretzel, and you try to bend yourself into different shapes that you think that another, perhaps, will like a little bit better, and then they don't like it any better and so you twist yourself in another way until you really prove to yourself just how flexible you are. And all for the fun of it.

That is what is transpiring upon this plane. It is fun - as this one knows. It is for fun. Many of your brothers and sisters will speak unto you that it is a heavy experience and that there must be much processing and that you must delve deep and bring up whatever issues there would be to be looked at and solved and whatever. You've done that many lifetimes. It is time to be the dancer, to allow the Spirit to dance, to allow the body to dance, to have fun with it. That is why you dance: to remind you of Who you are. You are the fluidity that you allow the body to express in the dance. That is Who you are. You are the fluidity of Light. You cannot be contained. You are what activates the body, yes. But you are not contained in the body. You are the fluidity of the Light, and as you dance and as you sway, you remind yourself of Who you are. You allow your brothers and sisters also to see a beautiful example of Who they are. It is a grand gift that you give.

We will entertain questions in this portion because I know that many of you come with questions in the mind. You need not have a question. If you do not have one, you don't have to sit there and very hurriedly think of one. But if you have come with questions we will entertain them. We will even have them out into the middle of the floor and see if they will entertain us.

And we will take the questions of the mind unto the place of the heart where all wisdom abides. For the mind loves to be busy. The heart knows itself to be peace. But it is okay to deal with the mind, for, again, it is your servant.

Such beauty. Look at the beauty that this one wears even upon the ears. This one is a grand example of beauty, as all of you are. You are all walking works of art. Have you thought of yourself as a work of art?

No.

Abide with that thought.

I have been referred to as a piece of work.

{Laughter.}

And I do understand, beloved brother, that there may be many levels of meaning in that. But abide with the thought that you are a walking piece of art, to be treasured, as you would see a painting upon your wall, a sculpture. You are a sculpture that walks. You sculpt yourself every moment. You are beautiful.

A Greek god.

Exactly. Know you that you speak more Truth than you know? You have experienced yourself as a Greek god in more ways than one. You have been as the Greek god. Part of your experience has been to express as one of the gods that the Greeks worshipped and revered, and you have also known lifetimes where you have been the very attractive male that was known as the Greek god. You enjoyed it.

{Laughter.}

As is meant to be. Why not?

Beloved butterfly, beloved fairy in many lifetimes, how are you this evening?

Wonderful.

You are indeed. The eyes sparkle - as does the raiment. What would you ask this evening? Do you have a question or a sharing?

I do. Since we are talking about rendering which is Caesar's brothers and sisters, since I've been working downtown so much it seems I can't walk down the street more than two minutes without one of them asking me for golden coins. And I'm wondering if this is to show me my view of it or... because what I say to myself is, "Oh, no. I don't have enough to give to you," and then I say, "Oh, but yes, I do, because," and so on and so on.

Exactly, because it is always flowing. It is for you - they are your servants, as you have already discerned - it is for you to feel free with the flow of the golden coins, to share with them such as you have of the golden coins. It need not be what you would see as a big amount, but to share with them freely a token, as you would see, and to put all of the Love that you are in that token. And then to share with that one as you are so led, as my disciples shared with one: "Gold and silver have I not, but such as I have I will share with you," and to share the Love, the smile, a word of encouragement as you are guided - for you will not always be guided to open the mouth and to speak.

Sometimes it will be just to smile and to hand them what would be known as a small coin - enough that they will see that you have paused and acknowledged them, for that is truly what they are asking for. They put it in the form, even unto themselves, of asking for golden coins and valuing the golden coins, but what they are truly asking for is to be acknowledged as the Child of the Heavenly Father that they are, for someone to pause and to see their worth though they know it not.

Share with them what would be, as you would see, a token of the golden coins, for you have much. For as you share it, it is replenished. You have experienced this. It comes in miraculous ways. For as you have seen, you thought you would be rendering unto Caesar and Caesar will be rendering unto you. What a miracle, yes?

It was.

Indeed. Do you see what you are manifesting for yourself? You are not manifesting limitation and lack, hardship. You are manifesting for yourself the miracles of abundance that come in surprising ways, from surprising sources. And yet, the Source is within you. You are the one manifesting it. But with these ones who are as your servants, who are saying unto you, "Hey, how do you feel about golden coins?" they are allowing you to feel free with the flow of the golden coins. They are allowing you to share with them the Love that you are in many different ways.

And if it be only to stop and to smile and to say, "Such as I have, I share with you" - you may say, "I'm not a millionaire and I can't give you a whole lot, but here, maybe this will help" - that is all that is needed until you, beloved one, feel most free and unthreatened with one coming up and asking for the golden coins.

For know you, you have experienced in what you would see as other lifetimes being the one who has asked for the golden coins, and you felt when one stopped and looked at you and shone the Light of their countenance upon you, their Love, their acknowledgement of Who you are, you felt that that was more valuable than what they would give you in tangible form. It is what you had been asking for in that lifetime and you valued that, for they would stop. For many of the brothers and sisters would hurry on, not stopping, not caring, and the ones who did stop and look upon you and smile opened up your heart and brought you to the place that you are now, where you can open up your heart and share with them.

Feel free with it, beloved one. There will never be asked of you more than you can give. Give what you would see as a token and yet, it will be no mere thing. Share freely, for, as you give, more will be given unto you - and this is meant on more levels than just one.

Okay.

Share with them the beauty of your smile. It will light up their day - and yours.

How are you, beloved one, this evening?

I'm wonderful, Jeshua. How are you?

Excellent. Thank you for asking.

You are welcome. I'm so happy to see you again.

And it is my joy to be with you in this manner. Would you have a question or a sharing this evening?

How about... you've given me many gifts and talents... the Father has. Healing seems to be one of the biggest ones, and it seems like I've been using it more and more lately and even looking into other channels of other means of healing. Is this what I'm supposed to be doing? Am I doing it, moving in the right path?

Beloved one, it is for you to tell me. It is for you to decree what is the voice of the heart. You are doing very well. As you allow yourself to experience what you have called other means of healing, you are allowing yourself to reconnect, as it would be, with more of your total Self, remembrances of healing methods that you have experienced and used in other lifetimes, for you have been and still are a great healer. It is not by accident that you are drawn again in this lifetime unto this field, this aspect, for it is what will bring you Home. For healing, as you would see, of the body, yes, and healing as you would see of the emotions, yes. But all healing is - as they say, the bottom line - is knowing your wholeness, coming Home in the wholeness that you are. That is what true healing is.

For when you awaken, as you are now doing, to the wholeness of the holy Child, the healing of the body instantly happens, the healing of the emotions happen. They are your servants. They are your perfect servants, very much plugged in, as it would be said, to your awareness. Healing, as you have discerned, is your path of awakening, your path of coming Home. You have heard well, beloved one.

And you, beloved one, how are you this evening?

I'm fine.

You are, indeed. It is my grand joy to meet you again in this manner. I thank you for answering my invitation to be here.

I appreciate being here and being asked.

Truly. Do you have a question or a sharing?

Forgiveness. It seems to weigh very heavily on my mind, and I feel I am working at it constantly and it just isn't coming through. It almost haunts me.

And do you know why it is not coming through, beloved one? It is because you are working so hard that it is keeping a barrier, seemingly, between you and what you desire. What you desire you already have. You are forgiven of the Heavenly Father, for you have never sinned. You have never gone astray. You have never made a mistake. What you have done is to make choices, choices to experience for the grand adventure of the holy Child, but it has never been a mistake and there is nothing that you need feel guilty about, although your world in many of your lifetimes, as you have seen it, has said unto you that you were guilty - guilty as sin, I believe they called it - and that you were a sinner and that you would never be worthy of being in the Kingdom of our Heavenly Father. That is rubbish.

You are very much your Heavenly Father's creation, and you have heard it said - and it is very true - that He does not create junk. He creates perfection, Love, complete wholeness. There have been times that you have chosen to view yourself with an image that is less than holy, less than whole. That is where that word comes from. It is no magical word. It means wholeness, holy.

There have been times, lifetimes, where you have chosen to see yourself as less than holy, less than whole. There have been times when you have judged your brothers and sisters to be less than holy. But that did not alter Who you are and it did not alter Who they are. And your Heavenly Father loves you, always and forever.

Look upon yourself, beloved one, with the eyes of Christ. Look upon yourself as your Heavenly Father sees you. Look upon yourself as you would see a loving grandmother, grandfather, who would look upon the child and would smile as the child plays in the sandbox, throwing sand around, building this, building that. And would smile because he or she sees that the child is just experiencing whatever the sandbox holds for them. That is what you have done.

Extend unto others the forgiveness that you seek and you will find it easier to know that you are that forgiveness yourself. Look upon others as the holy Child, playing, playing in the sandbox of experience. That is all that is happening. Love them as the eternal grandmother that you are.

For you are one with our Father. You are the mother. You are the father. You can love all and you are loved, always, for you are that Love. Allow yourself to feel it. You are forgiven. You never did anything that needs forgiveness. It has always and only been for the grand adventure. Even this lifetime, whatever you have chosen to do has been just a choice for the experience of it as you would choose to pack the belongings in the suitcase, as it is called, and to go on a journey into a far country just to experience what is there in the far country. Who lives there? What are their customs? What does the land look like? That's what you have done as the holy Child. It has been nothing more than seemingly packing some belongings and taking a journey unto what you would see as a far country, and yet, the country is not far. You are forgiven. There was never anything to be forgiven about. It's just been an adventure - still is - and you are very much in the adventure of coming Home. A grand adventure.

Does that answer your question, beloved one?

Yes. Thank you.

You are welcome. You are Love itself. You are beauty. You are the gentleness of the Heavenly Father. Allow yourself to feel the gentleness that you are. Allow yourself to be gentle with yourself, for I am gentle with you. And you, beloved one, are as I am. You are gentle. Allow your gentleness to be focused upon yourself. You deserve it.

Thank you.

You're welcome.

You, beloved brother, how are you this evening?

I am fine.

You are, indeed. Would you have a question?

Uh huh. When do you learn to have even a small grain of faith and have it with us constantly?

Again, beloved brother, it is as the Son decrees. When would you like to have it?

Always.

So be it. It is your choice. It is your choice in every moment, and it is a choice that is easy to make, for, as you have desired, it will manifest for you. Focus upon what you desire, for the desire of the heart will manifest. It cannot help but manifest. It is yours as you have requested. So be it. And not because I have the power to give it unto you, but because you have desired it from your heart and because you have had the clarity to speak your desire. It is yours. There is no one who can keep it from you.

Thank you.

And you, beloved angel, how are you?

Very good. Thank you so much for coming.

It is my grand pleasure to come in this manner. Would you have a question?

Well, I have more of a sharing than a question. Your words are filling me with great joy and your Light fills me.

You are allowing yourself, beloved one, the gift of opening your heart and feeling the joy that is within. It is not I that gives it to you. It is your own acknowledgement and allowing of this to come forth. But proceed.

And I hope to hold on to this Light when there is darkness, and there is sometimes great darkness inside.

There has been in what you would know as the past. It can be dead and buried and allowed to be gone. Always you will remember the Light that you are. For you have touched it and you have known it and you have experienced it, and it is with you always. It will not disappear. It cannot be extinguished. It is Who you are. And once you have felt it and you have acknowledged it, as you have, it will always be very much alive for you.

It was always there. Sometimes you were unaware. Now you are no longer unaware. It goes with you as you. Thank you.

And you, beloved brother who is such a gift, how are you this evening?

Fine, thank you.

Indeed, you are. You have come through what you would see as physical challenges, all for showing what would be the other side of the coin: to show your grand strength in your grand expression of the Life that you are. Know you that?

Now I do.

Now you do.

{Laughter.}

Would you have a question or a sharing this evening?

Well, I heard you mention guilt and I wondered, should I not feel guilty about mistakes I have made in the past that hurt someone? Ah, beloved one, you cannot hurt another one unless they receive it in that belief. It is their choice how they will perceive what has been done or what has been said. For you know this to be a Truth: that there can be things that would be said and another one would be as the duck that would allow it to just fall off the back and it would not register, and yet, other ones would hear the same words and would take them so to heart that they would be crushed.

And then the other one who had said the words could, of a choice, feel guilty for having said or thought what was said or thought. But it is always a choice, beloved one. And so, as you discern with this, there need not be guilt. You have made choices, yes, to see experiences in a certain way, to have perceptions. But the choice is always given to you in each moment to choose anew, as you are now doing: to discern that there is another way of looking upon it and to perhaps stand back from it, to stand back from what is going on and say, "How can I see this anew? There must be another way to see this." And instantly as you ask, you will perceive another way of seeing it. And you will see that you have hurt no one except by their choice to take it that way.

It is always a choice. For there are no victims. There are only masters upon this plane, masters who choose, as you choose, perceptions. The world speaks very strongly that there are victims, that there can be threat, that there should be fear, that one must protect, one must guard oneself in all manner of fashions, of the body, of the emotions, even the Spirit. This is not true, for you are choosing in each moment, as the master that you are, you are choosing to manifest whatever you see before you - as is the one who is before you. They are choosing how they see what is going down, as they call it. It is their choice, and you have seen this with ones. You have witnessed this in what you would see as this lifetime: where things that were said and done, one would react very negatively and another would say, "Oh, what the heck. What does he know?" and off they go.

It is the other one's choice. You need not feel guilt. Whenever the feeling of guilt arises, it is as your messenger to stop, to pause and to ask, "How can I see this anew? What am I judging? And where am I coming from in this judgment? Am I coming from the place of knowing the holy Child that I am and that the other one is? Or am I coming from the place of the world that would speak of separation and of lack, of limitation?" It is a good question to ask.

And each time the feelings come up for you - and for all of you - the feelings are as messengers that say, "Stop, pause, breathe, return again unto the place of the heart, the place of peace and stillness." And ask, "How can I see this anew? What is really going on here?" Because, as you have discerned already, there is much that goes on. Many levels. You are coming Home, beloved one.

Thank you.

And guilt is old baggage. It does not come Home. It is left outside the Home. You do not bring it in. It doesn't have a place.

You, beloved Ann, how are you?

Fine.

You are, indeed. You are as a new person. How are you and what have you to ask this evening?

Well, I'm going to have a reading with you tomorrow so I really don't have anything to ask at the moment, but did you like your portrait that I have brought in?

{The portrait was a surrealist rendition of the face of Jeshua, formed by many images of many faces.}

Indeed. This has been a grand portrayal of Who I am - and not just I as the one that you would know as Jeshua ben Joseph, but I as the Christ expressing as what you would see as other individualities: the multitude of the One, as you have discerned.

I know. I got it for two bucks in a flea market. It's great.

Fantastic bargain.

You must have guided me to that one a long time ago, huh?

I did, indeed, beloved one, for I knew that you and I would look upon that and there would be many truths revealed - truths with a small "t" - that would bring you to the Truth - with a capital "T" - of Who you are. For when you look upon the portrait, what you would see is the multitude of expression of our Heavenly Father and yet, it is the expression of the One that we are. The artist has caught this as a vision, and there are those such as you, who have the eyes to see look past to the deeper meaning and appreciate, appreciate the appearance of beauty, the appearance of the creativity and appreciate the grand Truth that it shows. Thank you for sharing that with your brothers and sisters.

You are wearing a nice dress, Jeshua.

Well, it is not quite like the robes that I used to wear, but it is getting on for it. I speak unto this one, my ancient friend and teacher - and she does not like the appellation of ancient, for she says that it makes her sound old, so I will change that. You will be the beholders of a change. I will call her my beloved friend and teacher. I've been speaking unto this one that I want the flowing robe.

And you, beloved one, do you have a question this evening?

I used to give blood at work, okay, and then I read in one of the readings that seems that what it said was, as we get purified that our blood would not be good for someone else. So I wanted to know... because I enjoy doing that. It is a way of giving, and I wanted....

It is, indeed.

Is it okay to give blood?

It is, indeed, okay to give blood. It is your gift of the molecules of physicality as you have attracted them and formed them into what you would see as the blood, the very nurturing fluid that courses throughout the body and nourishes each cell. Think of what that symbolizes. Think of what you are giving unto another as you give of that fluid. It is a gift that you give, and it will be taken by one and used for the purpose that they have chosen.

There is no tainted blood, although your world would speak unto you that there are the bodies that would be in the blood that could harm the design pattern of the whole body. This is a belief system and it has a grand purpose upon this plane.

The ones known as exhibiting what is known as the AIDS and the AIDS virus, the HIV, I think it is called, virus, are ones who have chosen - again, for the experience of coming Home - have chosen to see that they are more than the body. They have chosen to come face to face with their image of unworthiness. They have chosen the very issues that come up for them in the process of laying down the body in this manner, and it is a grand blessing that they give unto themselves, although the world would judge it as a tragedy.

It is not a tragedy. It is a choice, for the experience of it and for whatever issues come up in front of them. And one of the grand issues is the one that all of us - and I include myself in this, in the lifetimes that I spent upon this plane - consider at some time or another: it is the issue of worthiness, the issue of holiness, the issue of knowing wholeness. This is what they are showing unto themselves. They are also, as you have discerned by this evening's sharing, affording others the grand opportunity of how they will perceive what is happening and whether they will open the shutters of their heart unto ones and to pour out the Love and the comfort and the support, seeing past the issue of a body, the appearance of a body. It is grand opportunity for ones to come past fear, for this is one of the great issues that comes up with something called a threat to the body.

And the body will call out very strongly, "Preserve me. Save me. Protect me. Do not go near that one. Think what might happen. We might perish." And yet, the still small Voice within you speaks and says, "You are more than the body. You are the Heart that beats with Love, the Love that you are always and forever." And as you come again unto the place of the heart, you can allow the Love that you are to be extended unto ones who are going through their own awakening.

You can share with whatever part of the body you would desire to share with another. It is safe and it is safe for them, for they will take that fluid and they will use it for the purpose that they believe it to be for. It is the same with any of the bodily fluids that is shared with another. It is not that that fluid is contaminated, tainted, harmed in any way. That fluid is God essence, but the one who takes it uses it for the purpose that they believe in, and if it is their belief system, born of the voice of the world, they can see it as being threatening and they can see it as bringing up issues of fear for the very purpose of looking beyond the fear, for the purpose of seeing that they are more powerful than any little virus that they seemingly believe in.

Yes, beloved one, share of yourself with others. Whatever your guidance is to do, share in that way. It is a grand gift that you give. Others who would speak unto you that it could be a problem are coming from fear and that is their belief. Allow them their belief. It is where they are at that moment. It is their sandbox they are playing in. They will come unto a place of saying, "I wish to see another kind of sand." Does this answer your question, beloved one?

Thank you very much.

You are welcome.

You, beloved one, such a smile, such a beauty, how are you this evening?

Good.

You are, indeed, very good. As the holy Child that you are, you are excellent. I very much appreciate your bare feet. I would join you in bare feet if my beloved friend and teacher would allow me. But this is as close as we get.

It does feel good.

It does, indeed. What would you ask, beloved one?

Two weeks ago a movie came on the television that I first saw maybe ten or twelve years ago, called, "Jesus of Nazareth". The movie really resonated with me. In fact, it was why I became a Christian in the truest sense of the word. I was wondering - it was so real for me - was I there?

You were indeed, beloved one.

Okay.

It is not by accident that you have seen what you would call this movie, this portrayal, and it is not by accident that it has awakened within you remembrances that will grow in more clarity as you abide with them, as you desire. You need not. It is not important for the process of coming Home, but it might be fun to do.

Yes, indeed, you were there.

That's all I wanted to know. Thank you.

You are welcome. You already knew it.

And you, beloved one, such a beautiful one, would you have a question this evening?

Yes. Why is it that when we know that it is so important to forgive and forget and show love to others, it's so difficult when they appear to have done us wrong, for us to show our inner Light and to show them Love, even though we should?

As you have seen, the releasing of these images does not come from a "should". It comes from a place of the awareness of knowing Who you are and Who they are. Then it is very easy to forgive for there is nothing to forgive. No one can hurt you except as you would take it as hurt. They are just, what has been called, doing their thing. And if you take that to be hurtful to yourself, that is what you will experience.

But they are just doing their thing. They are just throwing the sand up into the air, and if you happen to be under it and it falls upon your head and you feel it to be quite a nuisance, then that will be your feeling. For if they are throwing the sand up into the air and it comes down upon your head and you feel it as the gentle rain and you just shake it out, then it does not touch you.

When the feelings come up that way, abide with them and ask yourself, "Where does this feeling come from? What image am I holding of myself that I think another can hurt me?" It is the voice of the ego that is calling out, that says there is separation, that there is other than the holy Child. It is the voice of the world and it is a voice that all of us have listened to in many of what you would see as lifetimes. It is what you would see as a habit pattern. And yet, as the habit pattern that it is, it can be changed. It can be discarded.

Not from a place of "should". "I know I should." That just doesn't cut it, as they say. But it dissolves as you allow yourself to know the holy Child that you are and to know that no one, no matter what they are doing, even if they crucify you upon the cross, can hurt you. They may do things that you would rather that they didn't do, and yet, they are your servant, for they are bringing up for you right in front of your face an issue to look at to see the wholeness of. They are your servants - believe it or not.

Sometimes you would want to dismiss them and say, "Go away." And if they do, there will be others who will come and give you the same message, as you have discerned. And it is for you to see that you are much more than what is going on. You cannot be hurt. You are beautiful, beloved one. And you are more than just physical beauty. There is that, yes, but you are a beautiful Light, a very shining Light. Remember that when others would do things that you would feel to be hurtful. Remember that all of the darkness in the world cannot put out the Light of the candle that you are - and you are much more than a candle.

Thank you.

You are welcome, beloved one.

And you, beloved one, how are you this evening?

Wonderful.

You are indeed wonderful. Is it not a joy to be together again?

It is. I don't have a question, but I just want to thank you for the Love that you reinforced tonight so much, and in reminding us that we all are members of the One, just One. I appreciate it so much. I needed the re-inforcement, and I want to thank you for what you said to my sister. That was wonderful.

Thank you, beloved one. I always feel good when someone appreciates what I have just shared. It is nice that you approve of what I have said. I am having a joke with you.

Beloved one, you have allowed yourself in this evening to connect with the place of the Heart. It is not I who have brought the Love that is in this room. It is you. It is you who have allowed - because of the gentleness of Spirit that you are - you have allowed yourself to feel the Love that you are. There is much Love in this room, as you have felt, but it is not because I have brought it. It is because you are remembering it, and it is a grand gift that you share with me in your remembrance, for I desire all to come Home, to play with me. I am at Home - as you are. I desire to play with you, like as we are doing just now.

Thank you for sharing the remembrance. That is a big one, for sharing the remembrance.

Yes. It has been... it has been misused by your religious organizations in what is known as the holy communion, where I said to "do this in remembrance of me." It was not just to remember me as Jeshua ben Joseph, as a friend. That was part of it, yes. But to remember - as you have just done - the Christ that you are. Do this in remembrance of me. Each day in your timing remember the Love that you have experienced this evening. Do it in remembrance of me - who is you.

Thank you.

So be it.

Hello, beautiful one. How are you?

Sparkling.

You are. You just sparkle. What would you ask this evening?

You mentioned earlier about times when you come across someone who might have a bad vibration. How do you experience someone like that and not go into a bad vibration yourself or bad feelings or bad thoughts or judgment?

It is the secret - which is not a secret - that has been shared this evening: of pausing and taking the deep breath. It is as simple as breathing. To take unto yourself a deep breath, breathing in, in awareness, the golden white Light that you are. That will bring you to the place of the heart. It will bring you unto a place of peace. It will bring you unto a place of choice.

Now, you may choose to stay in that peace and to remember Who you are, or you may choose to get into the vibration of the other one and to feel constriction and judgment and all kinds of pain. But, when you are in a place of pain, in confusion, in constriction, it is as you would be knocking upon the head very strongly to wake up. It is to pay attention whenever these events and circumstances happen. They are as your messenger that says, "There must be" - and there is - "another way to look at this. And for myself, I choose peace." To breathe. It is as simple as that. It affords you choice.

Then it is your choice of whether you will get into what they are doing, and there is nothing wrong with that. It is not even to be judged. If you choose to get into the vibration of where they are and to feel it with grand emotion, so what? That is your choice as the holy Child that you are. All you have done is to delay the feeling of peace by a moment or so, or however long you choose. And the peace will always be there for you, as Home is always there for you.

Breathe, beloved one. It is as simple as that. That is why even in your world there is such grand wisdom of counting unto ten. You have heard that. Whenever you would be tempted to react unto something, count unto ten. There is grand wisdom even in the sayings of your world. For as you count unto ten, hopefully you will breathe. You don't have to. I'm sure you can run up to ten quickly without breathing. Breathe, beloved one, and return unto the place of the heart, and then choose, consciously, where you want to be and look upon that other one and know that they are playing in the sandbox that we have referred to several times - the sandbox of experience - and that is what they are choosing for whatever reason to experience at that moment. They are choosing to experience it in order to give you the choice to either be there with them or to choose anew. They are also choosing to experience that for the grand creativity of just reveling in whatever that emotion is.

For what we have all chosen to do when we came to this plane was to bring Spirit into matter to experience how it feels to express as matter, and part of that process is to experience the emotions. Emotions are energy in motion. That is what they are. Emotions are energy in motion, and none of them is to be judged as negative, for the judgment holds you in another emotion, does it not?

Uh huh.

Just afford yourself a choice of where you wish to be and not get in judgment of what they are doing, for that is what they are choosing of their own free choice to be. That is the color and texture of sand that they are playing with.

If you do not desire to be in that space, you have the choice of abiding in the Love of the heart, very strongly, very steadfastly, very centeredly, or to shake the dust of your sandals and to walk on, as I have done, and there is no judgment in that.

Do not feel that if you shake the dust of your sandals and you walk on that you have failed somehow to convert them or to teach them or to show them that there is another way. It is not your responsibility to teach. It is the One that I have called the Grand Weaver, the Holy Spirit, that takes all of the threads of experience and weaves them into the beautiful tapestry that brings the sleeping Child Home. It is not your responsibility to stand there and to be as the grand crusader. You've done that. You've done that in many lifetimes. Each one makes their own choices.

So you can either abide as the Love that you are and be their servant if you want, or you can shake the dust of your sandals and go on and still be their servant. Either way. Does that answer your question?

Yes, thank you.

Probably even more than you asked for.

And you, beloved servant of the Heavenly Father, how are you this evening?

Wonderful.

You are, indeed. What would you ask?

I don't have a question. I'm just so happy to be here.

Excellent, beloved one. You have come unto the place of knowing that yes, there are the questions of the mind, but you can abide as the Heart that you are. Grand place to abide. It is Home. You are Home.

And all of you, momentarily, abide at Home. It is always a choice.

You, beloved one, how are you this evening?

Good.

You are, indeed. Thank you for being the servant of our Heavenly Father in many, many, many what you would see as lifetimes. It is not by accident that you have found yourself, again, in service in this lifetime. Perhaps not always in service as the world would describe service, but always you have been in service to the ones around you as being the Light that you are. What would you ask this evening?

Oh, Jeshua. All the beautiful things that have happened to me... you know, that came through me... I still have this little tinge of doubts sometimes. Yes, it is what I have called the veil. Yes.

I would like to get, just get that down.

You are well on your way to allowing this to be dissolved and to just be gone behind you. It is not the heavy brick wall that you thought you saw in other lifetimes. It is not the heavy doubt that you carried in other lifetimes. For when you sit and you abide with what will be the motion pictures of other lifetimes that will come before you, you will know that there have been many lifetimes when that doubt was very heavy upon the heart.

In this lifetime as you have just described it, it is a tiny doubt. Do you see where you have come? You are allowing it to be released, and it is not something that needs to be attacked with a grand hammer or a sledge hammer as they call it. It is something that is dissolving before your very eyes. It dissolves as you allow yourself to rest in the peace of the heart, as you allow others their path of what they choose, knowing that they will come Home in time as well, for truly, the holy Child, the multitude of expression of the holy Child, will come Home. It is foreordained.

The timing and the avenue is a free choice, but Home is foreordained. And the doubt, beloved one, is not something to trouble yourself with. You have been as the grand scholar in many of what you would see as lifetimes, and you have picked at the Scriptures and the great ancient writings, wanting to know more.

You have been as the grand barrister that came up before others and argued the cases and really thought about, "What is going on here and who is doing what? Why is this happening?" You are the one who has been picking at a lot of details, a lot of doubts. You have been as the grand scholar who was the great scientist who wanted to know what makes this Earth tick. What makes the butterfly fly? What makes the small insect, the bug under the rock, stay under the rock? What makes the elephant in the form that the elephant has chosen? And you have studied and you have asked, as you have done in this lifetime.

And you, beloved one, you are your own answer. You are the one Who has made all of this. Do not doubt, beloved one. It is all falling away. You have been as the one who would chisel at a grand rock and it remains only now a piece of sand. You have chiseled so much. You are a grand delight.

Thank you.

Go as the Love that you are. Know that that doubt, it is as a tiny grain of sand. It is a nothing. It is a nothingness. When it comes up, speak unto it as an old friend and say, "Oh, here you are again." And know that you have traveled as you would see many miles with doubt, a doubt that would have been in other lifetimes overpowering, as a grand giant, and it has been your friend, your constant companion in many lifetimes.

But it is now what you would see as a tiny little thing. It is a messenger. When it comes up, ask yourself, "Where am I abiding in this moment? Am I abiding in the voice of the world that would speak unto me of separation from my Heavenly Father? Or am I abiding in the heart as the Love that I am? The Love of the holy Child that I am?" And instantly you will have your answer. The doubt is your grand friend, your messenger. It only comes to bring you to that place of clarity. You can greet it as a friend.

Thank you.

Thank it for coming.

Thank you.

And you, beloved Child of the Heavenly Father, one who goes with such joy in the heart, how are you this evening? Fantastic.

Fantastic. Excellent, yes. What would you ask this evening?

It is the hour now to awaken to my Christ nature, that I might live, Love and serve Thee.

Yes, it is time, beloved one, and it is time not because I have decreed it but because you have decreed it and it is time. Do not thank me, beloved one. You are the one who is doing it. You are the one who is as I am and now you are knowing it. It is easy, beloved one, is it not?

Yes.

Yes.

Yes.

Yes, said with conviction.

Yes. Yes.

Truly, to go as the Child that you are, the holy Child who knows his wholeness and allows his brothers and sisters the choice to see that, knowing that whatever transpires is their perception, but it is there for the eyes that would behold it and it is there for you to come into the total awareness of Who you are. It is time.

It is time.

Yes. Grand actor that you are.

You, beloved angel, how are you this evening?

Wonderful, thank you.

You are indeed. You are such a Light. Such a freedom. What would you ask this evening?

I had so many questions but they all seem like my questions. But when one stands in the presence of Love there aren't many questions anymore.

Exactly.

I would just love to hear whatever that you would give me and be grateful for it, thank you.

You are already in that place, the place of the heart. You are as the great angel, the Light that you are. You can go from this day forward in a grand freedom of just expressing Who you are. All of what you would see as your past is as it never happened. For truly, it has been as a dream. There is nothing that you need carry with you from this moment forward except the awareness of the holiness, the wholeness that you are. You are free. And it is not because I decree it. It is because you are ready and allowing it to be your Truth, to know the Truth, with a capital "T". You may play with it, beloved one. That is all there is to do.

Thank you.

And whatever the guidance of the heart is, follow that guidance. For when you abide in the place of the heart and you allow yourself to connect with the Love that you are, you will have all of the guidance of the inner wisdom that you are. And you will be guided to go here, to say something, not to say something, just to smile, just to be. That is enough. It is easy. Have fun with it.

You, beloved one, I would share with you a gift. {Jeshua gives her a crystal.} How are you this evening?

I am very well, thank you. I am happy to be here. Thank you for being here.

Indeed, it is my pleasure to be here. What would you ask?

What can I do to accelerate the growth of my practice to help even more sick people get well?

Ah, beloved one, as you have asked, you will find so many coming unto you for the healing - first of the body, but you will share with them that there is more than just the healing of the body. There is the healing of the emotions, the healing that comes to the awareness of the wholeness that they are. That is the true healing. As your heart has desired and has been spoken, you will find many being attracted to you as the Light that you are, the Light that you are now allowing yourself to remember. And it will be so attractive that it will be as the grand beacon that is set upon the hill and is seen by all, and you will find many making trek unto you to learn what your secret is. And yet, it is not hidden from any of them, for it is within.

But you will share with them the insights that you have come unto. You will share with them the healing of the body, yes, for it will be the pathway that will show them that they are more than the body. You will awaken in them the wholeness that they desire to know. As you have requested, beloved one, it will happen. It is not by accident that you have asked this.

And you, beloved one who has been as the Greek god, how are you this evening?

Fine.

You are truly, fine. What would you ask in this evening?

Many, many questions. All what they didn't ask. But we don't have time.

Ha, and you, beloved one, you have the answers.

Beloved teacher, you said from the heart you make no mistakes.

Exactly.

But there are many, many, many choices, and for many years I have wanted to be the highest, use my energies to the highest and best good. And there are so many choices. I can be in the real world and I...

What is the real world, beloved one?

The real world is the world of work, the world of "shoulds" and "shouldn'ts".

Ah, but is that world real? Will it exist....

That world is real but also the other world is also very real.

Exactly.

And that's the spiritual were I can devote much more time to praying to spiritual matters, and how you stand with one foot on one side of the river and one on the other.

Hm, you do it all the time, beloved one.

Oh, yes. But with the smorgasbord to choose, as I have prayed many times for divine guidance.

Yes, and you have had it.

I know, ah, yes, I know, but it comes very rare.

As the Son decrees. I would not see it as so rare as perhaps you would choose to see. You have divine guidance, always.

I want the answer. I'll pray for patience.

I see, and you want it now. I have heard that saying, yes. "And give it to me now."

Absolutely, of course.

And you always have it in the now because there is no other time.

The eternal now.

Exactly. You are, as you have discerned, a bridge person. You have heard that term. You are in the world, yes, in what you have termed the real world and what your brothers and sisters have termed the real world, and yet, you live and move and have your being in what is the truly real world. You bring that real world of Spirit into the world of activities. You allow the guidance of the heart to direct you to ones who need the bridge, who are searching for the bridge, who are asking, "How do I get Home? Where is the bridge crossover?" You are that bridge, as they will find themselves to be the bridge for others, as they will find themselves to be their own bridge, for truly, that is what you are.

You do stand with one foot in the real world with the small "r" and with one foot in the Real world with the capital "R". You do have guidance always. Yes, there are many questions of the mind. You are one who has always been very active of the mind, and active in extending that in tangible form, using the body to express. This has been your pattern and it is thus in this lifetime.

As you allow yourself to pause and to breathe in the golden white Light that you are, there is an expansion that is felt. Is this not true? It is the place of inner wisdom. It is the place where you can hear the still small Voice of what you have termed divine guidance.

When you wish to know the answer to any question of the mind, pause and breathe. Return again unto the place of the heart and instantly you will know. For there will be alternatives and you will see one alternative that will appear as having Light around it. There will be a feeling, a subtlety perhaps, but you will know which one to choose - as you have known in the past, for you have not been bereft of guidance, not at any moment, beloved brother. And you will not be, in what you would see as your future.

You have desired a grand clarity. You have been one as... there is a saying in your world, of being from the "show me" state. You have been one who has said, "Show me. I want to see this in grand clarity." And that is what you are providing, manifesting for yourself: the clarity of divine guidance - which is not guidance outside of yourself. It is your own inner wisdom. You are connecting with your own inner wisdom, and know you, if you will receive it, that in the days to come you will feel and trust the guidance even more. It is there for you. So be it.

And you, beloved one. Such a joy to reconnect in this manner. How are you?

I'm wanting everything to be better than it is in this world. I want to save every animal freezing in the winter. People don't care. My horse died. Tell me about the animals?

The animals are as you are: eternal. They lay down the body, the form of the body, yes. In fact, as you have discerned, they lay it down more rapidly in a shorter time interval than many of the brothers and sisters, who seemingly keep the body as an expression for more years.

The animals are here to remind you of the Love that you are. They are there to awaken within you the unconditional Love of the heart. This is what you have felt with ones. For as you look upon a beloved pet or an animal that you share such a bond with, there is an opening of the heart. There is a bond, a pouring out of a oneness.

Many, many, many, many animals.

Yes. There is a communion that you feel, and many of your brothers and sisters are now awakening to a communion of oneness with all life forms.

I pray that people will be kinder to their animals. But I know people that aren't kind. You watch the news, you know. I gave away thirty-nine dogs. I want to run around and make sure they are okay on the cold days, you know. And they do... some of them are outside. They do not bring them in.

The animals, as you have termed them, are expressions of the Love of the Heavenly Father, as you are. They choose to be the servants. Do you see what grand Love they exhibit? They choose to be the servants to humankind, as you would see it, to allow humankind to make their choices. They know that they are connected as the oneness. They know that they are more than the body. The body is easily laid down and they know this, and they come back again and again.

They do?

They do, oh, they do, beloved one - oftentimes to ones that have a connection with them. You have felt this. You have discerned this.

Yeah. When my horse died, I saw... I know he's all right. They have a soul.

Indeed. They have a connection that is even closer than what you would term a soul. They know their oneness. They know that they are the expression of Love, and they just express as the servant.

So when people let them freeze to death or keep them out, they are okay with that?

Indeed, they are, beloved one. It is ones such as you and the other brothers and sisters who would look upon a limitation of appearance and would judge how you would feel. But you are judging from your own viewpoint, your own vantage point, as it would be. The animal knows itself to be one with the Love, as the Love they are.

That's good news.

It is good news, indeed. They come as your servants to allow you and the brothers and sisters to have the opportunity to open the heart and to feel the Love, the bond that is there, in order to know the oneness of all life expression. And the ones that you would see as being hunted, they put themselves in front of whatever is coming, such as you would know the bullet to be, the rifle. They put themselves there to be as the servant for one who has yet to awaken unto the oneness of all expression of Life.

They are infinite wisdom.

Here I thought I had to fix it all.

A grand insight. You don't have to fix it all, beloved one. They are here to share Love with all. Do you know that there have been many, what you would call the cattle, the cows, who have asked to be taken off of this plane because there has been such treatment of them, such disregard for life? Some of the animals - other animals as well - have experienced being just a commodity, and there has been for them an awakening of the servant that they are, to know that they are here in service so that mankind, brothers and sisters, can look upon them and know that they are giving freely of the molecules of physicality as they have attracted them in their design pattern as their expression, they are giving of their flesh, as it is called, for others so there can come point where mankind will awaken and know that life is expressed in a multitude of fashions and that there is no separation, that there is only Love.

The animals do this because they are your servants, and there is nothing to be judged in the choices of mankind. It is only the judgment of the world that would speak of time, for in time, beloved one, all will awaken. The tragedy, as you would see it, is of a judgment based upon the present premise of time.

When you see it in what would be the eternal view, it is not a tragedy. They love you. They love you so much that they come and express and lay down the raiment, and very quickly they come back for they do not have what you would call the attachment to the physical expression.

You, beloved one, how are you this evening?

Fine.

You are, indeed. You are beautiful. What would you ask this evening?

I am concerned with what we are doing to the planet, and the way people think they can do anything, like polluting the waters and destroying the trees, and think that it doesn't hurt them.

It is the way of the mind, yes.

And the concern of the government that it gets turned around before it's too late.

Indeed, what you are seeing with what is termed your government is a grand change that is happening. There has been much activity of what you would call at the grass roots level, of individuals seemingly, coming to the place of saying, "I must accept responsibility for what I am creating." And do you see why ones of your brothers and sisters are manifesting this very thing? It is to see that they are creating what they see in front of them, to claim their own responsibility, not in a limited fashion - this will happen at first, yes - but to see the responsibility to live as the holy Child that they are, to come from the place of the heart, the place of wholeness.

This will happen. It is very much in process, and you and your brothers and sisters are calling forth the very circumstances and occurrences that are accelerating this manifestation, coming to a place, as you have discerned, where there have to be choices.

Can we get the help....

Yes, indeed. And it is very much and very quickly coming to pass. Be vigilant and hear what I have just said: It is coming to pass. For it will not stay. There is coming such a grand time upon this plane, a time of Light upon this plane, and you, beloved one, are one who has chosen to be upon this plane in this time to usher in the enlightenment, as it is called. To be aware. To speak unto others. To do what you would call the networking, of just speaking unto others and saying, "Hey, are you aware of what is happening?"

They don't want to hear it.

Ah, but you are another one that we will call the Johnny Appleseed, who is planting seeds. The seeds will grow in their own time. It is not your responsibility to make the seeds grow. In fact, you cannot, but you are the one who is casting the seeds.

That's encouraging.

You are one who is a grand servant. You are one who is casting many seeds, just by your own awareness and by bringing this to attention of others. It is no small thing that you do.

But do not allow the heart to be constricted in it, beloved one.

Thank you.

You are welcome, beloved one.

How are you, beloved servant?

As a god thinketh.

Exactly.

Experiencing, expressing, and enjoying perfect health, happiness and prosperity.

Very good. It is as it should be.

And healing.

Yes, coming unto that place of wholeness, the awareness of the wholeness that you are. It is fun, is it not?

Interesting.

Yes, said as the true scholar that you are: interesting.

Thank you.

You have been, as you would see, a grand barrister as well - the lawyer, the politician, the one who has chosen his words well and has said, "It is interesting." The one who has played the balance, but also the one who is, in this lifetime, coming unto a place of clarity and no longer staying in the place of safety, as you would see it, or as the world would see it.

For you are very much out there speaking your Truth, arousing others, nettling them from time to time, prodding them, yes, and having fun with it. But allow also, as you have been doing, allow them their choices, for, as you have seen, they will make their choices.

What would you ask this evening?

Just for more prosperity, health and healing.

It is yours. That was an easy one. So be it.

Love and blessings.

Thank you. I accept.

And you, beloved servant of the Heavenly Father, you are a joy as the Child that you are. How are you this evening?

Fine, thank you.

You are, indeed. What would you ask?

I would ask that I be able to say, "Thank you" to you for all the years you've carried me when I couldn't carry myself.

Ah, beloved one, it has been my pleasure and my joy to do as what you have said - carrying you - and yet, as the One that we are, there are many times that you have carried me, and you have carried me in your heart always. I thank you. It is a pleasure to be with you again.

You, too.

Thank you.

And you, beloved one who is a Teacher of God, how are you this evening?

I'm very happy. There is tremendous happiness in my heart. It started awhile ago, but this almost is a culmination of it, being with you.

It is what you have called forth. Yes.

Is there something I should know? I am going to be with you next week, but might I start to think on something that will make that time even more productive?

You may indeed, beloved one, think upon that.

What might I think about it in the sense that I can start to pray and think about that time with you? Are there specific things that I should address?

Beloved one, you have a very beautiful scripture that you study and that you share with others. Go unto that text and open it, and it will be revealed unto you. But know that what will transpire in that evening is what will be called forth by the ones in that room. It will be what they have asked and desired to know and to experience - perhaps not at what they would see as the conscious level, but at a very deep level it is what they are desiring to experience, and it will come forth. We will work together, you and I.

Yes, I am looking forward. Thank you.

It will be fun.

And you, beloved one, how are you this evening?

Great.

You are indeed great. What would you ask this evening?

A good one of the mind.

Indeed, you have been one who has asked often the questions of the mind, and you are also one who has discerned many answers. What would you ask?

In reading the Scriptures and Bible, I find many discrepancies in the writings and find contradictions... you know, when a lawyer goes over a testimony and finds contradictions. I would like to know what was the truth around Christ's birth and Christ's death and the circumstances that were in the book.

Yes. As you have discerned, there have been many recordings of truth - with a small "t" - surrounding my life history, and also surrounding other what you would see as historical events. It is because all of you, as the grand masters that you are, have recorded your truth - with a small "t" - about what transpired.

The Truth - with a capital "T" - is that I came as the Christ that you are and I expressed upon this plane. I made a demonstration that many of you believe in as an example to show that you are much more than the body and that the body can be resurrected through the oneness that you are.

Not all, as you know, take this to be a Truth. Not all of your brothers and sisters follow what would be known as the Christian religion or see any value in the Scriptures that you refer to. But they have their own Scriptures, their own holy writings, which are their path to coming Home.

If you will receive it, beloved one, there is no one truth - with a small "t" - about my lifetime. There is one grand Truth - with a capital "T" - about my lifetime and it is the lifetime that I am living now as you. As the Christ. As the One that we are. That is the Truth of your being.

But it is, as you would see, even in this day and time, as an author who would sit down and would write a novel and they would portray what comes unto them as a story, making a point. Either they have consciously set out to make a point or unconsciously it comes through from a deeper level. And one story of my life would tell events. Another story would tell other events and these events might not fit together as the lawyer would want them to fit together, and yet, they are all truth, with a small "t". They all speak a language unto ones who will resonate with what is being told in that story, who will resonate with it as a catalyst for remembrance.

That is what is important. For you will see dramatizations, I think they are called, plays about my life. You will see movies about my life. You have read stories about my life. You have even read, of course, in the ancient Scriptures about my life as it has been recorded by ones who came from the heart of their knowingness and recorded truly what they believed to be truth, and it was truth, with a small "t". It was their truth and it speaks unto one. It serves a purpose. It serves the grand purpose of being the catalyst that awakens within you and the brothers and sisters a remembrance that brings you Home.

It is not important whether one known as Jeshua ben Joseph was born on a certain day or died in a certain fashion. I did not die. I am here. Or that I even expressed in what you would see as physicality. The importance is what it does as the catalyst for you in bringing you unto a place of expanded awareness, even in your belief that this has been linear history, as you would see it. And yet, time is not linear. For all time is now. As you bring it now right into this present moment, where is that which would be past? It is right here, yes? And you can relive it, as many of you do with occurrences that have happened even in what you would see as years ago. You bring it up in the memory and you relive it over and over.

Where is it? It is not cast back there somewhere. It is right here with you. It is the way my historical lifetime is. It is not past somewhere; it is very much here and now as you bring it forth in your memory. It is as a catalyst, and there are many truths, with a small "t." The purpose of all of the truths - with a small "t" - is the awakening, the remembrance, the expansion of the image of Who you are, and for your brothers and sisters to read and to get another insight, another way of looking upon what has transpired.

Yes, I had a relationship with Miriam. Yes, I had a relationship with the one known as Mary, the Magdalene. Yes, I had many friends. But that is not important. What is important is what is happening now.

Great. Thank you.

You are welcome.

How are you, beloved one?

I have lots of questions.

I believe that you do.

Okay. I think the one that was most pressing when I came in here was the one I think I should ask - which was, I get into these things in my life, like catch22 or like a vortex where I just get stuck, and it's like I'm trying too hard and I can't get out of it, and it has to do with money often. You know, money flows along really nicely and then I get sort of stuck and it just gets worse and worse and worse and worse until, I don't know... and suddenly I move out of the vortex. Well, how can I make my life a little more peaceful and make this flow a little more easily on a regular basis? I know I do this with my head, and I know why some of these things are happening and I'm working through some of those emotions, but what can I practically do to get unstuck a lot more quickly?

Do you see - all of you - do you see the grand wisdom that this one has just expressed? It is a thing of the head, as you have discerned, and it is, as you have said, that you try so hard to get out of it and yet, when you come to a place of saying, "Oh, what the `H'", and you allow it to go, somehow it changes. Grand miracle.

What you will be doing in the days to come is giving it over even more quickly to the "What the `H'," feeling and saying, "Heavenly Father, I know that You have always taken care of me. I know that I go in each moment as the Life that You are. And I know that as You care for each tiny sparrow, each lily of the field" - which you are - "I know that You will take care of me, for You always have. And I know that I can be at peace with it."

Yes, you have experienced what you would call the vortex of energy, for you feel like you are just spinning and spinning and spinning and spinning in this energy and truly, that is what you are doing. If you could behold yourself in that time, that is what you would see. Your energy is just spinning.

In those times, return again quickly unto the place of the heart. Breathe, connect again with the place of stillness, of peace, which is the heart - I'm not speaking of the physical heart, as you know; I'm speaking of the place of centeredness, the place that knows that "Yes, even though all storms would blow around me, all of the turmoil of the world would be going on around me, I am the peace within that storm." You are, as they would say, the eye of the hurricane. You are the peace that abides always. No matter what vortex is going on around you, you are not the vortex.

You are the peace, and you can allow that vortex to spin off into the dust that it is and abide as the peace that you are. For if you will receive it, beloved one, I give unto you a gift this evening. I give unto you a gift of surety that you will always have the golden coins that you need to sustain the physical expression until you are finished with physical expression. You will always have the golden coins to do whatever needs to be done. It is a surety.

Thank you.

It is yours.

And now for all of you to know, it is not I who grants this as a magician with a magic wand upon this one. It is because you have called this forth. You have called forth the very words that you have heard because it is a desire of the heart, and you can claim it. If the word of God is anything to be trusted - and it is - you can take it as the Word of God, for you have spoken.

Okay.

So be it.

It has been my grand joy to come and abide with you this evening in this manner. Yes, beloved brother, to be in touch. To allow the very vibrations of the Love that we are to course through the fingertips, the hands, and to know it in tangible form. Yes. Thank you.

It would have been very interesting - to use a word, "interesting" - if none of you were here this evening and I was here doing this, walking around talking this way. It is much more fun to have you here as expressions upon the chair. Much more fun to do it in this manner.

So I thank you for hearing my invitation, and for allowing yourself to manifest right in front of you the reminder that "Yes, today is the day; this is the day," and to come to this gathering. For many of you have traveled what you would see as many miles to get here and I thank you for that. It has been my grand delight, my joy to express in this manner.

Render unto Caesar that which is necessary as Caesar's. And render unto God that which is God's - that which is you as the Spirit that you are - and bring the Kingdom of Spirit into the world as the peace that you are, as the Love that you are, as the beauty that you are, as the joy that you are, as the compassion that you are, as the Child that you are, as the angel that you are, as the healer that you are, as the great Greek god that you are, as the one who feels the Love of all life expressions, as the beauty and the wisdom of one who has seen many waterfalls, yes, and many sunsets, as the scholar that you are, as the servant that you are, beautiful that you are, as the teacher that you are, and as the grand expression of Life that you are, and as the fluidity and the beauty of the Light that you are.

Connect with the power that you are in that fluidity. You are beautiful. Every one of you would you would see to be unique - a unique expression - and yet, you are all One, the one expression of the Life of our Heavenly Father upon this plane, and you need not worry about whether you are doing it right or not. For you cannot do it wrong.

I suppose that is good news.

Remember always Who you are, for in that remembering you acknowledge that you are in the world, yes, but you are not of the world - as I come with my presence and am in the world but I am not of the world.

When you leave this building this evening, pause for a moment and look deeply within the eyes of a friend, one that you see either in this room or in the other rooms as you are leaving, and behold Who you are. Behold the Christ. Look upon everyone with the eyes of Christ, and it will transform the world.

So be it.
