

If You Build It,® They Will Come

1995-03-10

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the One Source, Child of Light divine. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, Jesus you have called me, and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening your timing, as you have chosen to turn the focus of your attention unto me.

This is a night of magic. A magical evening. Not because I come from afar off to bestow upon you the magic, but because you are calling it forth. You are the magicians. You are the ones that are decreeing that there will be magic upon this plane, that there will be Heaven upon earth. You are the ones that are ushering in the new magic.

It is a time of great joy. A time of great magic, and even more you will see it in the days to come for yes, you will build it and they will come. Each one of you holds within your heart a vision of what you desire to build. Some of what you desire to build is seen in tangible form. Some of you hold a vision of community, of a community that will be established upon this plane and there will be the dwellings and the buildings that ones will see in tangible form.

Some of you hold a dream within your heart that you will build healing. That you will bring about the wholeness into the conscious recognition and remembrance of the holy Child. You will bring about healing for others, yes, and most especially for yourself.

You have a vision of living in joy and living in abundance of that joy. In tangible form, yes, that allows you to do what your desire is. Not to have to stop and think, "How will I do this?" But to stretch forth the hand and the flow is there. Each one of you holds within your heart a deep desire to see established upon this plane holiness. The whole vision, the vision of the heart.

And we will speak first of all of the tangible. The tangible dream of what you would bring forth to see in tangible form. For you dream and you have often dreamed. The dreams of the dreamer to see heaven upon this earth. To bring it to this point of focus and to anchor it upon this plane. That is, if you will receive it, that is what you have agreed to do even in what you call this lifetime.

You have agreed to come and to anchor your Light and your vision upon this plane and to hold a certain frequency that others will feel and will resonate to. And will in their awakening come unto a place of matching that frequency of heart that you hold at a very deep level.

That is why you have made trek this evening to be here. As you look about you see the ones who are steadfast. Who put aside all other excuses, reasons that the ego would come up with and there are many that the ego can come up with. The ego will tickle you a bit and will say, "Perhaps, perhaps the body, perhaps it suffers. Perhaps." And you say, No. This is what I want to do. I desire to call forth my vibration of life and to express it in song. To express it with my heart. With the voice, yes, with the physical vehicle, but with my heart. I desire to be in communication with my brothers and sisters. To be in their midst and to come alive with the Love that is within my heart."

"So I will not let the body serve the ego." The ego that would say, "What if? What if the body cannot make trek and cannot be there to have voice." You had that choice. It came unto you, in front of you as on a platter and the ego said, "Oh, look this is what is going to happen. You are going to be in no shape Friday night. You cannot go. Wash it out. No."

But you have heard the voice of the ego enough times that you have said to the voice of ego, "There is a possibility that this be not my truth. There is a possibility that I can work through all of this before Friday night," and you did. And the voice of the ego said, "Foiled again."

{Laughter}

All of you have had other choices, reasons to not bring the physical vehicle known as the body to this place, and yet there is a deep desire to be in communication in this form. More than just what you would see as the body to be, but to be in the sea of the vibration of Love that is very tangible, palpable. You can reach out and you can touch it. Yes, you can feel another one's energy. You do not even have to touch that one, although you can feel there energy at that level, but you can feel another one's energy at quite a distance.

And as you practice, as you know, beloved one, as you practice the sensitivity you can feel the vibration of another one, room, miles away. Know you why, I will go off on a diversion here, but know you why there is healing in the hands? Why there is the laying on of hands as a method of healing? One of the very powerful energy points is within the palm of the hand.

It is an energy point of receiving and of sending. A point of sensitivity as you tune in. You can feel the vibration of another one. For none of you are static. None of you are sitting there as a great blob of jello. You are very much vibrating and resonating to each other's frequency of vibration.

That is why when you hear a piece of music you can vibrate, not only you can but you do, vibrate with those tones. You can feel yourself uplifted beyond the image of just what the body and the senses would tell you. You can feel yourself going beyond the skin level. You can feel the vibration of yourself intermingling and meshing with the vibration of music.

First, very obvious with the rhythm, the beat of the music, you can feel yourself in sync or not quite in sync with it. Very interested contrast, and with the tones you can feel yourself to be uplifted and transported.

Or if you desire, you can find it as a resistance. Not the music itself but your own resistance that will speak quite clearly to you that you are abiding in another space and quite, "Thank you, I will stay in that space for awhile."

It is a time of great magic, yes. It is a time of vibration that is coming to be registered in conscious awareness. In remembrance of the healing that you have done in many other times. Times that you would see to be passed, and yet they are no farther past than what you call forth right here. Right with you.

A rich history as you allow yourself to delve deeper and deeper into who you are and to who you remember that you are. It is a time of great magic for yes, as you build it, they will come.

First of all, as you would see, the brothers and sisters will come for as you build an awareness within yourself of the temple of Love that you are, others will feel attracted to that Love, to that place of safety, to that place of healing. You need speak no words although you may if you wish, but you need speak not words for as you abide within the temple of Love that you are, it goes out on a vibratory level that all others can tune in to if they desire.

Many will be caught up in their own issues and their own focus of attention and they will not receive your frequencies at that moment. Not at a conscious level, but it is there as it is all of the what you call the radio waves and the television waves are within this room, and yet your point of focus is not upon receiving those waves and tuning into channel 10 or 11 or whatever it would be. Your point of focus is right here.

But as you allow yourself to abide within the temple of Love that you are and as you call it forth consciously, as you abide in that place and you say, "I wish to know more of the Love that I am. I wish to immerse myself in that Love for that is Home."

You will not be able to keep it from your brothers and sisters and they will come. They will come and they will ask, "What have you found that allows you to smile through the midst of all of the challenges? How can you crack a joke in the midst of the seriousness? Have you not heard all of the serious news?" And you will say, "Yes, I have heard the serious news and my compassion goes out to my brothers and sisters. But I have also seen a grander vision. I have seen beyond. I have seen how this fits in to the grander picture and serves the awakening."

And some of the brothers and sisters will say, "Old fool, young fool, do you not see this disaster?" And you will say, "Yes, I see that it is disaster. That it is from the stars." Which is what disaster means, from the stars. "I see that it comes from a grander vision," and in that you teach. In that you build and as you build it, they will come.

Your brothers and sisters are calling out to know that there is a place of safety, a place to come where there is Love. A place to come where they can have the warmth of the embrace, the physical embrace known as the hug, yes, and the embrace of heart to heart. Where it is okay for a moment or so to lay down all of the facade that they have used to protect themselves. That it is safe for them to sit with you and to say, "I hurt. I have heaviness. I have a challenge in my family. I have X,Y and Z." And they find someone that they can share that with and in the sharing they allow part of that to be left behind and they go on their way lighter because it has been left behind.

As you build the consciousness of Love, the brothers and sisters will come. As you build the feeling of family the very extended family, the family of the heart, they members of the family who have felt themselves cast adrift and afar off will start to receive the spiritual Western Union telegrams that say, "There is a reunion happening and you are invited." And they will begin to come from every corner. Every place upon our Holy Mother, the Earth. From countries that you would see to be afar off and from realms that you would see to be beyond even our Holy Mother, the Earth.

That is why you are seeing now the messages, the interest in ones that are known as the extra terrestrials, the ones that are known as the space brothers and they are indeed your brothers. And they are not so much the extra terrestrials as they are brother who now find themselves in a point of focus that is seemingly beyond this plane, and yet they have experienced the life upon this plane as well. They have gone on a sojourn, they have taken a trip and gone somewhere the same as you would when you go and travel unto another state within what you call your country.

They have made trek unto another area to experience what it is like there the same as you would get into your automobile and you would go unto the state known as Montana to see what the natives are like there.

{Laughter}

Indeed, and then you have come back and you have said, "Well, they are a bit different, but they are the same."

My relatives live there.

Indeed. Always, always you are joined, you are bonded in the heart. bonded even by your oneness as the holy Child that you are, bonded to ones that are known and called, labeled aliens even now. They are only alien as you listen to the voice of the ego that would say, "That there is a separation and perhaps I need to fear, I need to judge. I need to consider." That is the voice of ego.

There is no separation.

This one has learned well. No separation at all. And as you listen to the voice of the heart you know beyond all questions of the ego that all life forms are from the One Source. Different forms, yes. Different experiences, yes, but when you close the eyes and you listen with the heart all is One.

As you build your consciousness of Love they will come. It is the same as you would sit in a beautiful garden and you would sit quietly and you would watch the plants in their process and as you abide in the Love that you are, as you filled that consciousness of love and of welcoming the very devas themselves will come into your consciousness.

Always they are there, but they will come into your consciousness as you welcome them. It is the same as you sit quietly in the garden and you allow the birds to feel at ease with you. The small furry creatures to feel at ease with you and as you abide in the consciousness of Love, they will come up to you. They will eat out of your hands. They will perch upon the shoulder for they will know that you know that they are Love, that they are of the Father as well and there is no separation.

It is the same with all life forms. As you allow yourself to build the consciousness of Love in your heart, to come consciously alive in the space of the heart and to issue welcome to other life forms, they will come and they will abide with you in that Love.

As you build your temple of Love within you will draw all men, all women, all life to you in the Spirit of Love.

If you build it they will come. Not only what you would see as the varying forms of life, but also what you would see as your aspects of the totality of Self that you are.

As you build your awareness and your welcoming to all parts of yourSelf, now they are not separate parts, but they have seemed to be because you have forgotten to put the focus upon the expansion of the totality of Self and you have focused on just a very narrow band.

As you allow your awareness to be expanded and to issue welcome to your various other aspects of totality, they will come and make themselves known to you. The nurturing mother will come. The feeling of the presence of the mother will come and be with you throughout all storms.

The grandfather which is you, will come and make himself known to you and will share with you the wisdom of the ages. The Child of you will come and make itself known and will ask, "How does it look? How does it seem from your vantage point? What can you share with me as the Child that we are? What can you share with me from your different vantage point as you see it now? What wisdom can you share with the Child within?" How you can take that one and shelter that inner child and say to that inner child, "I will protect you. I will lead you. I will help you. I will be friend and companion."

And the child in exchange will teach you the happiness and the ease of being the child. The child that does not need to worry about all of the concerns that you feel you find yourself concerned for at this time.

As you build an awareness of totality of Self, you will find a grand variety of expression of yourSelf available instantly. You will find a strength that will protect you throughout all challenges. A strength that you did not even know you had. It will seem to be, oh, I think as you would call the bouncer at one of your clubs perhaps.

{Laughter}

The bouncer who will come and take care of anyone who might come and want to give you something else to think about, and the bouncer will be right there at our service. And there are times when you will welcome that service. You will say, "Where have you been? Glad you're here."

And there are other times that you will say to the bouncer, "Wait a minute, let us look at this issue again and perhaps there is another way to see this issue." And immediately there will come in the wise grandfather, the professor, the expert on a certain area that will come and will share with you the expertise in that area that you did not even know you had available to you. But you have within you, in the totality of Self that you are, there are all of the characters, you may call them, all of these seeming aspects. Some of whom you haven't communicated with for aeons of time, and yet, they are all available as the servant unto you.

As you allow yourself to build the consciousness of expanded Self, you will find more and more of the Self coming to you, to be acknowledged, to be welcomed, to be in companionship with you. They have been waiting just beyond the realm of awareness, waiting for you to say, "Come, speak with me. Dialogue with me. Tell me how it is from your viewpoint. Tell me how it is in your room of the mansion." And there is much of wealth that will be shared.

You do this now with the brothers and sisters as you are becoming more and more at ease with yourself. More at home with yourself. You are finding that you can approach another one and say to them, quite in peace and in love, "Share with me who you are. How does the world look to you from where you are?" And they will share with you because they know that there is an openness, a welcoming that is not threatened by what they will bring unto your doorstep to share. They will know that they are accepted no matter how they view themselves, they are accepted and what they are feeling is valid in that moment. It does not mean that it is all of Truth, for indeed it is not, but it is valid for their feeling it in that moment.

And that's there truth at that moment, exactly. It is not all of their Truth, but it is their truth at that moment and for one to deny that truth and to say, "No, no, no, you are not in that place," well the one knows that the door is closed and there is no more sharing that can go on.

It is as you would turn off the tap of the water faucet and you would stop the flow. But as you say unto that one, "Share with me who you are. It is okay, for I also have had my challenges. Do you know what happened today? There was something that came up and I found that even though I thought I was past that, I found that there was a hook in it and I found myself hooked for a moment. And I found the tears flowing. And as I allowed those tears to flow, the hook itself was washed away. In fact, I cannot remember now, what the hook was. It was washed away."

For every tear, beloved one, releases burdens that have been carried lifetimes and it is not even necessary to know what those burdens are, to bring them up and to label them and to categorize them again, that would only tie them to you longer. But as you release them in the tears, in the free flowing of the fountain of tears they are gone forever.

And this releasement, it will not last forever. It is not something that you have to look upon and say, "Oh, Oh, it's going to be here for the rest of my lifetime." It will not. It is a passing thing. It is something that you are passing through and allowing to be left behind as you pass through it. It is a cleaning and a washing away of burdens, images, limitations that you have carried throughout many many lifetimes.

You have decreed in this lifetime, "I will release that baggage for long enough have I carried it. For so long have I carried it I have forgotten what it is. But it has been as a heavy weight and I no longer need it." You have decreed at a very deep level that you will be enlightened in this lifetime.

And know you what it means to be enlightened? You let the baggage go for you no longer want it. And it is not necessary that you take each item out and label it as it is tossed away. You allow it to be dissolved into the nothingness that it is. It did not feel like a nothingness, but once it is released it is as nothing, as a no thing for it no longer has power. It no longer has weight.

And you, beloved one, go enlightened, lighter in each day. Grand place to be. And as you build that awareness of the lightness which is what comes after the releasement, as you build that awareness of lightness, they will come.

All of your parts, all of your brothers and sisters, all of the ones who are just waiting your welcome to rush in and to help you manifest the vision.

All of you have a grand array of masters, you will call them, friends I call them, who are just waiting for the tiniest crack in the door. For the tiniest bit of that door to be opened and they rush in to help you. They are waiting just beyond your conscious awareness and there are times that you have felt them knocking. Knocking just outside, knocking on the door of the heart and you have wondered, "What is that all about?" And you have felt a presence. Yes.

You have a grand cheering section and you have the cheerleaders, I myself am one of your main cheer leaders who lead your cheering sections each time you allow the door to be opened just a crack and even more. For that is the magic that you are bringing forth upon this plane in this time the willingness to entertain the idea that there can be unlimitedness, there can be joy, there can be life, there can be wholeness, there can be magic beyond even what you imagine in this moment.

That is the magic. That is the vision that you all hold within your heart. It is the vision that says, "I know that I am the magic. I know that in time," because you have chosen to express in what you see as time, "I know that in time the magic that I am is going to be manifest upon this plane." And do you know what that is called, beloved brother?

Heaven on earth.

Give this one a gold star. Heaven on earth, yes.

You are bringing forth as the grand magician that you are, you are bringing forth the very events, concepts, ideas, willingness that will manifest Heaven on earth. And if you build Heaven within your consciousness....

I'm working on it.

They will come. All of what you would see to be separate energies, separate expressions, will come. A grand reunion of the One Self. And yes, there will be the picnic baskets. There will be much to share.

The fundamental churches wait until you die to go to heaven if you do right, or went to hell. And I kept thinking I don't believe in hell. I didn't believe that it existed and it seems kind of funny to wait until the end to make changes in your life. But you could have it right now, people didn't understand. My thinking didn't fit.

Indeed, and yet in what you would see as other life expressions of your own point of focus, you have held that tenant of belief as well. There have been many lifetimes when you have said that heaven is something that I strive for if I am good enough. If the priest will say that I am worthy and if the right words are said as I lay down the body with a certain number of candles that are lit. It will light my way.

I always remember my mother saying that often daily I fall short of the glory of God and what did I do today? Which is so kind of negative ....

And as you have seen, it has put the focus upon the limitation instead of the focus upon the joy and the unlimitedness of the Child.

It changed my focus somewhat.

Yet, for what you give your attention to, what you give your focus to is what you get indeed. It is what you see. You find yourself in the midst of what your consciousness says is in your reality. It is very much as you would purchase one of your automobiles, a certain brand of automobile, certain design of it and all of a sudden you will find that there are many of those designs out on the highway that you probably hadn't noticed before. But all of a sudden there's one, there's one, et cetera, it is because your consciousness is bringing that into focus in that moment.

It is the same as you choose to be in joy and in Love, you will see more of that. If you choose to be in a place of sin and unworthiness, then you do the spiral that takes you to a place where you say, "Why bother?"

Isn't it a lot to do with the interpretation, you know, when they started interpreting what each word from the Aramaic, whatever, and they interpreted it in a way that really wasn't the original interpretation?

Yes. As you have seen the teachings were closely guarded by the ones, self appointed, who were the ones who were to be keepers of infinite wisdom and they were the ones to interpret and tell you what God said. You could not hear God yourself, lowly peon that you were, and if you did you were branded as heretic. A lunatic and burned at the stake. Get rid of him/her. And the ones who were appointed to be keepers of the ancient wisdom often would ask, "What serves the greater good," as they saw it to be? And they were sincere, many of them sincere of heart for serving what they thought to be the greater good. That is the organization.

The promulgation of that form of truth and so they guarded it and they gave out interpretations that would keep it sanctified, categorized, kept within a beautiful golden urn, as you would see a container to be.

But one such as yourself came knocking upon the door and said, "No, I have a truth within me that cannot be denied. I know that I have access to something beyond myself. Something beyond this existence." And you did that in many lifetimes.

And you went through what you believed the consequences of doing that behavior would be, and yes, off with the head. Out with the tongue. Burned at the stake, any of the ones that you can think of, you experienced.

I've done this before, huh?

Do you think this is the first?

I guess not.

I guess not. You have often been the rebel. All of you so gathered in this room and all of you within the sound of my voice are the rebels. That is why you find yourself playing with new ideas, new possibilities and saying, "Let us go beyond physics. Let us go beyond the physical. Let us find out the metaphysics."

All of you are the rebels, yes. This is not the first lifetime either that you have been the rebel.

Beloved one, you have known this in your heart. Rebel that you are, you know the part well and you enjoy it.

Jeshua, I feel like I'm really finally got a gentle hold on something that is really keyed to living happily in this lifetime. I could not understand for the longest time when you talked about what you put your focus on is what is in your life. And it would well up in me right away, that how can I ignore all of the terrible things that are going on in the world. It was as though it would be some kind of sin on my part or lack on my part if I didn't appreciate and feel empathy for all the seeming sadness in the world.

But I, even in the last two days, realized that whatever empathy that I feel for people caught up in what looks like terrible situations, that's fine, but just because I choose to focus on the positive in life does not mean that I have no feelings for those who suffer.

Exactly.

But if I do try to keep myself pointed in the direction of the good and the healthy and the fulfilling, that it does become my reality because I can't hold two thoughts at one time.

Exactly.

And it has taken me quite awhile to get that, but what's time anyway?

Indeed, what is time anyway?

And I also realized in the last several days that with feelings, one day I can be feeling scattered and anxious because I'm busy trying to do a bunch of new things and the next day I can be calm and peaceful. Now the situation has not changed between one day and the next day, but it's pretty obvious that my perception has shifted.

You have discerned well.

So the key is maybe not to take a day where you are feeling sort of unfocused and scattered, don't take it too seriously because another day, the next day is going to come and it's going to be different and we can't say that we will, every day or every moment of the day is going to be peaceful the first time we feel it.

It will in time, yes.

But for awhile isn't it just kind of like a progression of waves?

It seems to be, yes. That is a truth that many of you hold. It is a belief in change which makes for the waves and makes for a process. And it will come to the place where you will abide in the peace always. But you are doing very well with where you are now.

As you have discerned, yes, there is compassion for what is going on with others and what they see themselves to be involved in. There is compassion, but there is also the vision that goes beyond. That is what you allow yourself to abide with: the vision that goes beyond just what is occurring in that short space of time, that point.

There is compassion that says, "Yes, I have walked in those sandals. I know how that feels for I have gone through the waves of some days and some times in my life in being in a place where I could not see but perhaps a tiny point of light at the end of a very long tunnel and yet I have found myself to come to the light at the end of that tunnel." There is compassion. There is understanding. There is tolerance. There is faith. There is hope, and there is Love.

Abide with these and it will bring you to the place where you will experience peace in every moment, a stability of that peace in every moment.

Choose to abide in the grander vision, the larger vision, and as you do that you serve the other ones who may be going through a roller coaster experience. It is much the same that you have in your airplanes, I believe it is, where they say, "In an emergency put your oxygen mask on first, and then help others." It is much the same with this. When you see turmoil and conflict, disaster allow yourself first to return unto the place of the heart. To breathe in the oxygen of the Truth of your being and then to go out from that place in service to others.

For if you go scurrying around without having breathed deeply of your own being, the Truth of your being, you will find yourself scattered and very much down in the small point of focus with the brothers and sisters and you will not be of much use.

But if you put upon your face the oxygen mask first, and breathe deeply of the being that you are, then you can serve others easily. If you build it they will come.

Now I would speak of one point further before we have our break. In building something tangible I would suggest, now this is only a suggestion, but I would suggest building a sacred place within the home. Call it an altar if you will. Call it your own corner. Your piece of Heaven. Your place of beauty. For all of you worship and spend time with certain objects within your home. Objects that take your time and you worship them by giving them your time. Some of them being, for example, not that it applies to any of you so gathered, known as your television sets, your computers. Places where you spend time and this is not a judgment for there is much of benefit in the servant, the technological servant that you bring forth to serve you. There is much of benefit that you television brings to you.

If you limit it.

No, if you un-limit it. We will come, well we will discuss it now. We will discuss it now.

Any program that you see upon your television, you are calling forth by the power of who you are. The power of the creative Child. You are calling that forth. Now the collective belief in this time is that there are others who are putting on this program for you and they are orchestrating it and that is how it comes to be upon your set.

That is an example of separation that says, "Others, somewhere outside of me, a far distance off probably. Ones that I will never even meet, are bringing this and putting it upon my television." But you are calling forth each program that you see. It would not be there without you.

When you turn your back and you walk somewhere else, you do not even need to turn your back to it. Sometimes you will be sitting watching a program and you will find that for a minute or so, your attention has been miles away thinking about someone else, some other thing that happened. Something in the past of that day where he said to me or she said to me, and you have missed a minute or so of whatever the program was.

You call forth each program that you see as the creative Child that you are. And you call it forth not to see it in negativity, not to see it as something that takes your time away from you. It has had that judgment in what you term your New Age circles. It has often been seen as the anti-Christ. A waster of time. But it is your servant and you are calling it forth in order to see beyond just the appearance of what that program is suggesting.

If it is a program that is of information it is for you to abide with that information and to ask, "What more does it mean? What is the whole vision of this information? Why am I calling this forth and where does it go from here? How does it apply?" If it is a program that you would see to be of a past time, we will call it one of your movies perhaps, that is of escapist, it has been called, nature where you sit and you watch and so forth. You are not escaping. You are very much caught up into the drama that is going on with the characters. Even the programs that you would see to be of violent nature. I think they are called "R" rated, whatever. Even the ones that contain violence you are calling forth in that moment to say, "How do I feel about what is going on? How can I see what the characters are feeling and how can I see beyond even what they are portraying at that moment?" For a character in a movie is not separate from you. You are that character. You relate to what they are experiencing.

Part of the magic that you are bringing forth in this time is the acceleration and ease of bringing up examples so that you can experience drama without having to take lifetimes to go through the various interrelationships of that drama, to know how you feel. That is why you as the grand masters that you are, you have devised ways of going unto a movie and sitting there for what would be known as a couple of hours of your time, and being able to put yourself in each one's place and to say, "Yes, out of the past, habitually, I have felt in that situation this way. I have been afraid. I have felt sorrow. I have felt loss. I have felt confusion. I have felt rage." Whatever, but because you are affording yourself a new way of seeing, you can allow a bit of changed perspective and say, "You know. Even that one that is perpetrating, seemingly, the action upon another one, that perpetrator is the holy Child as well," and that one is crying out to be acknowledged as the holy Child, to be loved. That one is saying, "Can you love me even if I," whatever? And you in an instant now, can see that drama from a whole new light.

It gives you a new perspective and you do not have to live that lifetime. You can do it in the short time, as you see time to be, of an hour and a half. An hour. Two hours. An afternoon, whatever. You can go through all the emotions. You can acknowledge the emotions. You can say, "Yes, I have been that one. I am that one as I now put myself in the place of that one. But I also can see beyond. I can see how it all fits together. I can see what each one is asking for even though they may not have the words to ask for it." You can see the one that is hurting and you will be sitting in your chair calling out to that one, "Why don't you just speak your heart?" And they don't, because you, sometimes you do not speak your heart. You speak what society has told you, what you have perceived society to tell you is the way to behave. You hold your cards close to your chest. Not so much you anymore. And you say, "It is not safe to say unto one, 'You know this is crazy. I want to be loved.' You want to be loved. I really love you. I don't know why these words are in between us. Can we begin again?"

That is really what is at the bottom of all of your drama. And yet one thing seems to lead to another, to escalate until one has the outrageousness to say, "Stop, I love you." Do you know how that stops things? In the midst of an argument where one says, "I love you." And the other one full of energy, rage, pauses, "Did I hear that right?"

{Comments not clearly recorded}

Yes, and of course you have to mean it and you do. You have to say what is in your heart. You have the courage of that and to say, "Everything else aside, this is how I feel. I love you. I wish the best for you and I want to share that with you." That is what is in your heart and if you build it, they will come. They will come around. They may take their time, but they will come.

Every program that is upon your television set is there because you have called it forth in order to look beyond the limitation of what is seemingly presented. Even to come to the choice of saying, "Instead of abiding with this drama perhaps I will go out and abide with the vibration of the angel of sun. With the vibration of life in the trees and the flowers. The beautiful flowers that are coming forth. I will abide with their vibration and I will breathe deeply of the vibration of life that I am." \

But do not judge anything that you call forth, for you have called it forth and in that you are affording yourself the choice of how you will see it. If you feel that there is a threat or a lack of value in something, then perhaps you need to look again until you feel in a place of neutrality about it.

For the television set, beloved one, is a servant unto you very much the same as you would see your pop-up toaster and you do not judge your pop-up toaster to be of negative quality. They are all their servants as servants, as your servants.

You call forth everything in your experience. You call forth everything in your remembrance as catalyst to remember the totality of Self. So allow yourselves to honor the creativity of the Child, the holy Child that you are when you sit in front of your computer, honor yourself for the creativity that has brought that and the power that you feel that it has, into manifestation to be your servant. Play with it, which is what you are doing.

Allow it to be your servant and then when there is desire to do something else you will leave it in a place of neutrality, it does not own you. Other way around for you own it, for you have brought it into being and you can turn your back on it and if you will receive it, when you turn your back on it, it disappears.

I know.

And then immediately you look back and there it is. Grand magician that you are. Even as you sit in front of what is known as the computer and you are thinking very hard about how to get this program to work and part of your mind is not on the computer at all, it's back on the squiggles in the book, the manual. You are no longer focusing upon the reality — with a small "r" — of that computer and in that instant, that computer has gone off somewhere else until you come back and you focus upon it, and instantly it is there.

That is what great magicians you are. That shows you the power of magic.

Is that like if I look at the stars and enjoy their beauty, they're real, but if I'm not looking at them they are not real anymore? At least to me.

Exactly. They are not within your point of focus, yes. Someone else maybe looking at them and that is their reality and they are very real in that moment for them. For you, your reality – small "r" –has shifted with your shift of awareness and then you bring it back. "Ah ha, they are there." They are your servants.

Are you saying that we are creating everything we see but we don't have to create the whole of the universe at once? We only create what we are looking at right now?

Yes.

That's a lot.

Yes. You got it. You got it. That is how creative you are and when you let it go, it goes. When you call it back, it comes.

Call together what you would see as an alter, a sacred place within the home. A place of peace, a place of beauty. A place that reminds you of the totality of the holy Child that you are.

It can be outside?

It can be outside if you desire it to be and if it is a place that you will go often, yes. But a place that is your own sacred space where you are reminded to connect with the Allness that you are. It is not that there is anything magic and yet there is magic because you bring it to it. Magic about making an alter that will instantly make you more spiritual or more worthy, for you are already worthy. You are already whole. You are already All that your Father created you to be.

But in making for yourself a sacred space, and you have such a space, it reminds you to focus for a moment or longer upon the totality of Self and the beauty of Self and the peace. It allows you to come Home to that place that abideth forever.

And if there are concerns allow yourself the simplicity of a technique of writing out a concern and placing it upon the alter. Again not because some special person is going to come and sprinkle magic dust upon it and make it all better, but allow yourself to write on a piece of paper whatever the concern will be and to put it on the alter and offer it to yourSelf. The Self that is all of the aspects that we talked about earlier, the professor, the expert in whatever area of your concern and allow that expert to come and to work on that.

In other words, give it over to your total Self for you are much more, thank God.

Yeah.

Than what you see in this point of expression.

I'll try it out with my lotto tickets.

Yes. You jest and yet it is quite possible.

All right. I have faith.

Yes. Ask your lotto expert to come and give you advice. You may find some that have a sense of humor, but we shall see. And I expect a report back. Yes, it will be fun to do.

Beloved one, would you have a song to share with us?

{Patrick Corrigan sings}

It takes a single person,
a solitary soul to open up a little,
to contemplate the whole.

For all the world to tremble and to creation to rush in,
and for every mind's awakening to begin.

It takes a single moment, a twinkle of an eye for the Child's memory to turn toward the Light.

And in that simple memory, that begins to blaze, every point upon the web of the universe is up raised.

And so I tell you kindly friend, don't think that you are small, because within yourself you contain it all.

And with every person truly you are one, so I tell you kindly friend where you go they all come.

It takes a single person,
a solitary soul for the entire universe to awaken to the whole.

Very good, beloved brother. Thank you. It is as it was in olden times, a song of joy, a song of Truth. Yes, a grand gift that you give unto me and all of your brothers and sisters again.

And now would be a good time for a break as it is called. Although I'm not sure what would break for there is no separation. Allow yourselves a break to refresh the bodies and then we will meet again and we will entertain the questions. So be it.

{Break}

Beloved and holy Child, are you now refreshed? The body feels refreshed? Always the Spirit is refreshed is this not true?

True.

Yes. There has been a point one more that would be discussed. If you build it they will come. There has been a vision, a desire that many of you have held in your heart and many of the brothers and sisters within the sound of my voice have held in their hearts as well. The vision of community. The vision of providing a place that will out-picture Heaven upon earth.

A place, yes, where the physical forms of body will come together and will live in harmony. A place where issues, yes, will not be denied. They will come up to be seen and to be acknowledged and to be played through, not worked through, but played through.

It does not mean that immediately as you will take the bodies and plant them in a place called the community that all issues will cease. For indeed sometimes the very proximity of form to form gives rise to opportunity to consider and this will be true.

There is no afoot a movement that comes not outside of yourself but is coming now in this timing because you are calling it forth. A movement of going back to individual responsibility. For each individual as the Child of the One Source, to own up to his or her own power of wholeness, and to claim that as the holy Child.

This is now being out-pictured as a wave seemingly coming from your new government that is in process of cutting back many programs of support and there has been a hue and cry from many corners. Some of the hue and cry coming from a place of fear. Of saying, "How am I going to sustain the body if there is not the support from the government?"

It is giving many time to re-evaluate the power of the holy Child and to say, in your own creativity, "How can I bring forth methods and avenues of manifesting the golden coins? To be in a space of joy and service unto other?" In other words, "How can I see this anew, in a new light?"

Some of the brothers and sisters will wait until they feel themselves to be in a corner and they will cry out, "Whoa is me. I am backed into a corner and there is no support." And they will be in their place of rage and frustration. Others are already seeing the sign, the handwriting I believe it is called, upon the wall and are starting to get creative in thinking about other ways, trainings, yes, that will individualize your own talents where it is not dependent upon a big source of a company, as you would see it, an employer, a huge employer.

A place where the creativity of the holy Child will come forth in, I believe it is called, entrepreneurship, yes, where you will know your own power. Not as a dependent being, but an independent being within the totality of the wholeness that you are.

That is the vision that you are calling forth. You are saying, Because of a subtle voice that is gaining momentum even within yourself, the voice that is saying, "I am more than what I have thought myself to be and I am going to put together the very events and circumstances seemingly decreed by others, so that I can know my own power." Not the power of the world but the power of your Beingness. The power of the creative One Source, and you will bring that into manifestation as part of Heaven upon earth.

For you will not manifest Heaven upon earth in a state of dependency upon the government or upon any other organization taking care of you, for indeed you do not need to be taken care of. So you have set into motion the steps that will prove to you your own grand strength.

Many of you, all of you so gathered in this room, have put into motion the steps that will insure your independence and it is not an independence that speaks of separation. It is more as an interdependence that comes from the place of your own Beingness. This is what will be manifesting.

Even those of you who see your source of golden coins coming through channels of employment have already had ideas that if that source would shift or change you will find other ways, for indeed you always have, to sustain the form and to go on expressing as the servants of the Father that you are.

You will always be cared for. That is a given, even though the form of body may call out and say, "We are very close to the brink of starvation. What are you going to do now?" And you have experienced that. That is why when I speak those words there is part of you that says, "Oh yes, I know that well."

I remember that.

I remember that and I don't care for any more of that. And indeed there will not be anymore of that. For you have already satisfied yourself on that point. You know what that feels like. To lay down the body seemingly because there has not been enough nourishment, physical nourishment for the form.

It is not physical nourishment that keeps the form going in the first place. It is the Light of your consciousness that sustains the form in every moment.

In the wave that you are now calling forth that leads to the vision of Heaven upon earth, there will be many of the brothers and sisters who will be and are sincere of heart of wanting to serve. Who know already that there is a change afoot. Who are now receiving what is known as the welfare checks, but do not want to be in that space for they have gifts to share. But they do not see opportunity to share those gifts.

You are the very ones because you have a vision of community which is much more than just picking up the forms and plopping them somewhere in geographical closeness to live, a vision of community that is communion of heart to heart as the One that you are.

You will manifest opportunities for yourself to be of service in a way that excites your heart. In a way that is not drudgery just because you have to do it, but in a way that excites your heart into total aliveness and will be in service to the awakening and in doing this you will create opportunities for others to join with you.

Already you have in your midst ones who are honing their expertise in various forms of healing, various methods. You have in your midst those who are the creators of beauty in form, the artists that you would call them. The ones who bring forth joy in vibration of song that is to be valued and treasured.

And yes, you will put the hand to the shovel, as it is, and you will raise the plants that will nourish you as well, and you will sing as you go and in the evening as you have done in other times, you will share the song of your heart with your brothers and sisters and invite them to share with you in the vibration of joy.

You have in your midst ones who know how to call forth the life process of the plants. To call forth the beauty of the process of life in form that can be nourished and can be exchanged for golden coins for those of your brothers and sisters who now have the focus upon another way of obtaining the golden coins and do not have the time as they see it, to sit and to raise the beautiful flowers.

You have much that is already coming together to form community. You will do this for yourselves, for your own awakening. And in process of doing that, you serve all of creation. It becomes the joy of Heaven upon earth.

That is the vision that you have had. That is the longing that you have felt deep within the heart in what you would see as this lifetime and it has not begun just with this lifetime. It has been there throughout all lifetimes, but it is coming now to the forefront where it can no longer be denied.

It is the longing that calls out to you with a homesickness that says, "Please manifest Home again upon this plane." It is where the deep sorrow comes from. It is where the Child of you calls out and says, "I want to know Home. I want to know my Father. I want to know my Mother." It is a very deep innate longing that will no longer be denied.

There is coming to you because you have decreed it, because you have desired it, the avenues of manifesting what you have seen to be impossible. You have said, "Yes, I want to manifest in tangible form a place of beauty that will honor the sacredness of all life. I want to see that manifest in my lifetime, a place of healing where ones will walk upon our Holy Mother, the earth and they will feel the alignment of love in the vibration that they are and that of our Holy Mother."

Where no longer you feel yourselves removed from the vibration of form, the molecules of physicality which are no different than the soil of our Holy Mother and you will feel at one with those vibrations.

It is not by accident beloved one, that you have come across information that will be most useful. The time approaches rapidly where this will be put into process of manifestation. For long enough have many of you held the vision. You have been steadfast and you have said, "I am willing. Show me how to do this." You have cried out to the heavens, "Use me, I am willing. I want to serve the awakening," You have not perhaps called it that. "I want to serve my brothers and sisters. I want to serve the One heart that I am and I want to call that forth in dynamic quality even upon this plane. I do not want to wait until I have laid down the body again and go unto a place that I have thought would be heaven. I want to know it now."

That is why you have that saying even in your world, "I want it now." Indeed, the holy Child wants it now. Indeed, seize the day for the day is yours. This is the day and if you build it, they will come.

There has been a process because the holy Child believes in pieces of the jigsaw puzzle. There has been a process of those pieces coming together. There has been a belief that others had healing to do before they would come unto a place of readiness.

There has been a belief that even you have had some healing to do before you would come unto the place of saying, "I now am ready." If you will accept it, you are ready.

The time is now. Within what you see as the next six months of your timing there will be much of manifest progress in this area, for there are many who desire to be in community with you who have the vision and are asking to come Home again.

That is why you have seen gatherings of community, of heart community. They have been as the pieces that are now coming together and what you have felt as the Love, the sharing in the heart community is the glue that will hold together the larger community.

It will be manifest in a place of beauty. It will be manifest in a place near here that you will travel unto. Many of you will find that you will desire to live there full time. Others of you will find that you will go and spend your "free" time there. And indeed all of your time is free if you so decree.

You are always in service and there will be guidance to say where you do the service. But you have vision and long enough now, you have held that vision within the heart. As you have seen many changes coming about in acceleration in the last six months of your timing there has been a grand shift even within your country of what has been called and has been seen to be the voice of the people, and it is the voice of the people calling out for, perhaps not exactly the way it is out-picturing, but there is a calling out to know change.

There will be upon this path, what you will see as the zigs and the zags as the holy Child calls out to know change. There has been much that has shifted in the last few months of your timing and you, as the grand masters that you are, have set into process exactly what you desire in order to bring about Heaven on earth.

So you are now manifesting the very means even within the structure of the world as you know it, for the world is of your making as well. You are not of the world, but you are in the world and you know as the creative Child how to work in the world and to transform it.

As you are vigilant you will find things coming unto you. You will just happen to come across certain information. It is not that it just happens. It is because you have called it, but you may allow yourself the good feeling of, "Oh, what a surprise. Here it is." The holy Child from time to time likes a good surprise.

But I share with you the good news. For those of you who held the vision for what seems to be a long time, that you need abide just a wee bit longer with the vision in the heart and you will see it begin to take form. For it comes first from the building of the consciousness of the temple of Love within.

All of you so gathered in this room and all of you within the sound of my voice have been doing your homework. You have been dealing with your issues. You have run from the issues from time to time and you have said, "No, I cannot handle that," and yet in that moment there has been the still small voice that has said, "You can handle this. Otherwise it would not have come unto your doorstep." And you have picked yourself up as the grand servant that you are and you have said, "One more time. Only one more time." And that is all that it takes. "One more time I will deal with this issue and perhaps this time I can see beyond it. Perhaps this time I will come Home through this issue. I will see that there is not separation." And with that, beloved ones, the angels have sung. There has been great rejoicing.

Each and everyone of you have been doing your homework. You have dealt with the issues that have been painful to you. You have said, "I will look upon those issues and I will know who I am and I will speak my truth, even though in other times it meant disastrous results according to the body. This time I will know who I am and I will speak my truth."

Not in a way that brings up resistance from the brothers and sisters, for indeed you have tried that many times. You have been upon the soapbox and you have hammered away at them and you have hammered until they have had to put up the armor in order to keep from being pounded into a pulp. This time you have said, "I will know who I am and I will share that from the heart. I will share that in Love that flows as the water flows in the stream. I will share that as a gentleness of the tears that go down the cheek. I will share that in gentleness with whoever has the eyes to see and the ears to hear." If you build it, they will come. It is not by accident that you have called forth this evening this message.

When I suggested unto my beloved friend and teacher, the one known as Judith, that she choose this title for this evening, there was great resistance and she said, "But you have talked on that other times and what has come of it?" As if I am the one who is going to bring it forth and provide it in front.

It should be when we build it.

Exactly. When you build it, they will come and we will even modify that to, when we build it, they will come. For I am not separate from you and it is a vision that I hold in my heart for I know Heaven and I know Heaven upon this plane.

In the lifetime of Jeshua ben Joseph, I brought Heaven to earth in my experience. I knew Heaven upon this plane. Even in the events of what you would see as the crucifixion I knew Heaven. For I knew myself not to be separate from Heaven, for I am Heaven as you are also.

And as the one was pounding the nail, the huge spike into my hand, I looked upon that one and I knew Heaven. As I looked upon the other two of my brothers being crucified by my side, and I spoke unto them. Not just the one, but both of them as they would so receive it, that today you will be in Heaven with me.

For Heaven is not a place. Heaven is not afar off. Heaven is the place, the state of consciousness of unlimited Love that is not denied to you because you have the point of focus upon this plane. It is who you are when you remember the Love and you bring it in its unlimitedness to this place.

I brought Heaven to earth as you are now in process of doing. That is why you have agreed that you will come and bring the Light that you are and anchor it in this time and space known as the turning of an age.

You have said, "I will come and be servant unto my Self at the time of a turning of an age. A returning to remembrance." And this is not the first age that you have come and done this. Many times you have come as the servants that you are and you have birthed a new age of remembrance. Upon this plane and upon other planes in what you would call other universes, other dimensions. You have been very busy, for this is not the only point of focus.

It sounds like multidimensional chess?

Yes. Exactly, that is a good way to describe it. Well said, beloved one. Multidimensional chess, yes. Very much as you would see the internet which is all linked together. Very much as you would see the spider web that is all joined and if you would pick one point upon that web and you would lift up that point, all of the other points of the web vibrate with that upliftment. Yes.

When you were talking about Heaven on earth, I'm not real versed in the Bible. But often what you said when you were on the cross and the spikes went through your hands, where there was words of suffering. What exactly did you say? I don't think probably what the Bible said was exactly what you said.

It has been a mistranslation, yes, for I was, I had practiced in that lifetime knowing myself to be master of the form, master of the body. I had practiced being outside of the body as I put the body through various tests. Test of pain to the body in which I did not feel the pain for I was not identified in the focus of pain. I was identified in the focus of Allness, of Heaven, of Love.

When something is happening to the body there is a choice, believe it or not, there is a choice. To be so focus with what is going on in the activity of the body that you feel all of that trauma, pain, or to allow yourself to be beyond the pain and to know that you are the one who is calling forth even that experience and to be so in love with the Allness of Love, that you do not put the small point of attention upon that. That is what I did.

I knew myself to be Heaven. I knew myself to be Love. I knew because I had had training and you are going to say, "Well, yes. You were most fortunate in training with the masters in various countries," as you would call them to be. "You went and you studied with the masters. You knew how to do this, but what about me? I'm right here. I can feel the pain. Sometimes in the back, the shoulder, the neck, the head, whatever," name a part. "What about me?" And yet, as I speak with you about the possibility of being beyond form, of being the Light, the energy that activates the form, there is a place within you that resonates with that and says, "Yes, I can imagine that. I can touch that space."

You, beloved one, all of you, as you relate to that know that you have already mastered, you have already experienced knowing yourself to be beyond form. For indeed, even in what you would claim as your history upon our Holy Mother, the earth, when you first desired to know form and to express upon our Holy Mother, you came very much as the Light being that you are.

There was form, yes, for you desired definition of form, but the identification with form was not as intense as the collective belief is right now. And you knew yourself to be Light that was activating the form. You knew yourself to be able to go as the Light that you were and you knew the vibration of other forms, creations that you had called forth. And you knew how to expand the molecules of that form to the place where you would walk through another form. Walk through a tree. Walk through a wall. Walk through a rock. You knew how to attune yourself to vibration well enough to judge.

But, in the evolution of intense identification with form, you shifted your point of awareness to the form, forgetting the vibration, forgetting the attunement of vibration and there were times when you ran into the tree and you forgot to adjust the frequency first. And you found yourself bouncing. And you found yourself popped out of the form, as it would be, and you said, "What happened?" Well, symbolically, not literally.

And you said, "What happened?" and instantly you revived a form. Consider that word, "revived," to put life back into — a form and you went on expressing for the joy of expressing which is what you are doing now, for the joy of it.

So as I was upon the cross it was interpreted that I said that I suffer, but I did not. It was interpreted and perceived because the ones perceiving it, that is where there limitation of focus and understanding was, and it has been handed down through the ages that way.

But you, beloved one, even with the questioning that you are doing, you are turning that around. Many of you are turning all of the truths — with a small "t" — that have been so accepted for so many lifetimes, you are turning them around and saying, "Perhaps I can look at this another way. Perhaps it means something different. If I allow myself a different perspective, how does this one appear to me?"

Even in what you have seen in the last few years of your timing as to what is acceptable in appearance has changed. You now see the ones known as the males with the long beautiful tresses. It used to be that was acceptable only if you were utilizing the female form, but that has changed from culture to culture and time to time.

You see the raiment, all varieties of raiment now. A few years ago in your timing, there was a very definite image of what the raiment should look like, "should," but you because you are saying, "I will know beyond the limitation of image." You are questioning, you are allowing variety. You are taking joy in variety of expression. You are accepting diversity within all of society. Especially you who are the rebels.

You are honoring diversity and as you have the courage to do that, you allow the other brothers and sisters who are a bit stuck in their mould, to say, "Well, perhaps it's okay. Perhaps I can look with new eyes. Perhaps, not everything has to be of identical form and image. I can appreciate the various colors, designs, expressions."

And even with the most current, I don't know if it's StarTrek or not, but the most current science fiction programs on television, I notice that very important characters in the storyline look very weird. Some very ugly. Some kind of funny looking and some strange, and I feel certain that is to get us accustomed to the idea that love and caring and things we have attributed to humanity can be attributed to many forms of life.

Exactly.

I think we are getting ready for some visits, perhaps.

Of course. You are putting out the welcome mat, and you beloved one, you are the one who is calling forth the variety that you see because you are now at a place of saying, "I am willing to entertain new ideas and concepts and new images, for the fun of it." And that's what it is. It is fun. It is play. It is the holy Child at play.

You are the ones calling it forth because you are saying now, "I am ready to put out the welcome mat for all of my brothers and sisters even though they may appear in a form that is different from mine, or they may express in a way that is different. A different language, a different way even of vibration of expression. Perhaps they will not even use sound to express, but they will speak mind to mind."

The science fiction films that in particular seem to be an important teacher for us.

Yes, you are bringing them forth in order to reinforce the possibility, the probability and the truth that you are much more than just what is right here. Yes. You are bringing it forth as examples of your unlimitedness, of your creativity.

The ones who write these programs, they are called creators, are they not? They are called creative writing. Of course it is.

They are philosophical. I had those included in my philosophy and religion classes in college.

Yes.

In particular right now I'm noticing that the physical, for what of a better word, the form that these different lives are taking at least the way they are impacting me is that I can look at something or some being that I might at one time, have been frightened of, and I'm recognizing that hey, this is just another life form.

Exactly, you are looking beyond appearance.

So it's kind of mind stretching?

Yes, well said. It is allowing the mind — with a small "m" — to know that it is going into the whole Mind that you are. Taking from the very tiny point into the Allness and saying, "I am ready for this. I want to know more of this."

For sure.

Yes, where no man has yet dared to go. But is now daring to go even woman as you have seen. The leader of your new one is a woman, of course.

You know, I have a question. You know in this retreat in Colorado, Judi who you come through doesn't know how to swim so are you going to give her the opportunity to walk on water with you?

We shall see about that.

I'm sure Judi can get beyond her resistance.

It would be a grand awakening for her, would it not?

I would be very supportive of that.

Will you support her as, yes.

I won't support her in the water, but in coming out of her limitations as to what she can do.

Yes, and do you know that is why she is doing what you see her doing as this demonstration, to come beyond the limitation of who she has thought herself to be and what has been safe. So there is a very good chance that yes, we shall walk on water.

I thought that would be great.

Yes.

{Laughter}

She is speaking to me.

I bet.

I just want to say, Jeshua, that we don't already have high regard for Judith for going beyond any fears she had prior to the time that she agreed to allow you to come through her.

Yes.

Because I'm sure that was a large step too.

It is a process of remembrance for her. For indeed she has agreed to do this before what she would see as this incarnation and this is not the only point of focus, the only time when she has done this. Often we have teemed up, but she has found it to be handy to forget.

{Laughter}

She is saying unto me, "Do not make promises that we cannot keep." We will keep them. We will keep them. She will have a lot of trepidation.

So what promise are you willing to make?

That we will walk on water.

Good.

So be it.

So be it. We'll put it in the flyers.

My beloved friend and teacher is saying that she wishes to censor this tape.

{Laughter}

No. No. No.

Indeed. Such fun.

Beloved one, would you have a question this evening?

You've answered most of them.

How strange, how wonderful.

Yes, how wonderful. You have a way of doing that. Well I won't bore you with my latest relationship fiasco ending in sorrow, et cetera, except I learned much from it and I think both of us were served in many ways.

Yes.

But coming from a little bit of sorrow about this, am I ever going to get this right? Will my soul get relationship right? Will I find someone who will meet me fully and be with me?

Yes.

Like I deserve.

Yes, when you come unto that place of knowing that you are already there. When you love yourSelf as the wholeness that you are. You are already there, beloved one. You will forget the searching. You will be so busy in the serving and the loving of another that they will not be able to be otherwise than in love with you. You will be so much in Love with who you are that it will be contagious to the other one and they will feel themselves in love as the Love that they are.

Yes, beloved one, you will get relationship right. You are already there. What only remains for you now is to accept the relationship with your Self. You are whole and you are healed, for long enough have you felt that there was yet a little piece that must be made okay.

If you will receive it beloved one, you are healed, you are whole in this instant. It comes from within you as the wholeness that you are. It is your as a Christmas gift to take and to live from that space, that space of the wholeness of Love. Be in love with yourSelf, and as you do that no one will deny you for they will be in love with the Self that you are.

They will see themselves, the true Self that they are. This does not mean that they will not have issues that they wish you to help them with. For most, not all, of your brothers and sisters upon this plane are completing remembrance and healing issues. So each one comes with their own fears and their own feelings of a lack of wholeness in some area, and they will come unto you and they will show you the area that they have kept hidden for so long. Not hidden from others for indeed it has been seen by others, but hidden from themselves until now. Until now they have said, "I have the courage to perhaps peek at it. Maybe not to look straight on but I'll have a little look at it." And then as you facilitate their courage and their looking they will see directly that what they have felt was such a heavy shadow is but a shadow.

Be in love with your Self beloved one, and I am, for I love the Self that you are. Know in everyday that you are loved with an everlasting Love. I love the Self that you are. I honor that Self.

Allow yourself to honor who you are and to be in love as in love as you would be with anyone else upon this plane. Give the love notes unto your Self. Give the telephone call unto yourself to say, "How are you doing? I was just thinking of you and I wanted to be in touch."

Give unto your Self the small gift that says, "I love you." Nurture your Self with whatever brings joy to the heart. Fall in love with your Self, and then all the rest is easy. I love you.

Thank you, and I love you.

I know. Thank you. It has been so always, yes.

Beloved one, how are you and what would you ask?

I'm fine, thank you. More than fine. It amazes me you know, during our "break", I had been coming in the back door with Tom and saying something about oh boy, if I win the lottery I would give ten percent to Oakbridge and Tom is saying, "Just ten percent?" And suddenly this thing flashed across my mind about the book on government grants and loans, guarantees for communities. I mean it just flashed through my mind. I did not come here with the conscious intention of sharing that.

Indeed. And yet, it was not by accident that it came unto your conscious awareness at that moment.

That is really magic. Miraculous.

Yes, that is what we have been speaking of this evening, the new magic that you are bringing forth and it seems as a miracle and yet miracles are natural. When a miracle does not occur it means there has been some blockage in some belief that there could not be a miracle.

And that's, I would appreciate your continued support in my dream to get these little businesses off the ground.

And whose idea do you think this was in the first place?

Well, mine.

And mine.

And yours?

Yes, as the partner that we are.

I didn't know we were get into this so big.

Would you put any constraints upon this? Would you limit it, no.

No, but on days when I am a little frightened I wonder how I got into it.

That is the voice of ego, but you are doing very well with that. That voice has been a very strong one for you in this lifetime and many other lifetimes and you are now coming to the place where you can say, "Okay, I hear you, but..." the but is most important, "but there is another way of looking at this. I will breathe deeply of the oxygen mask of the Spirit that I am, and then I will look at it again." Then it does not look quite so fearsome.

It also helps a great deal to end all my prayers with, "Thy will be done."

Yes. Yes, and it is not that you give it over to someone as a God apart from you, but you give it over to your higher knowing, the expanded Self that we were talking of earlier, the totality of Self that has the wisdom of all of what you would see as the aspects of yourself and yet are not separate from you. To give it over, to release it into the Allness where all wisdom abides.

Just like you were speaking of placing your current problem on your altar in calling in all aspects of Self.

Yes. Exactly.

Thank you, I love you.

I love you also, partner.

Beloved child, how are you?

I am doing good.

Where beloved one, are the sandals?

Ah, they are by the door. I have different shoes tonight.

Yes, you do. What would you ask this evening?

I guess it's the thing that it's a little unsure for me right now, is that I am coming up with so many different opportunities that, and they are coming up so easily and abundantly that there is an aspect of myself that is saying, "Well this is just a little too easy," and I'm not quite trusting the wisdom of it all.

That is, as you've discerned, the voice of ego that would say, "Hey, wait a minute." But yet the holy Child has decreed to know the Truth of her being and part of that, all of that is that you manifest everything in your experience.

And you have said in other times, "It must be laborious, it must be very difficult to do. There is a sparseness and a limitation." Now you are saying, "I desire to experience the other side of that pendulum," and part of you is saying, "but wait, it feels unfamiliar."

It is you, beloved one, in your unlimited Self, what we were speaking of earlier, that is manifesting for you an abundance of opportunity. Go with what excites the heart. For indeed you will not be with that choice forever and ever. In other words, it is not that you are going to be signing yourself away forever and ever, for there will be guidance that will lead you to another choice later. You are not boxed in.

But go with what excites your heart. You are now saying, "I am unlimited." You have said that. You have said it over and over and over and now it surprises you when you start to manifest it.

Well I haven't heard anything from my contacts up in Alaska yet, and that kind of surprises me.

You will hear.

Soon, like within the month?

Yes.

Good.

As it is seen now.

What does that mean? That sounds like temporal distortion stuff or something.

And indeed, it is exactly that, for it deals in time. As it is seen now the decisions, the people who are involved in those decisions and choices will make their decisions and choices within a month's time and you will hear. However, within their time frame they may choose to allow this to be delayed a bit. But as it is seen now, they will not.

It is very much as your science fiction that sees a time wrinkle, sees time not to be set in a linear fashion, but can see it in a warp and in a wrinkle. There are times that it wrinkles, such a pun. There are times that it wrinkles, yes. But as it is seen now you will hear within a month's time.

So I should hang out, whatever that means?

Yes.

It's happening but at a conscious level, I don't know.

Yes, and know that there are also levels of aspects — I suppose you will call it — parts, there is not a good word for this. There are levels that have to come together. In other words, there is more than what you see upon the surface so far.

Right.

Yes, and there are levels that have to do their integration. That is a good way to put it.

So all the parts are moving?

Yes, and moving in an order.

So it's in kind of like the right direction for me to just continue on with Alaska?

Yes, there is a desire in your heart to be in that geographical location and to be of service. There is the excitement of the heart that says you desire a time interval to be there and this will come to pass.

How it falls together and how it looks has yet to be determined. Not by what you would see as external forces, but by a clarity of other things that you are dealing with as well.

Right. There are so many things going on right now.

Yes, as you have discerned. You will know. You will have your answer.

Good. Thank you.

Beloved flower, how are you this evening?

Fine.

What would you ask?

I have a couple of questions that have to do with Zosar and the healing work that I agreed to do with him before I came into this incarnation. Is it imperative that we do this healing work together in Montana? Does it matter where we do it, or is it supposed to be Montana?

I will give you the same answer as to this one. As it is seen now, you will begin the work in the state known as Montana, but it will not be just limited to that geographical area for you will find yourself traveling. You will find yourself going to various gatherings, points of Light known as communities that wish your healing expertise. So it is not that you will find yourself going off into the hinterland forever and ever never to be heard of again. That will not happen.

But the work is already started. It is not that it will await your traveling to this place. That will be part of the phase, part of a stage, a process. Part of that process, but it will not be limited to that geographical place.

So it is meant that I start it over there?

You will find your form in that geographical location sometime. You will find your heart to be expansive enough that it will not be limited just to that geographical location and you will find your mind, not to be limited to a geographical location either. For one of the things that you are developing and will develop even more in the days to come is the travel that is beyond form.

Beyond form?

Yes.

Could you explain what you mean by that?

It has various names called mental travel, using the mind as a springboard and then going beyond even what the mind has conceived to know that you can visit with and be instantly present with another one in another geographical location to effect companionship, communion and healing.

You mean like astral travel?

Yes. Yes, beyond body.

I'll be able to do that?

Yes, you may claim that, yes.

Another question is to do with this reiki master class I take to become a reiki master. One thing I like about this teacher, she works with the guides and the first night of our class she is going to connect all of us to our main like reiki master guide, and will that be .... and also the reiki master guide will also help her attune us to all the different levels of reiki initiation. Will Zosar, will he be the one that's, is he going to be my reiki master guide or will it be someone else?

Zosar:

Beloved servant of the Father. I will be with you in the attunement and you will feel a oneness as you have never felt before. You may know this beyond what the world will tell you for there will be a remembrance that will come over you as a cloud of knowing. That will be felt in the heart and within the vibration of the very cells of the body as well. Yes.

And then from that, so you will be my...?

Yes, for it has been agreed in what you would see foreordained because of that agreement that we will work together in this healing. Therefore, there will be an attunement that you will perceive to be a refinement. Already there is attunement for it has come unto you not by accident that I would work with you. There is already an attunement but you will perceive it as a refinement of this attunement for indeed, as my beloved friend, my brother the one known as Jeshua has said, there is no separation. But there will be in your perception a refinement that will give you a feeling, a very deep knowing of the Oneness that we share and that will go forth in the healing work that we do.

I feel great joy in knowing that we will be doing this work together.

Yes.

I can't wait.

It is what you have desired and what you have agreed to do.

Will this class, will this also help me be more like in tune with you? You know, to be able to hear you better because I'll need that working together.

Yes. That is what I have meant by the perception of refinement of the tuning, yes. You will know the Oneness and you will trust it. Now you are playing with the possibility and the probability that it could be true. After the training which is not a magical procedure, but for you it will be seen to be effective. After the training there will be a knowingness that you will not question. There will be a refinement of perception for you will feel the attunement, yes.

Okay, that's wonderful. Did you lead me to this class? I just felt like I had to take it.

You are one who has always been open to your guidance even though you would see some of the challenges of this lifetime as being rather dead-ended. They have not been, for they have led you to the very place where you are now.

So yes, there has been a prompting but it has come from the one Self that we are. It has come from me, and it has come from you for we are the one Self. It is yet a little while that you will believe and others of your brothers and sisters believe in the identification as individuality. Yet a little while and that will be transformed.

Thank you very much and I really look forward to working with you.

Only way to go.

Jeshua:

Beloved one who swims with the dolphins, how are you?

We will have to take your friend there, too.

Yes, she would enjoy the freedom. What would you ask this evening?

I'm wondering, I've heard a lot of things about people thinking that Mount Rainier is going to erupt this summertime. Is there any validity in that?

There is a validity in what ones believe. There are some of your brothers and sisters who take great delight in the possibility of something that would be threatening. It is exciting to live upon the edge and to say, "Perhaps something fearful can happen."

There are many who live within this feeling of wanting to know some excitement. They feel this takes them beyond their ordinary life and gives perhaps a bit more depth to the life.

Is there a truth in this?

Yeah, like people are saying, "Should we move out of the area?" I don't feel any big need to do that.

Exactly, and that is your truth. For others of the brothers and sisters, they will be caught up in their truth — with a small “t” — and they will feel a motivation to pack up and leave hoping to find a safe place somewhere.

And they will find that once they have become ensconced in another place there will be another rumor of something fearsome that will come up, and they will feel motivated to move again and it has been thus throughout all lifetimes.

As long as one listens to the voice of separation, the voice of the ego, the voice of body there will always be the possibility of threat and the possibility that one should perhaps do something else to save the form, to save the body. It has meant for a lot of traveling. It has meant in all lifetimes a livelihood for ones who would provide transportation. It is the same in this lifetime.

It seems like I’m making a lot of progress moving forward in healing, and then I feel like it goes back a few steps. With the health issues that are happening to me right around Christmas. Is that related? It makes me wonder because my mother died a year ago and is it related to that?

There is a lot that came up that you would term emotional. That came up and was out-pictured in the body itself as physical.

How do I get beyond this?

You are already beyond it.

I want it to heal. It is still swelling and getting ... and stuff. It was just like today is the day the house was sold to. It’s like the end of an era.

Yes, and in that you will be finding a grand freedom that will be out-pictured even in the physical mobility, even in the body.

Like it’s a relief it’s over but it’s like it’s sad too, you know.

It is as we have spoken unto this other one, there is a choice whether to look upon the past and to be in sorrow because seemingly it has ended, or to look upon all of the gifts, all of the joy, that have not ended.

Well there’s the memories of joy there.

Yes, and to know as you have already discerned, that with the laying down of the body it does not mean the ending of communication with the loved one.

So this will heal because I’ve had some people say, “You have to deal with it the rest of your life.” I’m going, no, that’s not the way it will be.

That can be for them their truth, but it need not be your truth. You are the one who is the master of this form and this form serves you well.

Yeah, I feel like I’m making progress, but I just don’t want that to put me back.

It does not put you back and you are not putting it back. You are in perfect order with this.

So that it will heal?

Yes. It has been decreed.

Okay.

{To a little child sleeping on her father's lap}

A beautiful one.

Isn't she something?

The angel.

I'm so blessed that she is with me.

Yes, she is the angel of Love walking upon this plane. She is the out-picturing of the Child that you are. She has come to be companion with you upon the way.

Yes.

Yes. Beloved brother, what would you ask?

Well I've had a communication with some beings about bringing an energy device to this plane.

Yes.

I guess I know what's happening because it's happening.

Exactly.

I just wondered if you would just comment and tell me more about what's going on?

You are calling this forth now because you are willing to know that there is much more to you as the creative master that you are. It is an energy force that you have used in other lifetimes, sometimes in destructive manner for the power of the world, the power of manipulation, the power of control.

Other lifetimes you have used it for the betterment of your brothers and sisters and it will be thus in this lifetime. It is not by accident that it is coming as an idea unto you. There are ones who are working with you who are not separate from you even though you see them as separate energies, entities. They are very much part of the totality of your Self that we have described earlier. Aspect you may call them, and they come now because you have invited them.

The idea itself surfaces within your conscious remembrance now, because you call it forth. Because there is a need for it.

There certainly is.

Yes. Allow yourself to be at peace with it. Allow yourself to meditate on it and to ask it to come in full bloom, to know the "how" of it. How it will be manifest. That will be answered for you. For your other brothers and sisters upon this plane are asking that you be the one to usher it in for them.

In this you do not work alone.

Physical or, will I have physical...?

Both.

Brian O'Leary, he will help me?

Yes. And others as well, but you will network with as one piece leads to another piece. Yes, the time is now.

It's awesome.

Definitely awesome.

Beloved angel, how are you?

Okay.

Indeed, you are okay.

Nobody calls me angel.

You are my angel.

Thank you.

What would you ask this evening?

I'm having a little bit of theological controversy between the self with the small "s". Self with the large "S" because Satan was an angel and he was throw out of heaven because he thought he was God with the capital "S" of Self. And I'm struggling with that. Would you clarify?

Yes. Satan was and is an angel. A Light being the same as all, all of the holy Child expressing as seemingly individualities. Satan is an angel the same as you. Satan cast himself out of the state of heaven in his focus upon power. He thought himself to be God and he is. But he thought himself to be God in a different aspect, a different way of using power, and in that he made a choice to abide for a time outside of the state of peace. Outside of the state of Love, which is heaven.

He made that choice and it is not an irreversible choice, the same as your choices are but momentary and can be changed in the next moment. This one did for what you would see as a time interval, put himself outside of heaven for he had his focus upon control and power. And how to rally others to himself, to that kind of power —with a small “p” — not the Power of beingness which is the Allness of Love, but the power that could be used to manifest what the small self desires.

So he tried that on to see how it would feel, as you have done in other instances. You have tried on being the fallen angel which only means that for a time interval you forgot who you are and that is all that happened with the one known as Satan. But he has been cast in bronze, he has been cast in stone in your Scriptures and your theology as being the one who has been outcast of heaven forever and ever.

Do I need to be humble and maintain self with the small “s”, or do I need to emulate Self with a capital “S”, to be able to heal and be able to know Truth and to be able to manifest?

Yes. Go with joy in your heart. Allow the self with the small “s” to know that it is part of the totality of the Self that you are, the wholeness of all Love that is of the Father.

And in time, very rapidly now, the small self will dissolve as the drop of water dissolves into the ocean and you will know yourself to be the ocean, no longer just the drop. You do not have to fight this small self, but allow the small self to know that it is the Self with the capital “S”. That it is as the drop of water in the ocean. Abide with joy in your heart, beloved one, for that is what brings you Home. That is what manifests the heart’s desire.

Thank you beloved one, for being the angel upon this plane.

And you, beloved rebel, how goes it with you?

Better. Much better.

Yes, much better.

More clarity.

What would you ask in this evening?

I have no questions.

Very good. I think that is probably a first. You are doing very well. As you have discerned, you are bringing forth the very circumstances and ones of your brothers and sisters who will help you clarify the steppingstones to coming Home.

Yeah. There’s a light at the end of the tunnel.

Yes.

There's what I'm pushing through right now is really big but I will push through it.

It has been seen to be a heavy rock in other lifetimes. Now you are seeing that there is a way to tunnel through it. You are doing very well with it.

Thank you.

And you do not do it alone as you have discerned.

Uh huh. I was going to tell you.

Oh, you were. Very good, tell me.

Deliver this to my friends on the other side. {Hugging Jeshua}

Great joy.

Thank you.

Your cheerleading section is most happy.

I'm sure they are.

Beloved Songbird, who gifts unto us the joy of the heart. How are you this evening?

Good.

Most creative are you not?

I guess so, yeah.

Creative in the way of song, yes and creative in the way of experiences and creative in the way of saying, "I will come beyond the boundaries of what the ego has said I am." It is a joy, is it not?

Uh huh.

It is a dynamic peace. What would you ask this evening?

Well, I'm trying to think of how to word this question. I feel kind of silly asking because I realize it's coming from like linear mind and partially from I guess from my Catholic upbringing and stuff, but I was wondering it's like all that we are learning here is about the awakening from the dream and all the illusions fading and realizing who we are as the one Child and Source, and then my mind wants to know what then?

Ah, I was hoping that someone would ask. What then, after the awakening? How do you envision it, beloved one?

Beyond time and space it would it's hard to see with your mind.

Yes, that is why it must be envisioned within the heart.

In the heart it makes sense.

Yes. There will be Heaven on earth, which will be individualized in each one according to their vision of what Heaven is. But there is a collective agreement. Very nebulous in that it is not defined in concrete, but there is an agreed upon vision where the form will still express upon this plane in freedom and in Light. For there is much joy in form and in expression with form in communication with form.

There will be the expression with form that will know itself to be one with the very flowers and the plants and the trees and the flowing water and the clouds that you see in the great sky above, and will know itself to be even the sky.

There will be the expansion with all limitations dissolved, the expansiveness that knows unlimitedness within this expression. Then there will be the what we have described as the mental travel and yet that word does not describe it for it will be beyond that, where you will know yourself to be in expression other dimensions which are still defined by some form, a form, and yet there will be a freedom of expression even in that expansion.

Then beyond that, you will know yourself to be the Allness which is beyond conceptualization. The mind in this point of focus loves to play with concepts and ideas and that is well and good, for it takes you beyond the boundary of what image has been believed in, has been thought to be. You play with what is known as the science fiction. You play with fantasy. You play with the "What if all limitations are taken off? Where will man go that he has never gone yet, before?" And you allow the imagination, which is you, to go beyond the boundaries of the concepts that you have held up to that point.

Beyond that in the awakening, it is for you to say, for you will define your own experience as the One that you are. You will feel momentarily as the totality of the ocean. Feeling the great power of Beingness that cannot be defined and other times you will feel yourself to be the drop of water as the individual expression that you have known yourself to be. Not as what you see now as personality, but as the soul which is the repository of all experience within the bubble of time as we have played with that concept.

There will be times you desire to know that individuality and to take that individuality into expression for the sheer fun of it. The awakening, beloved one, allows you to know that you are free to define and to manifest your own vision and beyond that, no one can describe it for you.

You will go as the wind. You will go with the freedom of the wind, and yet, you will go even more free than the wind.

But it all starts with the willingness to experience awakening. You have already decreed that you are willing. You have already decreed that you will whatever it takes to shed the last traces of limitation, of limited self-image. That you will come through those in Love and in gentleness. For indeed it does not take what you would see as the grand pounding with the huge pole upon the ramparts. It takes the gentleness of a drop of rain. It takes the gentleness of one drop after another that will wear away the stone, the rock that has seemed to be sealing the tomb. It is gentleness, yes, that allow the Love to be expressed.

This does not mean that you will not find sometimes an energy with that Love. For you will find voice that will sound to the heavens with the great dynamic quality of aliveness. That is Love as well.

But beyond that, beloved one, it is for you to say. You will find yourself being able as you are now yet able to do as you go in meditation. You will find yourself being companion unto other ones in other dimensions and other times even within this dimension to manifest a form that they will recognize, to be with them for a time interval as they see time to be. To be as companion, to help, to be as the gentle bird that will light upon the shoulder and will chirp a song of joy. To be as the aged one with grand wisdom who will sit beside the one, the young man who feels all of the cares of the world upon his shoulders, and you as the grandfather will share with him the wisdom of the expanded vision.

You will find yourself going places that you have not even imagined yet. It will be adventure yes, but it is adventure that knows itself to be beyond time and beyond form. It will be for you to decree.

Cool

Cool. Yes.

Beloved Elder, how are you this evening?

Oh, I'm excited.

And why would that be?

Oh, I love listening to the discourse.

Yes, and being part of it for you bring it forth. All that you hear is because you bring it forth. You have asked for this very evening. You feel that you are the servant unto others sitting here as the technician who will monitor the sound, and yet you are very much part of the gathering for you in a collective consciousness, have said, "I want to be excited. I want to have new ideas to think about and to play with. I want to know that the vision of my heart is that close to manifestation. I want to feel the excitement of true living and to come alive, totally. I desire this. I want to know this. I am the creative Child and I'm having fun with it. There is sometimes I feel a bit limited by circumstances that I bring together, circumstances of the world that would look upon perhaps few golden coins at this moment, few bodies. And yet you are one who knows even in what you are calling forth in your technology, you know that you are connected with all other brothers and sisters through what is now termed the internet.

Grand master that you are. You bring forth in technological form the symbolism of the networking of the holy Child, the non-separation and grand it is.

Many times beloved one, you have served the Father as the man of the cloth it has been called. This evening you are man of the cloth as well, beautiful cloth, yes, the raiment is of pure silk. But you have been the man of the cloth who has served the brothers and sisters and you have held within your heart the kernel of the seed that knew in time that you would be gifting unto yourself even more than what your beloved brother, Moses experienced in that lifetime.

For you would live, expressing with form in the time of manifestation of Heaven upon earth. You have been as Moses. You have seen the promised land and yet not experienced it with physicality in that moment. You have held within your heart the seed of that vision knowing that in time you would see that seed grow into maturity.

We have said unto you often, that the seed of Oakbridge is well planted. Not by you alone, but by all others who hold the vision of Heaven upon earth. And though it has been what you would call slow in its growth, it has been steady and it is a seed that is well planted and you will see even in your timing the plant, the tree growing to maturity that will shelter beneath its outspreading branches many who come to be nourished by the acorns of Truth.

Be of good cheer.

Thank you.

Thank you.

This has been an evening of magic. A night of magic. A night of wonderment. A night of love. A night where I have come because you have called me forth. I come only to do your bidding. I come as your servant to mirror for you what is in your heart. To bring it forth so that we can look upon it. To play with it. To expand it. To shine a new light upon it, and to get tremendously excited about it.

For in that excitement you come alive. In that excitement you give energy to your vision. Vision if it is just held is as the seed in wintertime that is awaiting the frost and the warmth. The frost and the warmth that allows the encasement to be burst.

You have all been going through your periods of frost and warmth. You are now allowing the seed to sprout, to grow, to give energy to the vision that you have held so dearly throughout many lifetimes. It is not by accident that you feel the companionship of many masters. It is not by accident that you feel the communion of loved ones. Yes.

Nice dreams.

Yes, and beautiful. It is not by accident that you find the brothers and sisters coming unto you now who are going through similar issues. You have called them forth because you have desired to birth the vision and you have said, "I will do whatever it takes to allow the seed to grow."

Help me to remember. Going through my mother's old papers I found the certificate of death for her cousin. I was just a little girl but he came like I had this dream and I woke up and I remembered it all. He came to visit me and then there is a fire out in the kitchen and he ran out and he put it out with an S.O.S. pad. I don't know what that means, that S.O.S. pad?

Help, beloved one.

I guess. It was like he came back because he was in my consciousness. But it wasn't just a dream, he really was coming to visit me.

Yes. Yes.

I just don't know the significance of that.

There will be more that will be revealed but already you have the kernel of truth from that. For indeed, even what you see as the night time dreams, are no different than the waking dream. The ones who come unto you in the night time dreams are as real as the brothers and sisters that you see utilizing the bodies in the waking dream. You may commune with them. You may trust it.

When ones come to you in a dream allow yourself to be present with them and to ask of them, "What gift do you bring me? Why are you here? What message do you share with me?" The same as you would with one who stands in front of you with the form. They are as real.

After that, not long ago I had a dream that my parents came to them in the Virgin Islands, ... Minnesota and Tennessee, I don't understand the significance of it, but they keep coming.

Yes. They are traveling with you no matter where you are. Even if you would take yourself unto another state, another location....

They wanted us to take a trip with them in their trailer.

Yes. They are saying to you that you journey with them and they journey with you no matter where you go and they will pick out examples of places that you know but the essence of the truth is that you journey together and they desire you to know that in conscious awareness. It is a grand journey.

When we build it, they will come. It is no longer "if" but when. The time is approaching rapidly, the time of manifestation of Heaven upon earth. This you will see as a process. In other words, there will be the physical labor that will need to be done. There will be the networking that will need to be done. There will be some thinking and planning that will need to be done, but you are able to do that.

There will be issues that will come up to be healed, but you are able to do that. There are ones who in the process of time have fallen by the wayside a bit, because there have been issues and because it has not manifested in their timing, and yet when we build it, they will come.

There will be because of the belief in process of time, there will be some working out of issues in the manifestation of Heaven upon earth. It need not take long for you already now, have honed the tools of healing. Not only physical healing but the healing of the emotions. The healing that says, "I understand and I hear you. I hear the voice of your heart. Not only the voice of what you are saying in words, but I hear the voice of your heart that is calling out to know Love. Let us get down to what is important. Let us get to the place of knowing that I love you. And you have Love to express as well. It is okay."

There will be because you have decreed that in a collective gathering that it will be one of healing. There will be times of conflict, but they will not be major. There will be times when ones will come and be very much in their personality, as they see that person to be. And you, because of what you have practiced after you get past your initial reaction which does not take as long now as it used to. True?

You because you have been practicing, you will say, "Let us heal this. Let us look to the common goal of what we desire to bring forth here." And there will be healing, much healing on all levels.

Know always that you do not do this work alone. Know that you are calling forth much guidance, much assistance for you are proving to yourself in grand clarity, the words that you have heard spoken over and over that there is no separation.

Even though you see the bodies to be separate, you are calling forth the events and circumstances, the times when you will know as this one knows, that the work that you do is not alone. It is always in partnership with the totality of Self that you are.

Sometimes expressing as the drop of water, as the individuality so that it is identifiable by name as the masters that you identify them with certain names. And sometimes expressing as the totality that is beyond definition of expression.

It is all a choice. It is all a choice and it changes momentarily as the holy Child decrees. That is why you no longer have to hold yourself in a place of unworthiness or a place that says, "I must rectify some past sin." Your Father does not see any sin. Your Father sees His only creation and it is perfect. Your Father is very much in love with you. And it is in that Love that I bid you a good evening until the next time.

And now beloved one, do you have a song that you will share in closing for us?

{Pat Corrigan sings}

I heard the river speak to me, of timeless and eternity.
And in turn I set it free and give voice to thee.

Flow, don't mind where the course may go.
Every motion is toward the sea.
Each movement is toward Home. Flow.

I heard the river speak to me of fearlessness and reality, and in turn I set it free and give voice to thee.

Flow. Don't mind where the course may go.
Every motion is toward the sea.
Each movement is toward Home. Flow.

Flow. Don't mind where the course may go.
Every motion is toward the sea.
Each movement is toward Home. Flow.
