

Empowerment

1995-03-31

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the One Source, Child of Light divine. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, Jesus you have called me, and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen to turn the focus of your attention unto me.

It is in great joy that I come to abide with you in this manner for it is a reunion. A reunion of the heart. A reunion of family. For it is very true I have issued the invitation to all of you to be here to partake of my joy which is not separate from your joy for it is the nature of the one Child of our Heavenly Father. Joy is your nature. It is your birthright. It is your essence, and truly the smile is beautiful.

There are times, beloved brother when there is the focus upon what must be done in the world. All of you have been that way in this lifetime and all other lifetimes as you would see them to be. There has been a focus upon the activities of the world that has brought a temporary forgetting of who you truly are. A temporary forgetting of the joy of the one Child, and it is in this evening a grand reunion and a grand remembrance of who you truly are. Of who you have been in lifetimes as you would see them, yes, those are important to remember.

But to take the remembrance of those lifetimes even farther back to who you truly are in essence and why, why you have chosen one more time to bring the point of focus to this day, this geographical location and this lifetime as you see this lifetime to be. To understand the different aspects of what you are manifesting. To understand the expression, the very subtleties, the nuances of expression of each personality as you see your own personality to be. And yet, even that changes, does it not?

For what you have seen in times past, what you have seen as perhaps twenty years ago, the personality was a bit different than what it expresses as now, is this not true? Yes. There is more joy that you are expressing now than you were twenty years ago. There is more of an understanding of who you are and why you have chosen to express.

There is more of a mellowness. More of a feeling of, Yes, everything matters within the world, but there is something more, something deeper. The still small voice of the heart that calls out to you and says, even amidst all of the questions and the doubts, all of the questions of activities that come up and say, "Should I choose this? Should I go here? Should I make this decision? Should I see this person or another?"

There is the still small voice that says, "Come Home and remember who you are for indeed you are eternity. You are much more than the activity that you see in each day." And this allows you to bring forth the joy of the holy Child, to express the Love and the joy in complete freedom. Knowing that yes, there are certain things that the world will ask of you. There are certain abilities and talents that you bring to this point of focus to share with your brothers and sisters. Certain abilities and talents that you wish to know in their fullness for yourself. That is truly what this lifetime is about.

This lifetime is about integration and remembrance. Integrating the different abilities and talents. Yes, into the remembrance of the totality of who you are.

It is a grand time to be alive. Oh, indeed it is. Otherwise you would not have chosen to be here at this time. Do you feel that energy? Yes, this is one who generates much energy.

The very energy that your scientists can measure, the very energy that will light one of your artificial means of light, your lightbulb. The energy that you are. You are now developing the technology as it is called, that can allow you to hook yourself up and to run one of your artificial lightbulbs. Do you know why you do that?

It is as a remembrance of the Light that you are. The Child of Light that you are. And all of you have chosen to use the energy that you are in different ways. To serve the Father, yes, but it is not a Father that is afar off from you. The one that I have called "Our Father," is not apart from you off on a cloud in the very heavens somewhere far from you. The Father is within. Within your consciousness. Within your awareness. Within the energy of the Love that you are, is not afar off.

So as you serve which indeed, all of you are here to do because you have agreed to. You serve yourSelf. You serve the self — with a small "s" — that is awakening, that is remembering, that is coming Home in conscious awareness. And in doing that you serve the One Self that we are.

All of you are a great energy. A great ray of Light. All of you have agreed that you will be here in this time to remember, to come Home, and to empower yourself. Not by outside means, but to empower yourself through remembrance of the power that you are. To empower the brothers and sisters for they watch you as you watch them. When they have the revelations, the insights, and they come alive and they say, "You know I have this idea and it makes everything that has been happening in my life, it makes it have sense. And I think that's what it's all about." A revelation that they have brought forth from within that allows all of the activities and all of the choices to fall into a place that shows you the tapestry, the picture of the whole.

As you see that with them they are also watching you as you come into your insights, as you come into your claiming of the joy that you are saying, "I have a vision. I have a dream and I will see that dream empowered upon this plane for the time is now." That is what you have declared and it is a work that you do as you are the representative, the one that can be seen expressing with the energy that is coalesced in form. It is a work that is done with others who are in what you would call the Light dimension. Ones that have not coalesced the energy into a form, into a point of focus but who are very much with you and as you and you have felt this.

It is a work that you do in concert with many and it is a work whose time has come. For it will bring forth the joy of the holy Child. It will provide a place, a focal place for others to experience their catalyst for remembrance. It will be a joy for you to do and it will be a joy for others as they come and they remember.

For what you do you do not do in isolation. You cannot do anything in isolation for there is no separation. As the Light that you are, as the energy that we just exchanged, as the Light that you are it is not bounded by the body. The body would speak that there is a certain delineation of form and this is true. But the energy of Light that you are that activates the form is not contained within the body.

You have felt this many times for you have felt yourself to be free of the body. You have felt your energy to be beyond the body and this is true. The energy of Light that you are, your energy, spreads out and intermingles with the energy of each one that you see on either side of you, in front of you, behind you, in the next country, in the next state, in the next country, in the next universe. That is how unlimited you are.

So nothing that you do is ever done in isolation. The only isolation is in your own belief, your own feeling which has been a temporary feeling that, "I am here all alone and what I do I do by myself." And all of you have come through feelings like that, where you have felt very much alone.

You have felt that you have been somehow sent here and forgotten. "How did I get here and how do I get off of here? And in the meantime, what do I do?" And then after awhile, after the dust has settled a bit, there has been a bit of joy that has crept in around the edges and you have wondered in one day of your timing, "Where did that feeling of joy come from? That feeling of happiness? Because look at X, Y, Z, all these things," and you have list of all the things that were wrong in your life. All these people that you interacted with who were not acting up to your expectations, and you said, "But I've got this list as long as my arm and longer, of things that are wrong with my life. How can I feel a bit happy? And yet there is a feeling of joy deep within me. Where does that come from?"

It sneaks in when you are not watching. It sneaks in when the ego is out to lunch and it allows you to tap in to your true essence and to remember who you are. You are the joy of the Father. You are the joy of the holy Child. You are the joy, the exhilaration of energy upon this plane.

So when you have had a feeling of upliftment, when you have had a feeling of getting very much caught up into an idea. Something that has caught your interest and excites the heart and you have said, "If only I can do," and you can for it is never by accident that an idea comes to you. You have reached out for that idea. You are very much as you would see your lightening rods to be. For indeed, when lightening comes you have seen the pictures of your lightening that will come and perhaps strike a tree. What happens is in the instant that you see the energy to be coming down in the lightening streak, there is an energy from the tree that goes up and meets it part way up. This is what you do with the ideas that come to you.

They do not just come plop upon you from outer space somewhere. They come from within. There is a feeling of willingness, there is a feeling of the heart that desires to express and to know expansion through that expression. And in that feeling there is an openness that says, "Allow an idea, an infinite idea to come to me. Allow it to excite my heart. Allow me to come truly alive in that idea. Allow me to empower mySelf through the ideas."

You empower yourselves through relationship. You empower the brothers and sisters through relationship. You empower the holy Child that you are every time you are in relationship with one. And this does not have to mean a relationship such as marriage. That is but one form of relationship. Each time you stand in front of another one and you speak unto that one or you just look at that one and behold the eyes, there is relationship for you are relating the one that you are to the one that they are.

Each time you stand in front of ones who would be at your restaurant serving the food, preparing the food you are in relationship with that one for there is an exchange of energy. A very alive energy.

Relationship, always you are in relationship and you empower yourself to remember through relationship. That is why you call forth the various relationships. Each one is an opportunity to remember who you are and to look beyond the appearance of what seems to be happening in that relationship. To look beyond personality to the Christ, to the one that you are and that they are. To know that the heart is always bonded even though relationship may change and the other one may take their form somewhere else. There is still the bondedness of heart to heart.

That is why you have come together in the first place. There has been a calling out as you did with the idea that you were willing to entertain and to accept. It is the same with the ones who come and are in relationship with you. You have invited them. You have asked them and there is a bonding that has been there from before time began. And when the purpose of time has been fulfilled, that bonding will still remain for it is the one Child of our Father that expresses.

It is the one that expresses seemingly as the many and you call forth all of the different aspects of yourself and you say to one, "Beautiful one, share with me who you are. Share with me who you believe yourself to be in this point of focus, this lifetime. Share with me what excites your heart. What allows the mind to come alive. Share with me who you are as you come dynamically alive." And you say this to each one in various ways, different languages. Different language of relationship time perhaps, but you say that to the one who is the clerk in the grocery store as well, who is taking your money and running it across that magic window that reads all of your lines. What is known as the bar codes and it magically comes up with a number that you then have to give over. Either in your golden coins or in the piece of plastic.

You are in relationship with that one for however short the time duration is and you can stand as the Christ that you are and look into the eyes of that one and you can smile and you can say to that one silently or out loud if you are that outrageous, "Hello Christ. Hello Self. I greet you once again. How goes it in your day?" And in that you empower the Christ Child that you are to come forth in remembrance.

This is a time, a very exciting time upon this plane. This is a time of empowerment. Not as the world would define power where there seems to be a finite amount of power and you must take it from someone so that you are more powerful. In that there is much of the musical chairs where one has the power for a time and then another changed out and then another sits in the power chair for awhile. That is the way of the word, but it is a time of empowerment remembering the power of the holy Child, remembering the power of the Child of the Father because of your very essence.

It is a time of empowerment and you are ones who have said at a very deep level, "I will remember my power and I will bring it to bear upon this plane in this time. I will bring it into manifestation as the vision of the One that I am, the beautiful vision."

That is why you call forth the objects of beauty around you. That is why you appreciate beauty in different forms. It is to remember your own beauty, the beauty of the One, One Child. The only creation of the One Creator.

Do you know how empowering that is? That means that whatever you hold within your heart, as a vision within your heart, whatever you love as that vision you will bring forth upon this plane.

All of you have had dreams, all of you have had visions of what you would do if, if all of the limitations were taken off. "If I could be anything that I want to be. If I could bring forth the vision of Heaven upon earth," and that is truly what you are about. "If I could do that, I would feel totally alive." And that is what you are in process of doing.

Sometimes you will feel that in the out-picturing of time that it is a bit slow. All of you have seen the vision, perhaps not in details, perhaps not in clarity of specifics, but you have seen the vision of Heaven upon earth and it is not by accident that you as the lightening rod that you are, have sent forth your energy as indication, as willingness to bring that vision to manifestation upon this plane as I did in the lifetime that is so famous as Jeshua.

I brought forth Heaven upon earth in that lifetime for those who had the eyes to see and the ears to hear. Not the physical ears of the body. There were many who heard my message, my words but did not hear in the heart. There were many who came and were excited for a moment or so by the multitudes of people who were being attracted to what I was teaching and then who went away and said, "Oh well. Sounds good but I have to get back to my shop, my sheep, my business."

But there were ones who heard with the ears of the heart. There were ones who had the eyes to see the grander vision and saw that there was at that time Heaven upon earth. For indeed Heaven is all around you. It is here in this room in this evening if you will but behold it.

Heaven can be no place else except where you are for you as the Child of the Father are Heaven as you remember the Love that you are. As you remember the totality of the Light that you are.

And as you come into the awakening and the remembrance of that you bring Heaven to earth and then you allow yourself to out-picture that in various activities, forms, dreams. Whatever that you want to express as the language that brothers and sisters will understand. For you will find a calling in this lifetime, this point of focus, you find a calling. Something that you do as an activity that others can see and understand as a label, as a category, as a box, they can understand.

You all have different titles of what you do and ones will come and they will say to you, "What is your name? What do you do?" And they will go through a list and then they think they know you because they have this list of characteristics. That is but part of you. It is but part of them, if they will receive it. For as they get to know you they get to know themselves but not always do they look far enough to understand that.

You are bringing forth Heaven upon earth. You are bringing forth the awareness of joy which is Heaven upon earth, and when you get yourself in a whirlwind where the ego would speak the questions and the doubts, allow yourself to pause and to breathe deeply of the Spirit that you are. To take in by the very breath the energy that you are and to take it deep within the center of your being, and there to remember Heaven and then to express it.

To say, "Yes," to the activities of the world. "Yes, there are certain things that will be done for I choose to do them." For it is a choice. There is nothing, believe it or not, that you have to do.

But you choose, you choose to do certain things because they are the building blocks that take you to where you want to go, and you choose them, free choice believe it or not, for you have remembered, I will not say learned, but you have remembered that if you choose certain other alternatives they are as detours and just take longer. And you will find yourself choosing the building blocks that take you to your goal. You find yourself choosing those more rapidly because it brings you to your goal.

Everything is a choice even the choice to be here this evening. And yet, it is a choice-less choice, because you have decreed at a very deep level within what you would call your soul, that you will remember and you will fully express the Light of the Father upon this plane and will bring forth Heaven upon earth.

Now, how is that going to out-picture? What does Heaven look like? Heaven looks like the joy, the spontaneous joy of the Child. The Child that awakens in every moment to the sunshine and cannot wait to play with whatever is before her at that moment. The Child asks, "What is this for?" Whatever object, whatever interaction, whatever event is going on the Child sits in newness.

You have seen a small child look at an object and just hold that object and ask of itself, "What is this for? What does this do?" You have all done this many many times in the remembrance, in your growing up as it would be called. You take an object as a child does and you ask, "This round object, this is called a ball. What does it do?" And has slipped out of the hand and you have seen it bounce and you have said, "Oh, it moves by itself. It bounces. It has a certain motion to it. A certain deceleration of motion because after awhile it stops."

And then you have found another round object and you have said, "Oh, round object equals ball. Will bounce," and you have thrown the egg and it did not bounce. And you said, "Oh, another characteristic. Something round in form but not quite the same." And you begin to remember.

Heaven is the Light and the energy that you are as you bring them forth in your remembrance of what the heart is. It will be through activity, yes, for that is what this point of focus understands. It will be through service because that is what this point of focus understands. It will be with the form of body because that is what the brothers and sisters understand. There is a collective agreement that has said, "I will come and I will coalesce the energy into form and I will interact."

But the form itself is merely a vehicle for the expression of that energy and you have all known yourselves to be much more than the form known as the body. You have all sat in your quiet times, in your meditations as they are called, and you have gone unto the Father. You have gone unto that expanded place called Heaven and you have felt an excitement. You have felt a feeling that is not constricted by form, by the body or by what the world would teach you as necessary as the "shoulds" of what has to be. And you have felt free.

That freedom, that feeling of freedom is Heaven. For Heaven itself is a state of expansion. Heaven itself is a state of joy. Heaven itself is a state of saying, "Yes," of empowerment. Heaven is a state of empowerment, of remembering the power of the One that you are and bringing that into manifestation along all the myriad different avenues of choice.

For you may choose to express with the beauty of form, what you would call as the athlete and to hone the abilities of the body to express in physicality what you feel within the soul. Many there are in this time who are beautiful of body, put a lot, yes, of energy and time and effort and focus upon body building. Worshiping the temple of the body. Sometimes there is a forgetting of why they do that. There can be a feeling of getting caught up into this is all there is, and forgetting that they are the energy that activates the form that brings forth the beauty of form, but the body is beautiful and it serves you well.

There is a certain standard that is agreed upon in this point of focus, this time. A certain standard of body and development of body that many of the brothers and sisters hold to be the norm. What should be. And yet, when you look at the colors of a rainbow each one blends into the next one. Each one is beautiful in its own way and the rainbow would not be the rainbow without all of the different subtleties of color.

What you are doing, beautiful one, is expressing the energy that you are in a form that is not what others would say is the norm of development, whatever that is. You have done that many times. You have been, you have been the great Greek god who had the body that was admired by all of the warriors, all of the women. You know what it feels like to have beauty of form.

But you also know that that is not who you are. You also know that you are much more than form. So you have said that in this lifetime you will try on a different way of expressing and beautiful it is. It allows the Spirit of you to be seen.

The ones who express with body that is of the norm, the ones who express with the body of the athlete, there is a certain focus upon the body that takes away from unless one has the eyes of Spirit to see it, takes away from the beholding of the aura, as it is called, the beholding of the energy that you are that activates the form. And you have said that in this lifetime you will be a servant unto all of the brothers and sisters that you come into relationship with. You will be a servant that will allow them to look past form. You will allow them to see the Light that you are and in seeing the Light of the Spirit that you are, they will catch a glimpse of the Light that they are.

What you are doing is opening a door for them. A door that they would not even know was there if you had not been willing to do what you are doing. For it takes grand courage to do what you are doing and it has taken grand courage on the part of what you see as your family to support you in doing this. They have agreed that they will come and support you in this.

For you have been together in what you would see as many other lifetimes, many other dramas where you have been as the unit that supported each other and it is no different in this point of focus. For indeed you support them as they support you.

You are the walking example of what Heaven is upon earth, believe it or not. For the focus is not upon form. It is not upon the body. The focus is to be beyond form.

For in my lifetimes as Jeshua, the authorities thought that when they killed the form, when they nailed it to a cross and got rid of it, they would be rid of me. So they nailed the form to a cross and I allowed it its change called death. But I was not that form. And when I chose I reactivated the form in a slightly different manner. More Light, and came and was amongst you again as I am now.

As I speak with you now you see a form but it is not what you would identify as the form of Jeshua ben Joseph and yet you know the words that are spoken to you come from an energy that is beyond the form. This form is the form of a woman, a small woman. Not a bit like my body. The body that I manifested, I was tall. I was broad of shoulder. Suntanned of flesh.

Curly hair?

Curly hair, yes, and muscles for I worked out. Not in the gym but I worked out as the carpenter. I worked out riding a camel. I enjoyed the body and I enjoy expressing with this body, although it is not quite the same.

It is for you, there is a certain form of body that you use to express now, but that is not who you are. For you also have had the body that was most tall and broad and strong and you will again if you so choose. That is not important. What is important is the remembrance of the Spirit that activates the form. The remembrance of the joy of the One Child.

{One of the brothers was coughing.}

Energy. Very tangible energy. Nothing wrong with a cough. That is energy coming forth.

When I come and I greet you and I say that it is in great joy that I come to be amongst you, that is the truth of my being. It is in great joy for I remember who I am and it is joy itself. It is the joy of the one who says, "I do not care what the world will say, there is the joy that bubbles up within me and I will express it in outrageousness." For the world says to be happy is outrageous. The world says that there is toil and suffering, decisions to be made. Heaviness, all kinds of burdens that must be borne. Well that is one way of looking at it and it is a choice.

Many of your brothers and sisters go about heavy of Spirit, heavy of soul, heavy of body even feeling very much weighed down by decisions, by deadlines. And if ones live with deadlines, that is exactly where they are living, with the dead.

But as you are outrageous enough to allow yourself to come alive with the vision of Heaven upon earth, as you are outrageous enough to say unto another one, "Yes, I understand that you are going through a time of confusion, a time of sorrow. But you know, there is something beyond this. I have been where you are and I know, not a great place to be." You will say that to the brothers and sisters for indeed you have been where they are and it hurts like hell for that is hell. The sorrow and the heaviness and the confusion.

"But you know, I have seen a grander vision and it has given me hope. It has allowed my heart to leap for joy and that is where I choose to abide. To abide in that heart that leaps for joy." And that is outrageous to the world.

Live your outrageousness. Allow yourself to smile with the joy that is within and bring forth Heaven upon earth. Empower yourself with your remembrance. Empower the vision that you have had. The vision that you would like to see manifest upon this plane.

Empower the one Self that we are to come truly alive upon this plane and to manifest in that empowerment, to manifest Heaven upon earth.

Then it will not matter what the world speaks unto you. It will not matter for you will have the heart of compassion, yes, for the brothers and sisters. But you will also have the vision that goes beyond this time and this point of focus and that allows you to come Home.

And since there is no separation and no isolation, since as the Light that you are and the energy that we exchanged, it spreads out most contagiously to all of creation and as you allow yourself to be uplifted in remembrance, you uplift all of your brothers and sisters. It is very much as what you would see as the spider web and if you take one point upon that spider web and you lift it up, what happens to the rest of the spider web? It is lifted up also. It vibrates, it feels it to ever point no matter how extended it seems to be.

That is how you manifest Heaven upon earth, through the empowerment of remembrance and a great joy it is. There is much that you will do in this lifetime that will bring you joy. Believe it or not.

Now would be a good time to take a short break and then when we meet again, reconvene as it is called, we will entertain the questions. So be it.

{Break}

There is such joy, such joy.

Yeah.

Exactly what we have been speaking of in the first part of this gathering, is what you are now doing. You are being the joy of the Father. You are laughing. You are allowing the heart to open and to feel the joy that you are. That is what it is all about. It is not just about grand words. They are as a steppingstone, a catalyst, it is a help. It is as a roadmap, but those of you who travel you know that the roadmap no longer, no matter how long you study that roadmap it will not get you to where you are going unless you pick up the foot and you start going.

So we may speak all night about joy. Grand words about joy but what happens is it comes totally alive in the smile and in the eyes and that is where you live.

Beloved one, is there a question that you would ask of me this evening?

Uh, yeah. I have a few here and there.

Indeed you do. I have heard them.

Well then why don't you just tell me the answers?

Yes. Yes, always.

Oh, okay. Let's see. The most serious ones first.

Are any of them truly serious?

Serious is a bad word.

Serious is a word that your world would use. And it can be used to describe certain feelings but it is not the Truth of your being. But anyway, speak.

Now all my questions have slipped away. If you want to ask somebody else and come back to me later? Mark has a lot of questions he wants to ask.

Then we will start with the one known as Mark. We will come back.

That was not by accident. That was to allow the energy that she is to come up and to be totally felt in grand clarity. She feels it as a confusion but it is not.

Now beloved master, what would you ask?

This one, I'm just curious because we've been studying in school and I've been wondering a lot of questions about what happened to the Spirit of Adolph Hitler?

Ah, this one, beloved one, is a grand actor. This one came upon the stage and agreed to play in a grand drama that many had agreed they would enact with him. He was as you would see, as a spearhead for this drama. He was the focal point.

This one is the Light the same as you. This one is energy of Light the same as you. This one has expressed in what you would see as other lifetimes as the grand monk in the monastery. This one has expressed as the saint in other lifetimes. This one has expressed as the student of other masters. But this one agreed in this time as you know this history to be, to come and be the focusing of energy that was agreed upon by many so that they would have choice come right up in front of the face, right up to the nose where they would have the choice of either saying, "I am but this expression of body, this expression of personality, this expression of world, or I am more." And there are many that he served in giving them opportunity to look beyond the form, the temporary form of what is known now as four score years and ten? Well, whatever number of years a lifetime is and this has changed.

What you agree upon now as a lifetime, a time interval of lifetime, could be seventy, eighty, ninety years. It has not always been thus. What was seen as a normal lifetime in other cultures that you have participated in, other expressions has sometimes been the age of what you find yourself now to be. That was an old man.

Other times you came and you expressed unto the age of nine hundred years, yes, because of the very thing you've just expressed, because you were so in love with life you did not have time to lay down the body.

You said, "I don't want to lay down the body and have to raise up a new one. I'm going to go on expressing," and you did day by day by day until there you were, nine hundred years still going strong.

He gave unto many not only the ones who were actively involved in that drama but all others who read it in the newspapers, who heard it on what was known as your wireless, your radio. Who heard about it word of mouth that spread all around our Holy Mother, the Earth.

He gave unto all of the brothers and sisters opportunity to look upon that drama and to either judge it as tragedy or to see it as the unfoldment of the holy Child remembering that the Child is more than just this expression of one lifetime and if you will receive it, beloved master, there were many who in an instant caught that vision and laid down the body so that another could know companionship through that experience.

In other words, there were the ones known as the mothers and fathers who went into the gas chamber with the small ones in order so the small ones would not be afraid and would not be alone. There were ones known as the sisters to another, perhaps not biological sisters, but sisters of the heart who went with another one into the death chamber so that the other one would not be alone. There were many, what you would term, heroic acts because the holy Child saw the vision of more than what this form says, this appearance in this short time.

So you would ask where the Spirit is? The same as where your Spirit is, in the Allness of eternity.

Okay. A long answer to a short question.

A long answer to a short question, yes. Much there was that this one brought into clarity for it was not just done in what you would see as a small isolated, and nothing is ever done in isolation, a small isolated event as has been experienced in what you would see as other lifetimes where there has been the conquering warrior who has come in and conquered a tribe, a nation even, but ones geographically removed did not know about that.

In this point of focus known as your lifetime, this lifetime, well not your lifetime but you read it in the history books, this time all of the brothers and sisters who were consciously focusing their awareness upon that point in time, had opportunity to look upon what was being done and to say, to ask, "Is that one choosing from a place of love or from a place of fear? Is that one choosing from the place of worldly power or from the place that knows eternity?" Many many choices that were brought up in grand clarity.

So this one who has been called the anti-Christ, and he was for many for they choose to see him as such, is also the Christ. Does that answer your question?

Yeah.

It will give you some food for thought. What else would you ask?

How much longer will the world survive all this, what man has been creating for it?

Ah, beloved one, first of all there is a distinction to be made here. The world is the activity of mankind, all of the events, all of the schedules, all of the shoulds, all of the constrictions of the heaviness of responsibility. That will have its ending for the holy Child will awaken and know that you are the love that transforms the world. You will change all of those constrictions in a moment when you remember the unlimitedness that you are.

Our Holy Mother, the Earth will express as the Light being that She is for She is energy as well. Coalesced into a form slightly different than the form that you have chosen, but She is a Light being of energy. She will express in concert with you as long as you desire time to be. As long as you see this point of expression in physicality.

So to answer your question, it is very much up to you. But you do not have to worry about the prophecies of doom and gloom. It is not that mankind is going to blow up our Holy Mother, the Earth. There is sweeping across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth, an awakening and an awareness of partnership. An awareness of shared interdependence, of shared expression of creation. Knowing that the energy that you are expressing in this coalescence of form is no different than the face of our Holy Mother.

For indeed, the molecules of physicality, these molecules that you bring into form are of the dust of the earth. It is of the substance of earth, and when you finish expressing with this form, you as the Light energy that you are will go back to the Light where you always abide and the molecules of physicality will instantly go back to the dust of our Holy Mother, the Earth for a time being until She also ascends into the Light that She is. Does that answer your question?

Kind of.

It will give you a starting point of food for thought. You will find it as a train, a train of thought. You will start with some of the ideas that we have just shared, you and I together, and this idea will take you to another idea and another possibility and another possibility which are all true within the expression of the holy Child. Within what I have called the dream of expression. They are true.

They are not all of your Truth — with a capital “T” — because that is beyond the dream, beyond the drama. Thank goodness. For all of those who participated in the drama known as Adolph Hitler’s scenario, thank goodness that was not all of their truth, but it was a truth for the time being.

You will have fun with it. There is much to ponder.

Beloved master, how are you this evening?

Okay.

Okay. You are far more than okay. You are a radiant being that expresses much Light unto others even unto yourself for you know yourself to be more than the body. That is a grand Truth. It is the Truth — with a capital “T” — of your being and it will take you through all of the roller coaster of experiences that seem to be attendant upon the body for you will know yourself to be much more than the body.

It is all a choice, beloved one, and none of the choices are judged. In other words, there is not a choice that is of more value than another for your Heavenly Father does not judge any of your choices. He knows them to be for the fun of it, for the expression of trying on a new way of being, a new way of knowing yourself to be. That is all that it is about. That is why you have expressed in some lifetimes as the grand warrior, the grand athlete. You have also expressed as the mother, the one who would be using the female form for you desired to know how it felt to be woman. How it felt to be mother and to have the small ones the same as you have felt your heart open to the small animals, the beloved pets. You have known many many ways of expression, many forms. This is but one of them.

When you play in your mind, your imagination as it is called, with science fiction, when you go upon the spaceships, when you travel that is a truth as well. For indeed you do, you have and you will go upon the spaceships and even more.

You are most free, beloved master. Most free to be what you want to be and not to judge it even in yourself. Those of the world will judge from a certain standard, a certain value that they have, a belief system that is agreed upon in this time. But that is all it is, it is an arbitrary agreed upon standard. It is but part of the spectrum, it is not the whole spectrum.

You have said, "I will understand, I will know, I will experience the whole spectrum for I've done the middle part. I've done the part that everyone else says is the norm. I know that part. Heck, that was easy. I'll try another one." And so here you are. You are trying another one.

What would you ask? You may ask.

I don't know which one.

Well ask the first one first and the second one second.

Okay, well since it's going to bug me for the rest of the night unless I do, I want to know what's up with the name Jesus? {Spanish pronunciation}

Jesus?

Jesus. It's spelled Jesus. It's pronounced differently.

Yes, it is a part of language. It is part of what is seen to be different but it is the same name as you have discerned.

Jesus, as it is pronounced is the Greek form of Jeshua. As I walked the earth in form, such as you, my name was Yeshua. Said with a "Y" sound. Yeshua. The Anglicized version of it gives it a "J" sound of Jeshua. Which is very soft, very gentle, very pleasing, but I prefer Yeshua which is what I felt myself to be.

In the Greek language it was changed to be Jesus, written to be Jesus and has come down through what you would see as the ages as Jesus, and then others of your brothers and sisters have looked upon the spelling and have said, "Well, this curvy thing," which is known in some languages as a "J", is pronounced with an "H" sound. And so out of it comes "Heysus."

I like to play with the idea that it is very much as, know you the gods of mythology? Zeus, being the great god Zeus, but when I hear — this is between you and me — when I hear "Heysus" I hear it as HEY ZEUS, and I know they are calling the great god Zeus, they are calling me, of course.

{Laughter}

I have fun with it. What else would you ask?

How do I find my creativity? It seems to have been lost in everyday life?

Ah, yes, and yet it is very much alive and well within you. Do what allows the heart to feel alive. Do what brings forth the joy as we have been speak this evening, for indeed therein lies your healing. Not the healing of the body. That is but a small point as we have spoken earlier, but in the joy comes forth your knowledge of the wholeness that you are. The wholing which is the true meaning of healing. It is coming unto that place of knowing that you are whole beyond the body. Allow yourself to be at joy in the heart and to play with whatever feels creative to you. Whatever you like to do.

If it be in designing, allow yourself to dream dreams of designs, artistic designs. If it be in sound, let yourself put the vibrations of sound together in what is known as music, a song. Bring forth a song from your heart. It matters not what form of expression, creativity. What matters is the joy that is attendant with that. Whatever you like to do.

As you lie upon your back and you look at the clouds up in the sky allow yourself to be the expansiveness of the sky. And then bring that forth in any sort of creativity that you want to. That comes to mind.

You have much creativity of heart. That is why you have said, "I will experience the whole spectrum of expression. I will go beyond what others have seen to be the smallness of certain boundaries." That's okay for them for they have chosen to know that in this lifetime.

But for you, you have said, "Well, no. I want to try something more than that." That is creativity in itself. I will share with you, beloved master, you have often been the rebel. You have often been the one who walked to a different tune. The one who piped his own pipe to another tune. You have been the Pied Piper. Allow yourself to abide with that for you have been.

So play with it. Have fun with the creativity because again, there is no judgment. There is not anything that would say one form of creativity is better than another. You are the creative holy Child who has said, "I will bring my Light and focus it upon this plane. I will anchor it upon this plane, and I will do it in a way that is slightly different than others so that they can see that there are different ways to express and to still be joyous." That is where your creativity is. So do what you want to do. You are free. You have already passed all of your tests. You've graduated. Just have fun with this.

{Getting up from the floor.}

Long robes.

Beloved beautiful one, how are you this evening?

I'm tired.

You're tired. You have had what they call a busy day?

Yeah, I had to clean my room and I'm having my birthday party tomorrow.

Ah, what a celebration. Birthdays are wonderful, and know you, you can have a birthday in everyday and you do not have to clean your room for it.

You didn't see my room.

You should have seen my room. My beloved friend and teacher, the one known as Judith, was my teacher in the Essene community where I grew up. And there were times when she spoke unto me to clean my room for it was full of scrolls and writings, things that I was studying and bits of raiment of the clothing here and there, too, for I did not have time, I felt, to pick up all of the clothing for I was very much engaged in the reading of the scrolls. But she came unto me every once in a while and she said, "Yeshua, tidy up your room."

Mom.

So I did for a time being and it did not last for too long as your room probably last for too long. What would you ask, beloved one?

How come I can't focus on you? I can't look at you with my glasses on because it hurts.

There is an effort of will. Allow yourself to be relaxed in the heart and to know that it does not matter. For truly where we speak and where you remember me, is in the heart. It is the heart of Love that does not judge. It does not have any shoulds. It does not have any effort of will. It does not have to be a certain way.

Yes, there is light that you perceive even with the physical eyes, but allow the eyes themselves to be soft, to relax, to breathe. Take a deep breath and to take it into all of the cells of the body allowing the eyes to be a peace and know that I abide within your heart for that is where you truly reside as well, and that is where we are one.

You may speak with me anytime that you wish. You do not have to see me even in what you would call the mind's eye. But you can talk with me as you would with a friend for I am your friend and have been for many lifetimes. And it is my joy and my pleasure to be able to speak with you in this manner and to hold the hands. To feel the energy of oneness as I hold your hands, and there is no effort involved. It is very easy.

For Love is easy. Love just shares of itself. Not through any shoulds of any boundaries, of any way that it must be. Love just outpours without effort. Allow yourself to be a peace with yourself because you are beautiful.

When I look upon you, I see the radiance that you are. I see the form, yes, for it is beauty in form. But I behold your radiance, the Light that we have spoken of earlier that activates the form and there is a mellowness. What you would call a halo around you. That is who you are, the Light that surrounds you and you are beautiful.

Be at ease with yourself, beloved one, for there is much of joy in this lifetime for you. Much that you will choose that will allow you to remember the joy that you are and do not judge yourself and do not judge others, for they are searching to know who they are as well and they will make choices that out of habit, the world would judge sometimes to say they are not the best choices and yet they are the best choices in that moment for they serve that one well in remembering.

Everything that is chosen serves the One well, for they bring the Child to the place of remembrance. There are no mistakes. Everything serves a purpose. So allow yourself to be at peace with whatever you choose and to know that you are very much the ongoingness of Light and if you do not like a choice that you have made in one day, you are free in the next day to choose anew. Yes.

I want to know where do I go when I'm not paying attention? I'll just suddenly go somewhere and I have no idea where I am.

Yes, because for a moment or so you have taken the focus of attention off of this plane, this dimension and you have gone where you truly abide, but which does not relate, does not express within this point of focus. That is why sometimes in meditation ones will go off unto a place of Light. A place of exhilaration, a place of unconditional Love, a place of excitement, a place of acceleration. Very hard to find a word that describes it. It is because it does not describe in this point of focus.

You have trained yourself because of a collective agreement to focus very intensely upon this time and this personality as you see yourself to be. It was not always thus. When you were first new here as an infant, you did not have the focus of attention even with the physicality you did not have the focus of the eyesight. It was softened, mellowed, blurred, whatever. It did not have the intensity, the clarity of focus.

It is the same with who you believe yourself to be in this lifetime, the personality. It is something that you have taught yourself to be very specific about. But there are moments when you relax that because you know you can return unto it and you do. You return in each morning as you awaken in your bed you return to that point of focus.

Oh, there are some days perhaps you wake up and you think, "What day is this? Where am I?" And then instantly it comes back, "Oh yes, I remember who I am. This is my bedroom, et cetera, everything looks familiar," and then you are back in this point of focus very clear.

But when you allow yourself to go beyond this point of focus, you go to where you abide always to a place that does not translate into this understanding and yet it is very real. It is okay. You are the maker of time. You are the one who defines time. So if you take what is known as the sleep of one called Rip Van Winkle and you go off for a long period of time somewhere else and you come back and in the timing of the world and of your brothers and sisters they say, "Where have you been? It's been so long," and yet for you it has been the twinkling of an eye. That is okay for you are the maker of time and you define what time is. You have all of eternity. Have fun with it.

Where do you go? You may call it cloud nine. You may call it universe Alpha and Omega, whatever you want to call it. You go to where you abide in eternity and it is beyond description in this point of focus.

There are those who will call you back and say, "Pay attention. Be right here." And that is okay too, for you have agreed to be right here. But it is okay to go off for a time being as well. I often did.

Why is there always music?

Because you are music. You are the vibration of Light. You are Light forever ongoing and as Light you are a vibration which can be interpreted as music. You are music. You are a tone.

For if you could and you do from time to time, hear yourself. You would hear the tone. Not with the physical ears, but with the ears of your heart. You hear the tone that you are and you hear the tone of other angels as well blending in what you identify as music.

It is what others have translated into your Scriptures as the choir of angels, heavenly music. For it is the Truth of your being because you are much more than just this point of focus. Much more than just this body, this personality. Never let others say to you that this is all there is for you know the Truth that there is much more than this. Do not lose that. That is where your joy is. True?

Beloved one, how be you?

Okay.

Yes, you are more than okay.

Oh good.

What would you ask?

Okay, where do I go to live? Where should I go live right now?

Ah, you have already some ideas within the heart. You have already ideas that have come to you and you have said, "Well, I don't know if that is really possible." Allow yourself to abide with those ideas. Allow yourself to abide with the excitement of the heart for there is no one right place.

In other words, it matters not where you take the form. What matters is where you abide in the heart. That is truly what you are bringing into clarity even with the question of where should I go and live?

You could take yourself unto the state known as Kansas and if you were happy in the heart it would be Heaven for you. If you were to take the form unto the state known as Kansas and you took all of the beliefs of limitation and judgments with you it would not be Heaven on earth for you. Allow yourself to abide in the heart and just to ask the Child of yourself, "Where would we like to go?"

You mean Erin? Ask Erin?

The Child of you, the inner Child.

Ah, okay.

Yes, you may ask the child, yes. You may ask her as well for she has some ideas and it is not by accident that you are companions again. But ask the child that you are within. Where would that Child like to go? Be very specific. Start to write out a list. Make a vision. Describe it. It will come to you in time, it will evolve, for already there are the ideas. There is a calling.

It is not by accident that you are playing with this idea. It is not by accident that it has come unto you. It is very much as we spoke of the lightening rod earlier. You are already willing. You are already inviting the next step.

What should I do with Mark, my boyfriend?

What would you like to do with Mark, the one known as your boyfriend?

Do I give him another chance. Do I try to help him to walk out of my life?

All of the above. You set this one free. You allow yourself to know that you are as companion to this one. You care about this one deeply, but it matters not whether the physical forms are in the same room. What matters is the love that you hold for this one and as you see him making choices, know that those choices are right for him in that moment for they are the very choices that will bring him to a place of saying, "There must be more. I will arise and return unto my Father's Home."

So yes, you love this one. You support this one. You walk out of this one's life if that is what need be and yet you cannot walk out of this one's life for you are bonded from before time began. This is not the first time you have crossed paths and you have journeyed together for a time. It is not the first time. You felt this when you met this one.

Right.

There was a familiarity, a family, yes. You are family and you have expressed. The two of you as biological members of the same biological unit, many times as family and this has been symbolic of the greater family that you are.

Okay. Am I going to go off because of a physical reason or why am I

This goes back to what you would see as a memory that you have reinforced many many times in what you would call lifetimes. Where you have brought about circumstances that have been terrifying and you have "proved" to yourself that it is not safe. You have carried this memory even in what would be termed as the cellular memory of the form. And so it comes up again.

But do you know why it comes up again? Because now you have decreed, "I will have the courage to look upon this and to walk through this veil of fear. I now have the courage because I know myself to be more." Now the body, because of the memory that it carries, is going to call out to your the message, the recorded message that it knows so well.

But beloved one, that is all it is, it is a recorded message that bears no truth in this expression. It is very much as you would see a tape recording and you have a choice to either listen to that tape recording or to say, "Hey, that is a tape recording that I no longer need."

For indeed, in what you would see as other lifetimes, that tape recording served you well in the experience you desired to have in that lifetime. But you are now at a place where you desire to know more. That is why it comes up for you because you now have the strength to look upon it.

There have been many lifetimes you have carried that as a recorded message in the knapsack on the back and you felt it as a heavy weight, a fear that was undefined. But it was too much of a fear to bring out into the Light and to look upon.

This lifetime you have said, "I will remember who I am and I will do whatever it takes to come to that place of knowing my unlimitedness." So therefore, all of what you would see as the recorded message come forward right in front of you and they say, "Okay, if that is the truth you want to know here we are. How do you feel about us now?"

And you allow yourself to take a deep breath which connects you to the Spirit that you are. One deep breath gives you opportunity to connect with the center that you are and then you can look upon that recorded message and you can either listen to it and again there is no judgment in that. For it is your creativity as the holy Child saying, "I will experience this one more time. Maybe tomorrow, next week, next year I will choose differently but right now, heck, this is what I feel." And that is okay.

But why it is coming up for you now is because you have the strength and the courage to look upon it. So when it comes up for you allow yourself top marks, the gold stars as it is called, for you are proving to yourself that you have the strength to look upon fearsome experiences and to come through that and to claim your power. Exactly what we were talking about earlier, the empowerment of knowing who you are.

So let it be what it is. There will come a day when it will be easy.

Okay.

You are beautiful, beloved one. You are the radiance of ten thousand suns and when the fear comes up shine the light of those suns upon the fear and it will dissolve into the nothingness that it is.

Okay. Thanks.

Seems to be a night for the knees, okay we will go this way.

How are you, beloved one?

Fine, thank you.

Thank you, beloved one, that's a great idea. {Using the pillow to kneel on.}

Oh, much much softer, yes. The body does call out. What would you ask?

Now that I have cardiac problems will I have time to do something with my writing in this lifetime?

Yes. One of the things you are manifesting for yourself is a seeming excuse to have time to do what you want to do to bring forth the writings that will express your soul. That will express for others the Light that you are and that they are and the beauty of the inspiration that you feel coming to you, yes. It is not by accident that you are manifesting what would be seen as a good reason to have time for yourself and it is not just time for the small self – with the small “s”. It is time for the Self – with a capital “S”. It is time for that Self to come forward and to be expressed.

The cardiac problems as you have called them come from the heart, yes.

Yes.

And it is not the form that is bringing this forth. In other words, it is not the physical heart although it is being your servant in this time. But it is the heart that you are that is calling out now to be known and recognized and expressed. To be allowed to express in freedom and in joy.

That is why you have asked of the physical heart that it do certain things and it serves you well. The world and your medical authorities would see it in a certain way and judge it in a failure, in a lack. That is not true. The physical organ known as the heart is whole. It is very powerful. It has great strength but it is serving you now in an image that is important for you because the Heart that wishes to be known and expressed will come forth, now has opportunity to come forth.

Do not allow yourself to abide with fear about the physical organ known as the heart for it is whole.

Can I heal it? Well, with your help and everything, all the powers, masters, all the good? Rather than have an implant, I don't want an implant and I really don't want one. I really want to be whole. I don't want to be taken out of my present job for a stretch. I want to do my writing. So I can get by without this implant thing?

Yes. The importance here is to express the joy that you are. That allows everything to come into balance and when you are in a place of joy and balance, harmony, the physical organs themselves then do what they know how to do best. In other words, to be whole, which they are.

The heart itself, the physical organ, is whole even as we speak, but there is a certain image that you hold of it because that image serves you. It is not to be judged as a wrongdoing, as a failure, as anything less than perfect for it isn't. The choice is not to be judged. That choice and that image serves you well so you may be at peace with even the choice that the world would say is a limitation, a failure. It is not. The choice is in order.

As to whether you will have the implant, as you call it, or whether you will heal it you have not decided. Allow me to share with you that whatever you decide is perfect. It is in perfection. For if you choose the route of asking the help, the facilitation of others who have trained themselves to do this kind of work, that will be in order for sharing the Light that you are with them.

You will be as their servant for they will be allowed to give a gift unto you. Many gifts, and you will be their servant in that you will give them many gifts because of the radiance of your being. Because of the inner Light and the inner wisdom that you are now allowing to be revealed to you day by day and this will continue. It will grow. It will accelerate the inner wisdom and the peace.

So if you choose that avenue, again do not judge it. Look for the fruit of it for there will be much fruit. If you choose the avenue of healing it by the joy that you are and by the other methods of ones who would be facilitators in what is known as alternative healing, which is only alternative again to a small band on that spectrum. The same spectrum that we discussed earlier. Then that is an avenue of service again where you allow yourself to be in exchange of the Light and love that you are with the ones who are giving unto you the gift of what they have trained themselves in, in their remembrance.

For all healers that you allow to come and be companion with you upon the path are in process of remembering healing that they have done in other lifetimes. Many many methods of healing for they are all avenues that lead back to the remembrance of wholeness. That is what healing is, wholing, remembrance of wholeness.

So whatever you choose allow yourself right now in this moment to accept the peace of any choice, of any decision for you cannot choose wrongly.

Is there anything I can do to help my daughter, Lisa?

There is much that you can do. You are already doing it. You are allowing yourself to come to that place of mellowness, that place that says, "There is joy and there is beauty in life. I have not always seen it and I have given you sometimes a false heritage of saying that life must be a struggle." But I share with you, this has been a joint agreement for indeed the one known as Lisa has asked you to out-picture that for her so that she could see choices as well.

So it is not that you have just dumped a load of you know what on her shoulders. It is not that at all. You have been very much as partners in agreement, but you are doing much for her now because you are coming into a place of grand strength for yourself. She sees you as having certain choices, decisions, ones that the world would judge to be difficult. But she also because you are feeling the strength, she is having the opportunity to see that there is much more to life than just the hard decisions.

This one has been your companion and you have been her companion, you have been sisters in many many lifetimes. You have been as mother to this one and she has been as mother to you. You have been ones who were the sisters in the religious orders many times, and you shared with each other the revelations as you would read the Scriptures as they were known in those lifetimes and you would study the heavens and you would come unto a certain wisdom and you would share with each other, "I see more than just the part. I see the points of light in the grand sky overhead. But look you to the order of how the parts fit together into the whole." And you have shared that one with the other and you have taken each other beyond the place of seeing just the parts to knowing the whole. It is the same in this lifetime.

Be as companion to this one. Support this one. Believe in the vision of this one as the holy Child, for indeed she is. She has chosen the very events and circumstances that bring her to a place of acknowledging her own strength and it will be well for her and for you.

This one comes unto you now for a time of joy. It does not feel like that yet, but it will.

Lisa?

Yes. It will out-picture in time for you will get beyond the appearance of the events that have seemingly brought you to this point, the two of you to this point. There will be much of sharing, much of love and that is what matters. It is not form that matters.

Beloved visionary one, how are you in this evening?

Blessed.

You are indeed. There is a peace within your heart. What would you ask this evening?

Tell me what you can about the Hot Springs?

Ah, beloved one. You are re-enacting something that we have done, you and I together, in other lifetimes. You are re-enacting a place of great healing for the brothers and sisters. There are many who will be called unto this vision. They will come, first of all, for reasons that are not the true reasons. They will come for ease of body, for recreation which is truly re-creation and remembrance.

Snowmobile?

Yes, indeed, for the fun of the Child to remember. They will come because it is first of all, a non-threatening to them, place, and they will remember what would be at the outset, perhaps something threatening because it would be beyond their image of themselves, but they will remember, because it will be easy to do.

You have already set in motion and become part of a process that is well in its stages of unfoldment. You do not have to worry. It has, as you have already felt, its own life. You are the steward of it. There has been much that you have already done in worldly terms to take care of paperwork and arrangements and I think you call it, networking. You will continue to do such as need be.

But it is already well in process and in the providing of a place of remembrance for others, guess what happens?

I come Home also.

Yes. For truly you abide at Home already. It is the peace that you feel. It is the knowingness that is deep within you. But you have agreed that you will come one more time with a point of focus here to speak a language that the brothers and sisters understand and then to teach them a new language.

You will have fun with it. For indeed, as we have said earlier, you do not do this work alone. You have not felt alone with it. There have been times that there has been activity that has to be done and you have wondered sometimes how it all fits together, but now, there is a trust deep within you and it is true. What else would you ask?

I haven't done any heavy duty processing in awhile where I take people, past lives and to reach childhood experiences. Should I go back into that?

Only if you desire the drama of it.

There has been drama lately.

Yes. It is okay. It is very much the same as you would go to one of your Broadway plays. You may sit and enjoy it. But if you desire to be out on the snowmobile, that's okay too.

You have finished with what you would see as the garbage. You need no longer think that you are trailing it along behind you. You have left it way back there. You have said, "I do not need this any longer." You may now go forward.

Okay.

You've always been going forward.

Thank you.

Beloved angel, how are you this evening?

Good.

You are beautiful.

Thank you.

There is such a Light. What would you ask this evening?

It's been interesting that you say there is the Light because there are times when the Light is there but there are times when the joy is hard to find with basic human emotions that we have and my question would be and is, the joy should be consistent and continual and if it's not there, is it that we have fallen away from you?

Well it is not that you have fallen away from me, beloved one, because you cannot. We are one in the heart as the energy of Light and Love that we are. We are One as the Child of the Heavenly Father, and there is never a time that I am apart from you.

There are times when momentarily you have turned the point of your attention, your focus somewhere else for issues that seem to call out, but it is not that you have fallen away from me. I am still very much with you and whenever you turn your attention back to me, well you know this yourself, immediately I am there.

There will come a time when the joy that you are will be continual, that you will know it all of the time. But as there is a collective agreement of belief in process otherwise known as time, there is also the working through of a truth that the ego yet brings up for you to look upon and there is nothing wrong in this.

It is part of the drama that the holy Child has said, "I will create for I want to know my creativity. I want to know what I can create seemingly apart from my Father." And so with that thought, that desire, that desire of creativity has come forth the other feelings, the issues that would come up and there is nothing wrong with those issues for they come up as servants for you to look beyond them.

So when there is a feeling of a veil, a pulling down of the window shade perhaps for the light does not come through quite as strong, that is okay too. Allow yourself to focus upon that window shade and to look at the texture of it, to examine the color of it, to examine the fabric of it. Get right into it and say, "What is this window shade made of?" For indeed, you are the creator of that window shade and that is okay.

You may abide with it for however long you want to. Again there is no judgment with it, but you will find yourself looking upon the window shade after a time or two and say, "Huh, that again." And it will instantly be seen through.

You will come unto a place and it comes rapidly now where you will abide in joy and in love and in peace. But there is yet the habitual traces of the voice of the world, the voice of separation that would suggest unto you that you are other than the joy. Do not judge yourself as failing when these other feelings come up for they are as the recorded messages that we spoke of earlier, born of many lifetimes where you have "proved" to yourself that they were true.

They come up for you now in order to look upon them with new eyes. To shine your Light upon them and to see them against the backdrop of the totality of Self and say, "Oh, that's just part, part of what I created." And then as the grand actress that you are, and you are, give yourself applause. Give yourself the red roses and say, "Well, I really got into that feeling this time. I played it well." And that's all it is.

For again you are the maker of time and it matters not whether you abide with that scene of depression, anger, whatever, questions, for a long time or a short time. It will get shorter because you will say, "Oh, I know that one well. Heck, I've done that one. I want something new. I want some improv here." And allow the improv to be of joy.

What else would you ask?

One of the questions is the question my children were asking. This is a question I would like to be able to answer and that is why does the Lord allow something to happen in this world? It may be diseases, violence or drugs or things that are happening in the world? How would you answer? What is a good answer for that?

The Lord, the one known as our Heavenly Father, the One Creator allows everything. For it is the choice of the creative holy Child, the One Child of the Creator being creative of nature. The Child is creative.

So the Father allows all because the Child sleeps in the meadow of the Father's Kingdom always, and in that sleep dreams many dreams. Some of the dreams are of peace and Love, happy dreams. Some of the dreams are as nightmares, of violence, of judgment, of disease that would be seen to be a negative thing. And yet all of the choices that the Child brings forth, the Child being you and the ones that you see as your children in this lifetime and all of the brothers and sisters. All of those choices bring the Child to the place of awakening.

For when there is violence the one who is enacting the violence, believe or not, is allowing the one that would be seen as the victim to have opportunity to look beyond the violence and to see the Christ of that one. Now the world would not teach you that. The world would say that that is tragedy. That there is one who is the perpetrator who was powerful and there is the one who is victim, who is being enacted upon.

It is very much the enactment of two equals. One asking from the other, "Will you play this scene with me so that I may look beyond the scene? So that I may look beyond the script?" And many times, many lifetimes the script is all that has been seen. But in one instant there will be the glimpse of Home and in that instant that one is transformed and remembers who he/she is. That is what it is all about.

So the one known as Our Father, allows all for He loves His Child and knows that His Child sleeps and in the sleeping dreams many dreams and that is all they are. They have the substance of dreams. Even what we do here in what seems to be very real this evening is a dream.

What is beyond the dream is the knowing in your heart of the Truth of your being that is beyond, beyond form, beyond personality, beyond events and circumstances of this point of focus and any other point of focus. That is what abides forever.

So what we do in this evening however beautiful it is, is still part of the context, within the context of the dream and it is a beautiful dream.

So you may speak unto them, you may speak unto them Truth which the world would judge to be very difficult to give unto the small ones and yet the small ones understand better than some of the tall ones.

That's true.

You may speak unto them that all is of the dream of the holy Child being creative. Wanting to know what he or she can experience and yet even in the experience knowing the still small voice that calls him/her Home. And that even in acts that are seemingly violent there is Love if one has the eyes to see it. And it takes only an instant to see only the Love.

There were those who would take from me, seemingly, the form. Who would crucify me in a most painful manner according to them. Who would nail the flesh upon the cross. I looked upon the one who was pounding the great spike into my hand and I knew him to be my Self. I knew him to be my servant who was allowing us to enact that drama to come past the limitation of appearance and I loved that one.

I smiled at that one and I loved that one. True Love, for indeed if it was not true it would not have happened at that time. And that one when he saw the love in my eyes, dropped the hammer and ran away for he could not understand how one could look with Love at that time.

That one ran away and took with him in his heart a new image. Had to ponder that and came unto his own place of awakening because he was willing to be my servant. That one was most courageous in agreeing that he would play that part for it was not an easy part to play and in being willing to play that part he brought about his own remembrance.

So allow them to know that everything serves the purpose of coming Home again. Of allowing Heaven to be manifest even upon this point of focus known as this plane and it is as a dream. The ones who would be suffering from the diseases have chosen to play that part with grand courage in order for themselves to come to a place of knowing that there is more than just form and to be as the very ostensible, visible example to others that the Spirit is what activates the body. So they have allowed what would be seen as the dis-ease in order to know the ease that abides forever.

Allow the small ones to know what they already know, that there is much more that goes on beyond just what is seen upon the surface. There is a saying even in this day and time, not to judge a book by its cover. Not to judge what is happening just by the events that are seen in that moment or what is recorded in your newspaper or on your square visual box known as the television. And to ask of themselves in the heart, "What is truly going on here?"

There is much that is going on here and it is all of joy and all of Love. It is called the Homecoming and it is the ones who are yet in a place of innocence who remember that best.

Beloved brother, it is my grand joy to see you again. How are you this evening?

Hanging in there.

I hope so. I hope so. Indeed you speak well for there are times when you have hung.

{Laughter}

Speaking of judging a book by its cover, what do you think is the second greatest book ever written?

Ah, that is not for me to say, beloved one, it is for you to say. For each one of the brothers and sisters will find the books that speak to them in varying degrees. They are as catalysts for remembrance. Ones that were catalyst for remembrance for me, others would read and find nothing in them. It is the same in this day and time. What would you choose to be the first?

Well, arguably the Bible, the greatest you'd say.

It is a good catalyst, yes.

So what would be the second, do you think?

Again, it is not for me to say. What in your value is second?

I don't know. That's why I'm asking.

That is great. Do you realize what you have just said? You have left it wide open. In other words, you have not delineated it and said that it must be the Bible and X, Y, Z. I will not name other books because that would delineate it, it would limit it.

You have left it open which is a grand place to be. Every book is valuable for you are the one who has called forth that writing. You are the one who asked of that, the squiggles on the page, to have meaning for you. You are the one who gives it meaning. You are the one who will allow it to be the catalyst that sparks your remembrance.

For you, there will be a list of certain ones that you will say, touch the heart and bring you Home. Others will look upon that book and they will say, "That is rubbish. It does nothing for me." And that is their truth. It does nothing for them and it does not need to for they will call forth their own books, their own holy writings and they are holy because they remind them of the wholeness of the one Child.

So there is not what you would see as one master list. There is a list that will serve you and well you have spoken that it is open ended for you will find many, you have already found many that have spoken unto you, have given you an idea, have been as the key in the lock that has turned the lock and has opened the door for a moment.

Thanks.

You are welcome. Again, beloved brother, I gave you only the answer that you called forth. In other words, you have and are all wisdom.

Tell that to my wife.

{Laughter}

I am sure that you will.

Here we are again.

Here we are again, yes.

Want a pillow?

That would be great, yes.

Or a chair.

This serves well. What would you ask?

Well first of all, I want to know really why I've been depressed for three weeks?

Ah, beloved one, you have come unto a place where you have said, "I will look upon everything that stands in my way of knowing the joy that I am." And as you said that, as you said, "I am willing now to entertain all of the feelings that have been as a great brick wall in front of me," indeed they have come as your servants. They have come and said, "Okay, how do you feel about this?" And then another one has come and you said, "Oh, my goodness." And another one has come and you said, "Ah, I really feel heavy with this."

But that is great, because what you are doing is you are allowing the shifts in perception. You are allowing the changes, the earthquakes even as your Holy Mother, the Earth shifts from time to time and shakes up a bit here and there. You are allowing the shifts in perception for yourself and you have made many shifts in the last few months of your timing.

As you do that, there is a realignment of other things that then come to the surface. Ones that have been hidden below. Below what you would see as the strata, the surface strata that has been broken up. So of course these others come up to be looked upon, these feelings.

When this comes unto you count it all as joy. For indeed it is coming up to be released. No longer to be held down because you feared to look upon it or feared to feel it. Count it all as joy and say, "Yes, now this bubble that was at the bottom of the saucepan, has bubbled itself up to the top and can be released." Great place to be. Give yourself the top marks for it for you are releasing much.

You have made many many shifts in a short time, as you measure time, and it is not to be surprised, you are not to be surprised that these bubbles are now coming up to be released.

We have this Hot Springs project going.

Indeed you do, yes.

And yet I have this fear about leaving my kids behind, you know, Megan isn't sure she wants to come up and I've got blocks and Mark I've just, and then Randy says, "Well maybe your not supposed to be part of it." So that kind of triggers the thought, "Am I supposed to be part of it?" You know, and I don't know what question to ask.

Beloved one, allow yourself to be at peace with this. For everything is in order. It is not that you have to immediately upon the morrow pack up all of the belongings and transport yourself and the companions known as the children, along with you.

When the time comes everything will fall into its own place, its own order with it. It is not by accident that you have found yourself called unto this work. But it is always a free choice. It is always what you choose because it allows the heart to open.

If you feel in alignment with this vision, then allow yourself to stay with it, to see the unfoldment of it for as long as it brings you joy. If you feel yourself called unto another vision, another work, another project, you will know. You do not have to be at a place of unrest. That is the voice of ego that would come and ask all of the questions and this one known as the companion is your grand servant when he says, "Well perhaps you are not meant to be part of it." What was your knowingness in that moment?

That I know.

Yes, do you see what a grand servant he was? Yes, not to be a place of depression about it but he just asked the question. He gave you to opportunity, "Well, if you do not like door one, how do you feel about door two?" And you said, "Oh, no. I want door one." Do you see? It is a choice.

But you knew in that instant, you know where your heart abides. Allow yourself to be at peace with it. Allow the others to make their choices. For indeed, there is a beautiful tapestry that is out-picturing with this and it is not by accident that you collectively find yourselves called to this. There will be choices. That is the creative holy Child flexing its muscles and that is all well and good.

But there is also an order that will unfold so you need not try to what they say, cross your bridges before you get there. What else would you ask?

One day at a time?

Yes.

Okay, I know I had spent some time with you before.

Indeed you have, yes. In my lifetime as Jeshua you were one who served me well. You were one who heard my message, not only with the physical ears but with the ears of the heart. You were one who tended to the physical needs and you are also one who taught the others. You were patient of heart when the men would want to get in there and to discuss all of the points of the message and to pick it apart point by point, logic by logic.

You said unto them, "That is not the message. It is the message of the heart. Do not get in there and pick it apart analytical point by analytical point. Go for the whole not for the part." You were one who taught, who tended others, who gave of yourself. You were one who gave of your heart to me.

I know that.

Yes, and it is the same again.

I guess the other question is how can I better serve you?

Indeed, it is as we have spoken this evening. It is not to serve me as you would see me apart from you, but to serve the one Self that we are to empower that Child. To bring Heaven and make it manifest upon this plane. That is how you serve me for in serving me you serve your Self, you serve the joy. You bring it forth. You allow it to be tangible and palpable that others can feel that joy. Even in coming into your presence they will feel an energy. Much like a champagne bubble.

{Laughing.}

Yes, as you have just done. That is how you serve the awakening.

I guess it's not an accident that I work with a bunch of analysts?

It is not, it is not by accident. Everything that the holy Child brings forth has a purpose.

I see.

What else would you ask?

I often wonder about well, things that we love, the things that I love, the thing that Randy loves is seeing, allowing the healing of our brothers and sisters and I guess what I want to get past is or what I want is what makes it unfold? Is it the joy that heals?

Yes.

So it's not that, it's like we get too serious about it and that's what inhibits it?

It is. It is the analytical again. Your what you see as the medical profession in this time has gotten very specialized, very much down to the looking at the parts. You have seen a wave that is growing. It is even called holistic. Not by accident that that word is used to describe the underlying philosophy.

Your medical profession in dealing with healing has looked at the parts, the very minute specific parts and has said, "This is what is wrong. This is not in harmony." Of course it is not. What heals is the acceptance of wholeness and how do you do that? Well yes, it starts with the philosophy and the concept of the mind first, but then it goes beyond to the feeling of joy. That feeling that says, "I am the still small voice that speaks within me. That still small voice that can never be extinguished," for indeed you cannot. That is where the joy bubbles up. That is where the balance is allowed to come again and be manifest.

And not to even judge what would be seen as a disease. For as we have spoken earlier, the disease itself serves the purpose of the holy Child awakening. So be in joy with each one. Allow the brothers and sisters who come for healing, whatever kind of healing it is, to know that they are loved of the Father for this is true.

Allow them to know that they are very Love itself upon this plane and there is no judgment in what they are out-picturing even though the world would judge it. That is what heals and that is what allows the joy to bubble forth very much as your geyser pours forth the steam, yes.

Thank you so much.

Thank you, beloved one, for you are the one who has said, "I will come one more time and anchor my Light upon this plane and I will express as the joy of the holy Child. I will come through my issues for this speaks a language of relatedness to the brothers and sisters for they will look upon one known as Mattie in this lifetime and they will say, 'Well, she's had her share of,' whatever, 'and she's come through all of that. And if she can come through what I know she's experienced well maybe there's home for me.'"

Thank you, beloved one, for you are indeed the angel upon this plane once again.
Thank you. {Hugging}

Thank you for returning. Had you a nice visit?

Yes.

With your friends and with the little one. The little one who has been as your child in other lifetimes and it is not by accident that this little one comes again to you to awaken the heart.

For indeed in this lifetime you have chosen not to have what you would see as the small ones around you just yet in the usual avenues. So therefore you will collect the ones around you in other ways. It allows you to open the heart and to feel the love for there is grand joy there, is there not?

Yes.

Would you have a question this evening?

Why am I feeling so drawn to Arizona and Phoenix?

Well, first of all beloved one, it is an area where you have expressed in other lifetimes and you have been happy. Happy does not really express it. You have found yourself expanded. You have found yourself realizing the wholeness that you are many times. You have felt yourself to be one with the very soil of our Holy Mother, the Earth in that area.

So there will be what you would see in this lifetime, as a time period where you will go and reconnect with the very vibrations of that soil. You will not remain there for what you would see as this whole lifetime, but there will be a reconnection that you wish to establish. You do not have to go there physically in order to do that but you will probably choose to do that for that's what you asked.

Thank you.

Your welcome. It has been my pleasure.

Thank you for again coming to be companion to my beloved friend and teacher, the one known as Judith. Many lifetimes you have been companion one to the other. Many lifetimes you have been as mates. Many lifetimes you have been as warriors together. There is much that you have shared. So in this lifetime there has been an ease, a familiarity that you have felt, both of you, yes.

You have come through what you would see as many of the issues that had to be cleared. This time you can just be heart to heart and enjoy each other.

Thank you.

Thank you.

And it is an exciting time to be alive.

Depends.

Depends?

In the moment.

Indeed, it does depend. But what, beloved brother, does it depend upon?

The life I'd rather be.

It depends on how you want to make it and how you want to see it. Ones would say unto you that at your age the world is all in front of you and you can choose whatever you want to do and this is true. Ones would say that unto you at your age for indeed you are starting a new endeavor and the whole world is in front of you for your choosing. It is the same for you.

Everyday is a new day and the world is in front of you to make of it what you will. To see it in love. To see it in joy, in excitement, in whole vision or to see it in fear. To see it in judgement. To see it in limitation, it is always a choice. But it is a grand time to be alive.

That is why you have chosen to be here at this time. It is a choice to be here at this time. No one said to you, "You must go. I am sending you down there to do your thing, and I'm going to forget you." No, that has not happened.

Each and everyone of you has chosen to be here at this time to usher in the Light, the remembrance of Light upon this plane. To bring Heaven to earth. To bring the vision as you see it, into manifestation. To bring Heaven to earth in every moment as you remember the joy that you are. And to know that every choice you make is perfect. Every book that you read is perfect. For you are the one who is calling it forth and there are no wrong choices.

If you choose to go unto the place known as Arizona, and you choose to see it in Light it will be a grand experience. It is a grand time to be expressing upon this plane. It is very much the same as the time that you shared with me. The time of the lifetime of Jeshua ben Joseph. For indeed, all of you did share that time with me.

It is not by accident that you find yourselves so collected in this room. You thought perhaps you came just because your mother wanted you to come. No, you made a choice. You wanted to come and reconnect one more time in this manner. To be able to reach out and to touch. To experience the energy of Love one more time. In that you know Heaven upon earth.

It has been my grand joy to be amongst you this evening and to share the joy of the Father which is our joy for indeed, I and the Father are one as you are. It has been my grand joy to come and be amongst you in this manner this evening.

You are all the bubbles of champagne. You are all the Light of the Father. Do not hide your Light, especially from yourself. Allow yourself to feel the vibration of Light.

In the morning, in your morrow, the next day, stand before your looking glass. Allow the eyes to mellow and to soften and to behold the Light around the form. Behold your own Light and see what a grand master you are. For you are the grand masters who have agreed that you will come and usher in an age of enlightenment.

Not because masters outside of yourself have decreed that it is time for enlightenment, but because you are remembering the freedom of Light that you are. That very energy that we exchanged early on this evening. You felt that. It was very tangible, very real.

The Light that you are is very tangible and very real. Allow yourself to know that you are always abiding in a sea of Light, an infinite sea of Light. You have a musical piece that just this week in your timing has come into remembrance, recollection again, out of one of your beautiful stories and it expresses what I would like to leave you with this evening. And the title of that musical piece is, "Can You Feel the Love Tonight? Do You Feel the Love Tonight?" You are that Love.

So be it.
