

Manifesting Heaven on Earth

Jeshua & Mother Mary

1995-05-05

Pittsburgh, PA

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of Light divine, I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, Jesus you have called me and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen to make trek to this certain place and to turn the focus of your attention unto me.

For always I am with you. It takes only your willingness to turn your attention unto me and to say, "Jeshua, Jesus, be friends with me, come be companion with me. I would speak with you. I will commune with you," and instantly I am with you.

This evening we shall have a lot of fun. This evening we will be talking about the topic dear to my heart and yours as well. A topic that you have invited me to broach, to talk about, commune with you about for indeed it is a desire of your heart to see heaven manifest upon earth, upon this plane and to know once again what you remember at a very deep level. You remember Home, you remember Heaven and it is a very strong desire that is coming up now awakening within the Child, a very strong desire to see it manifest upon this plane.

To see the beauty of Light once again as it was in the beginning even upon our Holy Mother, the Earth and to see and behold the animals, the four legged ones, the winged ones, the friends and companions in form, different form perhaps, to see them in oneness again.

Not to see them as something different and to behold them as strange, apart, separate, but to see them as companions of life expressing. To behold the Light that activates the beloved pets, the small ones, the tall ones, even the very large what you would call animals, and to see the Light that activates all of the brothers and sisters and brings about the balance known as healing.

Healing of the body, yes, but more importantly healing, wholing of the conscious awareness of the holy Child as she walks this plane.

You have asked to behold again the beauty in all of its forms, its radiant forms upon this plane to bring forth all that Heaven is, all that you remember Home to be and to experience it and to share it with the brothers and sisters while still activating form.

Not to feel that you have to lay down the body and go unto a far place in order to know Heaven, for indeed you have done that countless times. You have raised up a body and you have expressed with a body and you have gotten tired, tired not of the body but tired in the spirit of thinking who you were in a limited fashion and you have laid down that body and then you have raised up a new one and you have thought that in between you would go unto Heaven forever and ever and you have. You have gone unto what you belief system was after laying down the body and you have tried out many different expressions and experiences of what you would call the in between.

adventure and the holy Child being creative as the Child of the one Creator, being creative of nature has dreamed many dreams and has listened to many stories and has even given forth many stories.

For you as priestess in what you would know in other lifetimes, you have given forth much knowledge, much advice to the brothers and sisters as to how to attain a state of peace, a state of worthiness and how to be good enough that when you laid down the body the Father would accept you back into His house.

Well beloved ones, you have never gone from the Father's mansion. You have experienced many rooms in the Father's mansion. This is but one of them. But you have never gone from the Father's Kingdom and you have never gone from Heaven except as you have chosen to turn the focus of your attention unto what you would call and judge to be other than Heaven. For Heaven is right with you. It is within and you carry it with you as you wherever you go.

So it is not what you would see as a difficult feat to manifest Heaven on earth although it has certainly been called a miracle. A miracle lies in the willingness to abide every moment in the peace of the heart and to look upon everything that transpires with the eyes of Love. With the eyes that say, "There must be a new way of looking at this. There must be a holiness, a wholeness of vision," and if you do not see it at first, you choose anew. You sit and you abide with it until there is a new way, a new perspective.

The days to come are ones of Heaven upon earth for you have decreed that you have tried all of the other ways of experiencing and expressing and you have tired, as a child does, of different ways of knowing your creativity and you have said, "Father now I want to return as the Prodigal Daughter that I am. I want to return to my Father's House and I want to bring that forth in great dynamic expression, visible upon this plane. So that all of the brothers and sisters who so choose, may also witness and be part of the experience of Heaven."

When first the holy Child participated in the birthing of our holy Mother the Earth, and indeed you did participate in the birthing. You as the energy of Light that you are, you as the wholeness of consciousness were very much present in the birthing and calling forth of what you see as this plane.

When we first brought forth and participated in the birthing, we knew ourselves to be Light. We knew ourselves to be creative energy. We knew ourselves to be the creators that brought forth by thought, form, energy in form. And then having created there was a desire to experience the creations for the Gods that have been written about in your holy Scriptures, the Gods that you are and that you are and that you are and that you are, everyone of you, desired to know, "How would it feel to be amongst my creations? How would it feel to express with a certain form?" And immediately as that idea came you manifested form.

Not the density that you now see as form, for indeed there was much more Light, but there was a coalescence of form within the Light. And there was very much a connection of oneness. By design the holy Child has said, "I want to know intimately form, density, vibration. I know that I am vibration of energy. I know that I am vibration of Light, but how does this feel as it is," what you would call, "stepped down into a form that is more solid?"

And with that question, guess what? You began what has been called the descent into matter. Not because you were cast out of the Kingdom, not as a punishment, but by design. Not because you were sinful and needed time to meditate upon your shortcomings, as beloved Elder is found of saying.

{Laughter}

Not because you needed time to assess the situation and then to plead with the Father, "To please take me back." No, it was by design to know form, density, matter, physicality intimately. And by design so that you could come to the very heart of density and know what it feels like to be at that center of density. There was a temporary forgetting and a very strong identification with form to the point where the holy Child forgot that she is the Spirit that activates all of form.

What you are doing now is you are responding to your own wake up call that you left at the front desk what you would see as aeons of time ago and you said, "When I have descended to the very heart of density and I have known satisfaction, I have known fulfillment to that point there will be a wake up call." And indeed that wake up call has begun to sound even before what you would see as this lifetime. But you are hearing it and you are responding to it in more clarity now. And what you are desiring to do is to come to the place where you re-manifest what you have always known, what has always been a deep longing within you to manifest Heaven upon earth, to manifest Home again and to see even this plane of physicality in the beauty that it truly is.

For what you behold is but a fraction of the Light that actually is radiating all around you as you. You have now hints, you have clues, you have the auras that ones can see and the photographs that can be taken that show the Light around the form and you have seen the body that is laid down, the lifeless body as it is called, and you have seen that there is something missing. The one lying there, the body, the raiment that you put on for a lifetime is not activated by energy and you can behold that. You have beheld that.

What you are willing to do now is to bring more and more of the Light that you are into visibility, into the very cells of the body to allow that to radiate so that it will be seen more and more visibility even with the physical eyes.

All of you have witnessed this. Already it is not something of a miracle that will be in your days to come. Already you have witnessed this for you have been in a group of people and you have seen one who was feeling a bit dejected, confused perhaps, a lot on the mind, weight upon the shoulders and you have felt a heaviness with that one. You have seen that that one was a bit heavily burdened with what they felt they were going through and you have felt a heaviness of energy with that one.

You have been in a group where one has come in and is the most elated, most excited about something. They have been happy perhaps the mate, the spouse, the boyfriend, the girlfriend has said something really nice to them and they come in and you have a term for this, it is called, "They are turned on." Yes, their Light is turned on and it is visible. You can actually see the Light around that one. You can see the love light in the eyes. You can feel the Light of the heart. You can feel the vibration that comes from that one. It is no longer a vibration that is very close to the form but it is a vibration that fills the whole room and everyone in that room feel it and everyone in that room, if they allow themselves, everyone is uplifted by that.

So it is not what you would see as a strange thing that will be happening. Already you are doing it, but more and more you will be allowing the Light that you are, the Light that activates the form to be visible and no longer will the belief in separation be tenable because you will see the Light of this one extending so far out that the Light intermingles with your Light and intermingles with your Light and you will see that it fill the whole room and there is no way that you can say that you are separate from this one when her Light is way into what you would call your space. And the same with your Light it is very much into her space.

No longer will ones be able to say the body is the boundary and that there is separation between ones. You have already experienced the thought where you have had an idea or a thought and you been kind of mulling that over in your mind and one close to you has said, and started to speak on the same topic and you say, "Well how did you know I was thinking about that?" Will of course they knew you were thinking about that, there is no separation.

It is bodies that appear to be separate but the energy that you are, the Light that you are, the thought that you are is one. Absolutely no separation and this holds for what you would see as the brothers and sisters who would be at a far geographical location, as you hold that one in your heart and as you think upon them even though they be what you would see as miles away. They feel your love and your caring and oftentimes you will have what you see as a more tangible communication, the phone, the telephone will ring and there that one will be speaking to you. There is no separation.

Heaven upon earth will be the most visible manifestation of oneness. You will know yourself to be one with the ones that your heart now goes out to, as you already know yourself to be one. It will be most visible and you will know yourself to be one with the flowers that grow. You will sit, as you can do now, with a flower that grows and you can hear that flower growing. You can speak to that flower and ask that plant, that blade of grass to share with you their story. And as you listen you will hear a wondrous story that is not separate from you for it is your story as well. You have already experienced that.

All of what you have brought forth on the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth, is beautiful. That is why you have brought it forth to remind you of your oneness and the time comes rapidly now for you who are of like mind and for the brothers and sisters who are yet awakening to that. The time comes quickly now where there will be known that there is no separation for even the ones who go about now in sorrow and in great confusion and in what you would call violence and conflict are calling out to know that they are loved and that they are love.

You see much now of relationships that seem to come from a place of separation. Even in what you have beheld in the last week or so in your timing in a place called your Oklahoma City where there has been grand violence coming from a place of seeming separation where ones have felt that they could act from a place of not knowing their oneness with the brothers and sisters and that what they did would touch them not.

And yet they have enacted that drama in order to know that they are not separate from the brothers and sisters who have agreed to be servants unto the other ones so that the ones that were living in the place of separation of belief can feel and know and come Home once again, can experience that they are not separate from the brothers and sisters who participated in this very dramatic enactment.

If you will receive it, the ones who have laid down the body in a most instantaneous fashion agreed that they would do so as servants for all of the brothers and sisters for indeed what you would see even across the whole face of our Holy Mother, the Earth, brothers and sisters in far countries have witnessed this event and have sat with that event and asked, "What is this all about? What truly was going on here?" And each one has had the opportunity to look upon the events and to relate. Many of you and many of your brothers and sisters in far countries have felt your heart to go out to these ones and to the family members who would see this as loss.

You have related, you have said, "I know how that would feel if I 'lost' a mother, a father, a brother, an uncle, a family member, a loved one." And your heart has gone out to support the ones who are going through a seeming loss. This has been true across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth.

For what you have witnessed and you have joked about it is the fact that the world, yes is becoming smaller. And events that happen at what would be miles away are brought right to your consciousness because you have called them to your consciousness. Brought right up in front of the face so that you could look upon those events and feel oneness.

No longer to feel separation and to say, "Well that happened to someone else far far away and it has nothing to do with me." Even if you would want to hold that belief, even if you felt most armored and would allow that feeling in, guess what? It creeps in around the edges and it's right there and there is an opening of the heart. The heart opens and feels for the brothers and sisters.

So the ones who have laid down the bodies agreed as you have agreed in what you would see as other lifetimes, to be sacrificed yes, to be the servants for other brothers and sisters so there could be clarity and understanding and acknowledgement of oneness.

Believe it or not, the event known as the explosion in Oklahoma City is part of manifesting Heaven on earth. Now there are many in your world who would not understand that statement and would say that that is far out crazy heresy. "What does he mean by that?"

What I mean by that is that for many of you, you have looked past the appearance of seeming tragedy. You have allowed the heart to open and you have witnessed many of the brothers and sisters also opening the heart and extending support in many many different ways. And you have looked upon this event with new eyes.

You have asked, you have said, "Perhaps there is another side to this coin?" And you and even what you call your press, your media have looked upon what good has come out of this rather than totally looking upon what is judged to be bad. There is much of Heaven that is being manifest even through seeming tragedy.

As you allow yourself to abide in the heart with whatever experience comes to your consciousness, whatever experience you call forth and as you ask to see Heaven even through seeming tragedy, you manifest Heaven on earth in that moment. As you are willing to look for Heaven guess what? You find it.

For too long mankind/womankind has looked upon the side of tragedy and separation, limitation and judgment of self and others. Well I will not say for too long for indeed it has been by design and by desire so one cannot even judge that as being too long for what is to long? There is no time except in your own drama, but I understand time. I remember time well. I remember the constraints of it and I remember the happiness of it and I understand time although I abide beyond time, as in Truth, you do.

But as you are willing to be vigilant about the love that is in your experience you call forth more and more of that love. For indeed whatever you shine the Light of your countenance upon grows as the tiny plant grows in the sunshine. Whatever you focus upon is what increases in your experience.

Therefore, choose you Heaven and I will share with you that as you do that moment by moment, all of creation rearranges itself to accede to your desire. How could it not? You are the one who is calling forth creation.

So as you have what is called a change of heart, guess what? Creation changes and you behold miracles. Does it in fact change? Yes. It changes in your perception and it changes in truth — with a small “t”, for the truth is the truth of your dream. But there is no need any longer. This is what you are feeling at a very deep level, there is no need any longer to experience the unhappy dream. You have tried that over and over and you know it intimately. You have experienced the dream of sorrow and lack and limitation. You have experienced the dream of violence, brother against brother. You have experienced the dream that has been as the nightmare and now you are saying, “I will awake. I will arise and go again unto my Father’s House. I will live the happy dream knowing that it is a dream, a waking dream. For it need not be experienced in slumber.”

That is what you are calling forth now. That is Heaven upon earth as you know yourself to be the holy Child unlimited Love, and you know that all of creation will mirror that back to you as you are willing to abide in the heart of Love and to look upon everything not from the habitual viewpoint and all of you in this room are in transition with that. Not to look upon it from the habitual viewpoint of judgment and lack and sorrow, but to say, “This is the expression of my Father. Even now where I stand is holy ground.” And it is. “Therefore, I will look anew and I will see the holiness in it.” And as you do that you bring forth Heaven upon earth.

Miracle? Yes. The miracle is in the willingness of choosing. For the keys to bringing forth Heaven upon this plane are first the desire to experience Heaven once again, to bring it right here. That is what you have desired to do and if you will receive it, it is what you have agreed to do even from the point from where time began. You would come to this point of experience and you would anchor your Light upon this plane. The desire is very true and very real and most alive and well within you.

You now are at the place of intention, the second key of manifesting Heaven. You have said, “I intend to know Heaven right where I am. No longer will I feel that it is necessary to lay down the body and escape this experience in order to know Heaven. I will put it off no longer. I intend to know Heaven, to bring it to a conscious awareness of realization right here and right now.”

And then you allow it to be seen. This is the third key, allowance. You allow it to be seen and you look for it amidst all of the other appearances and then the fourth key is the one of surrender where you receive and you know that you have received. You no longer feel that you must make it happen. You surrender into the knowingness that it has already been with you as you all the time. It is most easy to do. You surrender to what has always been.

The four keys of desire, intention, allowance and surrender to what has always been you, and you manifest Heaven upon this earth. It is time not because masters such as I, masters that you have seen to be above you and far beyond you. I am not above and beyond you. I am your equal, I am your brother, I am as you and I am you.

It is time because you have decreed that it is time. You are responding to your own wake up call. You are responding to the very deep longing within the heart to know all of the peace and the Love and the Light that you remember.

For as I speak these words there is a relatedness, there is a remembrance. You remember what Heaven feels like. You remember even what Heaven looks like for indeed you are the creator of Heaven. You have in what you would see as a past time which is a now time as you bring it forth into this now moment. You have experienced and expressed Heaven upon this plane and you desire now to return once again to what you remember.

And I will share with you that what you desire cannot be held from you. What you desire will be manifest as you desire to manifest it. And that is why you see so much of the interest now in angels, in the Light, in the understanding of what happens when one lays down the body. Ones are coming forth and speaking of experiences, speaking of what is beyond just what has been accepted as the "normal" lifetime experiences and it is accelerating.

More and more of your brothers and sisters are coming forth from what you would call out of the closet to speak of their experiences that go beyond just what has been known by the five senses. Why? Because you are calling it forth, because you are willing now to have this happen. You are willing to see the first tangible forms of Heaven and to have other brothers and sisters share this with you. And as they share it with you, you say, "Yes, I knew that. I've always known that. Deep within me I have always known that, but I didn't know there was someone else who knew that." And what happens is what happened just now. Your joy is made full in the knowledge that you are not separate. Never have been, but it has been something to play with.

There is much joy in this room is there not? There is much peace. I have one with me who desires to speak with you. Always she travels with me. I have joked about how does it feel always to have your mother with you.

{Laughter}

It is a good thing we have a good relationship for indeed always she is with me.

Mother Mary:

Gentle one, blessed one, Child of the most High, I am the one known as Mary, Mother of God you have called me and I am as you are. For indeed you are birthing the God Self of you.

Hi, you are remembering. I have desired to speak with you in this manner. I have felt you calling me.

Often.

Often, and I have spoken with you of the Love of what you would see as times past, of families in what you would call times past. Remember always the Love. That is what endures. That is what will see you through any of the questions of the world. To know that this is not the only time. This is not the only challenge of relationship. But the Love is who you are. As a child often you have given forth the Love spontaneously. As the child that you are in the heart you give it forth now freely. Do not worry about how it goes forth or would come back. That does not matter. Allow yourself to know you are immersed in that Love and to be the Child that you have always been to me and to everyone.

I love you so.

I know for there is a love that is a very deep deep bonding. It is what holds together the holiness of the blessed Child. I feel that with you and all of the children.

Thank you for everything.

Thank you. All of you are the blessed Child of the most High. Yes, beloved one, beloved Child you are your Father's gift to this plane. You are your Father's gift to yourself. You are your Father's gift to me and much love have we known. Much love do we know for it goes on forever and forever. That is all that endures is the Love.

{Hugging & sobbing}

Long have I desired to be able to reach out and to touch you once again. Long have I desired to be with you again. The Love that you know deep within your heart, trust it, it is true. It matters not the ups and downs of where you would see this lifetime to be going. For indeed you know that you are your Father's Child and you are always taken care of.

Thank you.

And the same for you, beloved one. The beauty, the beauty of the Child that you are surpasses the beauty of the stars. Allow yourself to behold your own beauty as I do. Many many of what you would call lifetimes I have been with you. You have called to me and you have felt that I sustained you and I have, but not as one separate from you. Not as one separate from you. The sustenance that you have felt is your own love and now you are at the threshold of receiving and understanding the wholeness of that Love.

It is a great gift that you give unto yourself and to others. Know you from this time forward what you see as this lifetime will be forever altered.

Thank you.

Because you have touched that place of the heart, the heart of holiness and you know you can trust what you bring forth. You can bring forth that awareness of Truth and share it with others easily. For as we stood at the foot of the cross and as we saw our beloved one, the body upon the cross there was much of support that we gave to each other. Know you that? It is the same in this lifetime, there is much of support that we give each other and what the other children are asking for is to know that same support. Give it freely and in happiness, in simplicity for life is the simplicity of joy and of Love.

Blessed Child. Beautiful flower. Many times you have been as the mother. Many times you have nurtured. Many times you have called out for nurturing of the heart. I know that feeling well. And as you have nurtured you have been nurtured. As you look upon the Child that you are, the Child in the heart and you nurture that Child even now, you nurture the brothers and sisters through your own holiness, your own wholeness. That nurturing is the Father in expression. That nurturing has been called the Mother, but as there is not separation as my son has just spoken, the nurturing is of the Father and the Mother.

Most beautiful.

I have desired to speak with you as well for there have been many questions and there has been what you see as many answers and they are true. You may trust your heart. You may trust the answers. Trust the questions as well for you know what to ask and you know what the answers are as they come. There is a great strength that you are.

I know.

There were times in my lifetime that did not seem to be easy. There were many challenges that others would judge to be challenge and times when I railed against what I was to be necessary for I was most human and there was a human part of me. There were times that I said, "Father it is not easy." And yet I asked to be part of that demonstration as you asked to be part of what is going on, so that I could live my truth and know it to be true as you are doing.

My friends advised me to armor myself against what they saw could be happening with my firstborn. They advised me to speak to him to tone down what he was saying for they could see that it was not well received by the ones in power. And I asked of myself, "Is this the message that I would give as a mother?" And the human part of me said, "Yes, I would want to save him from what the potential possibilities would be."

But the other part of me that knew my Father knew that there was a greater glory in all of it. I did not understand the whole picture. I was not as what you religious orders have portrayed as being all wise at that point.

There is such a pull inside me to this.

Yes.

I don't understand that. I'm so committed and so surrendered. The pull to come back....

You do not need to understand it. It is the voice of ego, the voice of separation, the voice of the world that would say that you would have to know all of the reasons and have logical answers for things. That is the voice of delay and you do not need to delay any longer.

Allow yourself to know that you are Love and that is all that matters. Trust in that Love and it will see you through all of the challenges, all of the questions, all of the times that the voice of ego would tempt you to choose another path. For I was sorely tempted to choose another path and to hide myself away sometimes.

Thank you.

Thank you.

Child of my heart, Child who is so open in the heart and gives forth the Love so readily, who allows that Love to pour forth even through the eyes many many times and to allow that Love to come up as the wellspring and to be freely given. One who does not worry any more about what the world will think of her but who speaks her truth for indeed it can no longer be held down.

Child of the most High, do you know why I call you that?

I'm a holy Child.

Indeed you are and you know that and you are coming more and more into the realization of what that means and the joy of it. No longer listening to the brothers and sisters who would speak of judgment and of sorrow for you have seen a new vision, a blessed vision and you are remembering other lifetimes of expression that have gone in simplicity and harmony and known the happiness of joy.

You are one of the ones who is most forthright in bringing that vision to this plane. As you have done many times. You have often been the rebel.

I will be.

Yes, and it is a great gift that you give in being the rebel for you allow others to see their own courage. If they see it in you perhaps they have a bit of that in themselves and they may recognize it at that moment or it may lay a bit dormant for awhile and then they recognize it. Much courage. But it cannot be otherwise can it?

The voice that you feel in the heart it will not be stilled. You have known that. You have tried to keep a lid on it and it wouldn't. It just wouldn't keep a lid.

Again, I have desired to speak with you, to reassure you that what you know is true, what you feel is true. The vision that you hold is true. Yes there are the doubts from time to time. Yes, there are the questions. Yes, there is the searching. You have done that in what you would see as many lifetimes. You have been the searcher, the seeker and you have also been the one who brought forth great inner wisdom for the brothers and sisters. Sometimes you have crammed it down their throat and sometimes you have offered it gently.

You are the Love that you seek. You know that now. You know that it is not without you, but it is within and you carry it with you all the time. Thank you.

I am so pleased that you are here tonight. I asked that you would come. I asked that you would come and release the joy of the heart. Release the sorrow of times past and to live in the energy that is so much alive within you. It is a grand gift that you give unto others. Allowing yourself to live so much in visibility. Not to hide it away and to say, "I am most sophisticated and no one will see what I feel." But you have said, "No, I will be the simplicity of the energy that I am and ones will know what I am feeling." And that, beloved one is a grand gift that you give.

For no longer do the emotions need to be hidden. Many lifetimes you spent as what is called the nun, the sister and you followed a certain order that said you would only serve my son. You would be married to the Christ.

Indeed, you are more than married to the Christ, you are the Christ and many lifetimes you were taught to hold back the emotions and to have only the ones that were acceptable and you went in a rigidity even out-pictured in the raiment that was worn. No longer so. You have said, "I will express what I am feeling in the heart and ones will know it. I will express the beauty even in the raiment, in the jewelry," that for many lifetimes was seen to be a sin. I don't know why.

{Laughter}

In my lifetime I enjoyed the jewels, the beauty of the jewels. For it was seen as a symbol of the Light and the beauty that we are. That is why you put upon yourself jewelry. It is to reflect the Light that you are and to remind all others of your beauty and of the beauty that they are. There is no sin in beauty. You remember that it is all of the Father. There is no sin in wanting to wear the beautiful raiment. The flowers of the field they express in different colors and different shapes in beauty. They do not go about just in the black and white, and neither do you any longer.

Such a beauty of the eyes, very very alive. Know you that the Love of your heart shows forth in the eyes? It is most fitting. Many times we have shared the questions of the heart. Many times we have shared the peace of the heart. For after all of the turmoil of the questions of the heart there comes a peace does there not? I have known this well.

Many who even now in your day and time pray unto me when they are in their times of turmoil. Many do not stop long enough to hear the gift I would give to them. But you, beloved one, you are very much here and you can give that gift to them for me. Let them know that when they call to me even in what they would see as the efigy, the statue made of cold stone or of metal. I am there with them. I am not in the stone or the metal but I am within their heart and I know what they call out for and it is theirs.

Allow them to know that it is not held from them that they can have it in any moment. Let them know that their prayers are heard, for many times they hope and then they turn away sorrowful because they see just the stone or the metal and they think, "There is a possibility that she heard me but I'm not sure." Let them know they can be sure as you are sure.

That is what it is all about is it not? The Love, the oneness. Allow yourself to be most free in the emotions letting that energy flow. Feeling the oneness. It is as my son was speaking this evening of Heaven. What you behold right now in this gathering of seeming separate individuals is Heaven for there is much of Love, much of the barriers that are let down, dissolved, gone away.

The love that you know in your heart, the love that you show to others is most real. It has seen you through all of the tests of fire, all of the tests of questions and the searching that Love always remains. You can trust it.

And if you would ask, "What should I do now?" You have asked that.

Big question.

Of course you've asked that. I asked that many times. Go first unto the place of Love, the place of the heart and then ask, "What expresses the most Love in this situation?" Not only love to others but Love to you, love of yourself for as you allow yourself to be birthed you allow all of creation to be birthed in a new way and to bring forth the Heaven that you desire. That is what Heaven is about, it is Love. You have known that many times. You know it with a steadfastness that even the questions of the mate and of the peers cannot shake. Even if there would be from time to time a bit of wavering in the mind, the heart knows true and there is no denying the heart. All of the heart.

For as you allow yourself to know your own Love then you know more and more of it to give and it spreads out. Do not think that you have to be limited and to do just what should be done. No one limits you, and as you allow your own unlimited Love to come forth there is so much of it that it spills over unto the other ones that are crying out for it and who do not even know how to ask for it.

For there are many that you know who go about in the box, the box of their own self image and are not in touch with what they most desire to experience.

As you nurture yourself and allow that to come forth in full bloom they see that and they can smell the fragrance.

Thank you.

Do you know how beloved you are?

No.

No. I know, I know that you don't because in my experience upon this plane I did not know it either. I had a clue. I had a vision for indeed I was lucky enough to be raised with others who were in a philosophy who shared that with me, the philosophy of love and oneness and reverence for all life. And I knew that as an expression of life I must be of some value. But there were many times that I wondered for as a mother there were challenges. For Jeshua was not my only child. He gave me many challenges, yes.

{Laughter}

And he laughs when I say that, too. He was always one who would push out the boundaries of anyone's belief and he did that for his mother as well. For just when I thought that perhaps I understood him and his mission, then he changed it and became a bit more outrageous to the place where I knew that I had to release him in order to know him.

The crucifixion for me, was one of coming to my place of understanding my worthiness. Not worthiness as an individual or worthiness as the mother. For indeed the human part of me saw my firstborn upon the cross and wondered, "Was this all that there was to come of giving birth to this one?" And yet at the same time the still small voice that is very much alive within you, the still small voice hinted that there was more and that I would know more.

And indeed when he returned unto us as he said that he would, my worthiness was brought right to me in clarity as it is for you because you have within your consciousness the resurrection. And I knew that if one such as my son who is your brother, could not let death be a hindrance, the laying down of the body in a most horrible fashion. If that could not be the hindrance to life expression then I must be that life expression as well and I must be more than what I had ever known myself to be and I knew myself to be worthy of the Father's Love.

Not just to pray for it and to hope for it, but I knew because I had brought this experience into my consciousness as it is in yours for you know the resurrection. You have read about it. You have heard about it. It is within your consciousness.

I knew that there must be much more to me as there is to you, and upon that realization I lived the rest of my life in peace, in trust as you may do. You may trust. It is okay. That which you desire is not hidden from the Father and that which you desire you will bring forth and you may trust it.

As you followed the guidance to be here this evening, as you felt the invitation know that everything else unfolds in its own order and the desire of your heart will come true. It will not be held from you.

Beloved one, Child of the most High who lives her life even now in radiance. I would call you my curly top for often times you have been, but this time you are showing me your creativity. How are you?

Very well, thank you.

Always, yes.

And I want to ask you to be with me when I work on people. Specifically you. Jeshua is good. He is loving. He wasn't happy to hear that.

However you symbolize the meaning of nurturing.

Yes.

And indeed I know in working on other people I cannot release their own holding patterns that they would do that themselves, but to give the hands the gentleness that I know that they need.

Already you have felt my presence. Know that it will always be with you. For the desire that you have felt, the inspiration, it is work that we do together even from the inception of the idea to do this work we have been together and it is my pleasure and my blessing to work through you as you in what you have called and it is truly nurturing, yes, that brings forth the healing.

It does not do as you have seen a magic from without, but it touches one within where they live and allows them to come alive with that and to do their own healing. You are a blessing.

I would bestow upon you my blessing, but it is not something that is without you. It is something that you already have. My blessing is the love that you are. So you see in that I cannot give you anything that you do not already have. You are that Love. You are that joy of the Father.

Allow yourself to live in that joy. Allow yourself to be the child that you know very well and to allow that child to come forth in great simplicity and spontaneity as you have done many times as the Child that I knew well. For the child goes forth in simplicity. The child does not ask how this is going to be judged, what is going to happen in the next moment. The child just feels and expresses. The child is just joy incarnate, interest, curiosity, life expressing.

Not with any of the pause that the analytical mind would throw in there, but the child just says, "I am my Father's Child and my Father has gifted me this world to appreciate and to play in. My Father has given me this beautiful sandbox and I will play in it." Everything that you behold is yours.

Okay.

Hello.

Hello. Gentle one and blessed one for you know your gentleness and in that you are blessed and all others who behold you are blessed by that gentleness. Much healing have you always done and much healing will you continue to do. For in that healing you know your own love, you know your own nature. Well have you chosen your path. Well have you chosen your companion and what you desire to see manifest will manifest. It will be Heaven for indeed you desire most devotedly to know Heaven right now here and now.

No longer do you have to serve a Heaven or a Father that is afar off and to say that, "Sometime if I am good enough I will know Heaven." You have felt that in many lifetimes and you have been content to serve that way in many lifetimes hoping for a reward at the end of it. This time you have said, "I want to know my reward because I am that reward and I want to know it right now as the blessedness of Love upon this plane."

And so you have chosen an avenue of service, so you have chosen companions who are in the heart of Love. Companions that are as one with you and what you have envisioned is a work of beauty. It is a work of joy and you are not alone in this.

Thank you.

And I, you. That is what Heaven is all about.

Hello.

Hello again. Many times we have communed, many times you have asked of me where you should be going, what you should be doing, who you should speak to. Then I have answered you and you have heard and obedient Child of the Father that you are you have responded. Not knowing the whole depth of why you called that forth but you have been willing to be obedient to the guidance of the heart and in that, beloved child, you find your own salvation.

Not the salvation that is gifted to you because you are somehow knighted of the world or whatever, but the salvation of knowing your own holiness as the Child of the most High. What you have envisioned with the companions is most true. It is a service that you have done with me in other lifetimes and when I say with me it is not because we are separate. It is because our energy and our desire blends as one.

For I desire to be known upon this plane in gentleness and in healing and in nurturing. I desire to work with you and through you as you.

Thank you.

I thank you for being willing to be the hands upon this plane and to walk with the feet to do what must be necessary and to speak with the mouth the words that are necessary for others to hear and also to fill out the paperwork that I cannot do.

I know.

{Hugging a sister}

Beloved child, many times have I held you that way. Not just in what you would see as the lifetime of Jeshua. There have been other lifetimes for indeed that was not my only lifetime and many times I have held you that way when you saw yourself embodied in form and saw me to be somewhere apart from you and I have reached out my arms of Light and Love and embraced you and enfolded you in the Love, many times and it is so again.

Know yourself to be most loved. Know yourself to be whole. Know yourself to be mighty for you are mighty in your holiness. You have questioned and you have doubted. You have put constriction upon your expression but know you that that is all erased, done, paid for, finished for you have done what you needed to do and it is all balanced as you would call it.

You say, "But I don't know even what needed to be balanced." You do not need to know. It is dissolved as the shadow that it is. It is dissolved in the Love that you are. Go forth from this evening in the joy of Love. Go forth this evening in the gentleness of Love. Go forth this evening in the freedom of Love for the Spirit that you are cannot be contained by any belief that would be limited. You are beyond and much more.

You are truly the angel that walks this plane. You are truly the Child of the most High that walks this plane. And what you will be doing in the days to come is most inspiring to others for you will bring the Spirit, the whole Spirit very visibly into this plane. Show it first to others and then knowing it yourself because others will mirror it back to you. Already you have tasted of that.

And what you behold in others, in the companions that is your own love. You have put it there and it is who you are. You are most loved of the Father.

In this time of communion, for indeed it has been communion you have experienced and participated in what my son was speaking of, of Heaven upon earth for you have felt the Love in this room. You have felt the barriers dissolve. You have seen the one heart that you are. You have seen it reflected in the face of a brother, of a sister and you have known yourself to be that one.

No longer does there need to be any feeling of separation for in that knowing of oneness the desire of your heart comes forth and is expressed in gentleness and in nurturing. Heaven is gentleness. Heaven is the strength of gentleness.

You have heard it said that Heaven is Love and you have felt Love for one another and the Love that you are goes beyond that human love, for you have felt the Love of the heart open for a brother, for a sister, for a small one that you would look upon. And the Love of the Father goes beyond that. The Love of the Father is unfathomable by the mind but it is known in the heart. It is what comes forth in the tears of oneness. It is expressed through the eyes that look upon another one and no longer sees separation or difference, but only sees the oneness of understanding.

That is Heaven and it is here and it is now. It can be no other place for Heaven is you right where you are and it can be no other time. There is no other time. The time is of your own making and the time is therefore, what you make it and it is you in expression.

So there is no other time and you may claim it. That is the joy of the now. You may claim it now and when you leave this building and you go seemingly to your own places, know that the bond that you have shared in this evening will not be broken now matter how many miles you see to be between here and where your destination is. The bond that you have felt with all of your brothers and sisters, the one Self that you are, that bond will never be broken for what you have tasted and experienced this evening is the truth of your reality and it comes forth in any moment that you call it forth and desire to know it. It is within your heart. It is within you. It is closer than hands or feet. Closer than breathing for breathe is of the body.

Heaven is of the Spirit. Heaven is the oneness that you have experienced in this gathering this evening. Heaven is the oneness that I knew as I looked beyond the cross even with the body of my firstborn upon that cross and I looked beyond that cross even as other were consoling me and I saw the Light of my firstborn above the cross.

I did not understand what it was. I did not understand exactly what it was. I did not understand it in fullness until he had returned to us, but Heaven is the peace of trusting in what is unseen and unknown. Heaven is the peace that passes the understanding of the world. Heaven is the hope of the vision that you hold within your heart and that vision is true and that vision will be manifest for you have desired to bring it forth.

In that know your joy for your joy cannot be contained and it need not be contained any longer. Allow yourself to know that you are Heaven upon this plane and each time you look into the eyes of a brother or sister, each time you look into the eyes of a beloved pet or one known as an animal, a companion upon the journey. Each time you look into their eyes and you behold the one Self you have manifested Heaven in that moment.

So be it.

{Break time}

Jeshua:

Beloved holy one who loves laughter, have you enjoyed your break?

Yeah.

Did you enjoy the hugs?

Yes.

Have you felt what Heaven feels like?

Yes.

Yes, and indeed it is not I who have brought it here for you have asked and called it forth and you are the very ones who have brought it into what you would see as this gathering. You are the ones who said, "I am ready this evening to experience Heaven. Let me taste it. Let me emote it. Let me know it in the depth of my being and bring it forth to share with the circle of companions." And indeed, you did.

Many of you have come, at least some of you, perhaps all of you, it has been my experience in other times, have come with questions and so if you have questions we will not do what we have done in other times and go around to each one of you. But we will entertain questions if you have them and you most likely have them.

I have never known some of you not to have the questions in this lifetime and many others.

{Laughter}

Beloved Elder, do we have what you would call a hand microphone?

No, we didn't bring one with us.

Okay.

Tell them to yell the questions.

Okay.

I'll tell them to yell their questions.

{Laughter}

You have heard. Who would have a question? Yes.

I think that I need some guidance about my true path.

Ah, beloved one, yes. The true path.

Yes, now I need to know now more than ever.

Yes, indeed that is a grand truth. Your true path is what you have experienced in this evening. Your true path is to bring forth Heaven upon this earth in the simplicity of the moment. Not to have to worry about what is around the corner or what books to study or what workshops to go to or even to ask who the next teacher will be that will come and share with you? For indeed you are calling them forth as your desire is to express Heaven.

The voice of ego, the voice of the world would put many stumbling blocks in the way and would say that you need to know what the next step is or how to do it and am I worthy to do it? And surely if I try perhaps there is a chance that I will not do it well enough. That is the voice of ego and you may put that voice to rest.

Allow that one to be crucified, dead and buried for it has not place in Heaven. Allow yourself to go with the peace of the heart that says, "I live in this moment and that is all I need to concern myself about," for indeed you have the guidance of the inner wisdom that always comes forth.

For have you not found yourself in this gathering this evening? Have you not found yourself with books that have come to hand that have spoke to you exactly what the question was? Have you not found one who will come up to you and start speaking from their heart? And you will say to yourself, "But that's exactly what I needed to know. How did he know what I was thinking about?" And the other one, perhaps has been most nonchalant or casual about it has not even thought that that is of great import. And but for you it has been as the neon light that has gone on.

Know that your path is greatly illumined. You cannot fail. Your path is one of experiencing Heaven moment by moment and bringing it to the attention of the brothers and sisters through the simplicity of the moment. You will have much guidance on this for indeed what you do and you do not do alone. It is often felt that mankind or womankind, you have felt that you were sent here, plopped into this place alone and bereft of friends, true friends, and you have wondered, "How did I get here?" And more to the question, "How do I get back to where I know I want to be going back to?"

You do not do what you do alone. You cannot, for as I have said, Lo I am with you always, this is a grand Truth and what you would see as your guardian angels and the masters and guides that you call upon they are one with you always. So you do not do the path alone. You have what you would see as a grand cheering section. Cheerleaders. Beautiful cheerleaders. Most beautiful who encourage you. Who cheer when you choose for Heaven. They cheer because it allows the joy of their heart to come forth and to be experienced and known fully in that moment.

So do not worry about what the morrow will hold for you. Just live each moment in the love of the heart and the simplicity of the heart trusting that all is in order for indeed it is. It cannot be otherwise. It has been my great joy.

So another question.

Jeshua, I have trouble with the first step of manifestation which is desire. Sometimes I think I desire too much and I won't let myself desire anything. I really have an imbalance on desire and also even when I desire sometimes I want to manifest so much and they all seem to be conflicting. I know that's probably ego just throwing things in and so therefore, I manifest nothing although I know that's not true. I just really have a hard time with desire, even allowing myself to desire.

Yes, and yet there is a vision that you hold deep within your heart. There is a knowing of what you want to experience. When you are in a room of people as there is much of conflict going on, arguments as they are called, you know very well you do not want to be in that energy and you as soon as is feasible you vacate, you go. Even sometimes if you cannot take the body away you vacate. You go off in meditation or somewhere and you vacate a bit.

But you know very well there is a desire, a true desire that is within you and as you have discerned the voice of the ego gets in with a lot of questions, a lot of delay and will say, "Well do you truly want that? How do you want that? Should you want that?" Should is a big thing. Should is a voice of the ego.

Allow yourself as we spoke unto this beloved one, to abide in the simplicity of the moment bringing forth the heart's desire in that moment. Do not worry about the "shoulds" of the next moment or of the past moment, but follow the desire in that moment and be very true as to where that desire comes from.

In other words, if there is a desire that seems trivial. If you desire a new piece of raiment, as my beloved friend and teacher does from time to time, allow yourself to indulge yourself in a new piece of raiment. Go and buy what excites the heart and allows the heart to feel good, to feel joy.

But go a step further with this and ask, "Why you desire a new piece of raiment?" What does this symbolize for you? What is its gift for you? For indeed the desire goes farther than just the piece of raiment. There are all kinds of levels to the desire. And you will find that at the bottom of all of these levels as you go through them, as you sit with and honestly ask if it you will find that the bottom, the desire is to know your worthiness and to know that it is okay to shower upon yourself the abundance of all good things.

Many lifetimes you have spent in what you would see as a deprivation of what you have valued as good things. It has been seen to be a part of the tempter if you allowed yourself to look upon things of beauty or of raiment. It was taking you away from the one true vision of holiness.

Well, I share with you here and now, the vision of holiness encompasses the whole which includes the beauty of raiment. To deny that beauty is to put that part of the creativity of the holy Child into a box and to say, "No that part I cannot have. For whatever reason, it may tempt me away from my own spiritual path." No, indeed. For as you keep that in a box separate from yourself and deny the inclusion of it you are denying the knowledge of your totality of creativity.

There is nothing wrong in desiring beauty, in desiring to shower everything upon the holy Child that you are. The voice of ego will get in there and say that you are not worthy of it. Or that it will temporarily divert your attention from something that is more important. Now who would judge what is more important? The voice of ego, because the voice of ego is of judgment that would say some things are of more value than others.

All of it is of the same value when you understand the truth of holiness, of wholeness. And as you would deny part of that and say, "No, I cannot shower upon myself the abundance," that the Father is most ready to give you. Guess what happens with your energy? Part of your energy is spent in keeping it at arm's length so you might as well have it right out in front of you and deal with it.

{Laughter}

I shall.

Yes. As they say in your world: go for it.

Thank you.

And especially if there is a desire that comes up and along with it the voice of ego says, "Oh, no, no. That will be bad to have." Especially that one, sit with it and say, "I am going to experience that one," for nothing comes to you by accident. Everything comes to you with a gift.

So sit with it especially the desires that you would vacillate about that you would see negative judgment with it. Especially those and ask, "Why would I see it in negative value? Where does that voice come from? How does my Father see that? What is the true desire?"

And experience it and be done with it. Feel the joy of it, and do not heap guilt upon the shoulders if you have many desires. The creative holy Child is creative and you will find that even in one day's time you will have many desires that come to you and if you are to say, "Well I can only have one desire in one day," well, so be it. But that is keeping yourself in limitation and you need not do that. Long enough you have done that. Where has it brought you? It has brought you to the place of desiring more and more desires. So why not experience that? You are the one who calls it all forth anyway. There is nothing that is off limits.

Even the voice of ego you have desired to experience. You have asked it to be upon your stage and to play a part for you. It has been a most valuable messenger and is even in this day and time, it is not something to be killed or done away with or looked upon as a very bad stepchild.

It is an actor upon your stage that you have asked to be there, to serve you and it serves you very well. You have said to ego, "Come and remind me in great clarity when I am thinking thoughts that are of limited belief, limited image. Remind me. Ring my bell," and it does.

{Laughter}

For the very purpose of being able to be vigilant about it and to sit with it and to say, "Oh, the message you are giving me, you are tugging at me, the message that you have is that for a moment I have been holding myself in a place of limitation. Now I may choose anew." That is the purpose and function of ego. It has a purpose and function for indeed you have called it forth. You have asked it to be part of your reality — with a small "r" — in this drama and so it has come forth.

And as you have experienced many times, if you say to ego, "Be gone," what does it do? It comes right up in front of you again. For a moment perhaps it is gone but not very far and it comes right back. Because it has a message to give you like your Western Union teleperson. Teleperson? Like your Western Union communicator. It has a message to give to you and it will keep coming back because you have asked it from the beginning of this script known as this plane of reality, you have asked it to play that role.

When you come to the place of knowing Heaven upon earth in every moment guess where ego is going to be? It will be off in the wings somewhere, forgotten. You will have no use for it any longer. Its role will have been written out of your script. You won't have to worry about it. You won't have to banish it. You won't have to say, "Oh, no, no, I have to be strong against this." No. It will be off in the wings somewhere and it will be forgotten. It will be one what you call your unemployment.

{Laughter}

Beloved brother, you had a question?

Yes, I'd like some advice about what I should do with my son? Some months ago he started stealing from us and then lied about it and it looks like maybe he's doing that again and things have disappeared.

Yes.

And I could really use some advice about what to do.

Indeed, beloved one, love this one. Shower upon this one all of your love. Communicate with this one from heart to heart and ask him in whatever words you find acceptable, what is going on for him? For he is hurting. He does not believe that he can receive what he truly desires without taking it. He does not believe that it can be gift to him.

It is not the tangible effects that he really is desiring. He thinks that these are. He thinks they are a means to an end. What he really desires to know is the love that is always there for him and will accept him no matter what. He want to know the Love of the Father, but he is going about it in a most devious fashion. Even to the behavior that he chooses. Do you see how the behavior that he chooses out-pictures how he feels? He feels unworthy enough to ask. So shower upon this one your love.

Let him know that you have been companion from before time began. However he will accept the information let him know that you love him and that you care about him. Put the arm around the shoulder either literally or figuratively, both actually if you can do that and speak with this one and say, "You know there is no judgment in this." You will sit with him and you will say, "There is no judgment in this, for I too, have done certain things because I didn't think I could get it directly."

And you will share with him whatever comes to your mind of experience and if need be....

I stole a cement truck once.

Oh, fantastic.

I don't want to tell him that.

Fantastic. Do you see how everything has its order?

{Laughter}

Now I know why I did it, huh?"

Well it serves a purpose does it not? Share with this one also that there have been times that you have taken detours from the path.

Yes.

And that you understand because you have taken these detours you understand what he is looking for and let him know that you are here not as a parent, not as a judge, but as a companion and friend along the way.

For indeed that is the Truth of the matter. He does not belong to you, you have long since discerned that. You cannot control him. You have long since discerned that, but you can be as companions and friends and you can give unto this one guidance that you have bought with dear experience.

Yes, I have.

And he is asking for you to share this with him. There will be a bit of resistance at first for he will not know how to trust.

Yes, that's right.

But persevere. Be there always as the love and smile on this one. He will come around. He is a good soul.

He's a special soul.

He is special.

Yes.

I'm not sure whether I'm doing what I'm supposed to do as far as my marriage. I've known it's been over but I seem to keep hanging in there and hanging in there and trying to let nature take its course and nothing ever seems to get anywhere. I see people getting divorced and going on with their life and I'm still hanging in there and I don't know if it's better for me to end it or to just kind of let it be and let it happen on its own? Which is better to do?

Do you need a divorce beloved one to get on with your life?

Sometimes it's hard living with that constriction that I feel from him.

Ah, do you see what a grand servant he is to you?

Yeah.

In other words, what you are asking to experience and to know and to come through this is to know that you can feel most open, not constricted, even in the presence of this one. Even in the presence of what you feel his judgments to be and his beliefs to be.

You will abide with this to the place where you will feel the freedom for the place where you will say, "This is who I am and I love you no matter what your beliefs are and I love me enough to feel at ease with you. For we are both playing our parts very well."

He is the servant unto you so that you can sit with this feeling of constriction and say, "Do I need this any longer? How does it serve me?" For indeed it has served you in times past. Not only this lifetime but other lifetimes as well, it has been seen as something necessary but now you are at a place where you are saying, "This does not serve me any longer, the constriction."

You have not left this one, beloved one, because it has not been time to leave this one yet. That is why you have said, "I feel like I'm waiting for something and I don't know what this something is." This something is your feeling of ease where you know that it matters not whether you are in the physical presence of this one or you are what you would see as a state away from this one, miles away.

When you are at that place and it comes quickly now for you have seen the clarity, the clarity that blesses the other one and in that blessing you bless yourself. When that clarity and feeling of peace comes, it will not matter. It will be easy.

But for the meantime, be at peace with where you are for it is serving a grand purpose, not only for you. You have asked for clarity. You have asked for freedom to know that you can speak the truth of your being in many ways, many levels. Not just the truth that is spoken with the words, yes that is something, but you can also live your truth in freedom.

It serves that purpose but it also serves a purpose for the mate and that purpose is not quite finished yet.

Yes.

My husband and I have known constriction for so long I am ready to move on and he doesn't seem ready. Will he find a better job soon?

This one has yet what he sees as a belief that life must be difficult. You cannot change that. In other words, you cannot get inside and change his beliefs about himself and his image about himself and the world, but you can mirror to him how you see the world and what you are doing in your life. As he sees the wholesomeness of you he will begin to feel, it will spill over into his consciousness rather like osmosis where there is the back and forth flow.

It will not be something that you can do by effort of will. But it is something that you do from heart to heart and by mirroring it to him and having patience. Love this one for it is not by accident that you have come together.

You have much guidance. You are very much open to your guidance and you will know when it is time to speak and when it is time to be quiet. You will know when it is time to walk and when it is time to stand still. Trust that guidance and do not be in a hurry for the guidance. For indeed everything is in order and you do not have to rush forth to accomplish everything in this lifetime upon the morrow.

In other words, allow it all to unfold and enjoy every moment as it unfolds. For every moment is a gift that you give unto yourself. Be happy in it. It will all work out.

Hello.

How did we know?

So many questions but I'll think of more.

This is one who has always had many questions, yes. There are a few others in the room.

Traditional medicine, conventional medicine, hospital surgery, the cortisone shots I have a tendency to say, try to breathe into the constriction, you know, what you would probably say. I know if a dog breaks his leg you take him to the vet. I have one dog right now that has we call elephant skin. These are supposed to be husky wolf dogs and two dogs are fine and the other one has like a fatty tumor.

Do you go with the vet and the surgery? You know it's like a decision not to go any direction except wait for them. I'm giving them lots of nutrition, alfalfa things like nutrition to build them up. At the same time their is still that conventional path option there. I really don't feel right about cutting or burning or removing any of those things. Just seems barbaric. Could you just talk a little bit about care, where you make the decision to go a step further?

Indeed, beloved one.

People, animals, anyone? Where do you make the decision?

Yes, as you have just discerned, it is the same for people as it is for animals. There is no difference.

First of all, all of what you have as options you have created, you have called them forth so there is nothing wrong in choosing any of the options. There are many in your world who hold to a certain philosophy that healing must come through what they would call natural methods or alternative method and that what is seen as the pharmaceuticals and surgery is harmful. More deleterious than beneficial, but that is not true because as the creative Child that you are you have called forth all of the various methods of healing. You have called them forth for the very reason to look upon them and appreciate every one of them not in judgment.

It is judgment that brings about the constriction that then keeps you in a place of non-heaven. Keeps you in a place of listening to ego that would judge by values and say that there is something that is better than, and if there is something that is better than then there is something that is less than. There is nothing that is less than because you are calling it forth. Everything is of divine creation as you understand divine creation, as you understand that you are calling it forth.

Now, in certain instances there will be guidance, there will be alignment for certain options and you will know it. You have already known. There is a certain language that is spoken and understood by the one known as the animal that will be healing and it is the same for the brothers and sisters.

You will follow that guidance and one time you will find yourself rushing off to the vet or the surgeon and in the next day you will find yourself with another animal and you will choose another method for that animal and you will say to yourself, "Well, I am most wishy-washy because I am choosing one thing and then I am changing my mind." No, you will follow what the guidance is.

For some of the brothers and sisters and this is true of the animals as well. Even though they do not speak the same verbal language there is a language that they understand and feel more in alignment with. So they will tell you. They will tell you what will be healing for them.

It is the same for the brothers and sisters. Many of your brothers and sisters at this time believe that a certain medical person who has been trained in a certain way and has the credentials will effect some magic of healing and because they believe in that magic they will call forth their own healing.

Other will say, "I do not believe in pharmaceuticals, I do not believe in surgery, I do not believe in what is called conventional medicine. I will not go to the doctor." And for them a trip to the doctor would be most wasteful because they don't believe that any help would come forth and they do place their beliefs in natural methods, in herbs, in the fruits of the field of our Holy Mother, the Earth and they say, "This is why I am in alignment with. I know that my healing comes through more natural," as they see it,

"methods or in the laying on the hands of certain energy balancing. This is what I feel in alignment with. I know that if I go unto this certain one and she places the hands upon me and she prays in a certain way, I know I will receive my healing of God," and they do.

Is it because there is magic in a certain laying on of the hands, in a certain way the prayer is said? No, but the magic is in the belief. They believe that they will be healed and they are. They bring forth their own healing.

That is why you see ones going unto sacred shrines and feeling that there is an energy of healing there and they go and they know that my Mother is there and that there will be healing there for them and there is.

Others go and their belief although they would want it to be by an effort of will, their belief at a very deep level is not one hundred percent and so they go in a hope and then they come away and they still have the dis-ease for many many reasons because a dis-ease serve many many levels. As many different levels and aspects as there seems to be individual brothers and sisters.

So for the animals, beloved one, you will choose different methods for different ones and they will tell you. They will allow you to know and none of the methods is better than, in absolute Truth, than others. Each has a purpose and a function and a benefit for indeed you are the one who has said, "I will have all of these options as on a smorgasbord table, so that I can choose." You are the one who is putting all of the dishes upon the table.

A great blessing. Sometimes brings up the voice of the ego that says there is a great confusion. But there need not be. Allow yourself to be at peace with all of the different avenues, techniques, methodologies of healing, even with the substances. For I have heard it said that there are some substances that are better for the body than others, that one must take the nutrients of a certain company and if you take these nutrients of this company you will be forever balanced and wholesome, healthy.

And for many it will be because they believe there is a certain contagion of energy and belief that they catch from ones who believe it and who want to offer it unto the brothers and sisters, and that is good. That is a gift and they will ingest those substances and sure enough they will feel better. Is it the substance that has made them feel better? Or is it the belief that they will feel better?

It is the believe, exactly. You could do the same thing. I will set you a task, a very easy simple task. For the next what you would see, seven days in your timing. In the morning take you a small glass of water. Now it does not need to be purified water, it does not need to be distilled water, it does not need to be....

{Loud laughter}

Just water. We will not get into judgment. Take a small glass of water and hold that water in your hand for a moment or so and know your oneness with the water that you have called forth with the energy of that water for indeed that energy is you. You have called it forth seemingly in a different form, but it is your energy.

Bless it with your consciousness of oneness. Hold it in your hand and feel the vibration of that water. Feel your own vibration of Love with that water. Then drink the water and say to yourself and know, "Today I am energized by this water. The substance that I am taking within myself. I am energized by my own presence." And go forth in that day knowing that you are blessed because you have blessed the water.

It is holy water because you have blessed it and it will bring forth in that day more energy as you allow it to be your magic.

So you see, if you desire to spend many golden coins on substances that will make you more healthy, more wholesome that is fine. They will. In fact there is a belief very prevalent now a days that if you spend a lot of golden coins for something it has great value, therefore, it will work a lot of magic.

If you spend only one little coin, perhaps it will do a little bit.

{Laughter}

It is the way of mankind/womankind in this day and time. Indulge yourself, but be very aware of what you are doing and know that what you ingest has the value that you give it.

You are the very one that has energized that substance. It is the same with the food that you eat. There are many who would speak that there are certain foods that must not be ingested otherwise you will feel a certain heaviness of body. You will feel weighted down and sluggish. Well sure enough, if you believe that you will feel sluggish after you have had a meal of whatever.

Know you that in my lifetime I ate of the flesh of animals.

Oh.

{Laughter}

Terrible sacrilege. There were times that I did for it was provided by my host and I knew what was important was to be one in love with my host who had provided it as a gift to me. I was not to sit in judgment of what he gave me as a gift, and I knew my oneness with the form of the animal and I blessed the animal and thanked it for giving up its energy in that form to me. I knew my oneness with it.

There is no difference if you will receive it, between eating the life energy of a plant known as a vegetable and the life energy of an animal when you know your oneness with the life force that has brought it forth in that process.

Now I know there are many of your brothers and sisters who would say, "It is much more spiritual to be vegetarian. To not take the life of an animal." And yet when you know your oneness with the energy that activates all of form is there any difference between taking what you would see as the vegetable of the ground. Taking it out by its root and ingesting it? Or asking the animal to give of itself?

The importance is to know your oneness, to bless it with your consciousness of oneness and to thank it for being one with you because you are the creative Child who has brought it forth and has asked it to be upon your journey with you.

Now, for those of you that, if this is still bothering a bit, I will share with you that there is coming a time when you will know yourself to be the energy that activates the body and you will no longer see it necessary to ingest energy from outside of yourself in any form. You will be so turned on with your own energy that you will no longer need to ingest any substances in order to energize the body.

You will see your oneness with all lifeforms and you will bless and you will live in peace and harmony as we have spoken this evening of Heaven.

Now, where does that idea come from? Does that idea come from me? No, you have called that forth because you are willing to remember Heaven. As I spoke the words of that concept there was an excitement of the heart, an excitement that was remembered and known. It was not a strange idea. It was an idea that you said, "Yes, I want that. Yes, I know that." And indeed, so be it. It will be.

Comments not recorded}

Always, beloved one. Are we finished? I am never finished.

{Laughter}

As you have seen, you give me a simple question and I go on forever.

I knew that would happen anyway. When you were talking about even the flowers and the grass, I can get real caught up in not doing anything. Not even letting anyone cut my grass. I just don't feel right about it. How high can it go?

{Laughter}

Exactly beloved one, the grass is your servant. It is a process of life. And it grows again does it not? It is much as the hair. It grows. You cut it. It grows some more. The grass is the same. It is your servant and it serves a purpose.

I will allow you to abide in the heart with that and discern what the purpose of the grass is. It has a gift for you. It grows for you and it provides you opportunity to have choice and to deal with how you feel about the choice of either letting it grow or cutting it. It has a gift for you. I will allow you to abide with that question so that you may receive its gift. For the grass does not come forth just by accident. You have asked it to be your servant and to be with you in this experience known as this life. And it has a gift for you. And you have seen it in certain value levels of certain options.

Allow yourself to abide with that question and see what the gift is. You will have fun with it.

Thank you. I love you.

A person by the name of Maitreya, I love this idea of each one of us being the Light of Heaven. However it's good to bite my tongue when I hear of things that are special, because I believe now that I have to address within myself the idea of specialness and see it as perhaps another deviation, deception, covering trick. I see some specialness in this idea that a Maitreya is here. Perhaps the same thing as Jesus is coming, Jesus is coming and we sit and we wait. For what? Haven't we done that many many years?

Exactly.

I have a hope of serving in some way in over the institutional specialists of my group is better than your group. My priestliness is more priestly than your group.

You have seen enough of that, yes?

Yes, enough. I'm involved with a very very enticing person who is still very special and always saying to me, "May God love you special."

And indeed He does, but not in the specialness of separateness.

Exactly. Is there a way I can serve us? Maitreya, that is fine I suppose.

Indeed, yes.

I have to keep blessed, but many are using, I believe this excuse not to do the uncovering of that which would hide who that one is truly. I see that as yet another deception and I would like to serve in this way. Is there anything you can suggest beloved one?

Beloved one, yes there is much wisdom that comes forth from you. The inner revelation, the inner wisdom. You are already serving as you go through unpeeling the layers of yourself and letting the inner radiance shine forth for others. It encourages them to do the same. As you speak your truth and you say, "I bless this one known as Maitreya, I bless everyone as the Christ that they are." It allows the brothers and sisters to sit with that thought and to ask themselves, "Who am I?"

As you have discerned specialness speaks of separation that would place one above another and yet in what you would see as the conundrum of it all, you are all special in that you are all blessed of the Father, you are all holy. But there is not the specialness that would set one brother above another. You have discerned well.

What you are now seeing is the specialness of the One, the one Self in all of its different forms. For those who yet have need of seeing someone above themselves, of recognizing a Christ personage by whatever name, or by admiring and worshipping to some degree, different degrees, ones that they would see to be above them. That is all well and good for that one where they are.

For indeed they will tire of that after awhile. For as they see more and more of the specialness and they see more and more of the ones who must be worshipped they will come to a place of asking, "What is this specialness that I worship?" It is much as the child will play with a toy and will play with it over and over again until one day the child looks upon that toy and says, "There must be something else to play with." And the child looks about and discovers that yes, there is something else to play with. There is something more.

But meantime the worship of one that they would see above themselves serves them in that they understand or they get a glimpse that there is something more than what they understand themselves to be right here in this very narrow point of focus. That is the gift that is in worshipping what they would see as someone above them. At least they have the willingness to see that there is more. They may not feel that they are more or that they can reach more for awhile, but at least they know that there is more. So it serves a purpose. It is not wrong, as you would say. It speaks a language for one who is needing that for the next steppingstone along the path.

But for one such as yourself, you have discerned this specialness speaks of separation and that in holding another one to be above or below, that is still keeping you out of Heaven. It is keeping you out of the acknowledgment of the oneness.

When you are willing, as all of you have experienced this evening, to participate in Heaven, grand place to be, then you touch upon your holiness and you rise above the specialness that would speak of judgment, of values, less than or above them. And you come into that place of recognizing your own holiness and you behold others as your equal.

Not as your equal as you would see yourself to be a worm of the dust, but as your equal as the holy Child created perfect from before time began. That is holy relationship and that is the place where you extend love unto all of the brothers and sisters and you bless them on their way whatever they are doing. Whether they turn and look at you and extend the love back in that moment or not, or perhaps in another lifetime they will, it matters not.

You are so busy being in your own holiness that you extend the love freely as our Father does and you know that it is not whether it comes back to you in the human form of love. It matters not. What matters is the Father's Love and as you extend that you experience it and then you know that you are loved of the Father for you are immersed in that flow of Love. And what others do or say or think that is their choice. It is okay. You are very busy being about your Father's business of expressing your sunshine. You do it very well.

At the same time as you express your sunshine allow yourself to bathe in that sunshine, too. For you are not isolated from your own sunshine. Allow yourself to know that as you give forth the sunshine you are already the sunshine and you are very much blessed by it.

Would there be a question?

No.

It is a miracle.

I have one.

Yes.

Dealing with our dreams, are they our own process of trying to get information to our logical mind or ego that we won't accept from our heart or some knowing like a little act to convince the logical part of us or and if they are how do we interpret them more simply rather than trying to see things and understand the information that has been given to us and interpret them?

Dreams beloved one, the ones of the nighttime or the afternoon nap time, whatever, those dreams are as real as the waking dreams. The one that you now equate with reality. Dreams of that nature are as real — with a small “r” — as what you claim reality to be. They are part of the totality of the creative Child in its experience.

Now, they serve a purpose yes, as you would keep from yourself some of the understanding of the totality of who you are.

You will allow that in in some what you call it, a bit of a bleed through, a cross over in the dreams and you bring part of that into this conscious awareness and yes, there are messages in the dream that will help in understanding how you look at what is happening in this dream.

There is much of wealth, much of benefit in what happens in the dreams the same as what happens in this dream when another one, companion says unto you a certain thing or you read it in a book, whatever, there is a message in it and it is the same with the dream. There is much wealth in the dream for that is part of your experience as the creative Child that you are as much as this one is.

If you have the dreams of adventure and you feel that you are going, flying to a far star system somewhere on a beautiful spaceship, know that that is true. As true as what you experience right here in this dream and yes, you have gone on that spaceship and you have participated in whatever that drama is. You have been there.

What is to say that you are limited to right here, this body, this personality. So if you dream the dream of a great mystery and there is a lot going on in that dream, many players and you feel yourself to be part of it and you don't know who is coming in the door next and all of a sudden you wake up and you say, “Oh, the dream finished.”

{Laughter}

You've done that. Know you that you can go back to sleep and you can pick that dream up and you can tune into it again because there is not time. Time is not limited just to this and time is not linear as it is understood to be in process. Time is not linear, so you can lie back down, go back to sleep and you can pick up that dream and you can find out what happens in that dream.

Many of you, some of you find that more easy to do than others but you know ones who can do that and you have done it yourself from time to time. Those dreams are thought to be illusions but they are no more illusion than what you call reality right here, this dream.

Those dreams are real as well. They are part of the experience of the creative holy Child and as you ask them to shower upon you more understanding of the totality of yourself guess what? You become most wealthy because you are the adventurer, you are the explorer, you are the detective that solves the mystery, you are the one who feels that there is an intruder in the house and you don't know where they are and you feel afraid and you feel this emotion and there is something lurking in the house. And you go back and you say, “I have the courage and I'm going to find out who that is in the house," and you can either do this by lying down and going on with the dream or you can sit in this dream and dialogue with that and ask of yourself, "Okay let us see what the rest of that dream is. I will walk in what feels like my imagination. I will walk through the rest of that dream and I will see who it is that I felt was just outside of that door and was most menacing," and guess who comes in that door and is face to face with you? It is you.

{Laughter}

And you have said, "Oh, okay." The only difference ones would say with the night-time or afternoon nap time dream is that, "Well if it gets too bad I can wake up from it, and thank goodness I did." It is the same in this dream is it not? You can choose anew.

You can say, "I desire to experience Heaven instead of this. I choose to see things differently. How can I see this differently?" And that turns the nightmare of what you have seen even this experience to be, it turns it around and you wake up from it.

I have a new question. I have an earth treasure for a long long time. Can you please bless it and make that my special healing crystal?

Ah, beloved one, it is already blessed. First, by your blessing because you honor it and you revere it. It is already blessed. It is blessed because you have called it forth from the earth, our Holy Mother, and you have said, "That I bring this forth in the energy coalesced into a certain form. I bring it forth as the beauty that it is and I honor that beauty." And if you will have the eyes to see this is your beauty. This is how clear and how radiance you are. This is how powerful as vibration that you are for indeed as you have held this you have felt vibration from it have you not?

Uh huh.

Guess where that comes from? It is vibrating in synch with your energy. You are giving it Light as you bless it yourself. Now, I will not bless it with a specialness because I cannot. I am not apart from you. I am one with you and as one with you I bless it most mightily for I see this to be me. I see this to be you. I see this to be life in its process.

Ones would look upon this and they would say that this is a very static finished product, solid, unmoving, done, completed.

{Laughter}

This is very much alive. This is energy in form and you can feel, you can feel the vibration of it as it is alive. It is moving in what you would see as a slower rate of vibration but very much alive.

Does it energize your water when you put it in your water? Of course it does, because you have said to it, "Energize my water please." And your energy goes with it into the water and yes it energizes your water. Does it heal? Does it facilitate healing? Of course it does. You are one with it. You are one with this energy and as you know it to be the life energy in a different form it heals because you allow your own energy to come forth and to heal your own perception of who you are.

This beautiful crystal as it is called, is most blessed by me and by you and by all others so gathered here for there is no separation.

I have a question. Well first of all when I came here I was very skeptical.

Very good. Very good.

Yes. Well I'm not right now.

It is a good place to be.

What about the goddess, the Mother God? I never hear anything about that. I'm just learning to read about the goddess and the Mother God and it's very nurturing for me. I don't hear about it.

You are at a place now where you are willing to hear about it. That is why the books are coming to you and you will in the days to come find an avalanche of material that will come to you. Ones who will come up, total "strangers" to you and they will start talking to you about the goddess. You will find tapes coming to you about the goddess because you are now at a place where you are saying, "I want to know the balance. I have heard long enough about the Father, the Heavenly Father, the Holy Father, the masculine energy. I know that well enough. I have experienced that. I have been in the male form and I have experienced the male energy. I have known that in other lifetimes," as you have.

So you know that expression. You want to know now the balance. You want to know the nurturing. You are willing to have that within your experience and your consciousness. So you will find, beloved one, that ones will come and they will gift you all this material about the goddess. You will also find from within that you will be reverencing what you see as the aspects of the goddess.

You will be in tune with the goddess that you are, the goddess aspects that you are because you are at a grand place now of willingness to know totality, to know balance and to know all.

You have said, "Okay, there is a part of me. I didn't even know it was out there for awhile, but now I'm beginning to know. There is a part of me that I want to know better." It is known as the goddess and you are the goddess. Now you are bringing that into your experience and your awareness.

There is a great wave of awareness that is spreading across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth that is reverencing and getting in touch with the goddess energy. For a long time in what you would see as your history the goddess was worshipped, was known to be the Mother upon this plane and was honored because the qualities of bringing forth life, not only the form of human body and life being born through human body but also the form of life as the wheat and the grain of the field.

There was much of alignment with the goddess energy and it was honored and known to be very much within one. Then just very much as you have the clock, the pendulum, then there was the desire to know masculine energy and so you have been experiencing that for what you would see as a good long time. Some of you would say for too long. Again it is not too long because it is what you have desired to call forth.

But now there is a desire that is awakening within the holy Child. You for one and many of the brothers and sisters as well that says, "I want to know the pendulum in the center. I want to know the balance of the God and the Goddess, and in order to know that balance in the center I am going to reacquaint myself with the Goddess aspects and I am going to know them as my Self."

Good place to be. But there are many of the brothers and sisters who are recognizing this now and desiring and you have seen the re-emergence of the honoring of the Goddess in many many forms. Some who are still set in experiencing the masculine energy have said that the goddess worship, honoring is pagan and that it takes the focus away from what is should be.

But it is the desire of the holy Child to know holiness, to know wholeness and in that it is much as we spoke of the part that you would put to the side and deny. To know your wholeness you must bring all of the parts as they seem to be out there scattered somewhere, you must bring them all into the conscious acceptance and acknowledgment and the goddess energy is most beautiful. It is part of Heaven on earth, and you will not see the manifestation of Heaven upon earth if you do not know the goddess energy. It is part of it.

I have another question related to what I love the most which is to write and I feel guilty when I think of the finished product. In other words, when I'm writing I am in bliss, I am in joy. But what causes trouble and turmoil in my soul, in my heart is the fact that I have to look for somebody to publish it and I don't know what to do with that aspect. I feel guilty about thinking about that.

Know you that everything unfolds in its own order. As you have had the desire to write, allow that to flow. Do not be concerned with what happens after that.

I knew that.

Of course you knew that. I am only giving forth to you what you are calling forth and you already know it, but it is a process of clarification, yes. Allow yourself to be in joy as you write for that is the gift that you give to yourself. In that is your unfolding and your knowledge, your acceptance, your experience of Heaven on earth.

Uh huh.

Very much so. That is the gift that you give to others, the writing yes, will have benefit. Far reaching benefits for brothers and sisters who are calling forth that writing. But even now as you write and you feel your bliss in the writing that energy of joy goes out upon what you would call the ethers and is felt by other brothers and sisters who do not know how to identify it and that is not important, but they feel uplifted by it.

More and more of the joy energy is going to be coming forth in the days to come. It is most necessary in order to experience Heaven on earth. So allow yourself not to get tied up in the voice of ego that says, "Well what happens down the road with this," but allow yourself to be in the bliss of the moment and to write. Write of your heart's desire. Express and allow more and more of that to come forth because as you abide in that space guess what you are manifesting at that moment? What we have been speaking of this evening, Heaven on earth. Exactly. That is what I am asking of you.

Now, you will find that there will be what is known as the networking. There will be ones who know others who are publishing et cetera. There will be the activity of the holy Spirit in this that will take care of the other steps down the road. It is not for you to have to see down the road and around the corner. That is the voice of the ego that would say, "I have to know exactly the steps and around the corner," and it will throw all sorts of roadblocks in your way.

Allow yourself to be in the bliss of the moment and manifest Heaven in that moment. The rest will take care of itself. I thank you.

Yes, most beautiful. This one takes the energy of our Holy Mother, the Earth known as the jewels and the crystals, known as the life force in another form and puts it together so that others of the brothers and sisters can behold their own beauty. For what you appreciate in another, what you appreciate as beauty where does that come from?

That comes from your own knowing of the beauty that you are. Otherwise you would not behold it. It would be much as one would be speaking a foreign language or as Beloved Elder has experienced with his pets, the cats. He will speak unto his cat and the cat does not understand the vibration of his speaking and he gets a bit frustrated with it. The cat does not understand the sounds, the words, but the beloved pet does understand the voice of the heart.

So when you appreciate beauty in other one or beauty in another form that appreciation comes forth from your heart. It is something that you place there because it is you, and beautiful you are, everyone of you as the seemingly individual expressions of the One.

There is great radiance in this room. There is great love in this room. Do you feel the peace that has descended in this room?

Yes.

Have you felt Heaven upon earth? Heaven is not difficult to experience. The voice of the ego would say that Heaven is X,Y,Z and it is far away from you and it must be experienced after you have fulfilled all of these other requirements and yet Heaven is the simplicity of saying, "I have arrived. I am Home. I am special, but not above anyone else because they are special as well. I am special because I am holy. I am whole. I am the one Self expressing seemingly as the many."

And yet what you have experienced in this evening was the circle of oneness was it not? As you saw a brother or sister allowing the barriers to be released and let down, as you saw a sister or brother releasing the burdens and the baggage of lifetimes you experienced Heaven in that moment. You experienced the oneness of Heaven.

Now you are desiring to know it all, to bring in totality Home to this plane, to know love, to see it expressed in harmony between brother and sister, sister and sister, brother and brother. Between all life forms and to behold the radiance of that Love.

What is coming in your days to come is not a time of doom and gloom. For some it has been prophesied by some and for some they have accepted this and said, "This is how it must be." And for them, indeed, there will be some of the upheavals, some of what they will term the tragedies for they have decreed that that is necessary before they come to a place of worthiness to accept what is already theirs. To accept and to claim Heaven.

But the days to come – if you will receive it – are days of joy, days of Heaven upon this plane as you remember, as you are willing to experience and express all that Heaven is. It has been asked of me, "Well Jeshua, if we were to bring Heaven to earth, would it not blow all of the circuits?" And indeed it will blow some of the circuits, some of the limitation of belief and the limitation of image, yes. For your understanding of yourself will go beyond what has been known and accepted for a long long time.

But all of you so gathered in this room this evening have said at a very deep level that you are willing to know your totality and to express the Light that you are in radiant form, in love, in freedom, in joy upon this plane. And that is what your days to come are all about.

For indeed in every moment you decree what you are going to experience. You call it forth and then as the habit of mankind/womankind has been you sit in judgment of it and say, well it is either good or more often it is lacking in something and it would be not quite what you would like to experience. And yet it is exactly what you have asked to experience in order to see the blessing of it.

You call forth everything that you experience. Not as a judgment sent by a Father afar off or by masters who would say that you need to learn something, that you are not quite good enough yet, so therefore you have to come through certain tests and trials. That is not it at all. You call it forth yourself in order to know your holiness, in order to know your wholeness, the totality of who you are and to claim what you have seen to be separate aspects of yourself, to experience them and to claim them and to integrate them into your awareness of the wholeness that you are.

So whatever you experience, whatever you call forth abide with it in the heart in peace and ask of it, "What message do you have for me? What is the blessing in this? Where is the Heaven in this?" For indeed Heaven is not afar off. Heaven is right where you are this moment and every moment as you choose to see it with the eyes of the heart.

Many lifetimes you have had philosophies, theologies that would explain in great detail what Heaven is and how to reach Heaven. And many lifetimes your ones in authority known as the priests, by whatever name they have been called, have told you that there is much of study, much of ritual, much of cleansing, much of purification, many trials to come through before you would be worthy to know Heaven.

And you as the holy Child, you have said, "Okay, I will experience this. I will say that Heaven is somewhere a bit distant from me, so that I can experience how it feels to be outside of the Kingdom, outside of Heaven." And there has been no judgment in this in that the Father has not judged us for our desire to experience. It is all a grand

Know you that your days to come are not ones of doom and gloom and catastrophe. You will see changes, yes, for indeed you have always called forth change and change, beloved ones, is good because would you abide where you are right now for ever and ever? No, you want to experience and to express Heaven.

Therefore, there must be a wee bit of change, but not as disaster. Only if you decree it to be a necessary ingredient and as you have experienced this evening, Heaven is one of simplicity. It is one of the smile. It is one of the heart being opened to another. It is simplicity itself.

It has been my grand joy to converse with you in this manner. To be amongst you. To reach out and touch and mess up the hair, yes. It is something I enjoy doing.

Beloved one, we have not walked in your sandals this evening. This is a treat. This one brings what are known as the Jeshua shoes.

{Laughter as Jeshua puts on a pair of Birkenstock sandals and walks around in them.}

This one brings the Jesus shoes for me to walk in. The evening would not be complete without a walk in another's sandals. For indeed as you walk in another's sandals you experience Heaven for you know the oneness.

Each and everyone of you try on a pair of another one's sandals from time to time. Either literally or figuratively. Thank you.

Yes, together as the one that we are. As you walk in another one's sandals you bring Heaven to this plane for you understand the meaning of oneness. And as you allow the laughter of the soul to come forth, you experience Heaven for Heaven is grand laughter and that is most wholing.

It has been my grand joy to be amongst you this evening in this manner. Know that always I go with you as you for it has been said that I have said, "Lo, I am with you always." And this is a grand Truth for it cannot be otherwise for the one Child of the Father is whole and holy and is one, can only be separate for a momentary belief but in Truth, is holy. And in that beloved ones, you experience Heaven.

So be it.
