

Creating The Days To Come: The Age Of Enlightenment

1995-05-09

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of Light divine, I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, Jesus you have called me and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen to call me forth.

Indeed beloved one, Jesus, Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire. {The song was playing prior to beginning the session.} There has been and is much joy in this room this evening and as you gathered here there was much of joy and much of family reunion, heart to heart. {Talking to a little baby.} Look at you, beloved one.

Much of a family reunion as you felt yourselves to be in joy with each other and this will continue. That is my message unto you this evening, that what you have felt is in the gathering, the reunion, the joy is what you will experience in the days to come. For you are upon the threshold of saying, "I desire to know joy. I desire to know freedom. I desire to know the angel that I am, the Light that I am."

And the days to come are not one of doom and gloom, unless you say that that is how they must be ushered in and there are some of the brothers and sisters who will insist on the cataclysms and the traumatic events in order to come through to the joy that they also desire to experience, but feel themselves not quite worthy yet to claim that unless they have been tested, have proved themselves.

So there are many of the brothers and sisters, you see this already, who are calling forth disasters so that they can prove to themselves through their salvation that they are worthy as this one already knows her worthiness.

All of you as you allow yourselves to come unto that place of the heart, the place of spontaneity of the true Child that you are. You call forth joy, the joy of innocence. For no longer do you need to go about in heaviness listening to the world, listening to the voice that would speak of separation and not of salvation.

No longer do you need to entertain the heaviness of all of the constrictions of body, of mind, of the emotions, for you are the ones who are decreeing what you will experience and those of you so gathered in this room this evening have decreed that you will know joy, that you will know days to come, of happiness and of fulfillment. For you are upon the threshold and crossing over into a new dimension. A dimension that has been seen in times past to be separated from you by a wall of bricks, a heavy wall. And now you are allowing yourselves to see that the veil is very very thin.

You are calling forth evenings such as this, being willing to entertain and play with the idea that it is possible to communicate with ones who are seemingly in another dimension and yet, it is all one as you come to the place of accepting your oneness.

Often times you have been the ones who have ushered in a new age. This is not the first turning of the age that you have participated in for you know it well and it comes, the remembrance deep inside of you, comes the knowing that you have done this before.

There is a feeling deep within you that says, "Yes, somehow I have been here and allowed the brothers and sisters to see by my modeling, my courage that there is much more to the experience upon this plane than just what appearance would show. And you have searched your holy book, you have gone to your teachers, your rabbis, the masters and you have said, "Share with me your secrets," and they have. And they have said to you, That you will find the secret of eternal life. You will find the secret of joy, of nature, with the ones known as the animals that are pure heart walking on the four legs. You will know eternal life and Love in communion with the flowers, of all life process whatever form it chooses.

And you have brought forth from your inner wisdom, the revelations that you have shared with your disciples for it has been handed down as what you would see from generation to generation and it happens again. It happens because of the willingness such as this beloved one, who will allow brothers and sisters to come into a home such as this and to find catalyst for remembrance, to pick up a thing of beauty that allows the heart to open and the remembrance to come forth of the beauty of life that you are.

Ones will find the books that have within them the squiggles that are the symbols of remembrance for indeed the squiggles on the page mean nothing except as you give it meaning, and it serves as your catalyst for remembrance. You are willing now to play with the ideas and the concepts of unlimited expression, to know the holy Child that you are and it is most fitting that you have called forth the little one in form to remind you of who you are in this evening.

For indeed I have not called this one forth as an individuality as you would see me to be, but all of us collectively, have invited this little one, yes, to be here, to remind us of the joy of living. Allow yourselves as you usher in the days to come, allow yourselves to return again unto the place of the Child within.

There has been much written in the last few years of your timing, many workshops that have been called forth of getting in touch with the inner Child, and allowing the Child to express. For indeed as you do that it is a step to getting to know and remembering the holy Child that you are and the rejoicing that comes forth from that place.

For long enough have you acquiesced to the voice of the world that says that the child must grow in a certain way and that there must be certain behaviors, certain way of expressing that would say even the emotions must be expressed in a certain way. Long enough have you hidden deep within yourself the Child that you are and now it is coming forth in grand Love, in freedom for you are playing with each other.

You are finding causes, reasons to celebrate. You find the birthdays, you find the reasons to gather and to say, "Let us voice our joy, to bring it forth in song, in sharing with each other, in the humor that is shared and the laughter." And when you do that you touch the place of the Child. You touch the place of Heaven and bring it to earth.

Your days to come are days of joy. They are days of innocence remembering again what would seemingly be a long time ago and yet it is but a twinkling of an eye, remembering the beginning of when you first chose to express on our Holy Mother, the Earth, and the beauty that you beheld in our creations. You are allowing yourselves now to pause, to look upon the beauty of our Holy Mother, the Earth, in nature and to commune with the beauty of flowing waters. Even with the beauty of the flowing water that comes from your heavens as in a day such as this and to feel the softness of the gentle rains, to feel the cleansing of the rain that comes in more force. Much cleaning.

Many of you were joking that you already had one shower in this day and you went out and found yourselves in another shower, a shower from heaven that you called forth. You are allowing yourself to stand and to move with a flexibility as the wind, to appreciate the gentle breezes, to appreciate the power of the wind as it gains force. You are appreciating the warmth of the sun that brings forth the process of life and nurtures it, allows it to develop.

You are seeing the Light in the crystals that you call forth from within our Holy Mother, the Earth. Crystals that reflect the Light that you are, that you wear to remind yourself of the Light.

It is not by accident that you wear what is known as beauty upon the body, the jewelry as it is called. You like it to reflect the Light to you even in what is seen as your timepiece, there is much of reflection of Light in that and you put it on thinking that it serves a function, which it does, but the real reason that you wear it is to remind you of your inner Light. As you wear any piece of jewelry.

It is beautiful for you have called it forth. It would not be here in what you term your experience if you did not call it forth. And you are allowing more and more yourself to have time to appreciate your creations. In partnership with what you call and I call, our Holy Mother Who gives of the molecules of physicality, gives of the dust of the earth so that you can call it forth in form to express, to experience, to experience Light. To experience joy.

Your days to come are days of joy as you decree them to be. And all of you have come unto a certain point, a decision point even before what you would see as this lifetime. You have decreed that you will arise up and return again unto your Father's house. That you will return Home, that you will know who you are and you have said, "I will do whatever it takes in order to know the joy of being. To know my creativity, yes and to know that I have created everything that I behold, and now I will call it good." For long enough has mankind/womankind looked upon his/her creations and judged them to be less than perfect. Now is the time that you are choosing to look upon all of your creations, not only the physical ones in physical form but your creations as the relationships, the circumstances and events that you experience and to call them good even as you are in the midst of what the ego would judge to be confusing, sorrowful, not quite as perfect and yet everything that you call forth is perfect.

You have decreed that you will bring it forth in order to know its holiness and to come through it to that place of knowing your own holiness.

The days to come beloved ones, are days of beauty, days of joy, days of excitement, days of unlimited Love. Not only knowing Love in what you would see as the human relationships as they have been defined for so long, but to know the joy of relationship that is unlimited for indeed all of you so gathered here, are in relationship with each other and there is no separation, even though bodies would speak of separation. There is no separation of the Light that you are and you are in relationship with each one. You are family, yes. You have felt that as you walked in here. Even if you behold someone that you think that you have not seen before and would be as stranger to you, you never look upon a stranger for you see only yourself. Yourself expressing as what you would see in that moment as another aspect of the God Self that you are, and beautiful it is.

Many of ones you have known and called to be loved ones, friends, acquaintances, you are seeing that they are choosing to make a change in how they express with form. Many laying down the body to go unto new expression and new experience in order to open doors for themselves for experience and to open doors for you and the brothers and sisters to see that life expression goes much farther than beyond just what is known here.

Many are laying down the body and will choose to recycle as it is called, to be born of woman again as you have done many, many times and others are choosing to know new expression as the Light that they are and in that power of Light will manifest in ways that you can remember but have not witnessed for some time. It will seem to be miraculous and yet, as it happens you will remember that, yes, you have done this. It is something that has been known in what you would call ancient time, but where are the ancient times if you are now remembering them? Right here within the sphere of now, all joined, yes.

There will be many miracles in the days to come. Your press, your media is going to be most busy. At first there will be the skepticism as there already is, you are seeing the beginning of this, the first wave of this. There will be skepticism and there will be the ones sent out to research this to see if it could be true. And there will be ones who have been very much in their box of skepticism because they have felt throughout many lifetimes that it served them well to be in a place of power that said that this is the only way it can be, and that it is a sin.

It has often been taught that it is a sin to think of anything beyond right here and the way it is being taught in that moment and do not dare to think that you could possibly think. Often times you have had lifetimes of being constrained.

But you have said, "No longer. I will experience my unlimitedness, the Love that is eternal and I will experience my Father's house. Not only upon this plane, but in all other planes of expression." And you are calling forth because of the energy that you are and of the ones that you are not separate from, you are calling forth "proof" as it will be seen, that there is much more to life expression than what has been known in limited form.

You will see many miraculous healings, instantaneous healings as ones accept their worthiness to know that they are whole. They will no longer see it necessary to suffer in order to go unto a place where they will be perfect. In other words, to lay down the body in suffering so that their Father God can then accept them into Heaven or Saint Peter.

They will accept instantaneous healing for the joy that you are willing to experience yourself moment by moment, is most contagious and it is spreading even now in points of Light, small groups that are growing, points of Light. That joy is most contagious and is spreading across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth and as the brothers and sisters catch a feeling of joy, it open the heart and it allows possibilities. For when you abide in a place of joy you feel that everything is possible. Conversely, when you abide in a place of depression you feel that nothing is possible.

{Laughter and comments.}

Now you are saying, "I will abide in joy. I will choose for joy, even though there are the circumstances that will come right up in my face and say, 'Are you really worthy of making this choice? Look at this thing that needs to be done. This that needs to be done. This frustration. This voice,'" and yet you choose for joy. You say, "Everything else that needs to be taken care of I will do another time. Now I choose to live in joy. I am worthy," and indeed you are and as you model that for others you give them opportunity to see that they are also worthy to live in joy.

And from that place of joy comes the entertainment of grand possibilities. That is why you will see instantaneous healings, for ones when they abide in the vibration of joy allow the body to come into its own harmony and to know its own balance. No longer being held in constriction, in disease. You will see ones arising from the dead, literally ones who have laid down the body arising up again. It will be seen as miraculous, but even more miraculous than that, is the arising from the dead in spirit, from the place that says, "Life is not worth living that there is no joy and I don't know why I'm here." That is the most miraculous, arising up in the consciousness. Taking hold again of the power that you are.

Not the power of the world, but the power of your beingness. The power through which you have called forth all of your creations that serve you well. You will see Light beings as Light beings. You will know your oneness with what are termed the angels. Know you that is why there is such interest now in the angels, for many are playing with the possibility that an angel could very much be in your midst, and she is.

You will see as you now suspect from time to time, you will see the possibility of communing with loved ones who have laid down the body and have found to their great amazement that they are still alive. And they come and they knock upon the door of your heart, the door of you mind and they say, "I want to talk with you. I am still alive. I have found joy."

And you think upon them and sometimes you say, "Oh, that is my imagination. I can't be. I saw the body. It was taken care of, one means or another, or I have heard that someone took care of it. They cannot be speaking to me." And yet they are. They are very much there, they are very much with you and you will see ones re-manifesting the body for indeed you manifest your body in every moment. You call forth a new body in every moment because of the thought, the creative thought that you are.

So therefore, even the process that has been accepted as inevitable, the process of aging as it is called, does not have to happen. You have seen ones and you will see more and more reversing, reversing because they have allowed it to go to a certain place that they no longer want to be so they reverse it. You will see the process of aging reversed. You will see others expressing in great wholeness, health, vitality. You will see others laying down the body because they feel it is finished, but they know themselves very much to be alive and they will be right back with you again. No longer needing to come through a process unless they choose the process of growing as the body grows in stature.

{To the infant in the group.}

This one has come to be such a gift. To share companionship of the years as the stature grows. This one is already all wise. Yes.

You will see the ones of the animals also resurrecting themselves for they are no different than the form used by you and the brothers and sisters. You will see the animals that you now hold to be in mythology coming to be in your experience once again. To play with you as they have done in what you would call olden times. They are very much alive and well and just asking for your invitation to come. They are in the wings waiting their time to come and play their script again. To play. To play, that is the secret.

To serve, yes, for all of you serve wherever you find yourself to be, you serve the awakening by serving the brothers and sisters. But the service no longer needs to be seen as a heavy responsibility. The service can be and will be done with joy. There is such a wave, beginning now, and growing in acceleration. You have felt acceleration. You have felt what you would see as the reverse side of acceleration, the place where you say, "There is so much to do and so little time to do it." You have felt a pressure of acceleration.

The place where there are so many options that you have to get your priorities in line and say, "Well this is what I desire the most to do." And you have felt a bit of the flip side of the acceleration.

But the other side of the acceleration is the joy that is growing. The place of spontaneity, the place of innocence.

{To the child}

Yes, you are such a sweetheart. You are such a sweetheart taking it all in and knowing that it is the one, it is whole.

In your days to come you will be bringing forth more and more of technology that serves you. You will not see yourself to be separate from technology for you will know that as you bring forth the equipment, the machinery in form, that it is you as the creative master that calls it forth to allow you to know your unlimitedness.

Know you that is why you now have what are called the computers? Yes, it is an extension of the oneness that you are of the Mind, not with the small "m", but the capital "M", bringing that forth so that you may know your unlimitedness and to work with it. To have it serve you, yes, sometimes in frustration as Beloved Elder feels from time to time.

{Laughter}

To challenge a bit, but even in that he finds great play. It is his plaything. And you are calling forth technology in many forms that will allow you to measure, to prove the energy that you are that will allow you to go unto the dimensions that you desire to travel unto.

You are bringing forth the technology of sound that will be at a place where it will allow the balancing of the vibration of the body. You are bringing forth the technology of colors, which you have worked with before in other lifetimes. Colors being vibration in sight that you see in a certain form. It is vibration as well.

Many times in what you would see as ancient times, you had the rooms filled with certain colors, of lights of certain colors and you were ones who could look upon a form, a body and you could see by the chakras which ones were free-flowing in the energy patterns and which ones had closed down a bit and you knew not by the outer sight but the inner sight, what vibration would be balancing and so you had the dwellings, the room in which there were the lights of certain vibration. You had other rooms or sometimes you would mix the two together of the vibration of tones and you know that the tones are most healing.

Healing for you as you allow the joy to come forth and to feel your beingness in vibration and for all others of the brothers and sisters to be engulfed in that vibration in that moment as you give forth freely the vibration, and so you have called forth and you will see even more of this of the physical forms, the instruments as they are called, that make the tones, your musical instruments as they are known. You are already developing through your computers the different ways to make the sounds of what are known as the musical instruments. It sounds like that instrument is right there and yet it is being done through the creativeness, harnessed and brought into a focus through the one Mind, through this mind, that mind, this mind seeming separate, but not.

For have you ever experienced, and I know the answer to this, having a thought and someone, a friend, a mate will start talking about that very idea? Oh yes. Or someone at what you would see as a distance will call you on your telephone and will start talking about and you will say, "Well how did you know? I was just thinking about that." Why not? One Mind.

You as the one Mind are calling forth your unlimitedness and you will see it even in this point of expression known as this lifetime. Do you need to lay down the body to ascend unto Heaven? No. For too long as mankind thought that that's what had to happen and so of course, you tried it. You said, "Okay, I'll lay down the body." Sometimes with ease, of going and communing with our Holy Mother, the Earth, with the tree and the spirits of the tree and of the grass, the fruits of the field, and allowing your Spirit to ascend easily. You remember those times.

Other times you have seen that you desired to lay down the body in great trauma and so you went into what you would call the conflict with the sword and laid down the body, or ran it through. You have done it all different ways.

But now you are saying, "I think there is a possibility of knowing Heaven without having to lay down the body. I will allow the body to transform," in what you would see as an evolvment. A speeded up evolvment. It will not take what you see as the years of the dinosaurs to do this. "To allow the Light that I am to be radiated through the very cells of the body and to go with a fluidity, a flexibility of the Light that I am and to know that I am right where I stand. I am holy and what I stand upon is holy ground." And you bring Heaven to earth in that moment.

As we have said previously: there are some of the brothers and sisters who will see it necessary to go through great conflict to come unto this place. Others will find that it is easy to do and you will choose the path of Love, the path that says, "My Father in every moment gives unto me His Love and I am not separate from that Love. I am as a channel for that Love. I am a conduit and I allow that to be extended to the brothers and sisters." And you will see great miracles.

You will see ones who have been in a place of calling forth their power as they know the power of the world to be, who will decide that they are needing to force their decision upon another one and if the other one does not want to accept it, they will say, "Okay the result is we will go to conflict. We will go to war. We will take up arms." You are seeing this. You have seen much of this in the past few years of your timing.

You will see ones being amassed into great armies for they feel that there is not a choice, that they must do this, and they will go out unto the battlefield prepared to ask of another one, their form. Not their life, but their form. And they will stand there ready to do great motivation of asking them to lay down the form and in an instant they will see the Light of that one and know themselves to be the Light that is intermingling with that one.

And there will be such a knowing, a remembrance of the Light of oneness that the weapons will be laid down and it will be very much as you see the dominoes.

The belief in separation will no longer be tenable even to the point where ones have gone prepared to do battle. Ready to thrust the sword, to pull the trigger as it is called, to light the canon, whatever, and there will be as there was with my beloved brother and yours, the one known as Saul and renamed Paul. The experience on the road to Damascus where he beheld his own Light and it was blinding. It was blinding to his limited believe, and this will happen for the brothers and sisters. It takes only an instant.

You will find ones in relationship, mates, ones who are even as they would term soulmates who have chosen to bring forth issues in order to see them healed. You will see them in conflict with each other, allowing those issues to be most visible in a feeling of grand emotion that perhaps they have denied and stuffed, as you call it, for lifetimes and would not deal with a feeling of self-image that was a limited self-image. And they are now allowing that emotion to come up projecting it out to another one and they will be at the point where they are blaming the other one for everything that that has ever gone wrong. At the point of doing what you would see as a physical harm and in an instant the Light will be turned on.

Not because I or other masters decree that this is an age of enlightenment. Always we have known that every age is an age of enlightenment, but it is because you now are saying, "It is time." It is an age of enlightenment and you are seeing points of Light. It is most telling, most indicative that one of your leaders has chosen those very words. Where did those words come from? He think they came from a script writer. He called them forth as his script writer called them forth. Because deep within there is a desire to know the Light that he is, that she is, that she is, that you are. And more and more points of Light are coming on. Not only in what you would see as a night light, but growing in amplitude and brilliance.

The days to come, you see pictured right here before you. They are days of joy. They are days of innocence. You will return unto that place of innocence. The place of not knowing separation. Not knowing that you could be anything less than perfect. A time of innocence. A time of joy.

For as the Child knows herself/himself to be innocent, guiltless, not separate from anyone. Not separate from the Father. A grand joy wells up and bubbles forth, must be shared, that is what you experience with the family. What you would call the extended family and the this family is extending farther and farther across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth and into other realms of expression.

For indeed as you are willing to uplift your remembrance, to come into an exalted stage of remembrance of the Spirit that you are, you uplift all of creation which goes beyond this point of focus, this realm as you know it to be and it spreads out to the brothers, yes that are very real, in outer space as it is called, other galaxies. You are not separate, and as you allow yourself to be uplifted in joy it spreads out and it reaches the farthest star and beyond.

Why? Because you are the maker of the stars. You are not separate from your creations. And as you allow yourself to abide in the joy and the innocence and to live that vibration of upliftment your creations cannot help but be uplifted, transformed and to mirror back to you what you know yourself to be.

These days that you feel yourself to be in the midst of, are days of great joy already as you allow yourself to play with ideas that are exciting, mind blowing. It has been called mind blowing and thank goodness for it allows the mind – with a small “m” – to expand into the one Mind that you are.

It is a place of knowing that you are totally unlimited. Why would you not be if you are the Child of the one Creator, why would you be limited? You are not. You are most creative.

When we thought to bring forth creation, we brought it forth in great innocence and in great beauty and we knew ourselves to be the Light that danced upon this plane. It is still so and it is time as you are now feeling deep within yourself to allow that Light to be known again. That is why my message to you in this evening is one of great joy, for the days to come they are beautiful.

You are birthing the days to come. You see it here before you in form. You feel it within you, in your heart, in that place of hope. You feel it as you look upon the brothers and sisters and you see the love-light in their eyes, the friendship of brother to brother, sister to sister. You are birthing, some as we have said, more traumatic experiences. But sometimes a birth seemingly needs to be in travail and sorrow. Seemingly, for you have known many times even as woman, as form for you birthed a new form easily. It need not need to be labor and in pain, but brought forth in great joy.

The labor and the pain is only attendant upon the belief and that is changing, is it not?

No.

{Laughter.

Yes, very much. You are birthing the days to come. The days of great joy and in that I abide in joy for I desire to have you know my companionship in a very real manner. To abide with me in joy. It is the Truth of your being and it is time for that is the purpose of time. Have you ever wondered why you have called forth time? Yes, even now you play with it.

For there are instances where you set out to go somewhere and there is not what you would see as enough time to arrive at your destination and yet, miraculously you arrive there almost before you left home. Other times you set out to go somewhere and it seems to take an age before you get there and you playing with your creativity.

Not to play with it because you would judge yourself as being at fault. That is the voice of the ego, but you are playing with it to see that you are maker of time and the purpose of time as you have called it forth to experience is for you to know your creativity, to allow you to call forth process of unfoldment.

Upon this dimension it serves you well for it gives you what you would see as an interval between thought and manifestation. Other places, realms, dimensions as you know them to be, thought is instantly manifest. What you think, if you think that you are in a place, a fearsome place known as hell, instantly you are there. But you have said upon this plane in this belief system, "I will allow myself process. I will allow myself time, so that I may play with a thought. I will turn it around. I will see how it looks. I will contemplate it. I will see if that is truly what I want to manifest." And then there is the interval and it manifests. Or there is the interval and you change your mind.

The purpose of time serves you well, but you are now saying, "It is time to know joy upon this plane. It is time to have again, the age of innocence, the age of no longer knowing separation from the Father." And the days to come are ones of great joy for I abide with you always in joy. Always I abide with you but sometimes you have your focus on other things.

Be of good heart for you have chosen, you have chosen to come Home and to know the holy Child that you are. In that there is great joy.

Now would be a good time to stretch the forms, the body, yes. We will have what you term a break and then we will come back and play with the questions. So be it.

{Break}

Have you enjoyed your break? Yes, and indeed what was broken?

{Laughter}

It is more that you have put it back together in the remembrance of wholeness. Thank you for providing beloved one, the nourishment for the body that is most enjoyable. This one often provides in quietness, in service that supports the brothers and sisters.

As this one often supports the brothers and sisters in allowing them to open the heart. Do you know beloved one, that often you have been the one who was first at sunrise who would call the group to wakefulness, who brought forth the song, the song of your heart and shared that with the brothers and sisters so they could awaken upon more levels than one.

Would you have a song in this evening that would allow the heart to awaken once again?

This one was sung a number of special times for me so I can sing it for you now.

{Daryl McLaughlin}

There's a new world coming, and it's just around the bend. There's a new world coming. This one's coming to an end. There's a new voice calling. You can hear it if you try and it's growing stronger with each day that passes by.

There's a brand new morning rising clear and sweet and free. There's a new day dawning that belongs to you and me. Yes, a new world's coming one we had visions of. Coming in peace. Coming in joy. Coming in Love.

So be it. Thank you beloved one. And do you all see how you have called forth by the willingness of this one, called forth exactly the song of the heart that expresses what we have been speaking of earlier? There are no coincidences. You call it forth. A beautiful sharing, thank you.

We will play with the questions for indeed that is what they are for, to play with.

Beloved one, how be you in this evening?

Fine.

You are indeed fine. There is such a radiance of Love about you. Would you have a question?

Could I for some help for someone?

Yes.

{Question not clearly recorded.}

So be it. For the help is always there. It asks only the reception and you have desired to extend it, as you send out upon the heart waves as it is, the offer of love, this one feels it and responds. For indeed you are not separate as you have felt. There is much love and the love is a very deep bond that goes back to before time began. It is not by accident that you feel such a closeness, and it will be as you have desired.

Thank you.

But it is not I, it is not just a special magic in this moment that brings this to happen. It is because there is no separation and you have offered this one by the courage of verbalizing the desire, you have offered to this one great inspiration. Even though you would not see this one to be right by you. It is felt.

Thank you.

I do not have what you would see as a special magic to effect the healings. In my day and time known as Jeshua, I did not work magic. I offered the remembrance of the wholeness that is always there. I offered vibration of knowing for I lived in a very dynamic feeling of aliveness expressing the joy of which we have just spoken of in this evening, of which you have just sung. And I offered that as my gift to the brothers and sisters and as there were ones who had the eyes to see and the ears of the heart to hear, they grasped the message of their own wholeness and were healed.

It is not that I came from another planet, another sphere with great magic that was so much above the brothers and sisters. I bring to you your own magic for it is your own wholeness, your own energy and I offer this in this day for healing as has always been. But it is not a magic that is outside of you and it is not something you have to stand and pray for as if it would be apart from you. For indeed you have done that in many, many lifetimes.

What it requires is joy. Indeed to know your own joy and to be willing to accept the joy, to call it forth. That is where the healing comes from, from the joy.

Now beloved one, how be you?

Very well, thank you.

You certainly are. More and more there are days of joy is this not true?

Yes.

Always you have been one who knew herself to be upon the path of joy, the path of service to the Father and more and more you are feeling His Love as your own Love and you are being willing to take that Love into all corners and to express it freely. What would you ask in this evening?

I would ask for your words, especially to a young ones about the Oklahoma City things? Could you help us with handling that? ....

Yes indeed beloved one, it is very much as we have spoken earlier in this evening, that the age of innocence the age of joy in the days to come will be ushered in by each one's willingness to behold either Heaven or tragedy, otherwise known as hell.

The ones who have sacrificed themselves in this have done it willingly. They have offered themselves as servants to the brothers and sisters so that everyone could look upon this event and choose for themselves whether to be in appearance of tragedy, of loss, of suffering that there could be something lost to them or could look beyond appearance to what endureth forever, the Spirit, the Love, the memory as they will call it and the Spirit that lives forever.

For the ones who have sacrificed themselves as it would be called, did it in full willingness as a choice. For as you have seen there were ones in the building and the building surrounding who experienced the great force of energy, but did not separate themselves from the form, came through it.

Others chose to allow the body to be there for others to look upon and to choose how they would see what was happening. And many of you have beheld this event seemingly at some miles away, indeed all of the ones upon the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth have had opportunity to look upon this for it has been upon the news, as you call it, and it is not new.

And to look upon it and to say, "How choose I in this moment?" And many have chosen to see it in Love, in the expression of eternal life however they define that in the language. It has offered grand opportunity for many brothers and sisters to come together in support of each other. You have seen a great rallying of ones from across the country who will come and help with the physical work and many others who did not make trek to this place but who have supported in the heart the brothers and sisters who were going through their own time of choice.

This has been one of the blessings, you will call it, that has come out of it. The feeling and knowing of oneness that, "There is my brother and he is not separate from me. I am my brother, my sister, and I can relate," many have said this, "I can relate to what that one is feeling, to the time of waiting," and there has been much support even to the place where many have driven the vehicles to park as a visible sign of support, just to be there in vigil and to go to one who was sitting on the curbside and to sit with that one and say, "I support you in your wait." Offering words of encouragement and of hope.

There has been much of Love that has come out of it that was not known at a conscious level. This will extend into the days to come and as you are, for as ones are apprehended who have seen themselves to be in a place of grand separation where they felt that they could out-picture by action, something that would not affect them.

You will see again opportunity to either look upon the ones in contempt and in judgment or to say, "No, I understand. I have been in that place myself. In other lifetime I have done that act thinking myself to be separate from the brothers and sisters, and thinking that action would not come back again to me."

The ones who have chosen to participate in this thinking themselves to be most separate, from a place of not knowing Love, thinking that there is no choice except to act in a grand dramatic fashion, are calling out to know the Love that they are and they will hold themselves up to the visibility of brothers and sisters again as a servant, as servants to the other, to either offer them opportunity to judge and condemn or to say, "No, I understand that that one is hurting and thought that there was not another choice. Thought that that was the only way to get the message across." And indeed the message that they have desired to get across was one of wanting to know their own Love and their own oneness. But thinking themselves to be so far out of the Kingdom of the Father that there was no way to receive the Love that they desire.

Through this experience they have opportunity also to know support from ones who will as we spoke earlier this evening, in an instant see themselves as that one in Light and there will be support, believe it or not. Not support for the action, but support for the soul of that one.

Thank you very much.

You may thank the ones who have agreed to be part of that drama, to bring it to a point of clarity for many. This has been brought in great intensity to your awareness and yet, it is happening all the time in what you would see as other collections of families, other countries, you call them, across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth.

There is much of conflict, much of acting out from a place of separation and non-love. You have this from time to time on your news where you again see yourself to be one with the brothers and sisters in other countries who think that violent action is the only way to get their message heard, and they do not understand that the message that they are trying to have heard is their own message that they want to be loved.

It is very much as you see the little children that sometimes will live in chaos and conflict with others asking, "Will you please love me even though I act out in most horrendous behavior." And they will throw the tantrums in the middle of the floor asking for attention, asking for Love but thinking that they cannot have the Love directly in a gentle way.

So therefore, they act it out on the floor and say, "Pay attention to me." And what they want to know is the Love, the Love of the Father. You see much of this as we spoke earlier in this evening, much of conflict for the holy Child has said that he/she will know who her/she is as the one and will do whatever it takes. Even if it takes going through traumatic experience in order to come to a place of choice. And everything serves the purpose of the holy Child. Everything serves the purpose of the awakening, even events that can be looked upon initially, as tragedy; serve the awakening.

Beloved one how are you?

I am wonderful.

You are indeed wonderful. What would you ask in this evening?

Jeshua, I would like to know, I have a hard time making the decision sometimes and I would like to know how I can tell if it's being inspired by you or from somewhere else?

Well first of all beloved one, it is not being inspired by me as you would see me to be separate from yourself. Inspiration comes from the one Self that we are. It is taking within your conscious realization the Spirit of who you are, in-spiring, taking it within your own awareness.

Now when you have choice the ego will come in and it will say, "What if?" The function of the ego is to allow you what we called earlier, talked about earlier as the process. The ego is your servant for it brings right in front of you choice, to know where you are coming from. To know whether you are coming from the voice of fear, the voice of what if, the voice that would suggest that perhaps there could be something that would be not as good as something else. The place of value, levels of value or the place of eternal Love that says, "Everything serves the purpose of awakening."

You can make not wrong decision. That takes care of the ego and the what if's. You can no wrong decision, for every decision you call forth for the fruits thereof, not to judge it as being wrong or that you are imperfect or that somehow there is something yet missing, not to be in judgment of self, but to sit with that decision and to see where it leads you, to see what voice then comes up that will speak to you of your own self-image or the image of others and to ask if you are abiding in holy vision of self and of others.

And then in the next moment if there is guidance to change that decision know that you are free as in driving your vehicles, you are free to go down an avenue and if you want to turn right at the next corner, you turn right at the next corner and you make a change.

There is no grand referee up in Heaven somewhere that says, "You have to do such and such. Having chosen once you must always stay with that." You are free in every moment. Indeed you are free to choose and please do for what you are now calling forth is grand change in order to come Home.

So let yourself be happy with your choices. That is the Child, the holy Child of you, and if you see that your are not abiding in a place that is of joy with that decision, change it. Choose for peace. Choose for the place of wholeness that says, "I am my Father's Child. I am whole. I am perfect," and you make no wrong decisions.

Now if you sit with options and you have several options in front of you and if you want to know which one to use, allow yourself to abide in silence with those choices as they would be spread out upon the table. And look upon each one and behold which one is filled with more Light. However subtle that may be. Which one allows the heart to feel more lightness. You will feel a calling, you will feel a lightness. It may be very subtle, but you will feel it.

Then you may play with yourself the game of putting aside one choice. In other words, if you have say three choices. We will call them A, B, and C. Allow yourself to say, "Well, I will not choose A. I will not do that." And in that instant allow yourself to be very vigilant as to how you feel when you have said, "I will not choose A," and the same with B, and the same with C.

And you will have clarity as to the heart's desire for in an instant you will know whether you really wanted A. But you have said, "No, I will not do A," and there will be a feeling, a sinking feeling within or something that will tell you, that really you desire to do A, or B, or C.

That is how to choose. To go with the heart and then as we have said, if in the next moment or in the next day or the next month or year in your timing, you desire to change it, so be it. You are free to choose and as I have said: please do. But change is what brings you Home.

The ego would not say that. The world would not say that. The world would say that you must choose one path or else if you choose to change your mind, well then you've been wrong in the first place. No, you will are never wrong. You have made a choice, pure and simple. Neutral. The ego would look and would judge. The ego will bring up all reasons to delay, all reasons of what if, and are you sure you want to really do this? And will allow you to abide with it until you come to a place of clarity.

Be of light heart beloved one, you can make no wrong decisions. It is to have fun with it.

Beloved one, who is of the angels, how are you this evening?

Great.

Indeed you are great how could it be otherwise? What would you ask in this evening?

Well, she asked part of my question but the other part would be I seem to flit like doing from this and then from that, and people even look at me and go, "Not again. What are you into now?" But I went to a bioacoustic class a few weeks ago. It was a week of training and one day I love it and the next day I'm not sure and it seems almost overwhelming, but yet I can see the value in it. It's wonderful. And I guess I don't know how I really feel about it and is it going to get simpler?

Indeed.

I sometimes think I am not capable of doing, you know, the work because the first books is like three inches high and all the information.

And yet already in the heart you know the essence of this work. It is what you would see as the technicalities. They will come as you use it. It will not be difficult. It is very much the same as when you start school and you start a new subject and if one were to give you when you go into your first grade as it is called, and you begin to learn the squiggles that have meaning known as the alphabet, and if one were to give you then all of the textbooks that you would ever read in that lifetime, you would stop. You would say, "No, overwhelming. I cannot handle all of that." And yet you go day by day. You use a squiggle, you are familiar with it then you go on to another squiggle that has meaning for you and you add to it.

So you do not have to worry about the overwhelmingness of it. It has not been by accident that you have found yourself drawn to this method of healing. It is a method that you have used in other lifetimes with varying technology to bring about facilitating healing, to offer healing to others.

You will find much of you joy in this. There is still a feeling of the ego that does not want to, there is a word that is in your world now, the bit of pejorative that says commit. The ego does not want to commit. In other words, there could be a wrong decision. That is what the ego says. There can be no wrong decision. Your heart has led you to this remembrance, and in the days to come you will find that it will be unfolding for you even the out-picturing of what you need for the technology. It will come together for it is a desire of your heart to serve the brothers and sisters and to serve in this manner.

So you do not have to cross the bridge before you get to it. In fact, as you have discerned it is impossible for you to cross the bridge before you get there. It will be an avenue of joy for you, but do not listen too intensely to the voice of ego. Thank it when it comes up. Say to it, "Okay, yes old friend, companion of many, many lifetimes, I understand what you are bringing to me right in front of my face. It is to know whether I am abiding in the world or abiding with my eternality of Spirit."

When the questions come allow yourself to breathe. In-spire, bring in even through the breath the Spirit that you are. Come to your place of centeredness and say to the voice of ego, "Thank you for showing me the possibility of abiding in the world, but I will choose anew."

Beloved one, how are you?

Fine.

As always. What would you ask?

I don't need to ask. You can just share, if you feel like sharing what you want me to know.

I will share with you that you have in the last day of your timing, turned a corner. You have released some old baggage of belief and perception and you are lighter in the heart. That is part of the joy of which we have spoken this evening, the joy of the days to come. You are already in one of the days to come for it is already here and you have said, "I am finished with this baggage." You have turned a corner.

And I will share with you that more and more in the days to come you will let down old baggage that you have carried as a responsibility thinking that you needed to carry the weight of the world upon your shoulders and that you had to make it right for everyone. Now you are seeing that you cannot make it right for everyone for indeed it is already right. It is a matter of perception even the ones who are in the middle of such travail are being offered opportunity to see that what they call forth is right. Not to judge it. Even if there is pain and constriction of the body, to speak to the body as the servant, as the perfect servant that it is and to thank it for the partnership of expression and to be at peace and thankfulness.

Everything is right already, so you can allow that responsibility to go. Great weight off the shoulder is it not?

Yes. Finally, finally.

And in that is a great gift to yourself.

Thank you.

Hey Dude.

Hey Dude, how goes it?

Good.

It is cool is it not.

It is cool. KEWL, as they are spelling it today.

Oh beautiful. It is more of the beautiful squiggles, yes. I like that, why not? What would you ask?

I get so excited when I feel all of this stuff and sometimes I feel like I'm going to burst.

Indeed, and you are.

And I feel like I want to burst in the direction that I'd like to burst rather than have it happen spontaneously, but perhaps it's best that it happens spontaneously. You know you are talking and I'm thinking, I really want to get up and dance. That's what it feels like. In saying that, I'm going to go in a real different direction and say, I have always....

He is choosing.

Yes, I've always been very excited by the inner penetration of Spirit and human sexuality and I mean sexuality with a great big "S". I don't just mean joining of two bodies. I mean I've always like being a man. I think it's a fun thing to be. I think women are wonderful, but speak a little bit about that and I think so often when people have what's known as a sexual experience you can almost come to tears because it's so beautiful and wonderful and I thought, there's a real link here that we don't open ourselves up to.

Yes.

It's almost as if, well you are just being physically satisfied. It's more than that.

It is much more than that.

And I feel like that there is more intended.

Yes. And that is what mankind/womankind is on the threshold of allowing themselves to grasp, to understand, to feel in totality. For indeed the union that is desired is the union of Spirit, the union of the energy coming into full radiance. That is why there is what you would see as the sexual act even as it is performed between two bodies, and bodies never join.

There is proximity, yes, but it is the energy that joins and the union that is desired from that is the union of knowing the oneness with the Father, the union that seemingly has been broken by the adventure, the drama.

I have seen pictures, depictions of you as Jesus. Some of them are so sterile and cold, uninviting and I think who would want to be around this man? And yet I saw one recently and I thought, Well now there's a real person. You know, he almost has, he has an exuberance and an eroticism about him even which is... I thought that's the way Jesus would be. Not these old depictions that don't relate to me at all.

And to deny one's sexuality is to put it in a box and to put it aside, to deny part of the experience of the whole Child. That has come down through your ages that that part of the expression is something that would take your eye off of the holiness, the piousness. And yet one must incorporate all of the Spirit in order to know the totality.

Yes, I as a man enjoyed my manhood. I enjoyed woman. Of course, I would not deny that energy. But I knew also that it was symbolizing the union that truly desires to be known upon this plane. For when you are at the place called the climax, that feels exhilaration. That is allowing you to touch the feeling of unlimitedness, power, of energy. It is but a point. A percentage, but it allows you to know a bit more of the unlimitedness of the energy that you are.

I've heard it described as the feeling that the one life, the one God presence felt at the moment of creation of everything.

And indeed it is.

It's the human counterpart to that.

Indeed it is, come down as you would see to this point of focus, yes. And that is why you then take that one more step to allow it to lead to creation of new form upon this plane.

And you can be so creative with it even when new form isn't coming from it, too. There are other ways to have it be like between men and women or however it's expressed. There are so many wonderful things that come through in human expression that way.

Indeed.

We put such onus on it so many awful connotations to it. It seems such a shame.

It has been the limitation again, of belief that there could be something not good about the holy Child. Some part that needs to be denied.

And plugging right into that, the second question really sort of ties it all in. I was reading about, as I do from time to time, people in this case it was supposedly Mary who had had this horrific vision of hell that was passed along to human beings and how awful and horrible it would be to end up in that state and while of course, the Truth in me cries out against it. The little bit of human part says, "Oh my goodness. Am I doing the right things to insure that I don't go there?" You know.

Indeed. This vision has been since time began, that there is separation from the Father and that it could be forever and that it could be in torment. The torment comes from the separation and the feeling that the Child is outside of the Kingdom and that the Father is afar off and somehow you have lost His telephone number.

{Laughter}

I do that a lot.

Not so much as you used to.

No not as much as I used to. Well human telephone numbers I lose a lot or I forget to call. And the final thing to ask you real quickly is: ever since I was very little I felt, and I used to talk to my parents about this, that I was here this time for something very specific. Sometimes I don't feel like a real specific person because there are so many things that excite me that as you had said over here, you kind of tend to jump around and say, this day I am excited about this and tomorrow I'll be excited about this. But I do feel there is something very specific that I have chosen this time which is not quite up at the level of consciousness yet. Am I right?

You are right, indeed. It is the in process of unfoldment to come to your conscious awareness. It is what we were speaking of this evening, your purpose is to bring Heaven to Earth.

Yes.

Your purpose is to know the totality of who you are which is why you find excitement in all the various aspects. You are putting them all into what you would see as your toolkit and you will draw them out from various times as the occasion calls them forth.

All I know is when you speak of manifestation, I stand there going, "Yes, yes."

Yes, please.

That speaks loudly to me and I, you know, I want to scream. If they talk about a primal scream it's that kind of thing like, "YES!"

Indeed, the universal affirmative, YES, which is what birthed all creation in the beginning. It was, "Yes, let us create. Let us experience."

And it feels just grand. The thing that's been with me since I've been an adult is the Truth is far grander than I'm possibly imagining right now.

Yes. Yes.

Say, "Wait till you see." And it is like the little child in the candy shop, like guess what's going to be around the next corner?

Yes, and that feeling of excitement is the true joy.

Yeah, and somehow you know that when it hits you. It's like I feel like an ass behaving like this or I remember one time in one of my rooms at home something came to me and there was no one home and I just put, Yes, yes, that's it. And when it hits you and when you do feel a little foolish, the ego says, "Oh, you're acting like a fool." Your neighbors are looking in the window and they don't have any idea what you are doing.

And so be it. It does not matter.

Well, I don't much care, but....

It is much the same as one of your well known beloved sisters, an actress went out upon the beach and said to the heavens, "I AM GOD," and said it for everyone who would be around. "I AM GOD!" Yes, it is that exuberance of claiming the totality of the energy that you are.

But it's a feeling that lets me know how far I really extend as a person. We talked about that individually the other night, of saying, "I'm really becoming much more aware of how far Daryl extends." And then I become to say, "I am also all of these other wonderful things." It has always been bringing completion to this of saying, "I enjoy being a man," but I sure enjoy those aspects of me that people have thought about as the feminine aspects of sensitivity, of intuition, of that kind of thing. And I get frustrated at people of my gender who refuse to let themselves open up to it, you know.

Yes, it is claiming as we have spoken, the totality of Self. Yes, in bringing into a balance. You are seeing a wave now sweeping across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth that is taking in the feminine aspects for the one who utilized the design form of the man and for the ones who express with female form, to allow their masculine attributes as they would be judged to be, to come forth to know....

I wish more women would lift heavy boxes, you know.

{Laughter}

Indeed, this is part of what we have spoken of the days to come, there will be remembered again, the levitation. It does not take the physical form of muscles. The levitation of mind.

So yes, the ones known as in being very fragile, small form, will lift the huge blocks as has been done in the past by levitation.

I thought of several years ago when our super bowl was on, we had a big football game.

Yes, I have heard of it.

And my sister was in busily watching the super bowl and Sherry and I was in the kitchen cooking and funny, I felt more like a man then than other times.

Yes.

Saying, Yes, this is what it is all about. Being able to do all of this stuff, and choices as you said.

And choices.

Being able to say it's all right for me to turn left here if I want to.

Yes, and claiming all of who you are.

That's as you said, mind blowing.

Yes, it blows the small concepts away of the mind.

I was wondering how long it will take me, but I hope I don't resist it too much.

You are very much as the surfboard on top of the waves.

Going from side to side, yeah.

Oh yes, very much in the flow of it.

I hope so. Thanks for the shared excitement, that more important than anything.

It allows the fires to come alive within the heart, within the being.

It feels so good to be able to do it because so many places in life you can do it, but you do get the sidelong glances.

That is okay.

As I was telling someone here tonight, people in my life have said I am afraid of your intensity. You are too intense.

It is not that they are afraid of your intensity. They are afraid of their own.

Their own, of course.

And as they see it in you it's like, oh, oh, do I dare even think about my own intensity? What happens? It is the ego again, what happen if I allow that intensity to come forth. I may lose control.

Right. And sometimes they walk away but you know, I'm willing to walk in the back and say, hey Dude a second time.

Yes, and what you do for them is to plant a seed.

I hope so.

And whether it grows in that moment or in what you would see as the next year or the next lifetime, that matters not. It is not your responsibility. But it will grow.

In a sincere thank you for all that we have shared over the years of knowing that this excitement was not craziness or pathology, or looking down the wrong street. It is very much looking down the street that I have to travel.

Yes, indeed.

I'm learning that more and more. Some things you have options but you know you better keep going on this road. It's a good one.

You have no choice, do you?

Huh huh. No.

Indeed, once you have set foot upon this path there is no turning back. There is perhaps what you would see as delay but there is no turning back.

Once you've seen chocolate you don't want fat-free saltines.

Ah, well spoke beloved one. Well spoken.

How true that is, yeah. And there are times that you say, oh, it's easier to see, I watch people sitting in bars and they're so happy with the superficial of life and there are times when you say, "You know that's easier. That's easier to be that way." And then I'd say, "I wouldn't trade it for anything."

No, and it is not easier for there is a deep longing within their soul to come to the place of excitement that we have just touched, and they are seeking. That is why they are in the bars. They do not know where to seek for what is fulfillment.

And what's really neat is some people come to the joy through tears.

Yes.

Sometimes they let it out through a massive eruption of tears and what seems to be sorrow but when they are done, they have turned the corner.

It is finished, indeed.

Very much so. Thanks for sharing.

It has been my grand pleasure, as in sharing joy. It is limitation indeed to see as there is belief now upon this plane, that there is a value or a negative value that love must be expressed between forms in a certain way.

The love between man and woman is sacred. The love between man and man is sacred. The love between woman and woman is sacred.

But that seems like an obvious truth that people simply miss.

Indeed.

And they are so terrified by the possibility of love expressing in other ways.

Yes, and this is it, and yet those walls are falling down, because more and more of your brothers and sisters as you have seen, are coming out of the closet and are saying, "This is who I am and I desire to express my love freely in this way." And form matters not for indeed it does not matter.

You have expressed with the female form many times. You have expressed with a male form many times, and you are now as you have discerned, bringing it all into a balance.

Well, and it's exciting to see that all come together. One of the things I thought about of dying at times, which I am now in the process of seeing death in a very different way and in a beautiful way, was I remember one summer in the swimming pool and I was looking up at the stars and I had a coke sitting by the pool and I thought, you know this is really wonderful. I hope that when the heart stops beating in the chest, that I can still enjoy the water and the coke and the night stars and feeling the air on my body afterwards.

Yes.

And I wasn't sure then, now I'm pretty sure I'll be enjoying it but even at a deeper level.

Yes, for the excitement and the exhilaration that we have just spoken of, will be there even in more heightened form for you will know yourself to be the stars. You will know yourself to be the water. You will know yourself to be the coke.

I also have myself. Oh, that would be good.

Almost but not quite as good as the chocolate.

Right, better than the saltines though.

Very much so.

This exciting idea that many people and I include myself in this, are not going to die the death of the body that so many have before.

Indeed, you have tried that route.

Yeah, and I don't want to do it again. I'm ready for something else now.

Indeed, you are rewriting your script as you go along. You are saying, "No, I do not need to go the route, the roll that I have done before."

But it's almost like spinning in a circle in exhilaration. It's wonderful but you get a little dizzy sometimes.

Ah, but beloved one, this is true, but do you know that you have been what is termed your whirling dervish?

I have been?

You have been.

Well, see that's why I said that.

It is a feeling that you know well. For you have maintained your center as the form was whirling, you have maintained your center.

Oh, I like the feeling of being dizzy. I am enough of the time anyway, I may as well enjoy it.

You are not even blonde.

{Laughter}

Beloved angel, how are you?

Good.

ask? You are good. There is also a lightness about you this evening. What would you

Oh dear.

Oh you do not have to.

Actually first I need to ask for Jackie who's father laid down the body today if there was anything you would like to share with her?

To allow her to know that this one is in peace. This one is in great joy of freedom. This one has found as we have spoken earlier, for indeed this is one I was holding as I spoke of the laying down of the body and the great feeling of freedom that, "I am alive. More alive than I felt myself to be when the point of focus was very much upon this expression." This one is feeling his Love, his Love for her, yes, and for all others that have been as loved ones in this time.

But he is also knowing the Love that is beyond all of the boundaries that this point of expression would put upon Love and he is feeling most alive, most whole. He has been welcomed by ones, loved ones that he expected to see. He is not alone.

It is a time of opportunity when the body is seen to be lifeless. It is a time of opportunity to either look upon appearance and to feel loss and sorrow, or to be able to do the communication, the communion that goes beyond form. One of the acts of service that this one known as the father is doing is to allow the one known as Jackie and you and others to know communication that goes beyond your AT&T, your SPRINT and your MCI, to know communication that would seemingly go from one dimension to another in order to know oneness that never ceases.

Already the one known as the father knows this. It is something that he hoped, it is something that he now knows and he is freed, he is very much freed.

So allow the one known as Jackie to know that he is at peace. Allow her to know that it is okay, most needful in fact that she allow the emotions to be expressed and released. For indeed there is a heaviness of belief that has come through many, many lifetimes that will now be released as the wellspring. It will be gone. It will be finished.

Tell this one it is okay. In fact it is most needful to allow the emotions to come up. All kinds of emotions for indeed there will be some of the sorrow, there will be the anger. It must be released for it goes back farther than just this lifetime that you would see. It goes back farther.

Thank you. I took your advice.

Wow, I'm most impressed. Someone has taken my advice.

I usually do.

Sooner or later.

Yes, but I took this advice right away and it seems to have been most successful concerning the flower.

Yes, this one desires to know your friendship and your support, desire to know love that goes beyond the definition of how society would describe love. You are proving to this one that love can be most supportive with no strings attached. It just is there. Yes. And in turn there will be much of joy for you.

And lastly, I played around with trying to figure out that little from our talk the other day and would Clair be a possibility?

Very much so.

Thank you.

Thank you beloved one, for your own clarity.

Hi.

Beloved friend, how are you?

I'm quietly happy in the midst of what is seemingly a crisis. But it isn't really a crisis for me.

No.

I don't really have any questions because as I was pondering all of this, questions that I had, I just figured, you know, hey there answers are going to come when I need them, so I'll let them come when I need them. But I do have a question for last year. Can you?

Yes, of course I can.

{Hugging}

Last year you spoke with my mother. My mother, her question or problem as it were was that all of the burdens that she feels and she is overwhelmed. You have said that soon she will reap her harvest and I remember those words very distinctly. Was it by laying down the body that she will reap her harvest? Is that what you meant? I mean that is what I thought you meant.

It is part of a choice of an avenue, yes. And not to be looked upon in judgment or in sorrow or in limitation. It is much as we have spoken of the father, yes.

Because I'm okay with it. But she is not and I don't know how to comfort her. I don't know how to, I think that somewhere inside of her heart she wants to believe that everything will be alright, all that she will pass through this time and lay down the body and it will be fine. But she's also afraid and that's the ego part of her and she of course, is going through it. I am not. Knowing them, and I don't know how to find the words to really let her believe that it's okay.

Yes.

And that well you know.

Indeed, as you have seen sometimes the words are not there but the heart, the support, the love is there. Allow this one to know that because she has played her role so well upon this plane there has been an intensity of identification with this world. And that is not to be seen as a wrong thing. It has been by design. She has chosen to know experience upon this plane, to know human love, to know human challenge, confusion, the questions, the doubts and also the truth that has come.

This one is very wealthy for the experiences that she has allowed herself in this lifetime. There has been because it was necessary to know intimately these experiences. There has been a very close identification with the form which still lingers. It is the ego, it is the voice of separation, it is the identification that still holds on.

But allow this one to know that because she communes with other loved ones as she would know them to be, who have gone on and have not gone anywhere, but laid down the body. As she communes with them, as she communes with her God, as she communes with me and with the angels, that she will feel more and more at home with what she will see to be a new world, a new place of expression.

It is a place that she knows well. She is most familiar with expressing in the dimension known as Light, the place called Heaven. When she chooses to let go of the identification with this form, body, it will be easy. It will be with the lightness of a feather and she will be welcomed into love she can only imagine at this moment.

But ask of this one that she imagine how it would feel to be welcomed into the arms of a loving parent, to be held as the small one that you saw earlier this evening. To have all of her cares and wants taken care of before she could even think of them. To know that she is in the arms, the everlasting arms of the Father and loved always. Ask this one to imagine how that feels.

We've talked a little bit about that. And I said, you know, to try and close her eyes and imagine this perfect peace and this perfect love and she said, "I can't see that. You pray to your God the way that you do. It seems to work for you." I said, "It works for everybody. You can do it."

That's why it's so hard because I see this part of her that wants so just to feel that quietness and then there is the other part of her that sees the body and she has to hold on and keeps on trying and struggling and worrying over whether or not I'm going to have a roof over my head. And I said, "I will be taken care of no matter what the outcome. I will not be homeless, I will not starve. I have people who love me and care for me." That's being a mom.

Indeed. That is the other part, she feels there is yet something unfinished that she must do. It is very much the same as when we spoke to this other one of the responsibility. Speak to this one that she has already finished and her Father is well pleased with what she has done and that her Father will take care of her loved ones. For this you know to be true.

Uh huh. Yes I do.

Allow this one to know the peace of the breath, and the peace of Light. Light the candle. Allow this one to focus on the light of a candle, several candles. Make an abundance of candles. There is nothing magic in the candles except that it serves as remembrance of the eternality of Light that she is. Allow this one to remember the peace that comes with the breath and to know that I stand beside her even closer than beside her. Closer than her very breath that we are just speaking of.

Express to this one that I am there to welcome her. That it is not something wrong to lay down the body. It is something most joyous. It is her graduation into the joy that we have spoken of earlier, the joy that doesn't know boundaries. Tell her she has earned it for indeed she has. She will be okay with this but it will be what you see as yet a process of time.

She is playing with how it would feel. She is afraid, but you will come to a place of peace. There is also a bit of anger that why this could happen.

Yes, I think we both have a little bit of that. We have a, well mutual resentment for this illness, and you know she has said to me, "I don't want to be a burden on you," and I'm her only child, "and you have to take care of me and I didn't want this to happen." And I told her many times. I said, "It is not only my life that been tethered, it's been yours." She's used to going out and doing things and dancing and going to galleries and plays and seeming me perform and she feels badly because she thinks she took my career away from me. And I told her, no, this is where I am supposed to be now and all of these things happen for a reason and please don't feel badly.

Yes, and it has been a grand gift that she has given to you and that you are giving to her. It is not what you would call a hardship is it?

No.

There has been much love. And as you give forth the love to this one, you know that it is there for you. In other words, you cannot give what you do not already have. So allow this one to know that even in what she sees as a disappointment there is much of blessing, gift in it. It is a grand gift that she gives to you and a grand gift that she gives to herself for she will see as the one known as the father that we spoke of earlier, she will see that she is not limited.

She will commune with you. You will know her presence. There will be much of communication back and forth and she will know that she is being received by you. It is not just a one way communication. For indeed that is part of the days to come of which we spoke earlier.

I guess when is kind of out of the question, huh? Yeah, I figured.

There is still what you would see as a process of time. For indeed you do not cut the cloth except by one thread at a time and that is what she is doing. She is cutting it, severing it one thread at a time. It does not need to be hurried, it does not need to be feared. Tell her it is holy cloth and it is made of angel hair, angel dust, whatever. Angel Light.

We will meet.

Thank you for coming to meet me. Yes beloved one.

Thank you for being here this evening and gracing our home with your presence and touching everyone's life here and very subtle and also momentous ways.

Thank you. That was most wonderful. If I ever need an introduction somewhere I will hire you.

{Laughter}

I guess I really, I'm not certain what any questions are, but I've felt that in this lifetime I have come in to be of service to a great many people with healing, bodywork, what I would like to know is what else can I do? What other learnings and lessons and growth and classes do I need to take? I'm working with a number of doctors already with the healing work. They are my clients and I see it growing in very profound ways. Can you give me more insight, more direction what I need to be doing? What more to be able to do more? I guess that's my question.

Beloved one, I would ask you what voice are you listening to when you would ask for more? In other words, you are already all. You are already giving forth all. It is the voice of the world that would say there is but one more goal or several goals yet, one more class to be taken, one more book to be studied, one more method and yet, as you have discerned so well the wisdom that comes forth is the inner wisdom and it pours forth as you allow it to come forth. In a free flow, very free flowing on your part.

You have what you would know as much guidance. You are open to your own guidance that does not come from outside of yourself even though you may thank the presences as you see them to be for aiding you. Those presences are other aspects of your expanded Self. You are the one and you are allowing that oneness to come forth in all of the avenues that excite your heart. You are very much guided into what would be the next step, the next way of service that allows you to feel the joy of service. And I will share with you there is nothing more that you need to do.

Oh darn, I wanted to take that workshop.

{Laughter}

Now beloved one, you may take that workshop. Not because you need to but because you desire to. You may play with it.

The remembrance is already there. We just have to draw it forth and tap into it and to bring it to reality to.

Just allow it to come forth. Yes.

I guess healing has always fascinated me on so many levels what you were addressing earlier really touched home. Vibration, we are all energy we are all vibration and when we watch the show StarTrek we see all of the instantaneous healings or with something like that. In our lifetime I feel we will see that. We work with radionics, we work with different equipment and to help facilitate it. It's so fascinating to me. I just feel that I want to bring it right away here, to help so many people because it has been a very very accelerated time right now on the planet and there are so many people who are making the transition to graduate to the next level and I just feel that, oh, I don't want to take choice away from people but I also....

You cannot.

I realize that but I also feel that so many people come to me with so many ailments and problems that I just feel that I wish I could do more or help more in some way and I get frustrated, and can you help me with that?

You will speak unto your beloved sister, the one over here who has released responsibility from her shoulders.

Oh, yes, yes.

It is the same. You are not responsible. As you have seen you cannot be for making it right for them. They are choosing exactly what they desire to experience in order to come Home. They choose their own path, they choose their own timing.

But as you were speaking of the science fiction that it is known, the StarTrek, yes, that is you playing with unlimitedness. Where did the concept of "Beam me up, Scotty," come from?

Exactly.

Yes, it comes from a remembrance. What you would call very ancient times which are going to be and are now times already.

I was given years ago when I went to a rock store, I was given a crystal and this crystal was very special to me and whenever I would work with it and take it with me it would help me arrived in different places in half the time.

Yes.

Can you tell me a little bit more about that? This gentleman who gave it to me he had such a comical, he was in a quandary over why he gave it to me. He went through this box and he said I have to give you this. He presented it to me and I have used it to travel and I'm able to get to places in half the time, but my energy, I don't use it often at all. It gets very, it feels very hazy in other words, very disjointed and bringing it back together. Are we going to be seeing more of these things coming about for people? Why was this given to me and....

Yes, you will see more of this coming about, of course, more of the tapping into the energy that you are and being able to know the oneness with the energy in whatever form it is. And the power that you feel coming from it is the power that you invest in it.

Oftentimes ones are as a servant unto another and do not know exactly why they do such and such, but at a very deep level they are responding in willingness to give to another one what that one is calling forth.

In other words, you called that experience forth to have that crystal so that you could play with your own energy, so that you could know your own power of energy. Allow yourself when you work with it to know that you are the master of that energy and that you can direct it in anyway that you want. In other words, take conscious awareness of your own power. You have already experienced your power through it in what would be seen as a more unconscious fashion.

Now when you work with it know that you are the creator who is directing that energy because you are that energy. You will have fun with it.

Thank you. Thank you so much.

Thank you.

{Getting up from the floor}

Well, we shall see how the body works. Of course it works.

It is my grand joy to be amongst the people and to be able to reach out and touch, to renew old acquaintances in this fashion.

How are you beloved one?

Wonderful.

You are wonderful. Would you have a question in this evening?

I really don't think I have one.

Indeed it is not necessary. You are loved of the Father and you know that. You know that you bring forth all of the experiences that allow you to unfold, to remember who you are and to bring that into this point of focus, for you have agreed that you will anchor your Light upon this plane and that you will know the brilliance of that Light for yourself. You mirror this for others very well and in seeing other's Light you behold your own. That is what we spoke of earlier as the joy of the days to come. For you will behold more and more brilliance upon this plane and it is your own brilliance as you come Home.

Again, again you have claimed your queenliness. How are you this evening?

I'm wonderful, thank you.

You are, would you have a question?

Some more of what we discussed the last time we met. I'm trying to break down this wall with my daughter. There is something there and you told me last time that it was our past lives that she was my Mother Superior in the convent and that's why we bang heads a lot and I do believe that there is something to that.

Yes.

I need to still get through to her on a physical touching, hugging loving level. That's what I did. And I have a feeling and I think I'm right about this upcoming trip with the whale watching because it is going to bond us, to raise our excitement together and I'm hoping that this is going to be a pivotal point.

Yes, this one still has what you would see as belief in unworthiness in that she does not feel herself worthy to accept love. She does not feel herself worthy to accept love in tangible form in touch. She has held it from herself many lifetimes because of the guilt, of something that she felt she had done. She has felt too guilty to be loved or to be touched.

But she has decreed that in this lifetime she will come through that limitation of self-image, and yes there will be bonding on this journey that you are about to undertake. It will be most joyous. Allow yourself one added gift. Allow yourself to stand back a degree or so and behold this one in the beauty that she is. To appreciate everything that she does as the grand actress that she is and to let her know that you appreciate her even when she is doing behavior that you wish you could approach, that you could be there and physically hold her.

Allow her to know that you are okay with being in the front row of seat perhaps and applauding her ability as actress. For this one is a grand actress. Allow yourself to appreciate the nuances of her ability to put emotion out there. Allow this one to know that you are not vested in your choices. In other words, it is not going to devastate you no matter what she chooses. You are not vested in any of her choices.

She is free to choose her own path of however she wants to do it. Yes, you would offer guidance from your vantage point of experience, but if this one chooses to do it her own way, say to this one in whatever words are appropriate or if there are not words appropriate, let her see it on your face, that you are not vested in what she chooses. It is not going to devastate you, whatever she chooses to experience.

In other words, the responsibility is not on your shoulders. This one is the master the same as you. This one is coming Home the same as you. She chooses an alternate route. A route that perhaps you would say is not as smooth as what you would like to make it for her. But know you that if you were to change that for her and make it smooth she would not be able to prove to herself her strength.

She is calling forth exactly what she desires to experience in order to know her own strength, her own power of beingness, her own love. That is the bottom line. It will take her awhile to reach there. But she will work through the levels and she will put the rocks and boulders on her path so that she can climb up over them and see and say, "See what I have done? See what I have overcome?"

And you will look upon the journey and you will say, "The rocks and boulders did not need to be there." But for her they do need to be there. You are not vested in anything that she chooses. If she asks for your advice and your help, of course you will give it. But if she does not ask, it is because she wants to do it herself and that is okay.

Thank you.

Beloved one how are you?

Good.

You are. There is such joy of the eyes. What would you ask this evening?

Well, I have a neighbor that I have sent much love to, much Light to and have prayed for. And I want to be a friend and she don't even want to be a neighbor and that's okay, but she wants to fight. And I just don't know what else to do.

You may laugh.

Really?

Yes. You may laugh. When she offers you a fight, you have a choice. Again it is as we spoke to this one, applaud this one's acting ability. Stand there and smile at her. If she offers you a hard time you don't have to take it. You can say, "I accept your gift but not the hard time," and smile at her. It will give her pause for thought. She will think you are crazy.

{Laughter}

Maybe she does.

Indeed, but that is okay because she has called you forth. It is not by accident that she has chosen to be a neighbor. There is part of her at a very deep level that desires to know what you know, to be in proximity, to allow even what is known as the osmosis of Love to go back and forth although she does not recognize it as love and it is her own sense of unworthiness that keeps her in a place of resistance.

She desires to know love and friendship. She is attracted to you because she feels love and friendship, the potential for it and yet she is in a place of resisting it. She does not see you as you are. You symbolize for her something she feels she must fight and the ego which is very large in her that believes in separation and non-love, the non-possibility of knowing love. The ego comes and will think of all kinds of reasons and justifications why she can be in conflict. So you as you stand in this relationship and just love and smile and applaud the acting, you offer her opportunity to choose anew. It will not hurt you any for you will be abiding in a place that feels harmonious, a place of joy, a place of appreciation much as you would go to the theater and you would have the most expensive front row seat and you offer to the other one opportunity to see that everything is not as she thought it was. In other words, ones don't have to be in conflict. There can be friendship, there can be love.

In your times of quiet as you have held this one in love, allow yourself to write to this one a letter. It need not be posted. Do not mail it for indeed it would not be time. But write to this one, to this one's higher Self as you would call it. Her angel perhaps, her expanded Self and express Love. It will be felt. It will plant the seeds that she desire to have planted. Already you have planted many seeds. And in time those seeds will grow. Again it is not your responsibility to make them grow. You cannot, but you cast them freely and then you allow them their own timing.

This one very much wants to know ease of life and joy in living, but she does not think that it is possible. She thinks that it must be done through conflict and hardship for this is a past habitual way of experiencing many, many lifetimes that way. Allow yourself to be the love and the ease that she desires to know herself. That is all you need do.

You are a marvel.

And you beloved one as well, for indeed you cannot behold what you are not.

I'm so impressed with your counsel. You know it was a mighty counselor, the definition of your being here that has kept me fascinated and I listen to you with everyone and it's just, it's for everyone. Every question is for everyone.

Indeed it is. For as we have spoken there is but one of us here this evening.

That's right. ... I feel like someone wearing a tight garment and it's going to go {rrrrripp.}

Indeed.

I've been very uncomfortable.... but there were some very bright moments. {weeping}

The tears beloved ones are tears of releasment.

A gentleman came to our office and he fixed a piece of machinery and he was such joy. Our office has been so exhausted and he was so .... He receives poetry in his head and he didn't have to write it down. He said, "It's just logged away." And he just rattled off this poetry ... it was just like you say, meeting myself and why I contain ... and I said to him, he wanted to publish his poems and I said, "Oh, don't worry about that." I said, "Include one with the gas bill the next time because it was so effective that way and it was unexpected. And I would like to be free again.

Yes, beloved one. It is the desire of your heart to know true freedom. That is why you have called forth even in this day what you would see as intensity. In order to know that you can release that tight garment.

That is not your true nature. It is very much as you have described it, only a garment. It is not you. The child of you wants to come forth and play. That is why you call forth the little ones, so that you can again allow the heart to be as the child and to play in freedom.

Yes, there is some responsibility of care for the little one, but it is done in joy for the heart comes forth and plays. If you find yourself in a place of employment or in relationship with others that does not feel harmonious, know you that they also are wanting to know their love. That is why they out-picture what is just the opposite of what they want to know.

I'm curious. I feel like I'm carrying my own frustrations. No one has done it to me. It's just this terrible inadequacy that I can't seem to let myself do things the way I envision them to be done. And I'm very tired.

Yes, as you have discerned it is very tiring and it is time to let that go. First of all, there is no one way that it should be done. That is the voice of ego and the voice of the world that would say that there are levels of value. You are already your Father's perfect Child and whatever you desire to do, know that you do it in perfection. It is okay. Your Father does not look upon you judge you for your choices. He does not even know "shoulds". That is of the world.

In his eyes beloved one, you are doing very well. For you have said you would have the courage to come here and to feel a tight garment so that you could allow others to relate to you and so when they come to you and they say, "I am feeling most constricted. There is no joy in living," you will call forth for your inner wisdom, you will say, "I know very well how that feels. It feels sorrowful unto death," and it does. And you want that constriction to be dead and buried and not be resurrected, not to bring it forth again. It feels like death and it is.

You beloved one, are the Love that you have agreed you will bring forth and express upon this plane and you have seen for yourself how you call forth the beauty of ones, spontaneously, call them into your life to remind you not of a judgment or of a way of contrast, but to know your own beauty for that would not have happened in this day if you were not willing to entertain it.

Many of the brothers and sisters go through each day with heaviness and do not know a ray of sunshine even a bright corner in that day. They do not have the eyes to look for it or to see it when it happens and it is all around. All the time it is around. You have the eyes to see it but you have allowed the ego voice, the world voice to set that up as contrast rather than as oneness. Allow yourself to know your oneness with the sunshine that you see. It would not be there without you.

In that beloved one, you behold how well you are doing. So if in moments you do not feel the happiness of the heart, chuck it all. Even if you are in the midst of the schedules and the activities that "have" to be done, allow yourself a moment to go out of doors. Say unto the other ones, "I must re-create myself. I must have some recreation, some time for health reasons, whole reasons."

I have it better than them.

And indeed you do. As you allow yourself to know the oneness with the sunshine that is in your life for indeed there is much of sunshine in your life. You will see that you are that sunshine. Do not allow it to be as a judgment of contrast. You are that sunshine that you behold. You are the wisdom that you behold. Otherwise you would know it not.

And I'm ....?..

You go through what you what you would see as life experiences for yourself, yes, for having the experiences that bring you to a place of choosing anew. Sometimes when the head is banged against the wall long enough you choose to stop. But you do it not also just for what you would see as you, as the small self. You do it also for the brothers and sisters. For as you allow yourself the experience and to choose anew, you uplift all of the brothers and sisters as well. And on a more tangible level, as you come through experiences that are most constricting, sorrowful, not of happiness, you come with a greater wisdom that comes to be shared. It has value.

Never think that what you do has small meaning. It has great meaning for what you do affects everyone else.

For my peace?

Yes, it is your peace. Well said.

These are perhaps softer. {Kneeling on a pillow}

Hi.

Beloved brother, how are you?

Just wonderful.

You are indeed wonderful. What would you ask in this evening?

Well I thought about asking something then I felt I really don't have anything to ask. Then I did think of something.

Strange how that works, yes.

In my waking moments I am not one who is concerned with the final, what people would say as the final times or what a lot of people see happening. Some people see the turmoil and others see peace, but in my dreams I've been having dreams of some pretty terrible things that seem very real where I am playing someone else's roll so that I may see what is going on.

Indeed.

And they aren't very happy dreams. One takes place where some great fire or bomb or something in an airport. People are running outside. I mean there are many of them, but I mean I'm not in the waking moments the least bit concerned with them but they haunt me when I wake up in the day. And other dreams too, that are very positive. They run the whole gamut, but they all seem like I'm being told, I don't know what but.

You are living those dreams as well as what is called this dream. This is called reality – with a small "r" – this dream that is a daytime waking dream. You are living the nighttime, nap time dreams as well. They are as much real as this experience is.

As you bring them forth in the conscious awareness they have message for you in this point of focus. Now there are many times you dream in other dimensions and you do not remember them and you do not bring them back into this point of focus for they do not have relevancy. They do not have a place where they fit into this point of focus.

So many times the brothers and sisters will say, "Well I went to sleep and I don't remember anything I dreamed but I must have done something," and you always do and others do not. That is because, yes, they are very busy. They are expressing, experiencing but it does not have relevancy for here.

Your dreams very much have relevancy but it is not the drama of appearance. It is in symbolic form in the message that would come as in morse code kind of thing. It is in code. And what you are showing to yourself through these dreams that you bring with you into this point, is that much is happening within your own inner consciousness. You are allowing the limited beliefs to be blow up, changed, transformed. You are feeling the emotions and allowing them to be released as you play the different roles, as you have spoken well, as you play the different roles in these dreams.

They are not to be judged upon the appearance that would say, "Oh, that is a terrible dream. How heavy that dream is." And even as some of your brothers and sisters will say, "Is that a prophetic dream? Is that going to happen?" "Oh, dear me. I wish I hadn't dreamt that."

It is not that it is a prophetic dream in the terms that that will happen as a judgment, as a tragedy. Yes, some of those things will happen, have happened in order to give opportunity much as we have spoke about Oklahoma City.

But for you it is showing you the progress, the releasement of limited beliefs, the shifts in perception that you are allowing even in your waking moments, as you call these moments. It is a progress report. A report card type of thing. But not to look upon it and judge it by the world standards, appearance standards.

One more thing. I'll let you release your hands a little bit.

They are fine.

I to, have been for a number of years, every so often I will be usually sitting in my bed about ready to meditate and may or may not have music on and I can hear, it starts off very low in pitch and it will rise and rise, voices of anger and torment and fear and screaming voices and it is like as if I'm in like a wind tunnel and the sound goes through me and it peaks the point even where I can't listen to music. I have to turn off the music because it sounds evil. My own voice or my own thoughts are caught in that sound. And it's not like I'm actively participating. It's like I have no control because I can't turn it off. I just have to sit there and sit through it for maybe fifteen or twenty minutes until it peaks and then it goes away. And it's almost like all the evil, or something like all the terrible things in the world are passing through me as they are being transformed. I don't really know what, but it's almost like some sort of service or something that I unconsciously do. I don't know, but I've done it and it's happened for years but it is a lot more often lately.

Yes, you may look upon it in those terms if you desire to. It is not the Truth of your being. Indeed there is no evil and it is coming up in your awareness in order to be looked upon and blessed. Not because of a magic type of blessing, but to see it as part of the experience of the holy Child. That the Child has said, "I will experience the Light and therefore I'll experience the dark." Thinking that there is separation and that there would be a dark side.

When it comes up you have done exactly the right thing, allow it to move through and be released. Do not thing that you have to do this for all of mankind for indeed you don't.

I wasn't sure what it was.

Yes. If you desire to look upon it as a service, that is okay, for it releases it and lets it go. You will find that less and less this will be happening for you will be wanting to abide in joy and the secret is you will begin to see the voices transformed. In other words, the voices that have been seeming in the past, seemingly of anger and of sorrow and or rage, will start to change. You will hear more of the angelic tones coming through.<W0>

Thank you.<W0>

It is a good place to be.<W0>

Of course.<W0>

<W0>

Since you talked about voice and sound, may I ask? I recently read the definition of the voice of the Word of God that it was a sound and that really excited me. "Oh, absolutely," and in the silence we are to anticipate hearing the sound.

Yes.

And that it was really great news. I probably heard it or read it but that definition was very timely and it isn't shared, it isn't known. It's always addressed differently. Had you spoken about it while you were here in that sense?

Not in that sense, beloved one. You are the voice of God. You are the vibration of Light and of Love. Of Light as it is conceptualized but much more, and experienced as Love. You are tone. You are a vibration. It can be measured even now in this point of focus, and all of you so gathered in this room and even farther are your own angelic chorus of tones, of vibrations. That taken in totality is the voice of God.

So yes you will hear it not with the physical ears yet. You will in time.

But within a meditative state I'll hear?

Yes, with the ears of the heart, now it is discernible as you allow the concepts of the mind to expand. In the days to come as we have spoken earlier, there will be many miracles. One of them being that you will hear with the physical ears, the tone, the vibration of one standing in front of you. It will be subtle. It will not be overpowering except as they allow themselves to be either in exuberance and that will not be overpowering, or in a certain type of emotion. And even that will not be overpowering for what you will do if they are in a grand emotion, you feel this even now, you will turn the dial down a bit. You do this even now when you are in one's presence and they are in anger and you feel a vibration. You can feel what they are in, their vibration. You may not actually think that you are hearing it but you certainly feel it against the form and you tone it down a bit or else you jump right in with it sometimes.

Thank you.

But yes, the voice of God is the vibration of all and you will hear in the days to come as you will see with the physical eyes, the Light of one intermingling with everyone else. Very exciting, because you are calling it forth. You want to be excited. You want to know that joy. To release the constriction of the old ways, the old belief. You have said, "Okay, let me have it all." Let it all hang out, huh?

Beloved brother, how are you?

Well.

You are well. What would you ask in this evening?

Well, there are those who reside within my heart and who are very troubled and I feel that they may be coming back to me to a point because of that trouble and I would look for some guidance.

Love them. Now the ego is not satisfied by that. The ego says, "Well, what does he mean love them? How do I do that? Specifics. Let's have specifics."

Hold them in your heart and in your mind's eye in holy vision. See them as your-Self for indeed they are yourSelf, but behold them in perfection. Not in limitation. Not in judgment. Not in the limited self-image that they hold themselves to be. Hold them in holy vision as the Father sees them. Know that you are always guided to do what needs to be done or to speak what needs to be spoken. It is not something that you need to have all planned out, to be able to know the avenue that you are going to go down. Which streets? Which crossroads? Which traffic lights? No. It is the voice of ego that says you must know everything in certainty because I must have control. The ego does not like to be out of control, and yet the heart trusts. The heart knows that everything is in order.

So when these ones come to mind allow yourself first to breathe, the inspiration of the holy breath. The physical breath yes, but also the holy breath that comes to your place of centeredness. And then to see these ones in wholeness as brother, as equals, as ones who are loved of the Father, who are searching the things you have been. To know their own worthiness, their own wholeness and to be able to express the Love that they are. They search in different ways, they express in different ways.

But they are seeking the same as you. To come Home again and to know the everlasting Love of the Father. It is always there for them. Indeed it is always there for them.

So again it is not something that you need have all planned out. Not something that you are responsible for, but greet them in Love and trust.

Beloved voice of the angels, how are you?

Many things.

Yes you are, you are all things.

Many things.

And you have assumed some new roles at least extended these rolls, yes.

Extended, yes.

What would you ask in this evening?

It's more or less an affirmation so I can hear myself. It's time. It's time to start singing again.

Yes, it is.

And it's time to start playing again.

Yes, very much so.

With those at home and with the extended family.

Very much so.

And I'm feeling the preparation and it's pretty big.

Yes, and it is okay to trust that. Do not ever allow yourself to come from a place of separation that would judge, self or others, but especially self.

Do not ever feel that you have gone astray, that you have led others astray. For what you have done is to share with them a grand gift, an opportunity to touch a place of place that they have hoped existed and they have hoped to know you are bringing it into this point of reality and it is grand gift that you give.

Yes, as you have discerned it is time to sing again with the physical voice yes, and with the heart, to come truly into that place of joy. It is not by accident that you have birthed a little one. It is because you desire to know the little one, the Child of yourself and that child is not so small. That child is enormous, immense, without limitation, yes.

There is much opportunity to play as you will see it, as you will take it and you will say unto others, "Hey, you know, yes there are things to be done, but you know, even as we do the things that have to be done, there can be joy in doing them. I am so happy I have chosen to do what I am doing," even when you are changing the diaper, I think it is called.

Yes.

Yes. It is a gift that the small one gives to you.

Yes, many times over.

Yes. It is the same with the brothers and sisters, they give you the soiled diaper from time to time but it is their gift.

That's a little harder.

Only because the ego would think that it is harder. When you look upon it as the gift from them, and you do not judge it as the ego would put value or non-value on something. Well then it is okay.

For as you have seen even the soiled diaper, what is in the diaper it is as fertilizer that makes other things grow. Everything has use.

I do have the concern that has to be brought out so I can release it and get on with the business. The mother part of me has been affected by the oldest child, the first that came who was quite impatient to come here. But I'm seeing it as the mother/son relationship is quite different than the father/son relationship. And the ego is perceiving it as being imbalance. And I guess the mommy part of me is looking for the reassurance that this is temporary or it's what's supposed to be done at this time. Particular needs of being, I don't know. He's quite a character.

Yes, this is a grand truth that you have discerned. The mothering aspect wants to nurture, want to take care of everything and put it into harmony. Wants to reach out and to enfold and to express that love and to have others accept and understand that love.

But the two that you speak of have been together many times. Yes, and they have played many roles with each other. Often in competition as they have seen themselves to be, as warriors, as the ones who would vie for the love of a beautiful maiden, many, many times. They come this time not by accident but they come by agreement that they will be together in order to know their oneness, in order to know that competition speaks of separateness and they do not want to know separateness any longer. They want to know love of Self as it is out-pictured in each one.

So yes, there will be the conflicts, there will be the challenges born of many lifetimes, born of belief that has been carried in the soul of these seeming separate expressions. For you, it is to see them with the holy vision and to know that everything unfolds in its order. It is okay.

Yes, you will support, you will nurture, you will be there for them as the peace. They will do their own thing, for indeed there will be more of this.

They are like, siamese twins at this point.

Very much. They have been. They have been, truly.

I'm not surprised. I'm not surprised. My son looks at me as if he says, "It's not your turn yet. You can just wait your turn, because I'm where I am supposed to be." Sometimes it's hard.

Indeed. But allow yourself to know that you are right where you are supposed to be, and that you are loved by the Father and you are doing exactly as has been asked of you. Stand and love. That is all you have to do and enjoy.

Enjoy.

It is not a new role that they play but they are seeking to know a new way, a new perspective and this will come in time.

I see a balance. I see them finding a balance.

Yes, that is what they desire.

But the small one here is a balance also.

Yes. And that is why the small one has come at this time.

The both of them?

Yes, very much so and for you.

I don't think I have anything to do with it in the relation between the small one and them. That's their own agreement.

Indeed, that is. That is their own agreement.

The nice advantage is that I get to watch it.

Indeed. You have discerned a grand truth, that is all that you need do, is to watch it. To stand and love. Do not get drawn into what you will see as their drama from time to time. It is okay. Or if you choose to get in there that is okay, too. Play with it.

Yes, it's always an opportunity. Thank you.

Thank you, beloved one.

... I can heal myself.

Well spoken for as you have brought forth the words you have seen your own clarity. Much that you have expressed in words has been beyond what you knew you knew. Yes.

Beloved one who is a gift of the Father, how are you?

I'm wonderful.

You are truly wonderful. What would you ask?

Well I thought of my ten million questions that have been coming and I don't know what to ask. So why don't you tell me what I think I need to hear?

Beloved one, I will tell you what you think you need to hear. It is that you are perfect and that you are all. And yes, there has been ten million questions that the ego has thought up that would want to play with the questions. That is the purpose of questions. That is the play with them. Not to be heavy with them, but to play with them. You are perfect. You are doing exactly what you have agreed to do.

Not as the world would look upon contracts, but what you have agreed to do, to come and bring the joy to this plane, to laugh the free laugh of the Child, to express lightness upon this plane and to usher in the time of enlightenment because you know yourself to be Light in the heart. You know that not everything has to be approached in seriousness.

Yes, there are questions, but in the next moment you ascertain your own answer.

Wow, yeah.

Ah, and the truth dawns. It is a grand Light is it not when the Truth dawns.

It is enlightenment, you know. There it is.

Indeed. Do you see what you have just brought in that moment? Enlightenment.

Right. So wow.

Great place to be.

Great place.

Beloved beautiful one, how are you?

I'm good.

You are okay. You are more than okay, you are radiant. What would you ask in this evening?

Well I have a lot of questions, but a lot of them were answered by other people's questions.

Yes, it happens that way.

It's good to be asked, but change your question as the day goes, but I felt like Beth did a couple of months ago, I was really torn with my career and felt stuck by it and now I'm no longer in that career. But I still feel stagnant. I can't move forward and yet I try to move forward and I keep hitting roadblocks with you know, car problems or you know, trying to make appointments with people or just my own hesitancy. Why is this happening now?

You are on the threshold of a new chapter as you would call it, a very exciting chapter that is of the heart's desire. It is not in the old way of thinking, it is not the old way of employment. Therefore, you are doing what you would see as some roadblocks for deep down inside of yourself you know that there is a new way of being in the flow of golden coins, of employment yes, in the broad sense, but it more of service.

There will be the exchange of golden coins, but it will be in a way that allows your heart to feel light. It will not just be for the putting in the hours or doing what should be in order to have employment. Allow your heart to be light. Allow yourself to throw open the shutters of possibilities, and to go where the heart will lead you.

For indeed you are on the threshold of a new chapter, a chapter that has not been written yet. But you will write it and you will write it from the heart of your own desire. For you are desiring to bring forth the holy Child on this plane, the joy of which we have spoken. Yes, in service to the brothers and sisters in employment, yes, but in a new way. Not that the place of employment will be so different but the way you approach it will be different. What you bring to it will be different.

As you allow yourself to feel free you will find that the roadblocks disappear. Allow yourself to sit in silence and to say, "Where do I truly want to be? What allows my heart to feel open and alive and light?" The voice of the ego, the voice of the world will get in with "Yes, but. Yes, but that's not possible. Yes, but I don't have the training. Yes, but there is not an opening there. Yes, but," on and on and on.

Put that aside for a moment. Tell it to go back in the wings for a moment for you have some more contemplation to do. Then play just in imagination, in creativity. "Who would I like to work with?" Allow this first to be kind of generalized as to quality of ones you would like to work with. Then put it into specifics as you know those ones who exhibit those qualities. Play with it. Do not allow yourself to have any restriction. If the voice comes to pack up and move somewhere, entertain the thought. If the ego comes along with a what if, and you can't do that, then say, "I am the unlimited holy Child. I can do anything I set my heart to, my mind to, and I do not have to do it right now."

In other words, do not let panic set in, "But I will get creative in seeing how I can do networking here and there." For you have what you would see as the whole of your life ahead of you, and you are free to choose now what you want to write in this new chapter.

It does not have to be as it has been in the past chapter. It is done. That is why you finished with that chapter, for you desire to know a new way of expressing, a way of freedom and of happiness.

It is not foreordained that you must express in a certain way. In other words, there is no "should" that says you should be X, Y, and Z. Or you should be employed in a certain type of service. For indeed all employment is service not just the ones who call themselves the service profession. Every place of employment you are in relationship with the brothers and sisters and in that you serve.

So there is nothing to say of value that one choice is more valuable than another. Allow yourself as you stand upon this threshold and you are examining the heart as to where you would like service. Allow yourself to cast your mind ahead in what you would see as years, to the place where you are seventy years old and you are looking back upon yourself at this age, as you see yourself to be, what advice would you give to this one you see yourself now to be?

What would you like to see happen in the years in between? And then go for it. I will share with you that this next chapter holds much of excitement for you. It will be an unfoldment of more and more joy and more and more possibilities that you only begin to imagine in this evening. For already as we have spoken, there have been imaginings. There has been a feeling of, "Oh, could that really happen? Could I really?" and there will be even more, because you are calling it forth.

You are the beloved Child. You are Love.

Such an evening, such a gathering of the heart. For have you felt the love in this room this evening? The joining of hearts that felt themselves to be separate as you walked in the door, maybe for just a moment, and then more and more blending as the evening has gone on. As you have witnessed that the question of this one was your question and the question of this one answered your questions. Of course, for there only one of us here. Bodies seem to be separate, hearts are joined. The one holy Child will allow herself to be excited about the days to come.

The days to come as we have spoken earlier, are days of joy, days of allowing your unlimitedness to be known even on this plane of seeming limitation for you are changing that. It is a time of grand excitement for the excitement allows you to feel more of your unlimited energy, who you are. You bring it right here into the feeling and the emotion that motivates and propels you into what you desire to know.

You are all beautiful. Radiant beings, and you are beginning to allow yourself to know that, to behold that in the brother, in all of the life processes that walk the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth or stand in one place and express as a process. As the grand sequoia trees, your fir trees, your flowering trees that are most beautiful at this season of the year.

Know you that you call forth their beauty so that you can know your own beauty? For as you behold beauty in nature, it is your own inner beauty and you are one with the flowering tree. It would not exist without you. Very much a oneness.

Allow yourselves to go forth in joy for that is what brings remembrance of the holy Child upon this plane, brings you to that place of knowing wholeness of body, wholeness of emotion, wholeness of the Spirit. You deserve it and have from before time began. Now you are allowing the purpose of time to be fulfilled and to come to a completion.

And as we bring this evening to a completion, not an ending for there is not an ending. It is forever ongoing, but we will bring it to a completion.

Beloved one, would you share with us some of the ancient tones?

{Beryl McCandless shares in toning for the closing.}

Now in the name of the One, so be it.
