

An Evening of Love

1996-05-10

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of light divine, I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph -- Jesus, you have called me -- and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen to answer my invitation.

For indeed, the invitations have been sent out from heart to heart.

Hi.

Hi. Know you how wonderful it is to say "Hi", how symbolic it is to remind yourself of that high state of consciousness? That is the love of the Father come into manifest being. Beautiful it is.

Great joy to be with you again in this manner and to speak with you in a language that is easily understood. For always as you know, I am in communion with you, always in the place of the heart we are one and more and more often you are calling upon me with trust and knowing that I will and do answer.

Many lifetimes, many times in this lifetime you have called out to me hoping that there would be an answer and yet not sure that perhaps you would be worthy of having an answer from one such as me, because of teaching, previous teaching an image, self-image that has said, "I am not worthy but I will pray anyway and I hope that perhaps the connection can be made. Now you have come to the place of knowing that always we are one, always I hear what you ask of me and always it is answered.

There is no question that comes up that will not have an answer. The ego will love to play with it. The ego will love to chew upon any question as a dog does with a bone, to gnaw on it from one end to the other end, the middle, to get to the heart of it, to get to the good of it and finally when the ego is done with all of the gnawing, the heart speaks.

Now you are allowing yourself to know that you do not even have to wait in process while the ego goes through all of its schemes. You have come to the place of readily saying to the ego, "Thank you for your message. It is one that I have heard often and I know it well. I have danced with you over and over," and you are coming quickly to the place of asking the heart, of asking for the inner guidance and the inner wisdom.

For indeed as you allow yourself to come to the place of peace within the heart, all wisdom comes forth for there is nothing that is hidden from the holy Child, and as you desire to know it will be revealed unto you. If you desire to do the dance for one more round, that is okay too. For you enjoy your dances.

As my beloved friend and teacher, the one known as Judith has spoken to you, there is a change that you will be seeing in these evenings that we spend together. Now, will it be a great dramatic, traumatic change? No. It will not be for indeed the process of change is already underway as you have been willing to choose for change.

But the evenings that we will spend together is in this manner, in this way, will be evenings of equal to equal. Evenings that you will see there will be much interchange. Not just one master coming to give forth a great proclamation and to perhaps open up the one and the pour in all of the wisdom, but it will be an interchange that will happen as in days of old. Now those days are not that old, but it is way of referring to them. In times past that we have spent together where we would bounce off of each other, the ideas and come to a place of revelation for all of you are the holy Child manifest, experiencing and expressing and there is no wisdom that I have that is above you. We are equal in the sight of our Father.

Now in the point of focus known as this lifetime where you have certain activities to attend to, certain responsibilities that will call to you, certain decisions that need to be made, there is a tendency to forget the higher perspective and this has been by design.

We have spoken often that the holy Child has desired to know intimately from the inside out, the creations that you have brought forth. Therefore you have said, "I will focus very intensely, very specifically upon experience within physicality and all that that means," and momentarily, which in your belief spans many lifetimes, but momentarily you will put aside the expanded vision for, "I desire to know physicality, the concept and the belief in duality, of good and evil, the concept of process, the concept of time, so temporarily I will set aside the ascended vision." And this you have done and you have done it will. It has been by design. But now there is also as part of that design a desire to remember again the ascended vision.

So these evenings that you will be participating in, will be evenings of ascended vision, not because I bring that vision but because you as the equal that you are beyond this point of focus, will be calling in what you would yet term your higher perspective. So there will be much of discussion. There will be much of joy. There will be much of laughter for no longer are you held within the limited belief system.

Already you are in process of allowing that to be sloughed away, to be released. We will have in this evening an evening of love, for truly that is who you are and we will call forth that love which is beyond what the world would define as love. But as we speak of an evening of love, is that not what everyone would desire? To be loved unconditionally, wholly, without reservation, to be valued so that you did not have to rehearse what you were going to say to another one? There is much of rehearsal that goes on in the mind when you do your mental dialogue before you meet a brother or sister and you think, "How will I say this to one and how will it be received?"

In the love that you are you come from the place of the heart, the place that sees a brother or sister as yourSelf -- with a capital "S" -- and you love that one as yourself and you look upon that one and you say, "You are the most beautiful being I have ever seen. I appreciate the way you smile, the way the eyes twinkle, the way you adorn the physical body. It is most beautiful. Anything that you would share with me would be a priceless treasure." And you meet everyone and you say to that one, either in the words or silently from heart to heart, "Tell me who you are. Tell me your story I want to know. Where have you been? What have you experienced? What is new in this day? What revelation have you had in the last moment or so that causes you to come truly alive once again as the Child of the Father?" And you get caught up in the energy of being alive, the energy of love, ascended love.

All of the brothers and sisters whom you do not see with the bodies around you they are seeking in this evening an evening of love, but they are seeking it somewhere else, but truly the search is one and the same for they will go different places to find what allows them to expand and to feel good about self, what allows the escape from the chatter of the mind that would be in self-judgment and so they go somewhere for the entertainment to escape that mental chatter. And what they are seeking to know is an evening of love.

Beloved one, what is most important to you?

Right now?

Yes, of course right now.

My excitement about the Foundation for Planetary Healing and Dawn's Delight.

Yes, and it is a great delight for the Light is dawning. It allows the heart to come alive, does it not?

It does.

It even allows the physicality of the body to radiate. It is the kind of project as you would call a project that makes you want to wake up in the morning and to see how you can fit the pieces together.

Yes.

How you can spread the gospel that allows you to feel so alive, so much in love with a project that it is a gospel, it is the good news of aliveness.

Yeah, and I don't know when it was, several months back when you told me that the homeless were going to be knocking on my door, and I didn't quite get it.

Well you saw the door of your dwelling place, yes, and you thought, "Oh my goodness, how can I fit all of them in?"

But I get it now. There is twenty acres there.

Yes, much room. Much room and there will be more. There is much room in the heart, room enough to take in all of the ones who are seeking, searching for home and out-picturing that yet as feeling homeless as to what they would see as the dwelling place about the body and yet they are looking for home in the heart.

As they come to your place and find a home.

Not my place.

It is indeed your place and everyone else's, but you may claim it. Indeed, please do. As they come to your place and connect once again with the home, in the heart, they will go out and they will spread the news to the other ones. There will be many who are touched and who will find home again. They will find a physical refuge yes, it will be that, but more than that they will find the Home that is truly being sought and they will no longer feel themselves to be homeless.

Yes, it will be a loving community that does not need even what you would see as the physical boundary of a building around it. It will be widespread.

Tell me everything you know about it?

Beloved one, as we have just spoken in this evening it is not for me to tell you, but as equals it is for you to bring forth the inner knowing that you know well.

I'll tell you what I know and you tell me what you know? How is that?

That is very good. That is what this evening is all about, tell me.

Okay. Well I know that the animals are going to be there too. I saw the hawks and the eagles flying in those beautiful trees, and the deer walking around and we were looking at where we would put the gardens so we could grow the food and there is a lot of land that is not cleared and probably we are going to be making space there, clearing some with their permission, with the permission of the trees where I guess for more growing places and whatever else we are going to need and I'm not sure what all that is just yet. And I know we need a school. I know we need a place for exchange between people. Places for the children to play and that's already there.

Yes.

And I know we need a lot of people to help. I know we need a lot of money.

You will find that you do not need as much of the golden coins as it will seem to be at first. In other words, there is going to be a flow of energy that will come in a flow, in other words, it will not be what you see as the lump sum right there, but it will be a flow of energy that will happen for indeed there is one who goes before you to make the path smooth. Now this one is not separate from you, but it is what we have spoken of already in this evening as the ascended vision.

In other words, when you caught hold of this vision you ascended in that excitement in that feeling of home, yes. That energy is most contagious. It spreads for that is what everyone wants to know. That is what this evening is about, about the love. That energy is most contagious and it spreads and there will be many who will come and offer their services for the feeling that is there for the opening of their own heart and will not ask for anything in exchange as far as golden coins. In other words, you will not have to pay them for their service.

The one who has what is called the piece of paper, title of ownership it is called.

The deed to the land?

Yes.

Not us, yet.

And yet beloved one, it is. For as you will hold a specific point of focus in this time, that holds you to this time, but as you claim the ascended vision you can see yourself one year from now, two years from now, you can envision what will be happening. And even the piece of paper, there will be an exchange, a way of working this out.

To get it?

Of course. Of course. There is much wisdom upon this plane held by ones that you would call the ancestors who say that land itself, our Holy Mother, the Earth is not owned by anyone, but it is tended, taken care of. That is the sacred trust. That is the sacred ascended vision and you will be taking care of this land for ones who want it taken care of and you will also be able to be in the flow of giving to them what they see as necessary for their next ongoing project as to where they are going. For they are not just going to stop with their experience. In other words, they are going to go on with something else that is already calling them.

You see, nothing is in isolation. We have spoken of this often. As they are feeling a calling to move on, you will be aiding for them the moving on and you will be caretaking. They also will be doing the same in another place. In other words, it is very much as what you did earlier this evening when you were changing the chairs. You just shift position and you move on to another place.

But there is much of the holy vision that is coming forth with this project and there are many who will want to be involved in it because it allows them to come alive as well, to feel purpose, to ascend beyond the chatter of the self and to know that what each one has to offer. What each one has to offer is valued and necessary for each one of you so gathered here, has unique ability to give to brothers and sisters. And you desire to bring that forth into manifestation and to give to another one. That allows you to feel the flow of creativity.

Everyone of the brothers and sisters has the desire deep within them, to give. That is what it is really all about. The voice of the world would have that turned around and would speak often that what is most important is what you get and the one going for the employment will first read the piece of paper to see what the fringe benefits are rather than asking, "What can I give in this exchange?"

But everyone of the brothers and sisters desires to give and you because you have the willingness to be as figurehead to give direction, some direction to it, will give them opportunity to be involved in their own giving.

Yeah, that's what it's all about, each one giving to another.

Yes, as equals and seeing the value of what each one has to give. You know that well beloved brother, for you have seen on your journey many ones who have gifts to give. Gifts that they may not recognize themselves and they put down, they put it behind themselves and yet it is a gift that is treasured by the Father and by other brothers and sisters who would see that gift. It takes only the willingness to look a little bit deeper, as you have been willing to do, past appearances and to sit with that one. Either in physical form or in the mind's eye and in the heart, to sit with that one and to call forth the unique gift. And as they see that you value what they have to give, it allows them to stop for a moment and to perhaps re-assess what they have thought their strengths to be.

There are going to be lots of different healers, lots of different kinds of healing work. So then we will be doing that?

Yes.

And besides the homeless, taking the kids in off the streets?

Very much so.

Having a school?

Well of course. But the schools as you see will not be the rigid, it will not be. It will be much as what we are having in this evening, where each one is valued and each one has a voice. Not a voice of chaos, for indeed there will be the guidance to honor each one, but there will be a voice that each small one and tall one will be able to give forth and to see that it is done.

Yeah, we were talking about, are we going to need a place for spaceships to land?

No. You are not going to need a place for indeed they already know where they are landing, as of now, and were they will continue to land. So it is not something that you need to put your energy into. In other worlds, this is already taken care of, but what you have discerned well is that you will put out the welcome mat. Yes. Already you have done that by entertaining the possibility and the probability and you have said, "Yes, I am open to this. I want to know my brothers and sisters from what is yet termed space." And yet you are in that space yourself.

Another space.

Yes, another space. You will not have to worry about setting aside a landing strip or a place, a cleared place. This is something that they know well how to do.

There is a rediscovered brand new Buddhist temple right next to the land. Across the street is a Korean church. I see this as an international gathering place.

It already is. You have felt universal energy that is upon that land. There have been the outward symbols that have suggested to you that it is more than just a provincial, local, limited space. But it is universal.

I've felt the call to that land years ago

Well spoken, of course. And my daughter Lorna started having ideas of her own about it. Is she going to be there, too?

Of course I see that. I see that as she will see that for indeed it is a free choice, but yes, because you have already discerned there has been a spark of excitement and you will see this happening with many. Yes, she will be part of this.

There will be many who will be part of it in a very ostensible form, very visible and there will be others who will be part of it even though you do not see the bodies of them, they will be supporting it with the heart and with some of the golden coins as well.

It is going to be a far-flung endeavor. For as you have already spoken of the space brothers and sisters, they have been calling to you as well. They are already involved in what you see this project to be. They have been putting down the groundwork, not perhaps as what you would see upon this ground, but the groundwork of the heart and they have been in communication with you and with many others.

Not because they are advanced from you, but because they share the ascended vision, the grander vision because they want to know wholeness. To remember the evening of love. They want to know love, acceptance, value, honor. So they have caught a vision of working together, cooperation with ones who will have the eyes, even the physical eyes, to see but more than that, the spiritual eyes to see beyond appearance and to work together in a place of ascension. In a place that goes beyond what has already been known in historical perspective, what has been.

All of you are iconoclasts, all of you are image-breakers, all of you have said, "I am going to expand the boundaries of what I have thought myself to be and who the brothers and sisters are." You have played with great exciting ideas as you have seen this put forth in your books, in your workshops, your meditation. You have said, "I want to go beyond what has been known. I want to know, to remember." So you bring forth various projects that allow you to incorporate, incorporate, yes, the energy of the holy Child in cooperation to know ascended vision.

And you play with possibilities, unlimited possibilities. That is why you bring forth what is known as the science fiction. You want to know, "What could there be beyond just what is accepted by the scientists right now that say this is what it is?" And more and more of your scientists are engaged in pushing out the boundaries, the limitations of what science has been termed and how it has been defined. Because you have asked them to. You have said, "I am ready. I want to know more." So you have brought forth great works of science fiction which are not fiction at all. So that you can play with unlimitedness, and it just keeps getting better.

Jeshua, on this subject of the scientists, do you think that those of us who have started saying to the scientists, "Come on guys. You know that these things exist and you don't have to empirical evidence of everything." It seems like there is a ground swell of that feeling and they must feel it.

Yes, indeed.

And it's giving them courage to extend themselves beyond what they can absolutely prove.

Yes. It is as you have spoken, it is a ground swell, a wave that wants to play with possibilities and there are many who are called now into scientific endeavor who are already of the mindset that perhaps I will be the new inventor. I will be the one that will go beyond what has been defined in all of the books that I am given to read and to study.

There is a growing feeling of expansiveness and an allowance, nay, even more than an allowance, an expectation that says, "Let us know now, unlimitedness."

Beloved brother, do you know unlimitedness?

Yes.

Yes, you do. You have ascended the heights and you have measured them because you have known the valley. You have taken measure, yes. What brings your heart alive?

When I experience the manifestation of love.

Yes. And how do you see that?

I see that in seeing another appreciate the same.

Yes.

And that the, it's been a long time thing for me to be the manifestation of love. So that's been a silent goal. And often I have met that on my journey and so it's coming out a little bit more and a little bit more that I am able to dance with the one before me to relieve them of their fear.

Yes. You have seen attracted to you in what you would see as the journey of this lifetime, many who carry the baggage of fear and they come from a place that does not know love. It is a very guarded love that they would perhaps know for themselves. It is not an expansive love. It is meted out even as it would be rationed, perhaps. You have met many and you have given to them the seed of love. You have played with them. You have danced with them and they have done the dance with you as far as they would allow themselves in one round, perhaps, and then there has been a distance, yes, and then perhaps there has been another round of the dance that has happened.

But you have spoken well beloved one, that what excites your heart is love. Seeing the manifestation of love. The honoring of another one whether they see it themselves or not. Yes.

That was a lesson for me that they might not see it.

Yes, and to allow them their darkened mirror for awhile. For there is a feeling that one wants to get in there and use the Windex.

Yes. Sometimes I get ahead by seeking to give information that they are not ready to ask for.

Yes. But as you have seen, even in your endeavor to give them what they are not wanting to receive, you have not upset anybody's apple cart because they have not received it until...

They are not upset?

Yes, they are not upset. They have a certain timing. It was the same when I was upon our Holy Mother, the Earth in what has been called my ministry. There were so many that I would speak to that I wanted to say, "Look at how it would feel to live in the Father's Love. Can't you see how beautiful you are?" And there were many who said, "No, I cannot." And it was the truth for them. They could not.

I would have gotten in with the Windex if my Father had given it to me, but I did not have it, the special Windex.

It brings me to thank you for the help I had when I was in the valley to have an opportunity to facilitate another's freedom.

Yes.

I look back at that and I say, "Wow." Much appreciated.

Yes. It was a message that you set for yourself that even in spite of the ego, the small self, there can be the healing that will be facilitated. In spite of limitation the holy Spirit works.

Oh yes. Oh yes.

Yes, and it is the same with you, all of you even in moments of despair when you feel that there is nothing that will be the magic to get me out of this space. Even then the Holy Spirit is alive and well and working with you. Working in spite of you sometimes you feel. And will lift you into the place of the ascended vision.

For it is truly the desire of your heart to know ascension. Ascension of the body, yes, we have spoken of this, but more than that, at this point in time the importance is the ascension out of the limited understanding of who you are and who everyone else is.

I claimed a temporary thought the other day. It might change but ascension is the incorporation of unlimited love.

Yes, it is indeed.

That's what ascension is?

That is what ascension is, it is the incorporation....

I thought drop off some mountaintop somewhere and fly off into space.

No, it is coming to the full realization that I as I stand here now, am ascended because I am love. The fullness of love. Then what happens with the body it may ascend, it may go as we have said with a "beam me up, Scotty," where it just dissolved and it goes. Or you may choose to stay in that high state of radiance and serve the brothers and sisters.

It might be appropriate at this moment, you are talking about science and talking about love, bodies and light bodies and et cetera, transformations. There is in Switzerland a man who has discovered an ancient, ancient Summarian elixir. The Micro cumbria, he call them, which are microscopic crystals which the Summerians used to take within themselves for fungus bacteria, and all of these things plus set the entire DNA etc....

There are many substances that you are calling forth, you collectively are calling forth in this day and time that would be as a magic to make the body more perfect, to change the DNA and yet I would say to you that the process, the DNA is in process all of the time of changing as you allow more of the light that you are to come into and be radiated through the body.

There are many magic substances that will speak to one or another, but as you have discerned beloved one, all of the need, seeming need for a magic comes from a place, perhaps a subtlety that says, "I am not perfect quite yet. Therefore I would need something to call forth something special, magic that will perfect me."

As you incorporate the love.

Here we go. That does the trick.

That does the trick. For the brothers and sisters who so desire to play with various substances and have belief in certain magic that is their plaything and there is nothing wrong with that. For indeed it is as the small ones that will have the various playthings and they will play with a favorite for awhile and then they will put that down and they will pick up another favorite for awhile and then they will put that down. And after awhile, they will come to the place of saying, "I do not need any of these toys."

Well it's okay to realize you don't need them in the first place?

Yes.

Because I don't think that's my bag.

No. But you are one beloved one, if you will receive it, who has played with many substances in what you would see as other lifetimes. You have brought forth as the wizard, many elixirs that have been touted to do magic for the body, that would restore what had been seen to be deteriorated or less than perfect. So you have already come that route. You played with those. You mixed substances. You were the magician. You have known it well.

How about that.

How about that. And here you are knowing that you are the creative one who called forth all of those substances that you mixed and gave forth as a magic to others in other times. You are now saying the magic is within.

Ah, that's where I am.

Yes. That's where you are. It is the ascended vision.

Hallelujah.

Yes.

Beloved one, how are you in this evening.

Well I cannot come ever without being so thankful that you come through Judith the way you do and she allows you to, because you know that the things that you have taught me have created enormous changes in my life.

Yes, it has been seen.

And I am really grateful for that because I am learning more and more that all my thoughts for years of not really wanting to be on this plane and it might be just as well to leave it. I can see that there is a lot that I can learn here.

A lot that you will remember. You are in the process of remembering, yes. I would say to you beloved one, that at all of the points of choice where you thought about exiting, there was a thread that said, "Hold on for one more hour. One more day." Hold on because you have experienced many lifetimes of throwing in the towel and saying, "Okay, that's it. I cannot handle any more. I am out of here." And you were.

This lifetime you are remembering that all of those exits brought you right back here because you said, "Now I want to know joy. I want to know ascension beyond the sorrow, the conflict, the chaos, the confusion," and that was the thread, the desire to know ascension. It was the thread. It was the hope.

Now this situation that has arisen in the last two days of my dear friends losing their precious baby.

Yes.

I feel like I have immersed myself into this experience, painful or not. I seem to sense that it is very important to get what learning there is in it. help us to understand why the baby would come and be with us for four months and then leave.

Yes, it was for many reasons. First of all, the one who has been known as Andrew, the small one, desired to know welcome, to know a family that would welcome him and show him love, to be happy to have him. It was an experience that he had not remembered in many other what you would call recent lifetimes. He wanted to reconnect with the feeling of love.

He also came to give opportunity to the mother and father, to know great love. For indeed this was not known before the experience. It was something that would be thought about, described by others, but not known in this way before the small one was birthed and held within the arms before it was possible to look into the bright and shining eyes.

So it was a love come, realized, come manifest. This one said, "I will come for what is seen as a short time interval, to give opportunity for great love. On the part of the parents. On the part of other ones who would be interacting as you would see on the more extended circle, and I will also give opportunity to myself to know the Father's love in a specific point of focus, a time."

There is yet belief that when the body is laid down there is a loss, a separation. That is where the grief comes from. This belief is in process of being transformed.

For all of us?

Yes, and it is ones such as Andrew and the parents who are bringing it into reality. For themselves and for others. The reality of knowing that it is the energy of love, the energy of the light that we have spoken of many times, that activates the physical body and that energy does not go away.

The body is raised up for a certain period of time, activated, and then it is laid down. But the energy of that one never ceases to be and there is coming a time when you will know energy, you will not even look upon form of body for the importance of energy. You will look beyond form of body to the heart of that one, to the spirit of that one, to see what truly activates the body. And then you will know that it matters not whether the body be right here where one can reach out and touch. For you will reach out as the light energy that you are and you will feel the vibration of that one most tangibly and most realistically.

So the one known as Andrew is what you would see as a pioneer. The one known as Andy and the mate, are as pioneers who are allowing this new wave of understanding to be accepted as reality. Yes, there is yet the feeling of loss, the feeling that says, "Where is that energy that I knew, that I could interact with? That I could hold tangibly?" And yet they will come to know that that one is not departed from them. Already that energy is most accessible to them. They will commune with this one in love.

There is a period yet of grief, but it will not be what you see as a long term and they will not need to feel guilty when they find that one day they are no longer holding the grief for this little one.

For indeed this little one is calling out to them even now to say, "Hear me. Know that I am alive and well with you." Not with the form, but with the true energy of spirit that goes beyond form.

They are riding the crest of the wave. They are the pioneers with this. You as well for you have the willingness of heart to say that there is more, much more to life than just the body.

If these ones will receive it, the ones known as the parents, the energy of the one they have known as Andrew will be with them again in tangible form in not too long a time. What was needful now was a certain releasing of belief that has been seen right now to have been a cutting with the scissors. In other words, it seems to be most painful. But as you will cut one thread that binds and another thread and another thread after awhile you find yourself free of the whole cord that has bound. This is what is happening.

Speak to these ones that the love of the small one has not departed from them and that they will see it again in manifest form in a short time. It will not be what you see as the twenty years.

But you don't mean another baby?

Yes, I do. Another physical form, yes.

For them?

Yes. Either birthed through the one who is activating the female form or birthed through another one and that little one comes homeless to them. For in truth it matters not how the form is birthed. There is yet a belief that certain genealogical lineage is important. But even that you have seen is changing. And there are many of the small ones who are being birthed who do not know home and love with the biological parents who are asking to be nurtured, taken in under the wing and loved. They are asking to know home. And that little one who is now asking to know home, he does not care which form he was birthed through. He wants to be loved.

So yes, they will know physical form, a small one to nurture to love.

You know that when we are in physical bodies that death is almost always traumatic to us as human beings.

Yes, historical perspective.

Yeah, and it's really hard to comfort someone who has lost a loved one, especially a baby because we think customarily that people should live much longer lives than babyhood. And it's very hard to say and have it heard that his being will be around them, his energy will be around them.

Yes.

I think the comfort of it that I'm trying to get across is that he is not in his body like people went to view it tonight and there is a funeral tomorrow, and it's okay to do that because for one thing I know it confirms that the person that he was, the child that he was is not there.

Yes.

....formed around funerals....Why are human beings and babies slaughtered anywhere in the world?

Oh there is definitely an answer beloved one, but you have given it yourself. For you are not in the body. You activate the body yes, your energy surrounds all of the body, all through the body but you are not in the body. And when the body is laid down it is most obvious that the spirit is not with it. It is just the form that is there.

You and all of the brothers and sisters have chosen experience in that much of a time interval of what you would see as life with form. In other words, you have known very short duration of activating a form because you wanted to know, "How does it feel to be just like that," very fast, and then to have freedom to go off and leave it.

You have also been one as all of the brothers and sisters have been, to activate form for what you would see as aeons of time, hundreds of years, nine hundred. Now that seems rather a long time in this point of focus, but you have done that well because there was much that you wanted to experience and you just kept experiencing and experiencing and before you knew it all of the counts that you would make with the beadwork and whatever added up to nine hundred and fifty nine years. So there you were. You did not say, "Well I have to make it until nine hundred and sixty." You weren't even aware. You just lived each day, each year as it came because you were engrossed in the experience.

Okay, the last part of this, is it true that we live in our physical bodies just as long as we decide to as a soul?

Yes.

That is absolutely true?

Absolutely true.

So Andrew left when he wanted to leave? Or was ready to leave?

Yes. To say otherwise would call forth a power and an energy outside of that one, would it not?

Yes.

In other words, it would either be the power of the body that victimized him and said, "I'm not going to serve you any longer. You are out of here, finished." That would be seen as a power outside of him even if the body were to have that power, which it does not.

It does not?

It does not. It was his choice as a soul to experience a certain time interval and then to know that he had completed what he came here to do. No one ever leaves before the completion.

Now whether you see it or the parents see it or any one else sees it, that does not matter. It is what the soul has come to experience and each lifetime it will be of a different duration, a different quality, a different place, a different form, but it is the choice of that seeming individual soul to experience and to know completion, fulfillment with it.

No, he was not forced out of the body. He was not forced by any circumstances or by anyone else.

Not the way they put him to sleep that night? Nothing?

No, of course not. No. For this one had strength of body. It was not a responsibility, a guilt of the parents. No.

So I can reassure them with that?

Yes. It was a soul choice which is as yet un-understandable in this time. But soon now there comes the understanding that we have spoken of in this evening.

For you beloved one, it is for you to take what has been spoken this evening and hold it within your heart, to know the truth of that. Not to have to give it in the entirety of what we have spoken this evening to ones who are yet in their grief. They have asked which they would not now acknowledge, but they have asked to know completion with grief.

Therefore, they will now completion with grief and that is okay. When they are done with that, they will know that they are done with that and then there will come a new experience.

But what we have spoken of in great fullness this evening, is for you to hold within your heart and to know it as a truth that you will hold in trust for them. Whether it is ever spoken to them or not, matters not. For indeed you hold that for them and as no hearts are isolated, their heart also will be able to partake of that.

But to set their minds at ease, yes, allow them to know that the spirit of this little one known as Andrew is very much with me in heaven, in that state of ascended love, and that this one is greatly loved of the Father and that all that has happened has been with the blessing of the Father. They are not responsible for having ended a life. Yes, they grieve but they are not responsible for having ended.

Yeah. I think it would really be good to share that part with them.

Share that with them.

They are going to go through guilt.

Allow them to know that there was nothing that they could have done even if they had been standing by the bedside. Even if they had called in the medical expert at that moment for the soul had made its choice and the soul was going to the experience of the love of the Father known as heaven and abides with me now in heaven. And for you to know, beloved one, that this one very soon will set out on a new adventure.

Oh good.

Yes.

Thank you very much.

Thank you beloved one.

Most beautiful. Know you that often you have chosen the adornment of hair that has been long? It has been a sign of beauty. Many lifetimes you have been known for your beauty. How are you in this evening?

Hm, okay.

Indeed you are okay. There is a radiance about you. An innocence, a true innocence that is coming even into your awareness to the place where you know yourself to be the holy Child, innocent and perfect. Well what would you ask in this evening?

..talk about loving others it seems I'm giving to others, it seems important ... we need a balance....

{No longer transcribing the general questions that are not relevant for Q & A transcripts.

I am curious what it would like to be you?

Ah, wonderful. May I share with you beloved one that you may choose to know what it is like to be me anytime you want to walk in my sandals. In other words, how would it feel to be the son of God? How would it feel to be all wise, and to come from the place that loves everyone because I know who you are?

Whenever you would ask, "How does it feel to be one Jeshua, one Jesus?" Assume the posture of love. Assume the place, the position that says, "I behold the Christ of this one. This one is a grand child of the Father."

For indeed as I looked upon my brothers on either side of me at the crucifixion, I beheld the child of God, each one beloved of God. How does it feel to be Jesus? It feels wonderful, but not in the way of the ego for the ego will give you the mountain-top experience and the valley. The experience of the son of God is to behold the holiness in everything that transpires and in everyone that you see before you.

If you would want to know how it feels to be Jesus, look with the eyes of love. It is as simple as that. Your world has said to you that I am far above you, that I sit at the right hand of God our Father, and this is true. I sit at the right hand and the left hand and even upon the lap of our Father, but so do you.

That is how it feels. You have known even in this lifetime how it feels to be Jesus, for there have been moment when you have looked upon another one and you have loved that one. You have looked beyond all of the appearance. You have even looked beyond the behavior and you have seen the heart of that one and for an instant you have looked upon that one with the eyes of the Father.

That is how it feels to be Jesus. It is a grand and wonderful place to be for it is a place of holiness and it is a place that you know, it is a place that you have touched. It is not kept from you. It is a place of ascension. It is a place that you are coming now to claim as your own home, and beloved brother, I welcome you there. Thank you.

Can you see how it would be pretty difficult for most of us to really believe that we are equals? We may try to feel like we are equal, but we don't.

Yes, beloved one.

I think you are much wiser than I am.

Beloved one I understand this perfectly because in the lifetime when I expressed as Jeshua, I knew human feeling, human emotion and I studied with masters, first of all, rabbis who knew scripture and law much more than I did for I was a small lad and I was beginning to read the ancient scriptures. And the rabbis seemed most wise and far above me.

Later on I traveled to other lands and I studied with masters there who knew in their remembrance how to do things with the body that I at that point was only beginning to remember. And I held those masters in great reverence and I saw them to be above me because they could ascend the body that a thought.

Wow.

And that was how I felt, wow! For there would be a master and before my eyes, he would allow the light and radiance to come truly alive to the place where the body itself was transfigured and you beheld the light rather than the form. And I thought, this is a very wise one, a master above me. Would that I could know what this one knows.

Until I came to the place, it was a revelation where I realized that I was calling that master forth because there was a place of relatedness within me that recognized equality.

In other words, it is very much as you have your computer programs even in this day and time, where if you do not have the certain software for the computer program, it will not read it. In other words, there has to be a program in there and I realized that if I would and could behold a master doing certain things, expressing certain wisdom that I yet, at that point, held to be beyond me, but if I could behold that there must be a program within me that could relate to it and was calling it forth.

It is the same in this day and time, if you can relate to the concept, the idea of ascension, the concept, the idea of ascended vision that goes beyond this point of focus, there is a program within you, a program of equality. Perhaps not yet claimed, but it is there nonetheless.

So yes, beloved one, I understand very well where you may see yourself to be in this point of time, but I also see where you are coming to be and that brings forth much celebration.

I've been wanting to ask this for weeks and somehow or another I never have, but I think that will help a lot of us.

Yes, I understand it well. It is part of the old shell of the old self that is being shed. It is very much as you would see the locust that sheds the shell, the skin. It is very much as you see the slippery one around the snake, it is called, that sheds the skin. It is very much as the butterfly that sheds the old form.

You are in process of coming into the expanded ascended vision.

Indeed this evening has been an evening of love. It has been an evening where there has been equality as you have noticed, of inner wisdom that has come forth. For as the various questions have been asked you have known the answers. When one of your brothers or sisters would be asking a question near to their heart, you have had insight as to what would help them in the ascended vision. You have shared with each other verbally, the help, different ideas that would facilitate expanded vision. But even in times when it was not spoken verbally you were with that one in understanding.

It has been an evening of great love. It has been an evening of masters. It has been an evening of masters in ascension, for you have been willing in this evening to give of your precious time, to sit in a place of playing with the possibility that all things good and true and beautiful can be and are real. That is part of the ascension.

It is to choose to say, "I know that I am the one Source's Child. I am It's child. I am perfect and holy from before time began and I will now ascend out of the identification with specificity into the totality of my being. I am that bridge and that oneness. And in that, I know love."

It has been my great love, my great joy to be with you this manner in this evening, to converse with you with the words of sound, to commune with you from heart to heart, for indeed even as the words were spoken they have been the answers of heart to heart that bypass concept. That is where the true Isness lies, from heart to heart.

Be of good cheer. Spread the gospel of beauty and of truth. It is a time of ascension. A time of joy. A time of journey. For indeed you are all beautiful radiant beings, the same as I. And that is how it feels to be Jeshua.

So be it.
