

A Personal God

1997-07-11

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of light divine. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph -- Jesus, you have called me -- and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen once again to call me forth. Great joy as a reunion of old friends. Good to see you once again. Thank you for coming.

It is truly this evening, a reunion of old friends. Good to see you. Many lifetimes you have spent together playing, struggling, striving, acknowledging and forgetting, and remembering once again. Many lifetimes you have been together on the journey. The journey of the experience of life, the journey of remembrance which is where you stand now. The journey that says, "I will arise up and return again unto my Father's house. I will arise up and return from whence I have come. I will know who I am. And in that knowing I will remember my freedom. I will remember my holiness. I will remember that I Am."

Great joy of reunion is it not? It touches the heart. I thank you for making trek to this place, to bring the bodies and the consciousness to this place to once again celebrate the wholeness of the holy Child and the love of the remembrance.

All of you have had choice as to where you would be in this evening. All of you have had effort on physical level to drive the vehicles to be here. All of you have made plans. Why? Because of an inner knowing. Because of an inner prompting. A voice that would speak within you that says, "I have to be there. It is time. I have to be there."

Therefore, you have done whatever it would take to be here. To allow this evening to be as catalyst for remembrance. There will be words spoken in this evening that will be catalyst for remembrance. There will be words that will start a train of thought and you will find yourself going along the tracks of the train to the point where you will then say, "Oh, but whatever he has been talking about I have been off somewhere." That is okay.

Follow the train of thought. Follow those tracks for it is your inner Self that is leading you and guiding you, urging you. There will be the words spoken but more than that, there will be the connection of the heart in words unspoken that will mean as much to you when you leave this place. But first I will go back to the beginning which is even before time began. So to speak of a beginning still puts it within the context of time I suppose.

But when the holy Child first thought to create, to have experience and to express, the holy Child brought forth all universes, all dimensions, all realities -- with a small "r". And yet knew herself/himself to be the child of the Father. Knew itself to be creative energy bringing forth the adventures.

But as time, in the adventure, seemed to go on in a linear fashion, and as there was more and more specific identification with the creations that you have brought forth there was a forgetting of the Allness of you. And there was a feeling after awhile that if I have experienced so many adventures, so many dramas, if I have seen so many lands and some of them seem quite foreign to what I remember my Father being, I must have traveled a great distance from my Father's land, from His kingdom. I must be separate.

And there was great sorrow which you have carried in your soul for many, many, many lifetimes. There is a sorrow even now in this evening that you can touch upon. An unexplained sorrow, an undefined sorrow, a longing. And it comes from the forgetting and with the forgetting the belief that somehow I must be far from my Father's kingdom. I must have traveled far and I don't remember how to get back. And there is a great longing.

And with the feeling of separation, with the feeling of longing has developed the concept of a God far off. A God which would be worshipped. A God which would be understandable, unreachable. A God even in the terms in which I gave the concept to you of a loving Father, a God-Father still afar off that could only be reached through certain choices of belief which then became in your evolution of the religious philosophical traditions, which became rituals. Which took you even farther away from the loving Father.

You have come now full circle. You are still searching. You are still asking and seeking and you still want to know, "Where is my Father? Who is my Father? Where is Home? I long for Home. I want to set the sorrow aside and be done with it. I want to fill that empty space within me."

Is there a personal God for you? Yes. But not in the sense that has been taught to you down through the ages of your religious philosophical traditions. Is there a personal God that is in alignment with the concept and the truth that I and the Father are one? Yes. That is the threshold upon which you stand this evening of claiming, of moving into the understanding of the personal God to whom you can pray, to whom you can speak and who will speak to you. And you will know a personal love once again.

I and the Father are one. Yes, you are. You would not be if you were not one already with the Father, with the creative energy, the creative Principle, the life Principle, the Isness. You would not be.

You can run away from that belief. You can run away and say that I am not worthy. That perhaps one Jeshua could be one with the Father but it is not something that I can know. And you have said that throughout many lifetimes. It has been given to you and you have bought it and paid dearly.

But now you are at a place where you are saying, "I and Jeshua, we are brothers. We have the same Father. And if He could claim a divine birthright and know that he is one with the Father, then perhaps I can claim a tiny part of that." And you can. And not even a tiny part of it. You can claim the whole of it. I invite you. For we are brothers, yes and we are one as the holy Child of the Father.

We are not separate. Bodies speak to you of separateness yes. You seem to be separate here there and on all of the chairs, separate. And yet the energy of the spirit of you knows no boundaries. Is not held within the body, but rather is the energy that activates the body and when you decide to release the body that body will be as a husk that has served its purpose. Or you may decide to use all of that energy and just "beam me up," with the body. Your choice. For the Father loves you whether you release the body as an old husk and say, "I'm on to something else," or whether you ascend the body. To the creative principle of you it makes no difference. Each choice is creative, is it not? And beautiful in its creativity.

I and the Father are one. And what you bring to this body, this activation of life-time, is but a small part of you. There is a focus of attention that you bring to this dimension, this reality. There is a part of you, not all of you, a part of you that activates the body and a part of you that develops what you call the personality, the identify. But this is not all of who you are.

And you have touched that space of more than just who you thought you were as a personality. You have touched that space in moments of meditation, in moments of prayer, in moments of contemplation where you might have been doing the most mundane thing even driving your vehicles, and there has come to you a feeling of expansion, a feeling that I am more than just this activation that is driving the vehicle. I am the vehicle itself. I am inside of it and I am outside of it and it would not be without my consciousness.

The vehicle would not be without me. And then you have said, "Where did that thought come from? What does that mean?" But you have glimpsed that there is but a small percentage of the totality of you that is active in this expression. The personal God awaits your acknowledgment that you are not separate from the totality of you. Yes, you do a miracle and it is, of bringing a focus of attention into everyday's expression. It is a miracle what you do. How you will specifically hone that focus to the place where you say, "I am," a name that you have given to yourself. "I have a certain profession. A way that I earn the golden coins. I am activating a male/female body. I am certain years in my timing. I am going to do x, y, and z in this day." And you have a focus of attention upon that specific choice of what you are going to do in that day and in that moment.

It is a miracle every day what you do. And yet you take it all for granted. It is wonderful.

As you do the specific focus there is what you have begun to acknowledge in your philosophy and in your belief structure now, called the higher Self. You have that terminology, that belief that there is a higher Self, and there is. I would not call it a higher Self because that implies judgment of levels, but there is an expanded Self that is aware of the specific focus of who you think you are. That is aware of what you are choosing to do in this lifetime, and that is accessible to you at any moment for what you will call the higher wisdom or the expanded wisdom. That is accessible to you for guidance as you will call it.

Beyond what you acknowledge now within the belief structure, beyond the higher Self is yet a more expanded Self if you. A collective grouping as you understand, in conceptual terms, a collective grouping that you perhaps would call a soul group. Where you would say there is more wisdom abiding there because there are more souls and more experience, more wisdom. This is true. You are part of an expanded soul group. But the other souls as you would call them and would identify them as being separate entities from your soul and you don't even know what your soul is.

The collective group is not separate from you. The specific focus of who you think you are right here and now, is but a cell perhaps in a multi-celled organism and the collective grouping known as the soul group would in your conceptual terms, acknowledge that it is made up of certain cells of intelligence, focus of attention and yet the soul group is but a cell of a greater entity which is you. And you are still able to access the knowing of this. This Allness of you. That is how great you are.

Out of that greatness has come the power that you use to have specific focus of the experience of this lifetime. You are much greater than what you see yourself as an individual to be.

Now, in past experience you have tapped into the expanded mind of you, the soul grouping and past the soul grouping into another collection of what is called as the brotherhood of soul groups and what is beyond that and beyond that and beyond that to the place of the whole Mind -- capital "M". The whole Mind.

You have known lifetimes when you have tapped into the whole Mind of you. And it has not had relevance, relatedness to the specific focus and you have felt yourself out of being, which in truth you were out of the small being. And it has scared you. It has been frightening for it has not fit into the reality -- with the small "r" -- that you were experiencing and expressing at that time.

You have known lifetimes when you have been out of it, as the brothers and sisters would call it, and would judge you. Lifetimes when you have had to be cared for because you were out of it as far as the specific focus of a lifetime.

And it did not feel comfortable to you nor to them. And so you have said, "I will not play around with that. I will do a specific focus," and it has become more and more and more specific as a miracle to the point where you reached a very dense existence.

Small box.

Very, very small box, yes. And that is not said in judgment for it was part of the divine choice of the creative holy Child to know, "What would it feel like to be a very, very dense small pinpoint of a box?" And to believe in nothing. To just exist. Well, you've touched that space and you have touched that space once again in this lifetime as a review. When we speak of it there is a relatedness. You know it does not feel comfortable.

You have experienced that density many lifetimes ago. You have chosen to now move in the direction of expansion. To allow the pinpoint of light to grow. Now always you have been the light. Always you have been the perfect creation loved of the Father, but you have designed for yourself wonderful experiences that seem to be outside your realm of the love of the Father. And that seem to be a very small box.

Then you have chosen to know more and more of Self -- with a capital "S". More and more of who am I? And you have begun the journey that has brought you to this place.

You are well on your way of being able now to connect with the whole mind and not blow all of the circuits. Being able to know that I am the power and the love and the creative principle of my Father brought into focus upon this plane for the joy of expression. And being able to tap that creative power in a way that is whole, that is not unbalanced. Does not make everything go topsy turvy, but allows you to know that I am in the world but not of the world. I have expression within this point of focus but this is not all of me.

I and the Father are one and I bring that creative power into this point of reality. So the personal God has never abandoned you. You have abandoned the personal God many times over by choice because you wanted to know, to experience how does it feel to believe myself outside of the love far from my Father's kingdom? But the personal God has never forsaken you, cannot. But your understanding of the personal God, that is the important thing. That is the important point.

Your personal God is You, but not the you with the small "y". Not the you with the very specific focus of the small self. Your personal God awaits your welcoming of it, your acknowledging, your communication. Your personal God stands ready willing and able, to commune with you at any time. To be there. To support, to guide, to love, to show you the way Home. Your personal guide is You. Your personal God is You.

Now the word "God" often will set up a feeling of separation. A feeling of confusion. To many of the brothers and sisters, when you speak a word of God, they run the other way. They say, "I do not know what that means and I'm sure it's going to mean trouble. I'm sure it's going to have a lot of shoulds to it. I'll have to go to church on Sunday. I'll have to say my prayers everyday. I'll have to watch all of my choices. I'll have to be good. And everything that I love to do, will be off limits." And they run the other way.

Sometimes it is easier to understand when you say your personal guide. As you would see a companion that is on the journey with you that has already been where you want to go and knows what tracks to follow. Can see the signs even if you do not see them clearly. Your personal guide is always accessible to you. And your personal God is that guide.

So if you were to say a personal God and it seems to be a bit difficult to comprehend, change it to your personal guide. To your personal cheerleader. To your personal angel, one who loves you and knows you more than you know yourself.

For you have had focus of attention so specific upon this expression and upon the world that has come into being, that the habitual voice that you hear comes from a place of judgment, a place that would see something wrong and needs to be fixed.

But your personal angel, your personal guide knows you better than you, better than this small point of individuality. And believes in you. Knows you to be the Christ awakening. Knows you to be sincere of heart wanting to remember and to arise up and come Home.

So do you have a personal God? Yes you do. It is your Self. Not the small "s" self, but your Self with a capital "S". Not separate from you. Not afar off from you. Within you. And the within is always with you. There is no place that you can go that you do not have within with you. Always the within is with you. Try as you will, to outrun it, you take it with you wherever you go.

Do you see how wise you have been? The large Self of you. Your personal God is within. I and the Father are one. That is your personal God within you. I Am.

I get confused because if everything and everyone are one, then there isn't any one me that is me? That is this personal God you have been speaking of, is all just one.

Yes, in Truth -- with a capital "T" -- I Am. That is you, I Am. But on the journey to that place which is called nirvana, on your journey as you understand the journey to be there are levels, there are stations, we will call it. Resting places, connecting places where you find yourself as you understand yourself to be at that time. So that you don't have to feel that you are lost in a great void somewhere. I am the Allness but who is me? The personal identity calls out to be acknowledged.

Yes, you will never be lost in the big. Now the ego, the separate ego will bring that up as a great fear. That if you choose to know more of Self, the expanded Self, you are going to lose, so the separated ego says, your personal identity.

You will never lose it. I still retain what I acknowledge my personal identity to be as Jeshua. And yet you would say in linear history that I lived that lifetime many, many years ago. I still retain that personal identity as Jeshua, as a treasure, as you claim lifetimes as treasure.

Now because of a specific focus in this day and time that you do so well, there seems to be a barrier to the other lifetimes of you, the other treasures, the other identities of you and yet all of you have connected with who you have thought yourself to be in other lifetimes. You have played with the idea, "I must have been." And you have claimed other lifetimes because you feel such an alignment.

So even what seems to be a barrier is a permeable, in other words you are moving through it back and forth. It is becoming very, very thin. You will never lose personal identity as long as you want to claim it.

There will be times outside of time, when you choose to allow that to be another reality and you will claim the Allness of you, the nirvana because that is where you want to be. But you will never lose personal identity as long as you want to have it. And you can set it aside which seems very strange now because there is such a belief in separate distinct individuality so it seems like a very strange concept. But you can set it aside as you have set aside all of the other lifetimes in order to focus upon this one, and then you can come back and you can pick it up as it suits you as I do to speak with ones of you when the occasion arises as one Jeshua.

I also have personal identity with other names, other labels, other realities that as yet, do not have a relatedness within this reality. In other words, there is no other way to speak of those expressions, personal identity of me. And yet I know those personal identities and I can pick any of them at anytime within time and outside of time to converse, commune with other seeming personal identities in that reality in a collective understood reality.

So you never lose personal identity. That is why when one lays down the body the loved ones will say, "Well they are dead and gone." But you are not dead and gone. The body has been deceased, but the energy of that personal identity remains what it has always been and can be communicated with, communed with. You do not need the body. That personal identity is always there.

Now within the framework of this reality where everything is seen to be so distinct. Here is table. Here is chair. Here is floor. Here is whatever where everything is distinct. It is difficult to understand how there could be such a multitude of personal identities and to still have some order. In other words, don't they all bump into each other? And if I hang up my identity somewhere in the cloak room and I come back for it later, has somebody else taken it and checked it out for awhile? No, that doesn't happen. It is there.

But within this point of focus, this reality that has such a definite belief that this is how it has to be, it is a bit difficult but you are doing it, to allow the mind to expand to the place where you can see -- within the mind's eye -- the expansion of energy that moves within itself and expresses and yet does not lose the personal identity as you will choose to claim it.

{Comment not clear}

Yes, as you are claiming the identity of who you are now. As you are now moving into the willingness to claim expanded Mind, to claim the holiness of You, the wholeness of You, when you will want to access the personal God there is a very easy technique and you have just done it. You take a deep breath. You have heard me say that over and over. For one deep breath allows you the opportunity to touch that place of peace.

Now it doesn't mean that you are going to stay there. With the exhalation of that breath there is the opportunity to get back into the chaos again, of the world. But if you keep on breathing besides hyperventilating, you will find yourself more and more at peace. It is a good discipline.

To take the deep breath, to go within and to call upon the presence of the I Am of the Christ, the personal God of you. Which is always accessible to you as a personal guide, as a personal companion, a higher Self, a soul group, a grouping of brotherhood of the like minds and spirit and beyond. It is accessible at any time and the love that awaits you in that place of peace, that place of the presence of the I-Amness is beyond anything that you have known up to this point with the definition of a personal God. Because up till now the personal God has been yet likened unto a parent, a biological parent. Somehow better but still with qualities that would see good and bad, better than and less than. And maybe He will love me today. I'm in a really good space today. You know it's been a really great day today. I felt really good about myself and everything I've done today is really good and I know my Father loves me.

Another day you go through part of that day and everything has gone wrong. Everything you can imagine, traffic lights, all of the traffic lights, all of the vehicles have been in the wrong place. The timing has been wrong for everything. And you say, "I'm not having a good day today. I guess God doesn't love me today."

Your personal God always loves you. The personal God of which we speak this evening is beyond the personal God that you have believed in in this lifetime growing up and in other lifetimes as you have bought the religious interpretations and dogma. Even at the best of times with your religious philosophical groups the personal God has yet been a bit dicey. What we speak of in this evening of the personal God can never and will never judge you. Will never abandon you. Will always be accessible by turning within. By breathing, claiming the I Am presence and then drawing upon that peace to know how loved you are.

As you will practice touching that space of your personal guide, your personal God, your personal space of love, you will find yourself exalted out of the mundane. Yes, you will still function in the daily activities but from a new perspective. For you will see yourself as being okay, being loved. And you will see others as being okay. Even in choices that perhaps you would not choose for them, but you will know that they are okay in those choices because even those choices bring them to the place of remembrance and you will know that they are okay and loved of the Father as well.

And there will not be such a feeling of an urgency to fix them. Of an urgency to save them. Of an urgency to see them doing something different. The urgency is gone and you know whereof I speak.

Yes, you would see them making other choices for their own happiness, but you know that they are finding their own way difficult as it can be. And the urgency and the responsibility dissolves.

You call that loving indifference?

Yes, loving indifference to the place of allowance. To the place where you look through the eyes of the Father Who sees only His Child playing and loves the Child. So is there a personal God? Yes. But beyond what you have thought a personal God could be or would be.

Many will call out in sorrow and in confusion to God the Father, to a personal God and want the personal attention and that is okay. That is the very deep part of you, the Child of you, the holy Child wanting to be acknowledged once again. Wanting to be found once again. That is the holy Child yearning to be acknowledged.

And then they will turn from that place feeling that they are not worthy to accept the love that they are calling out for. You have all known that feeling. You have said, "I want to be loved. I want to be held in the everlasting arms of my Father/Mother. I want to know unconditional eternal love. I want to know I'm okay. But maybe it won't be today. Maybe I have to do something to make myself worthy. Maybe there is yet something of me that has to be perfected. Maybe it won't even be in this lifetime. Maybe I won't find heaven until I debase the body." And you have put it off lifetimes. You have even put it off in this lifetime.

And yet all the while the personal God of you, the real true personal God of you is within and you could not leave it anywhere. It has been waiting for you. Waiting for you. That is how everlasting the personal God of you is. Waiting always for you to claim it. To turn within to that presence of peace. That presence of infinite wisdom that goes beyond the world. That presence of eternal love.

The God part of us can't get away from us anymore than we can get away from the God part.

That is very true. You cannot.

We are all together.

Yes, one and the same. Now within a belief structure you can believe that you are outside of the love, that you are not worthy. That everything is working against you. But the truth of you is what you have just stated, that you cannot ever be separate from the God of you. I will not call it a God part of you. You cannot be separate from the God of you.

Otherwise you would not be even with the belief that you could be separate from it. But what you are moving now into is a great place of blessing. An awakening it has been called. It has been called a turning of an age. It has been called the end times. You are living in the end times, do you know that?

But not as a prophecy of doom and gloom. You are living in the end times where you are decreeing an end to the feeling of unworthiness that would keep you separate from the God of you. Hallelujah! Great cause for rejoicing, the end times. And you are feeling an impetus, a great force of acceleration, it has been called, even within time. A force that is moving you to seek, to know, to claim once again. And it is not a force outside of you. It is the God force of you that has said, "It is time now to arise up and to know I am Loved. I am so loved. I am so lucky. It is a wonderful experience to be in this life. Look what I have chosen. Everyday I have chosen opportunities to see the Father in expression. To see the love-light in a small one's eyes that dances with newness. That discovers what is beautiful about living."

To see the love in a friend who now acknowledges that he/she is worth being a friend who values being a friend to you. The love light that comes on when they recognize that you see worth in them. That you like them. That there is something there of value and all of a sudden they relax and they take a deep breath and they feel the touch of the Father through you because you have chosen to see the good in them.

It is a wonderful blessing, this life. It is not a punishment. For too many lifetimes you have believed that you have been thrust out of the kingdom somewhere afar, the farthest reaches of a universe that has been forgotten even in order to do penance for an original sin that you don't even remember doing and you have felt that there was almost, no hope and yet the still small voice within you has said, "There is hope. There has to be hope. There is hope. Maybe a small bit, but there is hope." And that still small voice has always been the God presence within you. And that voice is not so small anymore.

You have brought forth this lifetime for an express purpose, a reason. Not as punishment. You have done that bit. You've played that gig. You've done it to the nth degree. You've done it very well. But that's completed. Whenever you choose to say that's completed, it's completed. For me, I see you complete. You're done with it.

Shit!

I see you done with a lifetime that says it is a struggle.

{Crying by a brother.}

I see you now living the life that you have ordained for yourself as the holy Child and choosing to know friendship, choosing to know love. Choosing to know service to the Christ. Not me, but the Christ that does walk this earth.

I just get so torn apart because I just get torn apart. I kind of live in two worlds at the same time.

Yes, that is true.

My body has a real hard time doing that.

Yes. All of you have chosen to be bridge people. All of you out of great courage, have chosen to live this lifetime in this point of reality that is not an easy place to express the Godhood of you. But you know the Godhood of you which is why you have the courage and you have chosen to come to be a bridge between what seems to be two very separate distinct places of being and they don't seem to fit together.

But what I am speaking to you of in this evening, the personal God, that space within, that is your hope, that is your Truth, that is your bridge that allows it to come into harmony. Without it, you would blow yourself all to pieces.

I guess I'd better find it quick.

You already have found it. You know that space. But I would suggest that you frequent it more and more. Practice, because that which you put the focus of your attention upon increases. It grows. It becomes more natural. It is easier as you practice that presence of the peace.

It is easier to come to that place of peace quicker and quicker as you have practiced with it. Is this not true? The first time that you tried to do this it seems very strange. But as you will abide in that space more and more throughout your day, you find it easier to return to that space even amidst all of the warfare of the world and there is much of warfare that is going on in this day and time.

Warfare that is with the physical weapons, that is happening on the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth. Warfare that is more subtle in your places of employment, your places where you meet each day and interact and warfare even within the self of you as your inward parts are at war one with each other. There is much of warfare in this day and time.

The God place of you, the personal God of you is calling out to you to come Home to that space of peace which will allow some balance, harmony to be seen and established within your activities. For as you will choose to know the truth of your being, as you will choose to know that space of peace within, you will see even the outer effects transforming.

Do not waste time changing, trying to change the outer effects. Go within.

Change yourself.

Go within yes, first and find that place of peace.

Is it helpful to, for me anyway, to understand that the Christ is in charge no matter what's going on?

Yes.

And it's okay what's going on and then to me, there are not two worlds.

Exactly, yes. The Christ is in charge. It is what you would call the higher Self, the expanded Self of you. It is the true being of you and that Self -- with a capital "S" -- knows what it is doing and weaves all of the threads, all of the choices into a beautiful tapestry that in time, even within the context of time, will bring the sleeping child to true wakefulness. It is a divine process that you have set in motion and that you participate in even with an agreement with seeming forgetfulness.

True wakefulness within the context of time?

Yes.

Yes, that's what a bridge is.

Yes. You will see true wakefulness even within the context of time. It will fulfill the need that time has been. Why it has been. And you will know yourself then to be outside of time. You will know yourself to be the maker of time.

So it will be just right at the end, like a bridge?

It can be yes. It can be as your choice that it will be the end of time.

Well my understanding of time is with true wakefulness we no longer need it.

Exactly. You will know yourself to be the master of time. Then you may choose to play with time.

Okay. Okay. Like you are doing now?

Yes. As I am doing right now. And that time of true wakefulness where you know yourself to be the master of time....

Sounds good.

And it is not afar off. It is approaching rapidly because you have decreed that you are complete, finished with the feeling of being powerless. Now you are claiming the power of the creative holy Child, and you are coming once again to that place of inner peace, that place of true power. That place of the personal God which is you.

{Break}

We have been speaking in this evening of your personal God. That space of personal love which goes beyond even personality and individuality. I would invite you to go to that space where you connect with your personal God, your personal sense of love and being loved often in your daily activities. To remember as often as it is possible, to take the deep breath and to abide in peace no matter what else is going on around you.

For you have decreed that the world as you know it is going to suffer turmoil, upheaval and change. And this is good for the world as you have known it has not been a place of love. And you have decreed that you want to know love and have it in your experience every moment of the lifetime.

Therefore, you are moving into a new world, a new society that will be based upon other values than what is now held as collective value. And so you are going to see in the days that are yet to come, much of change, much of turmoil. For there are many of the brothers and sisters and even parts of you from time to time in everyday, that are going to be in great resistance to change.

You have decreed that you are willing to have change. You desire change. It is a fervent wish of your heart to see change and to see love established upon this plane. But even you with the sincerity of desire feel from time to time some resistance. And this resistance is magnified tenfold, a hundredfold in some of the brothers and sisters. For they feel that they have vested interests in the world as it is now. And they desire to hold onto the world as they know it now. Even though it does not bring them joy.

So in the next few years of your timing, you are going to see much of upheaval. Some on the physical level. Much of it on the inner level, the spiritual level yes, and the personal level as each one has to come to that place of choice where they feel finally, as you have, you have touched this place that there is no choice. It is a choice-less choice. For all of the other options are too painful.

But as of yet, many of the brothers and sisters have not come to that place where they recognize the choice-less choice. And so you will see confusion. You will see behavior that is not loving and does not come from a place of knowing that they are loved. And they will be out-picturing the unworthiness that they feel and will be projecting that out in the behavior choices that they make.

It will be important to you to stay centered in the God presence. It will be important to your peace of expression, your joy in living to know, truly know, the God presence of You. That personal God which is never apart from you. And to know how to access it quickly. Even though appearances all around you may speak of hell. To know how to access it quickly and to stay in heaven yourself.

And by that I do not mean the deceasement of the body. I mean that state of heaven of where you know the peace that passes the understanding of the world. It will be important for your joy. It will be important for the agreement that you have made to be teachers, to be way-showers to the brothers and sisters. It will be important for you to know that space of the personal God of you. And to live in that space moment by moment by moment.

For already you have seen some of the testing. Already you have beheld behavior, energy that is not of heaven. Already you have seen how that appears and how it feels.

We have spoken in this evening of the space of the personal God which is within, which is accessible anytime, which is your greatest treasure because it is You. It is your divine Self and you will be called upon to demonstrate a life that is lived from that space.

Now, if you mess up does it mean that you are going to be eternally damned? No. It just means that for a moment or so or whatever time interval you choose for yourself you will be abiding in hell. And you know that that does not feel too great. But in every moment there is opportunity for choice and you may choose anew. As quickly as you recognize that you are not abiding in the God space, the personal loving I Am Presence. As soon as you recognize that you are free to choose something new.

And you will find that it comes to your awareness very quickly. You will not have to abide in it for hours on end or days on end before you recognize it. You are going to say, "Oh, this is the S-H-I-T that I have known many times. I choose now to see this as the fertilizer and I choose now to move beyond it." And in that next moment you choose for peace.

And as you will choose for peace, you give opportunity for the brothers and sisters around you and afar to choose for peace, to claim that space for themselves. You have seen what happens in a time of conflict when you are in another's space, so to speak. And you are with great energy, the two of you. And one says one thing and another responds and it escalates. You have felt that energy that builds on itself.

You have also experienced how it feels to have another one right in your face with great energy and you remember, "I do not have to join this in equal energy. I can take a deep breath. I can go within and I can smile." And it transforms the energy that is happening. It does not build upon itself.

You will be called upon to know that truth in your days to come. Now is that a prophecy of doom and gloom? No, it is not. It is something that you have experienced many, many lifetimes and you have experienced many times in this lifetime. Now you will be choosing to abide in peace for your own Self's sake. The true Self of you. The Self of you as you identify individuality and Self of you that goes beyond individuality. For it is time now for the true Self of you to be visible. To be claimed. It is time.

So I would suggest unto you that you practice abiding in the space of the Godhood of you, the space of peace. Begin with the deep breath. It is the simplest of techniques and yet it works magic. And abide in that place of peace. Come from that place of peace as the guidance, the higher Wisdom will direct.

If there is something to be said, you will know. If there is nothing to be said, you will stand and be the presence of peace and that is all that is called for in that moment. That takes great courage. For there has been habitual choice to the place where it is a reaction well known, to respond to energy in a like manner. To choose to respond in a different way takes choice, conscious choice and courage. At least at first.

After the first few times you find there is no choice because it feels so good to be in peace no matter what else is going on. But you choose it very quickly and you come from that place of power, that place of true power. That place of personal power that is beyond individuality. It is personal in that you have chosen it. You have made it part of your person, and yet there is more of it than just what would be seen as individual.

Now, beloved ones, it has been my grand joy to converse with you in this manner. To play again as the holy Child. To play with all of the questions of the mind, all of the concepts, all of the what if's and then to take them to the place of the heart, the place of peace where all wisdom abides. That place of the personal God. Your personal God. The personal God that you are. All of the questions that the mind can think of will find answer in that peace. And if there be no obvious answer know that the peace is the answer itself.

Sometimes you search all around for what has to be the answer and the peace itself is the answer. Claim your personal God. Claim your place of peace. Live in that space of peace and you will find your world, the outer world, transformed as you allow the inner world to become in your awareness, what it has always been, a sacred place of God.

So be it.
