

Vail-Thursday

1997-07-24

You have heard the tones brought forth by the beloved brother. It has changed the energy in this room has it not?

Yes.

Have you felt yourself one with the tones? Could you feel the gathering in of all of the energy of you within the tones that you could hear with the physical ears and the tones that you heard in the heart? Bringing you to that place, that centered place of oneness where nothing else for a moment or so exists. That centered place of the holy one.

When we were so gathered some months ago and you experienced the tones brought forth by beloved brother on another instrument and he spoke to you of the drone, the constant tone which again in this evening you have heard. And we spoke of the symbolism and the truth that you bring forth for yourself even with an instrument. You are the constancy, you are the drone, the constancy of the eternal one and upon that constancy you play your own melody in each lifetime. You do your own harmony. You do your own disharmony from time to time. You play your own melody against the backdrop of the constancy of the eternalness of you.

Thank you beloved brother, for playing once again. Thank you for having the courage to open your heart and to sing with the tones to allow others to experience what they know already in their heart as an ancient, very ancient tool of remembrance.

For some of you in the beginning it seemed strange. It felt a bit foreign, and yet as you would allow yourself to dissolve into the oneness you felt a familiarity that speaks to you in remembrance. Very symbolic.

Beloved one, holy one, child of the most high. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph -- Jesus, you have called me -- and it is in great joy once again I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen to call me forth. Out of the great joy of the Father, to be in reunion and in remembrance once again.

I have watched you in this day and it has been a day of joy. It has been a day of reunion as you have spoken with brothers and sisters, as you have asked, "How goes it with you? What is new?" As you spoke in your last evening with the alter self, your partner if you will, in great adventure of the few days so gathered here and I would suggest to you that when you leave this beautiful place you keep in contact with the alter self, a friend that you reacquainted yourself with last evening.

Speak with them on your mechanical means. Speak with them from heart to heart. Put the pen to paper. Write, send them the picture known as the postcard. Keep in communion with the new found friend who indeed is an old family member.

And even more than that, in this morning Beloved Elder led you in a certain exercise of reunion and remembrance where you were at a place where you allowed boundaries of small self to be laid aside and to expand into the totality of the one Self. And to go as you would see with linear time, back in history to walk with me. And you re-experienced a truth. A truth that you bring now into this reality which gives you companionship, which gives you encouragement, which gives you guidance that leads you to your heart's desire.

As I watched you in this day there was great joy shared by me and by you as there was awareness of that lifetime. Awareness brought into this reality and claimed as all of you touched that space and claimed the truth of that lifetime even amidst the questionings of the ego that would say, "It is just imagination. You are just having fun. It is a suggestion." Yes, a suggestion to turn the focus of your attention to the expanded Self of you which has experienced and expressed in countless lifetimes.

One of which, in one of which you walked with me. You experienced with me. You heard my message. You took it to heart and you shared it with others because you found a way of touching that place of holiness. That place within. A way that allowed you to feel free of the world as you are now claiming your holiness and being willing to discard the old illusions of the ties of the world and to expand into the whole Self, the holy Self and to know the joy thereof.

This day has been a day of celebration for you and for me as there was remembrance, conscious remembrance of what you have known in your heart. What has been suggested to you by the seers, ones who say that they can see who you have been, what you are about now, where you are going. They have suggested to you personalities and lifetimes. Some of which have resonated with you. Some of which you have said, "No, I'm not quite sure about that."

Now in truth, every personality, every lifetime that is suggested to you, is a truth -- with a small "t" -- of a reality. Otherwise it would not have been expressed to you and you would not have heard it. But you are in a place of alignment as you call it, with certain qualities of lifetime that feel more familiar. And so you say, "Yes, I will accept that one. And another one, I'm not so sure. I'll have to sit with it for awhile." And that is good.

You are the totality of the one holy Child come forth into manifest experience and expression many, many times over as you see it in this point of focus. In other words, it is a belief. Reincarnation is a belief held by many and not by others in this day and time in this point of focus.

It is a very useful tool for it allows you to expand beyond the specific identity of who you see yourself to be right now. As you claim other lifetimes and other experiences you move beyond the small definition of self -- with a small "s" -- and you allow yourself to play with expanded image of who you are and it serves a divine purpose.

You have invited the experiences of this gathering. It is not by accident that you played this morning with what is known as the regression and you anticipate on the morrow to play with the progression of the individuality of you. To connect with totality of Self. That is the bottom line goal of what you are asking to know. And along the way you will connect with who you have felt yourself to have been and who you see yourself to be in the future.

And yet as you connect with what is known as the future you have already experienced it. It is but a belief in the process that says it is somewhere yet out in linear time, yet to be experienced.

But as Beloved Elder shared with you the seer of time, and you would say that this is a certain time in the history. This I have already done. This is yet to come. It is all the sphere of the now time. That is why you can tap into it and will tap into it on the morrow.

Not only to go into what you see as future lifetimes but to move yourself forward a week, a month, several months to see how you are envisioning the future and when, in your belief in process, you walk into that future, part of you will be surprised and another part of you will say, "Well I knew that all the time. Way back in the summer time of this year I saw that." Of course.

In this evening we will be speaking of the Level II of the Christos Intensives that you have designed and have asked me to share with you. Last evening we spoke of your commitment to discipleship. A commitment which you have made to know to Christ Self of you and to be a disciple of your own Christ Self. To take upon yourself the discipline of choosing for the Christ perspective in every moment.

It is a discipline, yes, but as you exercise the choice of choosing for beauty, choosing for love, choosing for infinite wisdom, you will find it coming easier and easier. And in this evening we will speak of what you are bringing forth, your creations. Wondrous creations.

You see yourself surrounded by the beauty of your creations. You have brought forth all of the beauty that you see. Does that surprise you? Have you said, "Well, it's here without me." Is it? In truth, no, it is not here without you.

You are much more than what you have thought yourself to be. You have connected in this day with more of who you are and what you have brought forth as you played with Atlantis and your creations in that time. And as you played with Lemuria and your creations in that time as time is seen to be.

As you would think upon Atlantis, as you would think upon Lemuria you would see that to be a creation of the holy Child, to experience and you have. This day has been brought forth by the holy Child to experience and you have.

You have seen the beauty of this place. There was a calling deep within you to come and be at one with the beauty in this location. Even before you set physical eyes upon the manifest beauty there was a calling and you responded to it. A calling of the one holy Self that has said, "Come and play amidst your creation. Come and know the joy of creation." Know you that is how you were created? From the joy of the Father. That is what birthed you, as you see yourself to be as a creation of the Father and yet you are not separate from the Father.

You have come forth out of the energy of great joy. But throughout what you would see as many lifetimes and much of the identification with manifest form with the creations of manifest form, you have forgotten some of the joy. You have allowed that joy to be dulled. Now it is still alive and well within you. Otherwise you would not be. But you have turned the focus of attention to other matters, to the point where the flame of joy has been as a small pilot light in many lifetimes and even sometimes in this lifetime. Always there. Always ready to be turned up, but sometimes it is as a small pilot light.

But in your desire to know at-one-ment, in your desire to know ascension, in your desire to know the Christ of you, you have decreed that you will re-experience and reclaim the joy and the energy of that joy.

Know you how it feels on a day when you feel happy about self? You feel happy about what you are engaging in doing. You feel a certain energy that carries you through that day. It is as a hot knife through butter. Very smooth, very easy. You feel invigorated. You feel inspired. You feel caught up and there is so much energy of you to be used for that project, for that interest. Know you how it feels when you first fall in love? And there is such an exhilaration of energy and you want to be with that. You want to do things with that one. You want to share everything with that one. And there is a certain upliftment of energy and you touch that space of your true Self.

Now very quickly within the world you allow all of the constriction of judgments and shoulds to come in there and to tone it down a bit. To the place where you begin to see, "Well, It's not quite as perfect as I thought it was going to be. He doesn't always close the drawers. Sometimes he leaves his dirty clothes out somewhere. Sometimes she burns the peas. Sometimes she cooks the peas and I don't even like peas." Et cetera, and you allow all of the judgments, all of the questionings to come in there and to dull the joy of the love that has been very real and very vitalizing.

You have decreed that you will come Home. You have decreed that you will know the at-one-ment and that you will know the energy of the holy Child in its totality and you will bring that into experience even upon this plane. Now does that sound like an impossibility?

For some, they would say, "Yes, that will blow all of the circuits." And in truth, it will. It will blow all of the boundaries of what reality has been thought to be. But you are ready. That is why you are making for yourselves certain experiences that feel as boxes and you are ready to push out away those sides of the boxes. Already you have been breaking out of the mold.

All of you so gathered in this room in this evening, have broken out of the mold. Some of you by choice, conscious choice. Some of you because you just couldn't help it, and thank God for that.

Everything that you behold is your creation. It has been created out of your energy. We have spoken many times that there is no separation. Even though you see the physical bodies to be separate. One on one chair. One on another chair, etc., etc. The energy of you does not know a boundary. It intermingles with all of the energy of the brothers and sisters whom you see and whom you do not even see.

Your energy is infinite and extends to the farthest universes and beyond. Otherwise they would not be. Everything that you see with the physical eyes you have brought forth in your creativity and it is there for but one purpose: it is there to serve you in your remembrance of who you are.

Now, if you have brought forth everything that you see out of your energy, your consciousness how can it be separate from you? In truth, it cannot be. You are one with your creations. This is most important to understand. You are one with what you have created and everything you have created is there to serve you even if your interpretation of it says that it is a nuisance, a challenge, a big boulder, a mountain perhaps, in the way. It is there to serve you. This is true for everything that you see in the physical realm and it is true for everything that you bring forth in the mental realm, in relationships, in experience, in emotions. You bring it all forth to serve you.

There is not one of you here in this evening that has not experienced a certain event in your life that has seemed to be terrible, traumatic. You have said, "I could have done without that experience." In truth, you couldn't. In truth, it has brought you to this place where you find yourself now in your awareness of who you are.

Your emotions are your creations and they serve you. As your emotions perhaps are kept within the body to the place where the body feels constriction and disease, many would say, "Well that is not a service. That is a hindrance. I would like to feel the harmony of a body that is in flow with the energy." The constriction serves you in that it brings you finally to the place where you choose anew. It is as you have a saying in your world when you have banged the head against the wall long enough, you stop, you say, "Perhaps there is another way."

It is the same with the constriction you put in the body. (Stopping to take a drink of water) You bring forth the energy of water to revitalize, recharge the body and its energy. You are one with the energy known as the water, held within a container that is your creation as well. The water serves you as the flow of energy within the body. It needs, as you have designed your body, it needs the flow of the energy of water for you have designed the body to be mostly water. Mostly liquid.

Whenever you will be feeling at a very low point energy wise, drink the fresh pure water. Breathe first, and then drink. To your health.

You have a wonderful toast that we just did, "To your health." In truth, it means to your holiness. To your wholeness and as you know your holiness, as you know your wholeness, your oneness with the life energy the body will show forth that wholeness known as health.

Now there are many substances that help, that facilitate a balancing. Substances that you call natural, that are grown in your fields. Other substances that you call artificial, synthetic. And yet how come they to be? Where do they come from? The synthetic one?

Our creations.

Yes, your creations. Holy as well and will serve you as you allow within your belief system. As you allow them to serve you. There is beauty in everyone of your creations. There is beauty even in what you see to be the most annoying, terrible, challenging experience. There is beauty in it. And you have all come to the place where you have acknowledged that. You have all said, in a begrudging way. I have heard you, "Well there was some good in that experience after all." Know you that is choosing for the Christ. As you have acknowledged that there was good in that experience after all, you have chosen to see with the eyes of the Christ.

Last evening we ask of you that you would begin a journal, to write down at least one thing of beauty, one thing wonderful that happened in that day. And then in this morning with the conscious awareness to breathe and to feel the energy of oneness, the energy of the Christ and to project that into your day. It brings great joy does it not?

It frees you from feeling that everyone else has your day scheduled for you and that perhaps you might get five minutes on the lunch hour to do what you would want to do. It allows you to see that in truth, you are the one who is creating that day.

In truth, even the days that you feel that someone else is orchestrating all of your time and all of your schedule, you are the one that is creating the allowance that believes it can schedule your day for you. That is how powerful you are.

In this evening before you lay the head upon the pillow, again write in the journey oneness with at least one creation of this day. It will not be hard to do.

A whole bunch.

A whole bunch. Yes, you have experienced much in this day. You have experienced much that you have seen in physical terms, much that you have heard of beauty, much that has been shared one to another from heart to heart, the reacquaintance of a loved one. For if you will receive it, all of you in this room have been mates one of another.

You have all known human love one for another. Yes, it is true. You have all known biological family where you have been siblings and have experienced the rivalry.

{Laughter}

And sometimes even within a Christlike group such as this the feelings of rivalry, small ones, come up for a moment. They come up. It is okay.

Write in your journal, the experience of oneness with your creations of this day. Take stock of what you have created in this day. Take stock, as we have said, of what you have seen in the physical and what you have experienced in the spiritual. Claim as your own, the experience of this morning when you could see yourself with me. Claim that as a truth that will be as companion to you in the days of this lifetime. That will guide you. That will comfort you. That will commune with you in the true oneness of the One Self that we are.

Know the joy, reacquaint yourself with the joy that we experienced in what you see as a lifetime long ago. You felt a certain enlivening in my presence in that day and time. Recapture that enlivening. Recapture that feeling of being truly alive in this day and time. Come alive in the Christ that you are. Feel it. Know it to be your true nature. Be contagious with that energy.

In other words, be a little dynamo. Allow the energy of the Christ to be brought into expression so fully that the ones around you feel it and know it and know you to have been transformed. And in that, as we have spoken many times, you offer to them the opportunity of transformation.

When you go out of this building in this evening, allow the eyes to turn heavenward. See the beautiful sky above you. The lights that you have put in the heavens for yourself. Breathe of the mountain air that you are creating moment by moment that is healing to the very body itself. Drink deeply of that fresh air for it is healing.

Allow yourself a moment of communion, to know oneness with the light in the heavens, with the air, the sound of the rushing stream that is as music to the soul. It will heal the tired soul. That is one of the reasons that you are gifting to yourself the few days in this location. It is for healing. It is for renewal. It is for remembrance.

It is not by accident that you have come to this place. It is not just on a whim but it for healing in the true sense of knowing the wholeness that you are, the holiness. And from that there will be physical healing.

As you find yourself leaving this gathering after the few days being together here, you will know healings. You will feel yourself lighter of body. You will feel yourself more in the flow of the energy that you truly are. It is the heart's desire, is it not? Yes.

It is the heart's desire for all of you to know the energy of the Christ that is free flowing and that then is manifest throughout the body and through the body in extension to the brothers and sisters whom you would serve.

There will be healings. In truth, the healings have already happened. But there will be acknowledgment of healing. When you come to the place of packing up the belongings and making trek back to the dwelling place where you usually abide, you will take stock and you will acknowledge that miracles have happened, that there have been shifts in perceptions, shifts in belief systems, shifts in self-image and image of what the world is for and how you are to serve in that world. Shifts that will be then apparent in the body.

You need not worry with the voice of the body. The body speaks out to you as a reminder that says, "What do you truly believe about yourself?" That is the purpose of how the body serves you. It will call out to you and the ego will interpret from the place of fear, all of the possibilities of dire consequence.

The body will call out and say, "Maybe this is something that is going to be terminal." In truth, yes, it is going to be terminal, because you are going to terminate limited belief as to who you are and what the body is for. So when the ego speaks to you that this condition could be terminal, thank God.

{Laughter}

Say, "Yes, I accept that. I want my limited belief to be terminated. I want it to be transformed." And give no more power to the voice of fear that says, "There is potential for diseasement." You will be experiencing the opportunity to be with healers in this gathering. Concentrated time of facilitation to remember your wholeness known as healing. You will experience miracles in that time. Already those of you who have availed yourself of spending time with the healers, have experienced a shift known as healing.

Again, it is being afforded to you because you have invited them to be with you one more time. So that you can know an upliftment that takes you out of the voice of ego, that takes you out of that place that says, "This part of the body is falling apart. This part of the body hurts. This part of the body is too much one way or another."

You will have opportunity to experience expanded energy of wholeness and miracles will come forth. In truth, the miracles have already happened, but there will be a certain process of facilitation that will bring it into the conscious awareness and there will be great joy and great celebration.

In truth, that is what this weekend is all about. It is about celebration. It is about knowing the Christ. It is about remembering the Christ Who lives and moves upon this realm sometimes in forgetfulness in order to serve the brothers and sisters at the place where they believe themselves to be.

That is truly where all of you are. You are at a place that serves from a seeming space of forgetfulness because it is the place where you can meet the brothers and sisters in their belief. And yet for you there is a still small voice that says, "There is this and much more. This is truth of my reality, yes, but there is much more." That still small voice is very much present with you and within you. And as you take upon yourself the cloak of forgetfulness, the cloak of the servant, deep within you the truth of your being speaks with a clarity and an increasing intensity that will not be ignored any longer. A great time of celebration.

In what you see as the next three years of your timing you are going to behold many miracles. Much of expanded awareness, expanded consciousness for you yes, and for many of the brothers and sisters. There is a wave of energy, Christ energy that is sweeping across the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth. It is accelerating, it is most contagious and it is being caught by many of the brothers and sisters who hunger and thirst to know their own worth. To come out of the pit of limited self-image that you know so well. You have been there. You know that place and yet you know that it is not the only place and thank God for that.

You know even as you have agreed to serve in the valley you know that if there is a valley there must be a mountain. Otherwise there would not be a valley. It would all be plain would it not?

Therefore, as you through the shadow of that valley know that on the other side is the mountain. That is where you have come, out of the valley to the top, now to the top of the mountain. You serve the brothers and sisters because you have agreed that you will take upon yourself one more time, the cloak of seeming forgetfulness. That you will say that there is separation between you and all that you create so that you can speak a language to the brothers and sisters where they believe themselves to be, and yet you know by the voice of the still small Truth -- with a capital "T" -- within you, you know the holiness that orders everything down to the smallest detail that brings the holy Child into complete remembrance of atonement.

Celebrate with your Self, the oneness with all of your creations. Celebrate with your Self, everything that you have brought forth in this lifetime. Allow yourself to be beholder as you would look at someone else's life perhaps, and see what has been experienced. Look at it from a place of the beholder and honor everything that you have created and call it good. For it has brought you to this place of awakening. It has served you well. You have never made a mistake. Nothing that you have experienced has been a mistake. It has been for divine purpose. It has been holy. Even all of the sorrow has been for divine purpose.

And if you will receive it, it is finished. All of that old baggage that calls to you, is finished. It has served you well and it is time for it now, to leave the stage. It has done its part.

You have been experiencing moving into a new place of self-image. You have been experiencing and playing with how does it feel to be Christ? How would I walk as Christ? How would I talk as Christ? How would I interpret what is going on through the eyes of Christ? How would I judge self through the eyes of Christ? With great love. With great love.

Judge all of your creation through the eyes of Christ, all of your creations, moment by moment, everything that you experience, everything that you see. Look upon it through the eyes of Christ and use righteous judgment. Holy judgment that judges from the place of the whole vision, the whole tapestry, not just one thread, but the whole tapestry of what the holy Child is about and has been about throughout all of the adventure.

The adventure itself has not been a mistake, has not been a sin, has not been brought about through stupidity. Has been brought about through divine creativity to experience, to know what can I create? And how does it feel to be amongst my creations? That is what the adventure has been all about.

And for a time, because there is believe in time, you as a collective soul group. Now as you would define a multitude of individualities, you would say it is a huge soul group. But you as a soul group, a collective group, have said, "I will experience an adventure within time, within matter, materiality, physicality. I will see what I can create and I will walk amongst my creations great God that I am." And you have done this. And you have become so immersed by divine design in your creations even with the body, that you have momentarily, temporarily, forgotten that you are the one who has brought forth the creations.

Why? To enjoy. To play with them as a child plays. To be in joy, in awe, in wonderment of what I as the Christ have brought forth. Now doesn't that make everything look a bit different? No more need to beat up self for what has seemed to be mistakes. Your Father does not see mistakes. Your divine nature does not see mistakes. Your divine nature has been characterized as love because it is the closest concept to the expansion of true divine energy, known as joy, within this realm. So it is called love. In truth, it is much more than love, but it gives you a clue for as we have spoken earlier in this evening, how does it feel to be in love? It feels expansive. It feels alive. It feels exhilarated. It feels free.

Your divine nature is expansive and free, infinite and you have brought forth all of your creations to serve you so that you can play with them, so that you can know the joy of creativity. That is what it is all about, to sit in great wonderment with the tiniest flower and to know that you have brought forth the delicacy of that flower. To stand in great wonderment and to look at your tallest trees and to know that you, the holy Self of you, which includes the individuality. Do not discount individuality. The holy Self of you has brought that forth for the sheer joy of knowing that wonderment. Knowing oneness with the energy of the flower, of the tree, of the animals that are as your companions, that are in truth, your brothers and sisters. Activating different form as you see it, and yet of the same divine energy. For if you will receive it, you have activated what you call animal form. You have known lifetimes, experiences with animal form. They are your brothers and sisters activating what is seen to be a different form.

You have been the great winged ones that have flown free upon the currents of the air. You have been the ones who have gone beneath the deep oceans. You are the ones who have known lifetime with the mass, the huge mass known as the dinosaur.

If you have ever wondered what happened to the dinosaurs, ask of yourself. Hmm, infinite wisdom abides within you. There is no separation. Neither in this time nor in what you would see as another slice of time. Ask of the dinosaurs. When I was a dinosaur, where did I go? What did I experience?

There is a reason that the dinosaurs are experiencing great popularity, great interest in this day and time. To allow you to expand beyond what you see as the epitome of form known as human form, arbitrary value judgment. Know you that there are other forms that look upon human form and say, "Hmm, how limited that is." And yet you in your wisdom you say, "This is the highest. Hmm."

The dinosaurs are knocking upon the awareness now in this day and time and saying, "Reconnect with part of what you see as your history. Reconnect with how it feels to activate another form."

As you know great love for the beloved pets, for the animals that are your companions. As you know that great love, what happens to the boundary between self and the pet? Dissolves does it not? It is as a no thing. The heart goes out and you are one with the beloved pet. You feel a joy. You feel a freedom, a oneness. And the wonderment now that you could be part of the creative principle that has brought all of this forth. A great wonderment.

That is what I desire to give unto you this evening for your contemplation; to know great wonderment with all of your creations. With new life as it is birthed, new forms as you behold them, new creations of experience to be in great wonderment as to how you have brought all of this forth to serve you and to know that it does not dictate to you. It is the other way around.

You have brought forth the creations to serve you and they do not dictate to you, your reality. For your reality is beyond what you have created. You bring your reality into that creation otherwise it would not be. But it does not have power over your reality.

And as you have brought it forth from your energy, your consciousness, your creativity, you are one with it and it blesses you as you bless it.

For everything serves the holy Child in his/her remembrance which is what the Christos is all about now. There is a stirring of the Christos that will be known and experienced and expressed and you will see much of this in the next three years of your timing. Not because I decree it, and I do, but because you decree it.

As you allow yourself to know oneness with your creations, there comes the wonderment we have spoken of, and there comes and honoring of all creation. It moves you from the place of the small self. It moves you into a place of knowing the true Self that has agreed one more time, that you will activate form and that you will know life experience.

There is an honoring that brings joy. It brings a certain simplicity to life. For even the most knotty problems, the most convoluted constrictions are but a creation of the holy Child brought forth for your wonderment and for your enjoyment. Honor your creations. Play with them even the ones that the ego would say are great stumbling boulders in front of you. Play with them with a light heart.

Because as you shine that light heart upon what seems to be a knotty problem, it begins to unravel. The light will show you a new solution, a new way out, a way of transformation. Play with a light heart.

What you are about is most holy. What you are about with what you have called the Christos Intensives is a shift. A shift truly into miracle thinking. A shift that takes you from the small self into your God Self, into your holy Self.

Therefore, keep the journal, be in great wonderment. Celebrate, honor Self, the Self of you which is most precious and in that honoring you will see the preciousness of everyone else. There is a shift that is happening. A most wondrous shift.

Now, beloved brother, I would ask of you would you come forth and close this evening with words that are healing? Thank you.

{David Hiller closes the meeting.}
