Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of light divine, Child of miracles. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph -- Jeshua, Jesus you have called me, RajPur, many other names that are sacred in the remembrance of the one holy Child now ascending unto the place of atonement into that sacred place of claiming once again, the power of love. The power of miracles.

Yes, grand miracles. You came to this place wondering why I am coming. Much of ego saying, "I should be somewhere else. This is craziness. According to the world there is much that I should be doing in my dwelling place. I should be saving up golden coins. Why am I acting like I am rich, that I can spend everything?" And as you have now seen, it has been an investment well worthwhile.

I'll say.

This one is a grand teacher for all of you. You all have a resonance within the heart for this one wrestled with the voice of ego, with the voice of the world that would say, "There are many, many uses to put the golden coins to. You must store them up against whatever could befall you. There is a limited amount of the golden coins, of energy, courage." And yet she said from the higher Self of her, "I will risk it all." And so you did. And you have come and as your investment it has appreciated.

Yes.

Yes, the heart. That is what this gathering has been all about. It has been about appreciation. It has been acknowledging that you have already made the commitment to the Christ of you. The commitment to know deep peace even amidst all of what human relationships and the world would say. Amidst all of the voices that you know so well and to say, "I will claim the Christ. I will claim not an abstract concept of Christ, but I will claim love that holds me. Then I know it. It is not just an abstract idea of the Christ that sounds good." But you know the Christ feeling that holds you, that comforts you, that nurtures you, that guides and inspires.

You are now allowing that inspiration to come forth in manifest reality within this plane. You are claiming all of the creations....

I want to claim it for each and everyone.

It is claimed. It is so. The work that you do is far reaching. It goes out and it touches literally, many people. But more than that, the encouragement that you give to them, the love that you share with them, the joy that you share with them then is multiplied and shared with others.

It is the same for all of you in what you call your work. No matter if you see your work to be within the business world and you say, "Well the spirituality, I leave it at the doorstep when I leave my dwelling place." You do not.

The Christ of you, the spirituality, the spirit that is alive and well within you and is expressing, you take that everywhere you go. You cannot help but do that. And as you are allowing yourself to be lifted up into the place of the Christ of you whatever work you will be doing will be healing. It will be touching others in a place where they hunger and thirst to know who they are.

And the work that you have spoken of that you have begun already, it is well blessed, yes. Not only by me and my Mother, but by you, the Christ of you who has said, "One more time I will come into this kingdom of reality and I will work amidst all of the seeming appearances that could be otherwise. I will bring healing. I will bring love. I will allow ones to know the healing of the body and I will allow ones to know the healing of the soul."

For most of the brothers and sisters among whom you walk, are crying out in the soul for healing. I say most, because there are some masters of you who walk amongst you knowing the holiness. But most of the brothers and sisters with whom you associate are crying out almost to the point of desperation. Some of them yes, in desperation to know healing of the soul. And that will be manifest many times as disease in the body. And as you will facilitate the healing of the body, what comes forth then is a space of freedom where they can look a bit above to something higher and to begin to know healing at the soul level.

All work that you do is divinely guided, orchestrated. All work that you do. Everywhere you go the Christ goes. Everywhere you go the Christ goes. Therefore all work that you do is divinely guided as you will allow yourself the upliftment that you have touched in this gathering, that place of the Christ. That place that knows oneness with all that is created whether it be in the tangible form or it be in the experiences and you will know oneness and claim the good in each creation. As you have seen, on your day of yesterday it did not feel so wonderful. Your creations were there as servants unto you pushing you to that place where you would say, "Help me. Hold me. Let me know the Christ love." All of your creations serve you. Especially the ones that don't seem very comfortable.

Those are the ones that have much energy attached to them that will force you to the place of saying, "I am on bended knee. I need to know, I want to know, I must feel something beyond this pain." And you have claimed responsibility for your creation. Not a responsibility that would hold guilt, as saying, "I have not created very well. If I created very well I wouldn't be in this mess I am in."

You have come past that to understand that all of your creations serve you and you and you have brought them forth because of divine purpose. The purpose of atonement.

Now again, not said as something that has to be cancelled out because of guilt, but the knowing of at-one-ment with the spirit of you, the wholeness of you with the Father.

And then as you have allowed yourself that space of guiltlessness, you have begun to appreciate what you have brought forth. For you have begun to see the divine weaving of everything. As to the call to be in this location, this United States that goes so fast, you have begun to see the divine weaving of all of your choices and how they are leading you to the place of the remembrance of Home. All of your choices.

And there is great gratitude then that wells up. Sometimes to the great God, the Father above. Sometimes to the higher Self. Sometimes to the Christ of you for there is no separation. Great gratitude that says, "Yes. Yes, sometimes I make choices that in the next moment I will shift and change. But every choice is a divine choice and I feel great appreciation for the creative power of the holy Child." Creative power.

I have watched you in these days that you have been together. I have seen your struggles for you have all brought with you an invisible, seemingly, piece of luggage. You brought the boxes that contain the raiment. You brought the boxes that contain the precious things and you also brought the box that had within it certain self-image, certain problems, certain areas that you desired healing for.

And I have seen you as you have opened that box, as you have been willing, courageous enough to open that box and to take out some of the issue that have been so closely identified with you that you felt if you were to take those issues out and look at them, you would perhaps die.

And yet within this circle of love, you have found courage. You have found encouragement to look upon those issues and to see them for what they are as overlays upon the perfection of the holy Child. Overlays that are as a no thing. Overlays that you have created to play with.

And you have looked with new eyes upon those issues. You have been bold enough to speak to other ones, "I carry with me a heaviness. There is an issue that I see healing for." And you have held each other, you have cried together and you have rejoiced together. You have felt the energy of healing to the place where there has been the prickles on the skin. You have feel the healing that has gone deep within.

And even if there was not conscious awareness, recognition of issue, the soul has felt healing. For you do not always have to dig up everything that seems to be as baggage and to abide with it. You may go straight to the healing. You may go straight to that place of the heart and know you are already whole. Created as your Father sees you, perfect, divine, wonderful.

And you may claim that without having to go through all of the overlays that you feel you have put upon the Christ Self, holy Self of you. I have seen you do that in the days. I have seen you jump from the place where you would be afraid to have to speak of what is closest to your heart and yet all of a sudden you looked with open heart upon another one and you said, "This is what means the most to me. This is what I desire. This is what I am struggling with. Will you hold a vision with me?"

And the brother and sister they said, "Yes, of course. That is easy to do." And part of you has said, "Easy? I have struggled years with that." And yet because they have seen it as easy, it has encouraged you to say, "Okay, I will hold that vision myself as the joyful, happy child who deserves all of the best that my Father has for me; in the golden coins, in the employment, in the relationship, in the enjoyment of everything that I surround myself with."

Know you it is no accident that you have chosen to be in this beautiful spot. It is no accident. You have desired at a very deep level to connect with the beauty of the creations that you can and have brought forth. You have said, "Let me feel, let me feel the beauty of nature. Let me know the energy, the pure energy that flows." It flows yes, in your urban cities but sometimes it gets a bit covered up because there is focus of attention upon many other issues. Out here you allow yourself the freedom of the heart to open, to breathe. I have watched you. Even the breath has become deeper, more relaxed, easier.

You arrived here and there was a certain constriction held even around the body and within the body. And you arrived here with great hope, and the constriction has dissolved. You have allowed a lot of that to be left somewhere and you weren't even aware of where you were leaving it sometimes. That is good because you don't have to go and pick it up.

By the time you leave this place all of you will feel a shift has happened. Already you feel it. Already you know that you are not the same personality as the one who arrived here some days ago. You will never be the same. You certainly know that.

But it has been true for all of you. You have allowed somewhat because you have seen yourself in a new location and you have said, "Well, some of the old shoulds, I will let them go for a few days. I can be freer. When I go back home I will pick up all of the certain shoulds that seem to be part of me." But I will share with you, you won't pick them up. Some you will, but not all of them because you won't have to.

You have allowed yourself space to feel free to change. You have said, "I am amongst my friends, my brothers and sisters who are also wanting to know healing, to know change, to know their holiness. And I see some of them feeling quite free about it even to the point of outrageousness. And if they can do that, well maybe I can kick up my heals and do a few outrageous things as well. I'll try on a few new aspects of myself." And it is wonderful.

One of the reasons you come away to a place that is not imbued with all of the usual feelings of the dwelling place where you do your usual work is to allow yourself that freedom. To know that you can be quite different, outrageous, positively in world terms, insane, and yet in that moment you find your true sanity. And you can see how it feels to let all of that go. Let the body be at ease. Exercise it in different ways, to speak a crazy saying that comes to the mind and it comes from the heart and it is not judged because it comes from the heart.

Does it not feel good to say something and have it not be judged? Yes. You have allowed a safe space and I will share with you, that the safe space is not contained just within this room. In other words, when you leave here that will not be the end of it. The safe space is within you and you take that everywhere you go. That safe space you have created and when you go to your dwelling places, go back to what is called home -

- how symbolic -- when you go back home the safe space, it goes with you for you are changed. You have allowed the shift to happen.

You have claimed the holy Self of you and that holy Self of you will guide and direct you in what you see the future to be. For we have spoken that there are many changes coming in what you call your future. Many changes because you have decreed you want to know holiness. You want to know the Love of the Father and you want to see that manifest and expressed upon this plane. It will be happening because you have decreed it.

And the safe place, it goes with you always. And as you allow it, it will expand to the place where it will take in whoever else you are in interaction with. In other words, they will feel safe with you. You will know the power of gentleness. For you have tried the world way of power. You have felt great energy and you have used it in certain ways that the world knows well. And you have seen reaction to that energy where there is a certain... know you the magnets, the energy of magnets? Yes, and there is a certain attraction and yet if you turn the magnet around what happens? There is the repulsion that happens.

When you are in a place of the anger, the intensity of energy that way which comes from a place of not being connected with the love that always you are, it is as the magnets that are in repulsion to each other. But the power of gentleness it attracts and it is a great power. It works magic. It allows that safe place to be known in the one, you, all of you, and in the other one that is in interaction with you. It attracts and with that, there is great power that comes together.

That is what all of the masters down through the ages have known. That the way of the world is to be in contradiction, to be in conflict, to be one against the other and to say, "I have great power and I will use it. I will know that I can use it over you. I will force it upon you." What you do is you force away and all of the great masters down through the ages have known the power of gentleness, the power of the quiet word sometimes not even having to speak a word, but to stand with another one, to take hold of them and just to look to the place where the energy that would be in conflict is dissipated, is allowed to be released as a no thing. And out of that comes the well-spring of gentle love that is powerful.

Know you that the greatest masters have used that power of attraction, of gentleness, of quietness where then there has been the coming together in oneness. Not this way, but this way. Know you that is why you have the symbol of the hands together. See. Not this way. You don't do this. This feels most awkward, but you do this. Which means I come together with you in gentleness, in love. I attract you to me because I know we are one and I show you that we are one. I speak from the Christ heart of me in recognition of the heart of you. That is what you do in gentleness.

It is not necessary that you be in opposition to any of the brothers and sisters. That only prolongs the separation. Try the gentleness and experience the miracle.

For as you say to the world and to the ones that you are in relationship with, in interaction with, "I will no longer be in the way of the world in what has been the way, the understood collective agreement. I will no longer do that with you. I have decided to try something new. I have decided to feel the power of the magnets as they come together." There will be a great surprise for they will look at you and they will say, "What has happened? I have known that one to be like this." -- know you the symbol? "Yes, I have known this one to be like this, tightly clasp," clasp seemingly the power. But yet you do that, where is the power? There is not much room for power in the tight clasp fist. Much more room for power in the open hand.

The other one says, "I have know that one to be this way. What has happened?" And then they will say, "I don't care what has happened. I like the feeling," and there is a coming together in gentleness and then you claim what the masters have always known. You claim the power of love.

And in that, you bring about a divine marriage. In that you bring about a divine marriage for you recognize the oneness. Not the two that would be so separate and that would always be one against the other, but you recognize the divine oneness and you bring about a wonderful marriage.

Now marriage you have the understanding of society, has been seen to be between two persons usually as you understand it now in this point of focus, between male and female, activation of male and female bodies. Wonderful holy Child that you are, you are now coming to understand that the marriage takes place in the heart and in truth, it does not matter what the design of the body is, whether it is male or female. But the marriage truly happens in the heart and you are moving into a space, you collectively, are moving into a space of recognizing marriage between ones who activate the same design pattern of the body, male-male, female-female together, no longer having to be male and female.

But recognizing the true marriage comes from the heart, happens in the heart and then is out pictured and expressed and experienced through the bodies. That is like the icing on the cake, that's an added unto. But what happens first, is within the heart.

You have in these days that you have been together, been bringing together for yourself a divine marriage, for you have been claiming oneness with the brothers and sisters in the openness of the heart and you have been claiming divine oneness within the parts of yourself that sometimes have been at war with each other, and there has been great healing that has come out of that.

It has been a time of marriage. It has been a time of knowing the divine oneness that the recognition and remembrance of love brings about. You have felt when you first arrived here, we spoke of the piece of luggage that you brought with some of the aspects that you thought to be your yourself, that you were not quite sure you wanted to own. And you have felt that there were pieces of you here, there and everywhere and you hoped that no one would notice.

In truth, they did not notice. It was only you who felt that you had pieces here, there and everywhere. The brothers and sisters looked upon you with love and saw wholeness. It was you who thought you were carrying this thing with all of your extra pieces that you didn't know where to put them or what to do with them.

And you have allowed a certain divine marriage to happen in that you have claimed all of the pieces that go together for the holy Self. And the rest of them you have left by the wayside. In other words, you have married your Self.

Human marriage, a wonderful tool that you bring about in order to know your holiness through humanness. Human marriage, it is wonderful. It will bring up all of the issues.

Yep.

Quickly. The issues would come up anyway, but by doing the marriage those issues come up right away. And you look upon the other one and you say, "Oh, my goodness. How could I have selected that one?"

{Laughter}

"He annoys me. She does all of these crazy things. When I am asking for nurturing, what does she say? She points out all of my imperfections. I don't care. I know them. I know the imperfections. I want nurturing." Have you ever felt that? You have been in a place of feeling quite un-whole like an open wound, and you have gone to one and you have said, "You know every thing is going wrong, etc.," When they say, "Yes, sure it is going wrong. It is because you do this and that and the other thing."

And yet the message under all of that is for you to go within yourself, to know that another one cannot heal you. They cannot because you are already whole. It is as simple as that.

But, oftentimes the mate will force you into a place that feels alone until you go within and you find the strength within. And you do the divine marriage with your own Self. Then you come out of that place and you play as the holy Child, and that gives you great freedom.

Human marriage, it is wonderful. It is a grand invention the holy Child has brought forth in order to play, in order not to judge but just to say, "I am whole in my Self. Now I will play with you," and you do and that is wonderful.

A time of miracles this week has been. A time truly symbolic of the divine marriage that you have been claiming for yourself in the healing and knowing of wholeness within yourself. Which in truth, is one with everyone that you see.

You have brought forth another wonderful miracle in this week. For within this gathering you have a brother and sister who have come to the place of knowing the Christ of themselves and have known that they have been wedded, divinely married that that Christ of themselves and can now offer that Christ to the other one whom they have chosen to journey with.

I would invite you now to come forward. These beautiful children of the Father, brother and sister to you all have words and ceremony that they wish to share with you. Therefore, you may.

{Geoffrey and Esperanza conduct a wedding ceremony.}

Jeshua blesses them:

Already the blessing has been bestowed through your recognition of the Christ of yourself and of the other one. Truly you are blessed in the sight of our Father. Truly you are blessed in the sight of each other and truly you are blessed in the sign of all of the brothers and sisters so gathered here.

You have recognized the perfect union that is without beginning and without end. The perfect union of the holy One come forth into manifestation as individuality in order to play, to dance as the radiance upon this plane.

Already you are blessed in the recognition and remembrance of oneness. The rings that you have selected are as symbols of the holy One. It is no accident that for rings you choose the circle. Yes, it fits the finger but know you that in other times you have selected something that did not go on the finger. Therefore, see the perfection of the choice of the ring. It symbolizes the love that has no beginning and no end, but is eternal as the holy One of you.

These rings contain within them the vibration of holy love. As you will be wearing these rings there will be a vibration palpable enough that you will feel, that will remind you of this day and of your eternal love one for another.

I would ask you now, would you place the ring upon her finger? And with that you have pledged once again the remembrance of the undying love, the love of the Father.

Would you place the ring upon his finger? You have all been witness to the love exchanged and remembered. Do you have words that you would speak to each other?

{Vows of Geoffrey & Esperanza}

For what God has joined together, the recognition and the remembrance of the Christ, for what God has joined together let no man put asunder. In other words, let none of the individuality of the voice of the world cloud the remembrance of the one Holy Child, the Christ.

So be it.
