

Your Purpose In The World

1998-02-06

Beloved and holy and only child of our Heavenly Father, child of the one Source, child of light divine. That is who you are. Most radiant wondrous being. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph -- Jesus, you have called me -- and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you once again this evening in your timing. Once again to share the love and the joy of the Father.

Hi! How goes it?

Great.

Indeed.

Rapid.

And rapid, yes? Yes that is what we will speak of in this evening. Rapid, many changes. Much happening upon the earth plane. Yes. Sometimes more than what you can keep up with. Sometimes more than what you want to keep up with. Many, many changes. Much of healing that will come out of those changes. Is that not true? Yes.

All of you have been feeling an acceleration of time. You have been feeling an acceleration of occurrences happening. You have been feeling an acceleration of decisions needing to be made. A nudging, an urging, almost an urgency sometimes. And the still small voice has said, "But I don't want to go so rapidly. I want to breathe. I want to be at peace."

And the world will provide you with many, many opportunities to stand in that place and feel you have to decide, feel you have to do, that you have to react or that you have to act.

There is much of intense energy upon this plane at this time. We have spoken of this in years previous. That you as the creative holy Child are bringing about a new awakening, a new dawn. You are bringing about a New Age. And to do this you will be sorting the wheat from the chaff. You will be having to set priorities. You will be feeling that you are being squeezed so that you have to choose.

You this even in this time of your weather. Much of energy upon this plane. Much of occurrences for brothers and sisters to ask of themselves, where do I stand with this? Where is my truth? Is my truth with the dwelling place? Is my truth with all of the material goods? Is my truth with the voice of the world? All of my possessions? The golden coins? And brothers and sisters are having to make very quick choice as to what is important and how they will act.

For you as the divine creative child, you have said that you want to know heaven upon earth. You want to know the awakening of the holy Child. You want to know God. And you have searched high and low throughout many, many lifetimes. More than you can count. You have searched for the Father. You have searched for meaning. And you have gone to the brothers and sisters, all of the ones you would see to be wise. The ones seen to be in authority. The ones who would be teachers and masters and you have said, "Tell me please, where is God? Where is the Maker of all of this? How can I please Him? How can I please Her?" For God was not always thought of as to be a male personage.

"What can I do to find favor? With God or with the gods?" As you saw the different beliefs in different cultures. Sometimes it was a singular God, sometimes it was plural. And you have searched for meaning in your life as you have done in this lifetime and still are doing. You have searched for the Father high and low to tell you meaning, to tell you what is important. To tell you what you should be doing. To tell you how it is going to turn out.

And you have sought of ones seen and unseen to tell you what they could not tell you. And you have come away many times sorrily because the answer was not to be found in the way you were seeking.

This evening we will speak of your purpose in the world. This evening we will speak of why you are here. This evening we will speak of the Father and how to find Him. For indeed, your purpose is to know, truly know and remember once again, the Father and to express the Father upon this plane.

All of you are grappling with heavy issues. All of you have challenges. All of you have at least one and many times more than one, issue that you would see changed, that you would see healed and you want to know how, how can that happen? And you seek for the wisdom by asking of others what their truth is about the matter. Asking them their advice and they will give you their advice.

Often times you will put others above you and think that they have more wisdom than you do. Even subtly the way your society is organized. You have certain ones who are "expert" in fields. And they know themselves to be experts because they have studied with other experts so long that they have become indoctrinated with that belief system to the place where they know that they are absolutely right.

For them, that is their truth and they are absolutely right. But for you, is it your truth? And do you have to be subservient to their truth? Indeed not, and your pain and your sorrow comes out of trying to put yourself into their truth and to make yourself fit into it. To see through their eyes their perception. And what you see through their eyes and their perception does not look to you like heaven and you go heavy in the world. The heart aches and the soul cries out for love. The soul cries out to remember once again, the Father.

If you would know healing of any issue in your life, first, come to know healing of the heart. First, come to know the wholeness that already abides in the heart. Seek ye first the kingdom. You have heard those words written in the scriptures. Seek ye first the kingdom and all else will be added unto you and you will not even care that all else is added unto you for once you know the peace of the kingdom. Once you know the holiness of the kingdom. Nothing else needs be sought after.

How do you seek the kingdom? Ah, good question. How do I do it? Well, you in your divine creativeness, you have been bringing forth many, many books and teachers who will instruct you as to how to find the kingdom. How to find the Father. How to find peace. How to find success. Success in the world and success in the eternal sense of your own being.

If you would know the holiness of the heart, allow yourself first to breathe. It is so simple and yet so often forgotten. It is the first thing that the small one does upon the independence of new life. It is to take the breath. The breath is your connection to the peace of the heart.

Feel the peace that it affords you, and if that peace escapes, in the next instant breathe again. And again, and again until there is a certain lasting sense of peace. Then ask, in that space of peace, your question and sit with it most neutrally and wait.

When you ask, the answer will be given you. It cannot help but be given you for you are the one perceiving that there would be a question. You are the one who is graphing with a challenge. You are the one who says that this challenge is truth -- with a small "t" -- in my life. Therefore, the answer is within you as well and it cannot be kept from you by anyone.

You can delay the answer and you have done this for lifetimes. You can delay knowing the answer by running hither and yon and asking of others what their answer would be. But do you see, no one else can give you your answer. They can give you their answer, but they cannot give you your answer.

Therefore, ask of others if you will, what their take on something would be. But then sit with it in your own heart and see how that feels to you. See if their answer is your answer. And if it is not, perhaps it will shed some light and steer you in a certain direction that will lead you to more of the understanding of your own answer.

That is what you do with one another in what you call your networking which is so wonderful. You go and you ask advice and you say, how does this look to you? This is what I think is happening in my life. How do you see it? And they will share with you their perception of how they see it and you sit with that and you say, "Well, parts of that feel true and parts of it don't feel true." And then you go to the next one. It is like you would play the game of the jig saw puzzle. A piece here and a piece there and you start to put them together. And after awhile you come to your answer. Each time testing it in the heart. Each time breathing, claiming the peace of the heart and then ascertaining how true it is for you.

Even though ones would be experts in certain specific fields of learning, even though ones would have the certificates upon the wall, they would have the certain letters after the name that proclaims that they are worldly wise, they do not hold your answers. They may hold part of the answer but they do not hold your answer. Only you can hold your answer.

As you are desirous of knowing the holiness of the heart and knowing the peace within the heart, avail yourself of that which is inspirational, that which is uplifting, that which is good and pure and true as you define your own truth. Read that which is inspiring, that which uplifts you to a new perspective where you can behold the world but know that you are not of it.

Speak with ones who will be your teachers in joy, in goodness. You have much of the world that is ready, most ready to assail you with what is wrong in the world. What are disasters. What are impending disasters. What brothers and sisters are doing seemingly wrongfully to each other. And it is very easy to get caught up in the world.

If you would want to know the peace of the heart, breathe peace, read peace, speak peace, eat peace. How do you eat peace? You bless what you are eating. You know the holiness of what you eat. And more than that, more than just the physical eating, eat peace as you find nourishment in your books and your teachings, in your music. Always you have choice. Creative child that you are you have brought upon this plane a myriad of choices.

You have the music. We will take that as an example. The music that has a very assailing beat to it and you can feel yourself assailed. Or you can listen to the vibrations of music that allows you to feel you are one with it and floating very peacefully, transcendent even.

Each bringing together of vibrations serve the purpose. In other words, the music that seems most assailing, it serves a purpose for ones who need the energy level a bit jogged. They find much jogging in it. But for those who desire to know peace, who feel already much of the jogging within, perhaps there would be a choice of a different vibration. And in that way you nourish the soul with peace.

In the next few years of your timing you are going to see even more of an acceleration of intensity of energy. It is going to be most necessary that you know your place of peace and that you come from that place of peace. Always it has been thus. Even in what you would call simpler times. There were always the choices, the opportunities, the seeming threats and challenges.

But now you have decreed that you will feel in a certain consciousness, you will feel an intensity of energy and you will resonate with that intensity. Therefore, it will serve you well to know your place of peace. To know the center of you, your own being, the heart, and to know how to come quickly to the heart, yes. That is where your heart is. To come quickly to that place of peace within.

For the world is of your making and you have made it a wonderful catalyst for remembrance. The world is of your making. You are the creative one who brings forth the world and you have said that you will be in the world. You have agreed that you will activate a body and that you will share a collective consciousness that you will be creative with activity, with opinions, with interchange of energy with the brothers and sisters. But you have forgotten that you are the maker of the world. You re in the world but you are not of the world. The world is of you, of your making.

And the separated ego, it will speak against that and it will say, "Well look at everything that happens in the world and how can you say that you are the maker of the world? If you are the maker of the world, change it, heal it. Make it be right."

What makes it be right, is the shift in perception that you do as you allow yourself to abide in the heart and to look upon the world from that place of peace. To be the beholder of the world. But to know that you are not the victim of the world and that you are not caught into its activities and its machinations.

You are the creative one who has brought forth the world and you have agreed that you will be in it and now, beloved one, you are remembering that you are not of the world but it is of you. And that perception as it shifts, as it turns will transform even the world that you see.

It will seem to be a miracle. It will seem to be magic. And it is a magic that you bring about. For you are the wise one. You are the magi. You are the ones who work magic. And that is your purpose in the world, to work magic.

But not by getting into the world and trying to change it from that vantage point. Not to get down into the filth and dung as you would see it in the world, and try to change it from that perspective. But to rise above it in the place of peace, the place of the heart and to behold that the filth and dung is as fertilizer for remembrance.

Know that you are in the world because you have agreed that you will share collective consciousness, but you are not of the world. It is of your making. And you will be as the Father, you will be as the great gods who created this place and you will look upon all that has been made and you will call it good. You will even look upon the world that seems so tragic and you will bless it and it will transform before your very eyes.

Your purpose in the world is to remember that you are not of the world. Your purpose is to go lightly in the world and to hold the holy vision, to be the beholder of what happens and to interpret it for yourself and for others from the place of holy vision. From the place of peace, of love. From the place of God. Your purpose in the world is to remember God and to live from that vantage point of knowing your oneness with the Father, with God.

Now how do you find God? Well you have tried looking for Him everywhere except where he is. You have sought Him in the mountaintop. You have sought Him in the valley. You have sought Him in the books. You have sought Him in the teachers. You have sought Him in your experts, your authorities. You have sought Him high and low. You have worshipped every thing outside of yourself, and yet you have not found God.

But in truth, you have found God. For everything that you have seen, everything that you have laid the eyes upon. Everything that you have worshipped including all of your experts and authorities, contain the essence of God. Everything. Brother. Sister. Mountain. Streams. The stars in your heaven. The blade of grass. All of that is of the Father. All of that is God.

For you have seen God. But where does that God come from? The God that you see outside of yourself. How do you know that God? Yes, because of your own consciousness, your own being, your own "X, your own awareness of x.

For in truth, there is nothing outside of you. You are unlimited energy and the concept of energy, it is one we will use here to be able to speak and yet the concept limits that which you are. But you are unlimited energy. You are unlimited x.

You see the body to be separate. You say, "This is where I stop. Right here. This is me. This is the body. This is me." And then you go a bit farther and you say, "Well, I told that there is an aura of energy around the body. So perhaps I am about this far from myself." And then you have studied with other ones and they have said, "I feel your energy this far. Oh, you are really radiant today. Ah, I feel it even this far."

You say, "Wow, I'm even bigger than I thought I was. Great transcendent being that I am."

Your energy is unlimited. You are the energy that activates everything upon this plane and beyond this plane. And you are not separate from anything that you behold or any one that you behold.

In truth, it, they would not be there if it were not for you. They cannot be there apart from you. It as a drop of water within the ocean saying, "This is all there is." You are the vast ocean and more.

You see yourself as the drop of water. You see other drops of water and you say, "How great it is that we join together in like mind. How great it is that we play upon the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth as a wave of energy."

And yet I say unto you, you are the wave of energy upon the face of our Holy Mother, the Earth and within all of the universes that you can imagine and more than what you can imagine. You are the wave of energy that knows no beginning and no end.

But for a time, a point of focus, a belief system right now, you have encapsulated how much of that energy you will accept and be aware of. It is a collective belief system and yet it is a collective belief system that is undergoing change. And praise God that it is. Praise yourself.

The God that you would seek is you. There is no God outside of you. Although many lifetimes you have been taught, many lifetimes you have taught others that God is to be found somewhere else, must be sought after, must be worshipped, must be placated. And that you must do certain ritual in certain order with certain purified substances. And if they were not quite purified enough, oh woe unto you. You would probably burn forever being purified yourself.

Where was God in those lifetimes? Right within you, same as now. Right as you, same as now. You are the God you would seek. You are the companion, you are the Father, you are the lover that you would seek.

Nurture the Being of you. From the God of you. That is why we have spoken earlier, to read that which is up-lifting. To surround yourself with what is inspirational, harmonizing. Nurture the wounded child of you. For all of you have had the experiences of adventures where you felt the slings and arrows of the world and you have felt wounded, battered, almost to the point of extinction according to your belief and your self-image. And yet the still small voice, the divine spark has stayed alive within you and has said to you, "You are much more than this. Truly, you are much more than this. Hold on. Hope." And you have. Which has brought you to where you are now. Which has brought you to the place where you are willing to contemplate, that perhaps there is divinity. Perhaps you have a bit of divinity. Perhaps you are divine. Perhaps you are life. Perhaps you are love. Perhaps that love is more than just human love. Perhaps that love is unconditional, unlimited, that cannot be separated one from another. Perhaps I am the Father's holy Child.

Look for your Father in that which uplifting, that which is peaceful, that which allows your heart to feel free. That is how you know when you have found the Father. And your heart feels free. How do you know when you have found the constriction of the world? Yes, the very body will allow you to know because it goes into constriction right within the solar plexus. Grabs you.

When you find the Father, and you do in everyday, for you find the Father for a moment or so or longer, you feel the heart to open. You feel the heart to be free and you breathe with an easiness that allows you to connect once more in conscious awareness, is the true spirit of you.

Seek ye, your God, for he maybe found. Seek him within the heart. Seek him within the peace, the goodness, the Truth, the beauty of life. Nurture the child of you, the holy Child of you that now wants to be remembered. It is most important that you nurture the child. That you appreciate the child of you. That you praise the child of you. That you look for the good qualities as you would judge good to be, and you appreciate those qualities within yourself and look for the good qualities within the child of another for you are not separate from them either.

Seek ye, your Father where He maybe found. For never has He left you and in Truth, never have you left Him. You have turned the eyes to another point of focus temporarily to know what you could create and what that creation would feel like and you have created worlds upon worlds upon worlds. Some of those times you have remembered that you are the maker of that world. Other times you have gotten immersed in the world to the place where you have felt that it was a heavy burden upon you and you did not know how to get out of it.

Now you are going with an awakening that is growing, an awakening that allows you to remember, "I am in the world, yes, because I have chosen to be in the world. But I am not of this world. It is of me."

And if you would change your world, chance your perception of how you see it. Change your perception of yourself. For you are not the victim of anyone else's power. You cannot be the victim of anyone else's power. Teach this to your small ones, your young ones. Encourage them to be courageous in the face of what seems to be a threat. Tell them that the Father loves them. It cannot be otherwise. Tell them that they have set whatever challenges before them in order to breathe and to come through it victoriously.

For the Father, the Spirit of you, will never let you down. You may let yourself down from time to time and believing that you are a small self. And that you are powerless against all of the workings of the world. But when you will choose for courage, when you will choose to know your own power and strength, all of the universe rushes in to aid you in the remembrance of that Truth.

It takes but your willingness to choose courage in the face of what seems to be a big challenge, a big threat. All you have to do is to choose courage and to breathe. And all of the power of the universe rushes to you to help you.

All of you are facing issues that you would see changed. All of you wrestle with issues that you would see healed. All of you wrestle in various degrees perhaps, with issues that feel life threatening. Either life-threatening in the way of the body being released or life-threatening in the way that you feel you would like to live your life.

All of you wrestle with heavy issue. Seemingly different and yet all the same. For all of the issues that you wrestle with are your tools, your catalysts that will bring you to the place of remembering that you are the maker of the world. It is of you. You are not of it. All of these catalysts are blessings. Blessings in disguise yes, as you wrestle with them. But in time, and it will not be a long time, in time you will come to see how they have served you, all of these challenges. You will see how they have served you in remembering who you are. Served you to the place where you choose once again your courage to know, "I am not powerless." Speak this to the smaller ones, the younger ones and remember it for yourself. "I am not powerless even in the face of the world. Especially in the face of the world." And breathe your strength into any situation.

I understand you are saying that if I have a situation, the challenges, and I breathe my strength unto what I believe to be the way I want things to go, that the universe rushes in to help me?

Yes.

But it doesn't always seem I get it the way I want it to go.

Yes.

There must be other levels that things are happening?

And that is true. As you will breathe your strength into whatever situation, you will allow an expansion of what you see that situation to be. At first, you will see the specifics, the knotty problem that you work with. You will see all of the knots and all of the twists and ties that bind. But as you breath your strength into it, as you claim your divinity, your holy power there comes an expansion of what you behold.

It is as you would be lifted up from what you are seeing. When you are very close to a situation this is what you see, right? Right in front of the nose with clarity. As you will breathe your strength into it and allow yourself to be lifted up a bit from it, to see more of the vision. There comes a clarity, a growing clarity that will allow other aspects of it to be seen. What you have called other levels, other aspects of it to be seen. And there is much that is working in the universe that I have spoken of, much of the universe at work with these other aspects that you do not see when you are this close, thrust right into it.

But as you will allow yourself to breathe your strength into it as you will ask for the holy vision. You will see what you call the 20/20 hindsight even. You will see, "Ah yes. That is why some of this is happening. I see it is not only my challenge, but it is other's as well. I see that we are doing this dance together. A holy dance in order to provide opportunity for remembrance. That is what the world is for, to provide opportunity for remembrance.

There are situations not necessarily that I want "x" done, is that "x" is in my face so I can look at my issues?

Yes, and not only what you would see to be your issues but also to see the inter-relationship of others issues and others belief about themselves and about the situation. And to breathe your love into it. You love as the God that you are, that has brought all of this into being.

Not as a punishment, but as the catalyst most great motivating force for remembrance. Every opportunity that comes to you it is there because you have asked it to be there. It is there to allow you to claim your power as the God within you. Not to feel that you are at the mercy of any other power outside of you because we have already spoken that there is no power outside of you, not to feel that you are at the mercy of your own power within you to say, "There must be something within me, a flawed characteristic of me that always brings all of this bad stuff to me, or all of these problems to me." But to come to the place where there is the great laughter that says, "How creative, how wonderfully creative I am, and to stand in that courtroom and to smile with the confidence of God that knows that the outcome has to be holy." It has to be holy because you are holy and you are making the drama, you are making all of the interaction of energy that is happening. And you will stand in that courtroom confident, courageous, and know that your Father, which is you, is at work even in what seems to be most terrifying even in what would speak to you of possible loss.

You have faced or it is a good idea to face, what is the worst possible scenario that would come out of this threat? Possibly, can you live with it? Yes, you can live with it. The others involved, can they live with it?

Yes.

Yes. In other words, no one will be brought to the point of extinction, thrust into the void and forgotten forever. No. Okay, now you have dealt with the greatest fear.

No problem.

All of the other ones are smaller and you can deal with them in turn as well. When the separated ego will speak to you of possible threat, its power is in that nebulous place where you do not look with clarity upon what could be seen as the most terrifying, most terrible scenario.

When you look upon the face of fear itself, when you will have the clarity, the courage to look at the most terrifying and look at that fear square in the face and say, "Well, even if that happens I will still abide, they will still abide, we will come through it." And you will, that is a given. Yes. Then you may know that everything else can be faced in the same manner and can be dealt with in the moment.

Now the separated ego loves to deal with all of the what if's. The separated ego it loves to saw away on all of anything that could possibly be happening and to go down that road over and over into all the detours. You cannot go down that road except moment by moment.

Where are you now in this moment? Well, you are here. You are in a place of peace. You are in a place of okayness. The body is breathing. The functions are happening. Nothing is threatening to take you away. You are doing okay in this moment. You will be doing okay in the next moment. Yes, and the next moment and the next moment after that.

But the separated ego will want you to try to handle everything down that road and you cannot.

All at once.

Yes, all at once and you cannot until you get there. Handle it moment by moment. Now yes, you will have certain druthers. In other words, you have faced the worst fear and you know that every other fear is in degrees less and less than that. But you also now, hold a vision of what you want to be happening. You have clarity about what that looks like, feels like, how it unfolds.

You hold that vision. You breathe your peace, your strength into it and then you release it. Why? Because in this moment that vision of it is but this part. You hold that vision because it is true and real in this moment and it is what allows your heart to feel free in this moment. Then you release it to the expanded wisdom of you. Sometimes called the Higher Self. Sometimes called the guardian angel. Sometimes called God. But you release it to the higher wisdom. Freely release it. Let it go. Thy will be done, which means from what I can see right now, this is what I desire. But I know that there is much more working here that in truth, is divine. And I want to know, for myself and for the others involved in this, I want to know the higher truth. I do not want to cripple, to confine by the vision that I know now. This vision right here. I don't want to confine, constrict the divine outworking by my dictate.

Because I don't know the big picture.

Exactly. And yet the separated ego will say but you must put all of your energy into making that vision come true. Otherwise you will lose. Sometimes you must lose in fact, always you must lose the small self in order to gain the large Self, the holy Self.

And it takes courage. That is what we spoke of this evening. It takes courage to say I am the holy Child of the Father. I am the maker of this world. I am not of the world but it is of me. And it takes courage to breathe over and over and over again, the peace into what is gripping you right in the solar plexus.

But courage, beloved one, it comes from the heart, the true heart of you. Courage is your divine nature. It is of the heart. And it is for you a great gift. It is a gift upon this plane, courage as is hope. It is a great gift that you give to yourself. And it is free for the taking, courage. But you have to claim it. Now on can open up your mouth and stuff it into you. But you can claim it within you and then allow it to be seen outwardly. Most important.

As you will deal with what seems to be the most horrendous possibility, as you will face the darkest fear, it will seem to be life threatening. And if you stay in that place, in truth, it is life-threatening for it will sap the energy of your life, all of the joy of your life to the place where you will say, "It is not worth living another moment, another day." And it is life-threatening.

And many of you in this day and time and many of you in other lifetimes have allowed that feeling then to be registered into the body where the body then out pictured for you, out pictured for you the lack of life that you felt and you released the body.

Now, the releasing of the body that is not the cessation of life. You are still living. You are still being. You are still powerful. IN truth, when you release the body you go unto the Father's Home, House, mansion, another room I have called it within the Father's mansion. You go to a most wonderful peaceful state, as you have prepared for yourself the knowing of peace. And the releasing of the body it is not something that is difficult. It is not something that is a punishment. It is not something that is thrust upon you. It is a choice. Always a choice. It cannot be taken from you.

The releasing of the body is as easy as a breath and a cessation of a breath. And you have ones who have released the body and come to tell you of that experience afterwards. And they have told you of the light, the all-encompassing light, and the all-encompassing love and a sense of peace.

The releasing of the body is not something to be feared. In truth, more of you fear living than you fear the releasing of the body. I would say unto you, claim life. As you are activating the body claim life. Be truly alive in life. Go with a courageousness that knows I am in the world but I am not of the world. I am the God I would seek. I am the holy one. I am not separate from anything or any one that I see or experience. I AM that which I am seeking. I am the comforter. When you feel a desire to know comfort, when you want to know the Father's presence and the Father's love, nurture yourself as the Father would. Pretend for a moment that you are the Father and speak to yourself, your name as the Father speaks your name, softly, lovingly, most gently, most encompassingly. Feel yourself enveloped in His love. Give to yourself the love that you would want the Father to give to you.

Pretend for a moment or so that God, the Father is loving you. Companion of you, being with you. Comforting. Encouraging. Sustaining. Speak words to yourself as the Father, as you understand Him, would speak to you. And claim that love, that reassurance for it is yours. You say, "Well, I'm just imagining." But I say unto you, great holy God that you are, where does imagination come from? It comes from the God of you. That is how powerful, how wonderful you are. You gift yourself with imagination. Do not allow separated ego to take it away from you. Nurture yourself as you know God would. Put the arms around self.

Yes, and hug self. Feel. What does it feel like to hug self? What does it feel like to know that God is hugging you? Ah, yes, it feels so good. You find yourself rocking in tune with the energy of the universe. Rocking. Nurturing. Loving the Child that you truly are.

You have grown in stature and in years, yes, but you have never left the state of childhood. That child is alive and well within you and calls out to be known, to be spoken to, to be comforted, to be listened to. That child wants to be recognized. Let go of all of the heaviness of the world. For long, long, long time you have carried it and you need not carry it any longer. You have done what you have agreed you would do. You have carried it for as long as you agreed to carry it. You are finished with carrying it.

If you find yourself picking it up again on the morrow, that is okay. You can carry it for one more day if you want. But you don't have to because you are completed with it. And if you want to go carefree with a light heart in the world, know that this is your divine purpose, to go light-heartedly in the world knowing that you are of the world, in the world but not of it for it is of you. You are the one who makes it. You are the one who judges it and calls it for what it is to you.

And as you will seek the God of your being, as you will come to the place of peace within the heart and abide within that peace, you will see even the world transformed and you will know that it serves you and not the other way around. Most holy wondrous being. That is you.

So be it.