

1999: The Year of Wonder

1999-01-08

Beloved and holy and only child of our Heavenly Father, child of the one Source, child of light divine. That is who you are. Take it deeply into the consciousness. Contemplate it well. Child of the one Source, child of light divine. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph -- Jesus, you have called me -- and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen once again to call me forth. Great joy of reunion. Great joy of the remembrance of oneness. Great joy because it is your divine nature.

In truth it is not your nature to go about with all of the heaviness of the world. That is what the ego will speak to you of. It will say it is your duty, your responsibility to go with a seriousness, to look upon everything, every choice with a seriousness. As a small one, a child, you were taught that if you were spontaneous and frivolous about something that was not the way it was to be. You were to pay attention for life is serious.

There were rules and regulations, ways to go about in the world and it was time for you to see to it that you paid attention and paid your dues as it would be.

But I say unto you, your divine nature is one of joy. You are the holy Child, the child of the one Creator and it is your birthright to know holiness and to remember even in the activities of the world, to remember who you are and to go with a light heart. To take yourself lightly.

Now, you have decreed for yourselves a grand opportunity, a new year. What are you going to make of this year? Is this going to be the same old, same old? Are you going to go over the same hurdles, perhaps a bit more easily you hope. Are you even going to see the same hurdles? Are they going to be there? What are you going to make of this year? How is it going to be for you? More light? Of course, more light.

For indeed you have decreed that you are willing to lay down some of the old baggage that you have carried from lifetime to lifetime to lifetime and to know a newness in perception. New way of looking at everything that comes across your path.

that is why you make for yourselves a certain arbitrary counting, a new year. For indeed you wish to have opportunity to see everything which transpires in a new way. And you set about in your new year on the first day or second day, to set about making the resolutions as to how you are going to improve yourself. How you are going to improve the world. How you are going to improve even the relationships one with another.

And the resolutions they are good. It is good to have certain clarity about where you want to go, how you want to be, how you want life to be in this new year. So the making of resolutions it is a good exercise. A good exercise in clarity.

But I have seen you on perhaps the third day of your new year and there is a slipping back into the old way of thinking and then you remind yourself and say, "Oh, I'm going to try harder." And a bit of guilt slips in and it says, "I told you so. You can't do it." And then you go with a bit of heaviness yet hoping that perhaps you can turn things around and then the old way it is so comfortable because you know it is familiar. It comes and establishes itself even against the best of the desires.

However I will share with you that you are in a place now where the deepest desire of your heart has already transformed this year for you. It is a process that you set in motion even before you agreed to incarnate a body in this lifetime. There is a desire deep within you to know the Christ. To know who you are. To know what life is all about and to find the joy of divinity and to celebrate life. Not just to struggle through it and to make best of it, but to celebrate it.

For you have come through lifetimes that have been so heavy, so dense that you came to a place, a choice point, where you said, "I am complete with this degree of density. What else is there? There must be another way. There must be something better to experience."

And so you turned a corner. Even in this lifetime you have come across many choice points, many times when you have sat with sorrow, challenges, confusion and you have wrestled with the old feeling of heaviness, the old feeling of loss, of separation. The old feeling of unworthiness to the place where you made a choice again to see anew. To see everything that you bring forth in your experience in a new way, a new light.

Know you that is why you celebrate the new year with such a feeling of hope. It is because there is a deep desire within you to know freedom, to know truth, to know holiness about Self and to rejoice in it. And I celebrate with you every time you choose to throw off the old and to be in a place of willingness to see anew.

For indeed all it takes is the willingness to choose anew. All it takes is willingness to say, "How can I see this differently?" Not that you have to transform yourself or your world in that instant, not that you have to save yourself or save another one. Not that you have to know all of the answers but that you are willing to expand the perception, to expand the understanding you are willing to remember.

That is what your new year is all about. It is full of hope. It is full of opportunity and in truth, everyday is a new day for you. But you have agreed with a collective culture that you will celebrate a new year, that you will do a new timing as you reckon time to be. And you will call this by a certain number and that you will attach significance to the number of this year. There is much that is being talked about, written about now as to the significance of this year. For it is seen as a final year, an ending year before you begin the new millennium. A time when there will be and there is great expectation for change. A time when you will see changes because the expectation is there and growing. Not only with you but with the collective consciousness.

You have agreed that 1999 will be a magical year and it will be. Already you have witnessed the days of this new year. Already you have witnessed some changes in yourself and in this year.

For indeed as you have discerned everyday brings opportunity for change and already in the eight days of this year, already you have discerned some new things, new understanding.

You and the brothers and sisters have decreed that 1999 is going to be a most magical year. It is going to be a year of wonder and it is going to be full of magic. It is going to be full of challenge. "Oh, oh, why did he say that? I liked the magic better." It is going to be a year with challenge, yes. It is going to be a year of wonder because you are going to meet those challenges in a way that you would not have seen them even as recent as a year ago in your timing.

You are going to meet the challenges with a new understanding, with a willingness to reserve judgment for a moment, an hour, a day, perhaps even a week until there can be new understanding. It is going to be a year of wonder because it is going to be a year of completion. It is also going to be a year of beginning.

For in truth you do not have to wait until next year as the first year of the new millennium in order to know new beginning. There are those among you who have studied the ancient art, wisdom of what you call numerology and you know that this year in your arbitrary timing is a new year, a one year. Most symbolic. It is a year of one and it is a year of wonder for you are going to be seeing the one more often than you have in the past.

There are going to be times, wondrous times in this year when you are going to be speaking to another one, going about the daily activities of what the body needs and all of a sudden you are going to behold a Christ light within and around that one you are speaking with. For an instant you are going to behold the Reality of that one and you may shake the eyes and wonder what happened. If you don't do that quite physically you are going to do it on the inner and wonder, "What did I just see?"

You are going to experience oneness with brothers and sisters more often than you have in the past. You are going to feel a relatedness, an understanding as ones will be speaking to you of what they are going through, what they see themselves facing and you are going to know a relatedness. You are going to say, "Yes, I have been there. I know that feeling." And they are going to ask of you, "Well what got you through it because you seem to be quite at peace now?" And you will share with them what you have read, what you have learned, what you have heard from others and what has been revealed within you, the strength that has brought you through.

And you are going to know in that instant that it is not a separate brother or sister who stands before you or sits beside you but is your Self. You are going to see your Self in oneness more and more in this year. You are going to behold the various aspects of the one great Self of you more and more and in more clarity.

You are going to look upon another one and you are going to thank that one for being an aspect of the One of you. As you would see the facets on a gemstone, have you ever studied the facets, the cuts on a gemstone? Imagine if you will, an almost infinitesimal number of facets, almost. That is you as you meet your Self here, here, here, everyone. Everyone you lay the eyes upon that you see is an aspect of you as the great one diamond, gemstone you are. And they are expressing an aspect of you that you right now are not focusing upon. You are putting the focus of your attention upon being all of the abilities and talents, qualities of you as you see yourself to be.

But this one right here is expressing a great aspect of the oneness and thank goodness he is, because I am busy being whoever I see myself to be as an individuality. And I look upon this great sea of being even in front of my physical eyes and I celebrate myself. I celebrate all of the most beautiful differences and sameness. I celebrate all of the most beautiful manifestations of the Father in expression.

Now have you thought of yourself as being that infinite? That most wonderful being? That you meet yourSelf no matter where you are, coming and going, in the marketplace, as you are driving, at work, at play, in every gathering you meet your Self.

In this new year, this year that is a year of new beginnings, see with new eyes each and every brother and sister who comes to you and say to them silently or in words if you want to, "I greet my Self in you. How wonderful it is of you to play another aspect of me." How wealthy we are. For each person enriches the experience and expression of the holy Child.

It will give you a new way of going in your world. Even the ones who will push your buttons, you will say, "What a wonderful aspect of me. They play that part so well I could not even have imagined that I could have played that part so well to push my buttons so well and to bring such a reaction."

And that knowing, that seeing of another one as an aspect of the one Self which you are, puts you into a different place in your interrelationship with them. It puts you into a wonderful place, a place of wonder, a place of the beholder that we have spoken of in other times where you have the opportunity then to stand back and to appreciate the dance and the dancers. Not to be so enmeshed in the dance, so caught up in it that you instantly react with habitual judgment and limited understanding, but it puts you in the most wonderful place of the beholder that gives you divine space to see everything anew.

This year you are going to see much of challenge, much of duality, much of completion. For as it is a year of new beginnings it is also a year of completions. You will be seeing, beholding because you have decreed that you want to see great clarity in the belief systems. You want to see with great clarity what is going on. Truly going on. You want to behold the dance in all of its exquisite features and so you are going to be seeing duality, contrast, conflict, polarity, in intensity and in great contrast. You are going to see this in your political system, your grouping of ones who supposedly have been chosen to make judgment for you and they are going about their work very seriously and very sincerely in judging. And you are going to see the effects of judgment and you are going to have opportunity to be in judgment yourself to judge the judges.

You are going to see polarity in the workplace with the brothers and sisters. You are going to see differing personalities as they are called, differing beliefs as to how things should be done. You are going to gift to yourself great opportunities to stand as the beholder, to remove yourself momentarily from what is going on long enough to have a new vision of the dance.

You are going to see polarity, more and more polarity in the relationship and at the same time, you are going to see more and more of the quality of oneness even as the various aspects of you do a dance which you feel to be different than what you would choose to do.

It is going to point up to you this year in all of its experiences, it is going to point up to you the very belief that you have in duality, in good and evil, in polarity of differences. It is going to point up to you great clarity how you can stand in one instant and you can see a brother or sister and see them as being very different at the other end of the great range of the spectrum from what you see yourself to be.

And in the next instant you are going to see that you are bound together by the spectrum that you have said kept you so far apart and there is going to be great divine laughter in that moment for you are going to behold in the one same moment the separation and the polarity and the oneness and you will understand the power that allows it to be so. Your divinity that allows it to be so.

There is going to be laughter in this year. Great laughter of revelation. You are going to take yourselves more lightly because you are going to have to. You are going to be quite serious about whatever is going on in a certain moment. In the next moment even though the ego may not wish it, you are going to find yourself beholding yourself and saying, "Why? Why am I acting this way?" Great actress. Great actor and there will be divine laughter and a sense of freedom.

The same will be true as you behold brothers and sisters who take themselves very seriously. And there will be temptation to get caught into their seriousness, into what is going on because you care. You care about them and you care about yourself. The ego, the individuality care about itself very strongly and there will be temptation to get caught up in it. And in the next instant there is going to be like someone put a certain filter in front of you and you will see things differently and you will laugh and the other one will wonder if you have lost your marbles. And you will say, "No, I just traded them in for something else of more value."

It is going to be a year of divine laughter. It is going to be a year when the ego is going to struggle. The ego, that sense of separation, has been built into the adventure as you see this reality to be.

Now we have spoken of the ego in past times, times when we have met together. We have spoken of the ego not as an enemy, not as something that has to be killed, destroyed. But it is as a servant, an aspect of the life experience that you ask to be with you, a companion, if you will, on the life journey. The ego serves a very divine purpose. The ego speaks to you, screams at you sometimes, to tell you where you are abiding in that moment with your belief system. The ego is a messenger. It is a companion, a servant.

It brings to you a message in that moment of where you are abiding as to what you believe about yourself and what you believe about others and what you believe about the world. That is its purpose and that is its only power is to be as a messenger.

Your opportunity then is to sit with the message and you can either do as habitual reaction has been, get quite caught up in all of the feelings and judgments and limited understanding or to sit with that message and say, "That is how it has been in the past. But now I am a new person in Christ." You've heard those words. "Now I am a new person in Christ. I give myself space to look upon this with new eyes and a new way."

And then you know yourself to be free. Free to make a choice and it is always a free choice. You can abide with the constriction of what has been the past understanding or you can say, "I will try something new. How would it feel in this moment to love myself and to say whatever has been happening, that is someone else's perception of the experience. What they have said to me comes from their own perception and understanding of themselves and of how they see the world to be. I am that which I have always been. I am loved of my Father from before time began. I am worthy. I am loved and I am love. You know, I'm okay." Well that gives you space doesn't it? It feels good. And you become in that moment a new person in Christ. You become a new person because you have chosen to be in the Christ space, the space of love.

This will be a year when you will hear the message of the ego. It is going to be strong. You are going to behold it in the actions of your brothers and sisters. You are going to behold the voice of ego within yourself crying out many times because you have decreed you want to know a new way of being and a new way of understanding yourself and others.

So the ego is going to come, it is going to give you message in everyday, but you are going to be in a place of opportunity, a place of choice, a place of more freedom of choice. Not to react quite so quickly but to give yourself the opportunity to be the beholder and to ask, "What is really going on? Where does that message come from? What is it rooted in? And what it is rooted in is that Truth -- with a capital "T" -- or is truth with a small "t"? And does it have to be my truth now?"

There is going to be much of wonder in this year because you are going to choose for freedom and you are going to wonder at yourself as you choose for freedom. For you are going to wonder, "Who is this me? Who is making these choices that seems to be a bit different in what I have known myself to be?" A year of wonder.

You are going to see many times, many examples of opportunity to be in love or in fear. To abide in the place of allowance or the place of judgment. This is going to be a year of wonder, yes, but it is also going to have the subtitle of "A Year of Judgment." You are going to see much of judgment in this year. You are going to stand in the place of judgment yourself many times in this year. Not that you haven't in the past because you have. But you are going to be more aware of it.

You are going to behold others as they are judging. Sometimes from the place where they feel it to be righteous judgment, their duty to judge. What they see as righteous judgment. And you are going to stand in the place then of the judge of what you see them judging and how you see them doing it. You are going to stand in the place of judging yourself as you judge the judges.

And then you are going to take the deep breath and you are going to laugh. And you are going to say once again, "It is a most wondrous dance that happens." And the dance itself is a most wondrous, divine vehicle that brings the holy Child to remembrance of who he/she is.

That is what all of the dance is about, to bring you to the place where you behold with holy vision the interaction of all of the aspects of the one Self which you are and to stand in that holy moment and to laugh and to love and to celebrate. And in that moment to know Home. In that moment to remember who is laughing, who is celebrating and who is loving.

We have been speaking in the past sessions, times when we have met like this, we have been speaking of the great Self, the one Self of you, the interdimensional Self, the Self that is not focused upon a dimension, the interdimensional Self between dimensions. That matrix of you that allows the focus upon any one dimension, any one reality and we have been speaking of how there are certain ways to remember once again the interdimensional Self, to release specific focus upon a dimension, a reality. To release that specific focus and move into the expanded remembrance and realization of the true Self -- with a capital "S" -- which you are.

We have spoken how this is a step in the remembrance of the experience of ascension. One of the desires of your heart is to know ascension. You have desired in lifetimes to know physical ascension, to know that the body itself is not held upon this plane. That the body can be ascended into and as the light which it is, and there have been lifetimes when you have so desired this that you have experienced it for yourself.

As we have spoken of physical ascension there has been a knowing, a relatedness, an understanding if you will, of sort of what that would feel like. That knowing, that remembrance comes from the Reality of you that knows itself not to be held in the body, by the body or even by the physical laws that you have decreed will govern this dimension. In other words you have known physical ascension. You have done it.

It is not by accident that you have in what you call your science fiction the depiction of physical ascension and you and many of the brothers and sisters have related to the science fiction of, "Beam me up, Scotty," where the body becomes all of the particles of light and is beamed somewhere. You and the brothers and sisters, you have celebrated that. You have related to it and you have said, "Oh, I wish that were true." Well it is true. Otherwise it would not be in your consciousness. It would not relate. It would be as one of your computer programs that you could not read if you didn't have a relatedness, a truth of it already.

So the physical ascension, that you can do again if you wish, but it is not necessary. In other words, ones who have been before you as teachers, gurus, masters who have ascended the body have been held in great reverence and have been seen to be separate from you. In other words, well that great master, that great teacher could do that but I can't do that, therefore I will worship that one and immediately you set about establishing a hierarchy of value and of separation.

You have had your religious teachers, leaders, masters down through the ages. Some of whom you know their names. Others whose names have been lost in antiquity. Leaders and teachers, masters whom you have revered and worshipped because you saw them to be something more, more divine than you.

And in this evening in this time I will share with you that you have been on of those masters, teachers who have ascended the body in front of a group of students, disciples. You have, and you have been that which you would now at this point of focus, worship. Now how does that make you feel?

Heavenly.

Ah, and with divine laughter, yes. It allows you also to catch a glimpse of your divine worth. Not from a place of false worth where you would worship that Self of you that you can't quite remember as being separate from you. But from a place of understanding the great holy value of the divine Child in expression and in experience. That is you.

But what you are desiring now in this point of focus, this time is to know ascension not so much of the body. That is a fringe benefit. It may happen. It may not happen. It is not truly important. But what you desire now to know is ascension in the realization of Oneness, in the realization of your divinity. Ascension which allows you to remember that you are not held upon this plane or any other dimension by a power outside of you.

You are not limited. You are not powerless. You are here by choice. You put your focus of attention into any and every moment by choice, by divine creative choice moment by moment by moment. And if in the next moment you decide that you are not going to be here, you won't be here. You will not be activating the body as you understand a body to be.

You are desiring to know freedom, true freedom. You are desiring in this new year new perceptions which will facilitate the true ascension where you will ascend out of limited past beliefs that have held you in a place of unworthiness. A place that has said, "I strive but I never quite get there. I hope, but I don't think I'm going to make it. I want to be and maybe in the next lifetime or the fifty-second lifetime after this or the two thousandth lifetime after this, I might make it by then. I have so much, so much to learn. So much to purify. So much to make good. It is going to take me all of those lifetimes." And so your Father Who loves and allows says, "Okay, have at it. Enjoy."

Or you may say, "This is the lifetime when I ascend into the light of which I am and I claim my Father's love even as I walk our Holy Mother, the Earth. I begin right in this moment to know that I am divine. Everything that I do is divinely inspired. I know that I am enveloped by love and in love. I know that I have value otherwise I would not be." And you are, are you not? You are very much being as you sit here with consciousness and as you be, you have worth. It has to go together.

In this year you are going to be moving more and more into the space of experiencing for yourself the interdimensional Self -- with a capital "S" -- the great Self which allows the individuated self to play in this dimension. You are going to have times that are going to surprise the heck out of you. Times that are going to come most spontaneously where you are going to see things anew, totally new from what you have thought the reality was.

You are going to move into a place this year of more joy, more happiness because you are going to be claiming your divine birthright and you are going to be saying, "I have completed all that which I thought had to be completed before I would be worthy to know a little bit of love, to know a lot more love. To know all of holy love and to know who I am and then to come Home once again even while I activate the body.

It is going to be a year of wonder. A year of completion, yes. A year of new beginnings, yes. A year of new revelations, yes because you have decreed that you are ready now for those revelations. You have paid your dues. You have put your time in. You have suffered. You have grown. You have learned and you have loved. Now you are going to move in, in this year into a space of expanded awareness of what love means. Not just human love and that is great as you experience human love. That is but a signpost, a direction pointer, human love. It points you in the direction of knowing holy love.

For as you have been in love with another one, you have found yourself expanded, you have found yourself allowing. Allowing that other one to be who he/she is with all of their eccentricities, all of their different characteristics and you have allowed yourself to be in joy and to be a little bit crazy from time to time and you have said, "Well, it's okay because I love and I love another one. I am loved and I extend love," and in that space of being in human love, you have touched the beginning remembrance of what it is to know and to experience and express holy love. That is why you make for yourselves the experience of human love, to be as a signpost, the direction pointer.

This year you are going to be in love. I will prophecy for you. I don't do this very often, but I will prophesy for each and everyone of you, you are going to find yourself falling in love. How does that sound?

Great.

Great, go for it. And trust, yes. You are going to find yourself falling in love with all of the old emotions of what it means to fall in love first of all, and then with new understanding of what it means to be in love. And you are going to have greater understanding of what love is. How love serves, yes, but how love feels and is experienced and how love feels when you are in it and you are it. Walking, breathing, living love. So loving that there is not place in that moment for judgment. So loving in that moment that whatever you look upon you see through the eyes of the Father and you allow it. Even though in the next moment the habitual way of the world, the habitual way of ego may pop in and you will see it again differently. But in one moment of knowing, of living in love, it transforms all of the rest of the moments because you can't forget how it feels. How it feels to be in love. How expanded, how free, how totally full of worth, full of grace, full of radiance being in love is.

Allow yourself to fall in love over and over this year. I prophecy it will happen for you and through you. I prophecy also that there will be a moment or two of habitual feeling of all of the old strings that you have known love to have, human love. There will be times when you will find yourself falling in love and there will be the habitual feeling of, "Oh, oh, I'd better pull back. Oh, oh, what am I getting myself into?" That is the habitual ego, separated ego way of looking at things.

But in the next moment you are going to say, "Oh what the heck. I am going to go for it. I really am in love with that person. Do you know why? Because that's another aspect of me and I love me. I love the one Self we are. I don't have to worry about getting tied up and committed, binding, limiting relationship. I'm truly in love with the one Self that I am, that we are." So fall in love over and over. Make this a year of wonder, yes. Make it a year of love. Make it fun in everyday to fall in love with someone and to be able to look through the eyes of love with love-light and to put some light in their eyes because you have found love.

Do you know what happens when you find love? You can't wait to give it away. And you know how many of your brothers and sisters go sorrowful in the world looking for love and yet feeling that there isn't any love for them. Feeling that if they won the most wonderful lottery then maybe someone would love them. And you go lightly through your world loving and being in love and you smile upon them and you transform their day.

If you will receive it, you also transform the way they see themselves for you will plant a seed, a seed of worthiness within their consciousness. For they see that you have seen something in them that is worthy of love. They may not understand it. They may think you're crazy, you're wrong, but at the same time you have planted a most wonderful seed within their consciousness that says, "Most possibly I am worthy of love." And you will transform their life and their lives to come as they see a lineage of lives.

So do not hesitate to fall in love. It will be a year, a year of love, a year of wonder. And you will find that you look through the eyes of wonder. You will find in everyday there is something new to behold. Something that was probably there the day before but you didn't see it. Something new about yourself the way you perceive things. Something new about a brother or a sister the way they see things, what they say to you. Sometimes they will say an old saying that they have said over and over to you but you haven't heard and you will hear it in a new way. And you will contemplate, "What did they mean by that? Maybe they mean something more than what I thought. Maybe there is a depth of meaning that my Self is giving to my Self." And you will play a most interesting drama because you will hear yourself speaking to yourself from all corners. And you will look with wonder upon everything because you will see that there is new meaning and new levels of meaning in what has been thought to be most mundane.

You will find yourself standing in wonder at what you are experiencing because it is what you have hoped for, dreamed for, desired and yet thought had to be kept at a distance from you. Somewhere in the future, perhaps, and then you find that this is the day of the future I have prayed for. This is the day when now I feel uplifted. I feel transformed. I feel changed. Don't know exactly why. I feel wonderful.

You will find yourself saying that every once in a while in this year, "I feel wonderful." And then the ego it will come in there and it will say, "Now, do you really? What about x, y and z?" And you have opportunity to say, "Well, that is an old message. Now, I am going to look upon myself with wonder."

You are going to stand in wonder at how great you are, how one you are, how holy you are. You are going to stand in wonder because you are going to meet yourself coming and going and you are going to hear things that you never heard before. And you are going to move more often into that space of the interdimensional you. More often into that space of the beholder that blesses all that he/she sees and calls it good.

And you are going to be in an expanded state claiming more and more of the one Self of you and celebrating all of the aspects of you. Even the aspects that the world would judge to be unlovely, unworthy. You are going to have the eyes to look a little deeper and to say, "If that is an aspect of the one Self of me there has to be something divine about it. I'm going to look a little further. I'm going to discover one particle of holiness somewhere in that being."

And if you have the willingness to do that you will find it for as you seek you have to find. As you have the willingness to look with the eyes of the Christ you will see divinity everywhere. As you have the willingness to look with the eyes of Christ you will see with wonder the One who stands before you. You are going to have such a year of wonder. You are going to celebrate it and it is going to move you. It is going to move you into the new millennium into an through a new belief, a new paradigm, if you will.

For you have brothers and sisters who are the doomsayers now, who are saying, "Watch out. There is going to be a big change happening in the new millennium. This can go wrong. That can go wrong. You had better store up food. You had better store up the golden coins. You had better x, y and z and you had also better pray to the right divinity to save you."

But you also are hearing more and more the voice of the one true Self. The voice of the still small voice within you that is saying, "It is going to be okay. I trust. I know. I know I will be cared for," which indeed you will be for you are going to care for yourself. You, the divine holy Child, you are going to see that always you come through whatever.

More and more you are hearing voices that echo the still small voice that says, "It is going to be okay. You are loved. You may trust. Have faith."

You are going to, because of this year of wonder, this year of the revelations that come because you have asked for them to come, you are going to move into the new millennium in a new paradigm, a new belief system if you will, because you are already in this year of new beginnings, willing to test out a new paradigm. And when you get to this next year of which you have arbitrarily said is going to be such a year of change, you are going to have tested the new paradigm to the place where you are going to have faith and know the strength of it.

It is not going to be something that is a fragile thing. In other words you are going to be testing this new understanding, this new revelation, this new image of your Self and how great you are. It is going to give you the basis, the foundation for a new paradigm that you are taking into what you have arbitrarily called the new millennium. It is going to set about a new world order.

But, not a world as you understand the world as it has been in the past. A new world order because you are transforming the world, your world as you are willing to see it anew. But it will in truth, manifest as a new world order and there will be order to it and it will be a new world.

And what you are setting about in this year of wonder is going to be seen more and more throughout the year and by next year in your timing to be a work of wonder. A new paradigm of understanding. A new way of being. For you will be dropping fear.

As you look upon another one and you see that one as an aspect of you, most wondrous aspect of me, most creative divine aspect of me, the sense of separation falls away and no longer is there space for fear. There is space for welcome. Welcome, I want to know this aspect of me. Tell me about me. Tell me how you see yourself. What is this aspect of me? And there will be welcome instead of fear. And when you walk into the new millennium and the new paradigm, you will be quite strengthened in love having let go of fear. Over and over and over again and moving into that space of the truth of you, the interdimensional you that is not focused upon a small bit of you, but that part, the matrix of you, the wholeness of you that allows you to focus on the part.

Now, would you like to experience the matrix of you again? Would you like to re-connect with the interdimensional you? The great Self of you? Well I invite you then to take a deep breath. To close the eyes if it feels comfortable and to take another deep breath and to feel yourself centered in a center point of consciousness that radiates out unlimitedly, as unlimited as you can feel the energy of light to be.

Feel yourself to be light. Know yourself to be radiant light. Feel that light radiating, pulsating, dynamically extending as far as you can imagine. Alive. Breathing. Pulsating radiating light. Expansive beyond the farthest imagination.

Feel yourself to be the center point which in truth is not constricted, not limited but expands as far and beyond as you can imagine.

Breathe in the golden white light of you. Take it deeply within the body. Take it deeply within the spirit. Feel the inspiration of the golden white light. Feel it energizing the body. Feel it expanding beyond the body. Feel it energizing the spirit. Allowing the spirit to know its unlimitedness going beyond any boundaries that ever you thought could be.

Know yourself to be one with all that is from before time began and beyond the purpose of time. See yourself as a radiating sphere of light that has a center point, yes, of consciousness but has no circumference, no definition of boundary. Know yourself to be infinite spirit.

Visualize in your mind's eye, if you will, golden white light as expansive as you can imagine light to be. See it within the mind's eye. Feel it pulsating. Feel it dynamic. Feel the reality of it. And within that golden white light, that field, that ever expanding field of golden white light allow to come to the mind's eye a vision of love.

And in that love put yourself in the middle of that love. See yourself surrounded by the golden white light of being. And within that field of golden white light, that ever expansive golden white light, see yourself enveloped by the most tender nurturing love, uplifted, nourished, loved.

See yourself in the mind's eye, see yourself with the most radiant smile so that you are nothing but the smile. Just the feeling of the smile. Just the radiance, pure joy.

Feel yourself nurtured in that joy. Feel yourself come Home in the arms of that joy. Feel yourself to be free, innocent once again. Feel yourself to be so loved that never have you left your Father's house. For indeed the Father's house is light and never have you left it.

And in the field of golden white light allow the vision of you so loved, so radiant, so wonderful, allow the vision of you to go forward into what you see this year to be.

Know that always you go as the light which you are. Know that always you go loved, cared for, nurtured, radiant, in love. Visualize for yourself an experience that you anticipate to be happening in what you call your future. Perhaps an experience that is based on something that has happened in the past and something which you know you will be facing. And allow yourself to visualize that experience and see yourself in it. Whatever you feel you are facing.

And in the mind's eye allow yourself the vision of you to be seen as energy. Energetic light and the experience whatever it is that you will be facing see it as energy with which you will be engaged.

If it be another person, visualize them as light. If it be an experience that you know you have to come through, visualize it as energy and of light. If it be a certain challenge that you feel you are facing, allow it to take the form of light and come right up to it in the visualization of you as you see yourself an energy of light. Come right up to it and then into it. Knowing yourself to be loved always, to be nurtured, to be cared about and to be cared for.

And feel in that merging, that blending of light feel a radiance of the divine Christ in that meeting. No matter what it is you feel you face or will have to be facing, know radiance of the Christ is met there as one.

See the radiance of that light. Feel the radiance of that light. Feel the pulsating of that energy. Feel the love that supports you. Feel the love that permeates all of the light, the radiant light that you and the experience have become.

Bless that experience with your consciousness. Bless it with your awareness now of the divine Self of you and know that no experience can come unto your doorstep unless you invite it. And if you have invited it, you have the power to blend with it, to meld with it, to transform whatever you would see to be a challenge, a dark space, an energy that would be not of your liking.

Know that no experience comes to you without invitation. Know that you are the one who has invited it. Therefore you are the one divine one who brings your light to it and transforms it. Feel yourself one with that experience. Feel yourself one with the radiance of light which you are. Feel yourself transformed, new, radiantly powerful in the divinity of the holy Self.

Breathe of that divine holy Self. Breathe deeply of the divinity of the holy Self and bring that divinity into this point of focus into what you see this individual experience to be now as you call yourself an individual.

Bring that divine holy Self, the radiant light into the self that you know your individual to be, into the heart of the individual of you. Feel it in your heart and know that always it goes with you as you. Never can you be apart from that divine holy Self, the radiant light of the Christ.

And now when it is comfortable, allow the eyes to open and stay in that space of the divine holy Self, that space of radiant light, that space of freedom, that space of expanded remembrance, that space of great divine power of the holy, holy Self of you.

Feel how loved you are. Feel how wonderful you are and know that truly this year will be your year of wonder.

So be it.
