

Y2K: Your Purpose in the New Millennium

1999-03-12

Beloved and holy and only Child of our Heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of light divine. That is who you are. Take it deeply within the consciousness and contemplate what that means. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph – Jesus, you have called me – and it is in great joy and love that I greet you in this evening for always I greet you in the divinity that you are.

How does it feel to be divine? Very good, beyond measure. It feels joyful does it not? It feels like there might be a freedom and indeed there is. For you are loved of the Father far beyond even what you can comprehend in this point of focus, this lifetime. You are loved of the Father, so loved that you are allowed your drama, all of your ups and downs of the roller coaster, all of your questioning, all of your quests and all of your findings and than all of your refindings as you refine all of the findings.

Over and over you seek, you find, you analyze, you question, you seek, you find, you analyze, you question and the Father loves and allows. You are the essence of the Father. You are the creative child, the holy Child of the Father come once again into this plane of reality to create, to play and to remember.

Are you having fun with it? More and more, yes. There are times that the ego speaks to you of the questions, the questions of the world and the body will give unto you the challenges. But more and more you are hearing the constant, the underlying constant of the still small voice that speaks to you of Home.

And as you know a certain serenity, a certain peace, it allows all of the drama of the world, all of the drama that the ego will speak to you to be put into perspective. Not to send you hurtling through space wondering what is to become of you. But to allow you to know that indeed I am the one who is creating all of this drama that I see. I am a most creative playwright, I am writing this script. I am the most wonderful creative master at play here.

And it gives you a different perspective on what is happening and it allows a breathing space, it allows space for inspiration. It allows space for you to reconnect once again with the spirit which you are.

That is your divinity and that is where I greet you. From now on I do not greet you as master to disciple. I do not greet you as master to servant. I greet you as equal in divinity. And in greeting you in such a way, I expect from you the knowing, the realization and the claiming once again of the Christ of you. Fair enough?

Very good. Thank you for arising to the challenge. Indeed the ego will find it as a challenge. The ego will bring to you all sorts of reasons why you cannot be the Christ, why life cannot be most wonderful, why always there are things you have to consider, responsibilities, ties that bind.

In truth you are the divine holy Child. You are the Christ at work and at play and I greet you as an equal. As you will allow yourself to expand into the raiment, the cloak of the Christ, you will feel yourself coming Home and you will know that truly, "I am that which my Father has created and I am most wonderful," which you are.

Now, in this evening I would speak with you about something you have been hearing a lot about recently. I would speak with you about a topic that is in your news, a topic that has become almost a buzz word in your society. I would speak with you about Y2K. Indeed you have been hearing much about Y2K and about all of the possibilities of what could go wrong, about the bug which perhaps if you are unsuspecting is going to bite you somewhere.

You have much in your awareness, the collective awareness that is saying there can be possible problems. You have much in the awareness, the collective awareness that is coming now to be looked at, to be examined, to be dealt with and hopefully seen from the perspective of the holy Child in her/his divinity.

For you have the voices which speak of Y2K and say that this is going to be the end of the world. This is what has been prophesied. These are the end times and you are about to see it happen. You have the voices which say this is the doom, dooms day that is approaching rapidly and there are less than three hundred days to go. So therefore you must prepare if you want to save yourself. You must put away the food, the water. You must do something to keep generating your power. Think about that for a moment.

You do not want to lose power. Have you heard that said? Therefore perhaps I must go out and buy a generator. Well I ask of you to stop a moment and think, where does the physical generator, where does it get its power? From the creative one who is generating the idea that there can be a technology that allows the power to be made.

You have the voices which are saying that everything is going to collapse. Then indeed the other power, the one known as Satan, the Devil, the one who is in opposition to God the Father is now going to have its heyday and that you had better do everything you know to do to get on the good side of the Father so that you can be saved. You have better do your rituals of salvation. You had better read the right books and seek the right teachers. You have better play the right music. You had better surround yourself with a the right vibrations. You had better be eating the right food, drinking the most nourishing pure water, etc.

Well I say unto you, you have tried all of that lifetime after lifetime. It is not something new in this lifetime. You have done all of the outer things in other lifetimes to be saved, you. In other words to save the body for indeed you as the divine holy Child which you are needs no saving and is eternal and will forever be ongoing.

But you have found yourself in many lifetimes caught up in the collective thinking that you had to save the body so that you could save yourself and you have done all of the seemingly necessary things to make yourself valuable, worthwhile in the eyes of God, whichever God you were praying to in that lifetime, so that God or the gods would look with favor upon you. And perhaps all of the other brothers and sisters would perish in the great flood but you would be saved.

Well, I ask of you, where are you now? You are right here having a life experience. You have not been done in by any of the other lifetimes even though you have laid down the body more times, countless times than you can count. Here you are having another experience of human lifetime and finding a measure of happiness in it. I commend you for that.

Indeed in this time you have many voices. Your media has taken up the standard, so to speak, that is talking about Y2K, the year 2,000 as a magical time. A time when things are possibly going to change. You have the voices that speak that out of habit change has to be something that is dreaded. Change is something that threatens. To the ego, yes, change is something that threatens. For indeed change is a catalyst for remembrance and the voice of ego born of the soil of separation does not want change. Therefore when there is a hint of change the ego immediately puts on the armor and comes to you in intensity and says, "We must guard again this."

So you have the voices which say that perhaps Y2K is going to bring with it great change and are you prepared for it? You have the voices that are telling you how to prepare for it. You have the voices that speak that you individually are going to have to do something and especially you collectively are going to have to do something.

You also have the voices represented by your news media which says, "That yes, there is going to be a new millennium. Yes, there is going to be a year 2,000, but the change is not going to be all that great." It is not going to be like the great shake up that you have to fear. Indeed it will be like the small speed bump in the road that easily you will come over it. There may be a glitch or two. You have heard this in your media, your news reports, your newspapers, your magazines.

It is for you to sit with the message and see what resonates with you. To see where you abide in your truth. Now I have been watching you, individually and collectively and I have been seeing that you are choosing for the most part, to be of good cheer. To say, "I know that I am the Christ and that I am going to be wherever my Father wants me to be. I am going to be taken care of, to do the will of my Father and I may trust. I know that I am going to be in the right place at the right time with whatever needs to be provided for me and those that I am providing for."

And when you abide in that space, that perspective, all of the angels sing. For indeed in that moment you have allowed yourself to expand into the raiment, the cloak of the Christ and the angels celebrate. For you are not alone ever in any of your experiences. You feel sometimes that you are but a speck of dust, a point of light perhaps, at the best. A very small point and you feel sometimes that you have been cast out into a vast universe where your existence does not matter and probably isn't even known or recorded.

But that is not true. We have spoken in other times that that perspective, that feeling, that belief comes from the most miraculous focusing that you have done upon a specific lifetime experience, most specific identification with density and with expression and you have done it as a great miracle. And from that identification with a very, very specialized focus has come a belief that somehow you could be separate, that you could be something small, that you could be even forgotten.

But as we have spoken many evenings in this way, you are never separate. You are never alone. You are the great matrix out of which you draw this expression and all of the angels, they are you, they are with you. They are cheering for you and they celebrate you each time you choose to come up out of the density of specific focus and to listen to the peace in the heart.

You have had many challenges. You have set them there for a divine reason. You have set them there to show your great strength. For indeed the ego does not speak to you of great courage and great strength. The ego speaks to you of, "Oh my goodness. Here we go again. How dumb. How stupid. How ignorant you must be. You have fallen into the pit once again."

But the truth of it is, you set for yourselves the challenges in order to know the divinity, in order to know the strength and the courage of the Christ which will come through any challenges and experiences to the place where you can claim great joy and love.

That is your true Home and that is the true gift that the Father gives. For you to come up out of grief, sorrow, loss to the place where you say, "I am not alone. I know a love that the world does not know. I cannot explain it, but I can feel it. I cannot explain it, but I can show it by the radiance which I am. It is not a human love that is transient and temporary, but it is a love which is my being and I am very strong in that being."

So you set for yourself the challenges in order to prove over and over how strong you are, how resilient you are, how creative you are and how loved you are.

If you will receive it, the reason that you have set for yourself the various turmoil of the possibilities of Y2K is again the same, it is to know your creativity, it is to know your strength and it is to give you opportunity to choose where you will abide.

For you have heard the voices of doom and gloom. You have heard the voices that say that heaven on earth can only come by a great shakeup and you must be prepared for a great shakeup. Know you, that each time you come to a place of knowing peace, simplicity, of knowing just the deep breath of Isness. In this plane of reality the collective of you will come up with some reason why you cannot stay in that peace. The collective of you will come up with all sorts of possible threats and it is as a distraction over and over that you have set for yourself, speaking collectively and you may identify with this individually if you wish. But it is a distraction to keep you momentarily from knowing peace and from knowing the Christ, from knowing Home.

And so you have had an acceleration, if you will, of the voices that say, "Watch out we are approaching a magical time of change. Watch out. There is a new millennium coming and the prophecies say that all is going to end in just a few days now. Are you prepared?" This is another ploy of the ego to be as a distraction to keep you from knowing the simplicity of who you are.

Y2K is going to come. Are we agreed on that? Okay. You have said that there is a process of time and that you will function and experience within a process of time and that in linear time you are going to know a certain turning of the numbers that is going to bring you to the year 2,000, a new millennium. And you have said, "Surely, a celebration of such a great event there is going to be something great happening." And there is. Then it has been left to you to figure out what that great something is going to be and out of habitual reaction has come very quickly, the possibility that it could be something really bad. That all kinds of things that you depend on will be in upheaval. That even our Holy Mother, the Earth will be in upheaval because there will be energy of confusion within the minds of the collective that is going to out-picture an upheaval of our Holy Mother, the Earth.

Well, that is a belief that is held, yes, by some and for some they will believe it so strongly that it will become a truth — with a small "t" — for them. Others will stand on the same ground as it is rocking and rolling and they will feel the rapture and they will not be in fear. They will be in a place of knowing that all is peaceful, that all is loving and they will not feel resistance.

You see you only experience what you label as negative and upheavalish when you are in resistance of something. If you are in sync with what is going on, you are in the flow, you do not feel it as an upheaval. So there will be brothers and sisters standing side by side and some will feel and experience a great shake up and others will not feel anything. They will feel only that this is the divine order of life. Not to fear. They will say, "Well what happened? I must have blinked for a moment. I didn't see it."

Your year 2,000, it will bring changes but then I say to you, has the year 1999 has it not brought changes already in the days that you have experienced this year? Do you not expect some changes to be happening in the next nine months? Of course.

Those of you who are pregnant, you hope that there will be changes in the next nine months. Those of you who are physically pregnant and those of you who are pregnant with ideas and visions and dreams, you hope that they will be birthed.

There will be changes. And I want to speak to you this evening about Y2K and your purpose in the new millennium. It is not by accident that you have been invited to be in this gathering. It is not by accident that you have been invited to be within the sound of my voice. I have invited you to be with me in this time of atonement and you have agreed, you have accepted the invitation.

For your Y2K is going to be a time of atonement. You are making your preparations for atonement. Already you have been seeking high and low for what is true. Already you have been unsatisfied with some of the easy facile answers that have been given to you by your authorities, your religious leaders, your so-called teachers, the brothers whom you hold perhaps at an elevated position above you.

You have asked, "Is this really true?" You have questioned. The invitation has gone out and it is not by accident that you find yourself here in this consciousness. For indeed you have been the servant of the Father many other times, many other lifetimes as you see experience to be encapsulated by lifetimes. You have been the servant of the Father many times in allowing yourself to come Home in remembrance and to know how loved you are so that you can love the brothers and sisters in their time of confusion, in their time of change.

For your Y2K is going to bring change. Do not be in doubt about that. Y2K has been decreed by the collective to be a time of change and there will be change and there will be change and you may celebrate it. You may be in joy about it.

You will see changes in technology. You will see changes that are as glitches. You will see changes that are as speed bumps. You will see changes that make you bring out the best of you in your creativity. In other words, there are going to be challenges. But I and the angels and the masters whom you revere and the Father Who loves you, we know that you are equal to it. There will be challenges. But there have been challenges in the past.

There will be treasures for you will find how creative, how resilient, how loving you are. You will be tested but that is nothing new. You will be tested and you will not even know that you are being tested because you have come through harder testing and you have found that you have survived the harder testing.

The voice of ego, it will speak to you in your dark nights. Will there be dark nights? Yes, there will be. Where there be physically dark nights? Yes, there will be but not to fear. For you know how to light the candle. And I speak here of the physical candle and I speak here of the candle which burns within you.

Your purpose in the new millennium is to do the will of our Father. And what is that? To make His love known upon this plane. That is why you have suffered the slings and arrows of human love. It is to come to the place of knowing the Father's love. None of your trials and tribulations has been for naught. None of your experiences of human love given and unrequited, given and then seemingly taken from you, has been for naught.

Every experience that you have set for yourself has been for the divine purpose of knowing how loved you are. Sounds turned around does it not? That is what the ego will say to you, "Well it is all backwards and turned around." But in truth you are coming through all of the constrictions of what you have held and believed love to be to the place where you know that, "This is not it. This is not it. This is not it. And yet there is a part of me that knows very deep within me that I am loved and I don't know why. Because the ego doesn't believe it and I haven't proved it to the ego."

Well I have news for you, you will never prove it to the ego and you will never prove it to the world. You will never prove it to the brothers and sisters. But you are so loved by the Father that you are allowed to have your drama. You are so loved by the Father that you are allowed to feel unloved. Until you come to the place where you listen to the still small voice within that says, "There's something within me. I am alive. I am life. It has to have some value if I am alive. There is an Isness about me and that has to have some value."

And you start from there, that point of Isness, that point that says, "I Am. I am life. I am consciousness. I am aware." And you go from there and you build upon that small point of Isness.

Your purpose in the new millennium is to do the will of the Father. It is to bring into reality — with a small "r" — the Reality —with a capital "R". It is to bring into this life experience the knowing and remembrance of the Father's love. To bring, if you will, the matrix of you into the human experience and to transform the human experience because you know now you are much more than just the human experience. Much more than just the small point of focus.

Are you ready to do this? Yes, in truth you are. You have been preparing yourself throughout many lifetimes. You have been preparing yourself throughout this lifetime to do the will of the Father, to bring love, true love, to this plane.

How will you do this? You will allow compassion to be experienced and expressed. You will allow yourself to walk in your brother's shoes, his sandals, her sandals. You will allow yourself to know there is my brother, my sister and there go I as well. I understand what they are going through. If you do not understand right off, allow yourself to take a deep breath and to ask and the understanding will come.

How will you allow compassion? How will you allow the love of the Father to be expressed? It will come forth from the inner being of you and in order to do that you must have tapped the wellspring of love within yourself. You must have taken the lid off of that well to let it flow, to allow the buckets to be dipped into that well and to come up with the refreshing water of love.

You are in process of opening the well. You are in process of allowing the heavy cemented lid that has been on top of that well to be broken, crumbled into dust, to be removed, to be lifted.

There is desire on your part to be in service to the Father, to know that your life has meaning, that your life has purpose. It is a very deep desire within you otherwise you would not be here in this evening. You would not be within the sound of my voice. There is a very deep desire within you to be of service to the Father, to have this lifetime be of value.

Now in truth every lifetime has been of value for every lifetime has brought you to this place. This place of readiness. This place of the threshold. Every lifetime has had its gifting and its treasure. It has had its value. This lifetime you are coming into a conscious awareness of the purpose of any lifetime. This lifetime you have asked to be awake, to know consciously the realization of love, the realization that I am that which my Father has created. I am love itself incarnate. This lifetime you have asked and decreed that you will be awake. You will be conscious, aware of why you are here and what your purpose is.

Now, in order to give love to another one you must know love for yourself. And how that comes is in the giving. It is well and good to speak of love. We have spoken countless words about love. How you are love. How the Father is love. We have spoken of how the concept of love is but a signpost, a directional pointing you to the expansion of self. How when you are in love you feel expanded. How when you feel a human love with another one you are so caught up in aliveness that you truly begin to live life in a vibration that is uplifted.

We have spoken how human love and the concept of love serves a divine purpose as a symbol, a road sign, but that the love which you are is so expansive that it cannot be understood by concept. It can only be experienced and it can only be experienced in the giving.

I would suggest to you that you fall in love once again. I would suggest to you that you have a most wonderful love affair. Please have a love affair. Make it an affair that is based in love. Not human love as that has been defined with all of the strings attached and all of the conditions. But that you have a love affair with the Christ of you and the Christ as you see it embodied in another one.

Look to whoever is sitting on your right hand side. Okay. Choose you a partner. There you go, choose a partner. For the next month in your timing I want you to fall in love with each other. I want you to look for the Christ in each other and to celebrate that Christ. I want you to look deeply. I want you to do what are called the phone calls, to do the emails if you know emails. I want you to do the sending of the snail mail. Each day to send a note, a love letter. Some of you will find this easier to do because of proximity than others. But for all of you each day I want you to celebrate the other one as if you are in love with that one.

It will be fun to do and yet it will be a bit of a challenge. I want you to come to a place of knowing the Christ of love. Get to know the other person yes, as an individuality, as a personality. Get to know what they like, what they don't like. Get to know what the living circumstances are, what makes them tick perhaps, and then beyond that celebrate who they are. Send them little love notes. Send them little gifts as you would do with a lover and if you have found yourself in a divine partnership with one who is of the same gender, then send to that one what you would know you would like to receive as an upliftment. A saying for the day perhaps. A saying that says how much you are valued. A saying that says, I want to know you. I want to really celebrate you.

And those of you who are within the sound of my voice, choose for yourself a divine partner and for one month of your timing fall in love with this one. Do what you would do with a lover. Celebrate this one with the love notes, with the small tokens of gifts, with certain ways of speaking, of remembering, of calling, of communicating. Fan the fire of love once again in a new way.

As you will do that you will find a depth of love that you have not experienced yet in this lifetime. It will be a depth of love and a height of the Christ. We will start with a point where you are at. You start with what you see first as that person, that individuality. But it will lead you to a place of deeper understanding of the Christ of that other one and in turn a deeper understanding of the Christ which you are.

Do not be afraid to open your heart. Do not be afraid to say to that one all of the things you wished someone would say to you. Do not let the ego say, "Oh well, I can't say that because what will they think if I say that?" Allow yourself to be open as the Christ. If you want to preface it say, "The Christ of me says to the Christ of you," and then say what you want to say and you won't have to worry that the other one thinks that perhaps you are making a certain untoward pass at them.

Or if you are most courageous just say, "Hey, I love you. I think you're the most wonderful being that has ever walked the face of the earth and I am really, really glad that I have found you once again so that we can share this time interval together. By God, I really like you."

Have fun with it. For one month in your timing move mountains in order to do the expression of love, but you will know how to do it and you will find it to be most rewarding.

Now, the love that is going to come forth in this one month of falling in love, is going to serve you very well in the new millennium because you are going to find changes in the new millennium, yes, because you have decreed that there will be changes. Thanks God for that, literally. And you are going to find that you are moving into a space that you have not known for a long, long time. A space where you walk unafraid. A space where you know who walks beside you. A space that is in love with life and looks for the good in life. A space that easily and simply does the will of our Father. A space that allows love to be known once again, true love.

Your Y2K it is most magical because you have decreed there will be magic. Your Y2K has been brought forth by magicians and you are the ones who are the magicians. Not in a sense of bringing about the illusion, not a slight of hand but you are the ones who are the true magicians that know how to transform that which has been illusion so that truth may be seen.

Your Y2K is going to call forth the best of you. It is going to call forth a creativity. It is going to call forth a flexibility. It is going to call forth a joy of living. It is going to call forth all of the love that you have ever known how to express and experience and more. You are going to find the floodgates opened and you are going to find that which you have hoped for, dreamed of, envisioned is going to be experienced.

For what you are going to bring about, your purpose in the new millennium is to bring heaven to earth. No less a thing than that. No less an experience than heaven on earth. Long enough you have stood by and desired it. Long enough you have waited for someone else to provide it for you. Long enough you have listened to the voices of the world that said, "It is not possible to know heaven while you are incarnate." Long enough you have listened to the voices that said, "Perhaps you will know heaven, but it is afar off." Now you are bringing through the medium of time, your Y2K, you are bringing about the catalyst for change that is going to allow you to express and experience heaven on earth. That is your purpose in the new millennium and it begins now with a love relationship.

In truth it has begun a long, long time ago. But as you will allow yourself to be in a love relationship that asks, no strings attached, it says, "All I want to do is to give. All I want to do is to celebrate." That is what you have truly dreamed of. That is the true knowing of love and that is what this love relationship you are moving into now, you have begun already in the last few moments, that is what this love relationship will gift you.

No strings attached. No expectations. No having to receive, only to give. Nothing can be held from you because you are going to allow the love to flow through you. The ego says, "Well I've tried that before and I've always gotten hurt." In truth you haven't tried it all the way otherwise you would not know hurt.

Now, you have permission to try it one hundred percent to giving, of loving, of celebrating, of knowing that as you have divinely chosen partners and it is divinely chosen, you are going to experience your heart's desire. You are going to experience heaven. For heaven starts right where you are and you have known the converse of that, that hells starts right where you are. But heaven starts right where you are and as you will focus upon heaven, as you will grow and nourish and nurture heaven you will see it manifest in your experience and you will be then prepared as the master which you are, to bring forth and fulfill your purpose in the new millennium.

Would you experience now a movement into the new millennium? Would you want to do that? Very good, we will do that.

Allow yourself to take the deep breath. Allow yourself the simplicity of the deep breath and the peace which comes on that deep breath. Allow yourself to feel the boundaries of the body and of the individuality to be made thin, to be dissolved, to be expanded.

And take another deep breath and expand into that Self which does not know boundaries. Breathe and feel the light which is all around you. Feel yourself to be in the light. Feel yourself to be at one, a point of light and to be the light itself.

Feel yourself so expansive that you do not know a boundary. You know a point of Isness, an anchor, if you will and you go out from there on a beam of light which knows no boundaries, a sphere of light that encompasses all and goes beyond all. Feel yourself to be radiant light.

And in that space, that consciousness of light, connect once again with the knowing of the matrix of you, the Reality of you, the ocean of you. Feel yourself to be at one moment the drop of consciousness within the ocean of the consciousness of One. Feel yourself to be total oneness of the ocean.

In that space of Isness feel a warmth, a warmth that pervades all of your being. A warmth which envelopes, holds you, permeates you, the drop of consciousness of you and the Isness of you is held within that warmth of love.

You are held in the ocean of love. You are nurtured in that ocean of love. It is out of that ocean of love that you have come and it is to that ocean of love you return. This is where you find yourself now in expanded consciousness. In love. In warmth. In nurturing.

Allow yourself as the point of consciousness to go forward in what you see as time. One year in your timing to the springtime of a future year, next year as you call it, and feel the light of your consciousness focusing upon the springtime.

See the flowers, the grasses, the trees, the hills, the mountains, the water. See the sunrise. Know yourself to be the sunrise. Feel the vibration of all life and know yourself to be the sunshine of all life.

Hear the song of the vibration of life. Feel the radiance of expanded consciousness brought into specific point of reality. Feel the consciousness which you claim as you and feel the presence of a consciousness beside and beyond and around you. Feel a presence of light with you.

Breathe your consciousness of love into the springtime of new life, new understanding, new expression of life. Know who holds the springtime of your next year. Be as the little child who revels in the sunshine of the morning. Feel yourself to be spontaneous, alive as the little child of the Father in the springtime of your next year.

See yourself as the small child holding the hand of a presence which goes with you, beside you, before you, all around you. And see the magic of new life opening before you. See the magic of the flowers as they open and bloom before you. See the magic of the grasses as they move in harmony with you, with your footsteps, with your vibration, with a vitality of the spirit of you.

Then know a presence of others around you. Brothers and sisters who are as small children the same as you. Playing in the meadow. Celebrating life. Beholding the miracle of expression.

See that the meadow truly is not empty but it is very full of life in all forms. See the brothers and sisters playing. See the ones who are activating the bodies. See the ones who are allowing their frequency of vibration to pass through the bodies and to be at play as well. For not all of the brothers and sisters take on physical form and yet they play with you.

See the light of each one blending, intermingling. See the light growing to the place where you no longer see form, but you see light. Spheres of light going within each other's sphere of light passing through, blending, intermingling, passing on to the next one in a great dance of the joy of life. The celebration of life.

And allow yourself to see these spheres of light blending into one great sphere. A web, if you will, interconnected. A great miracle and joy of life experienced and expressed in an infinite variety of ways and levels.

Feel the presence of life which you are. Feel yourself to be dynamic life within that sphere of light which you share with all others seen and unseen. Know yourself to be in a sphere of love. See yourself to be in a most wondrous sphere, infinite of love. Happy love where you are accepted as the most wonderful being which you are. Where you are accepted because you are an integral part of that sphere of light. Where you know yourself to be whole.

See yourself dancing as the sphere of light, different size, dancing. Sometimes large. So large you can hardly imagine. Other times coalesced into a sphere the size of your ping pong ball. Sometimes coalesced in the size of the basketball, playing in the most wonderful beautiful meadow.

That is the springtime of your next year. That is the springtime of your Y2K. That is the springtime of the birth of heaven upon earth. That is the reality into which you will move for you have decreed that you will know how wonderful you are. You have decreed that you will remember how loved you are. You have decreed that you will dance once again as the joyful light upon the firmament and that you will know no boundaries. You will know no constriction. You will know only love.

For God so loved you, that He gave His only begotten. In other words, He allowed His creation, you the holy Child, to play in the meadow of experience and expression. Your Father loves you always and forever and it is this remembrance you will take with you into Y2K and you will transform the world.

So be it.
