

The Evolution of Earth Consciousness

2000-07-14

Beloved and holy and only child of our Heavenly Father, child of the One Source, Child of light divine. That is who you are. Take it deeply within the consciousness and contemplate what that means. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph – Jesus, you have called me – and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen once again to call me forth. A time of celebration. Every time we come together in this way it is a time of great reunion, a time of celebration.

A time of celebration of times past, experiences past, lifetimes when we have walked together. A time of celebration from before time for remembering that which we are as the one Holy Child. A time of celebration truly as you are now awakening into that remembrance once again and claiming that I am which you are, the divine holy child. The extension of the Father into this point of focus, this reality for a divine purpose.

And what is that purpose? It is to live the light, the love of the Father. To be that which you are in truth. To shake off the shackles of world thinking, every nuance, every little bit, every last thread and chain that would hold you to world thinking and to celebrate truly that which you are in freedom and in joy.

That is why you are here. It is no big mystery although many, many times you have made it a mystery and you have listened to your teachers, your rabbis, your pastors, your priests, your authority figures who have said to you that it is much of a mystery far beyond what you, a small little individual that you are, could understand. And yet deep within your heart even in those lifetimes which are not that far away from you, you have recognized that there is the divine spark alive and well within you that will not be denied.

You have asked, "Why am I here? Why a lifetime?" When you are young it seems to be that there are certain projects that you must do. You must learn the way of the world. You must go in certain schooling with your peers, you must learn how society will accept you and how you will accept society and its rules and regulations.

And you come into a stage then of expressing yourself in the human plane, choosing a mate, allowing the small ones to be birthed through you, to be nurtured and you guide them as they are also going through the steps that you have come, though the steps that you remember so well. And you guide them as best you know how.

You celebrate all of the experiences and revelations, all of their graduations from one stage to another. And you see the small ones growing and you see them coming into a stage where they are also choosing a mate and having the small ones and you delight in what they are experiencing and in the grandchildren and you move further along in the journey of life and perhaps then there are the great grandchildren and you delight in them.

For along the way you begin to ponder, "What has this been all about? I have done well according to what society has suggested that I do. I have fulfilled what the different stages suggested that I do. But what is life about? Surely it must be more than just existing, making a living." And you have begun reading, studying, pondering, asking, contemplating and it has brought you full circle back to the true teacher. For you have gone to all of your teachers and you have asked, "Tell me, tell me what is the purpose of life? Why am I here? When I get to drawing my last breath upon this plane, will I have fulfilled that which I came for? How can I know if I fulfilled it if I don't know what it is? Tell me." And you have asked.

And your teachers, your rabbis, your pastors, your priests, your friends have told you what they know to be true and you have taken all of that information, taken it within, have pondered it and it has led you to a most wonderful place of coming to the true teacher, the teacher within you. In truth, the Christ of you.

It is most wonderful what you do in your journey. For in truth a lifetime it is as a certain scenario symbolic of the evolution of consciousness upon this plane. For as the small one will begin the incarnation, there is much time spent in quiet, sleep as you would see it, much time spent knowing oneness just with life. Feeling a certain oneness with life that isn't verbalized. In truth, cannot be verbalized and is not when the small one is very small.

But a knowing that I am life itself. I am having a life experience and how wonderful that is and also upon this plane which believes so much in duality, how painful it can be. And the small ones will express when there is pain.

The evolution of consciousness upon this plane. I would speak with you about that this evening. For in the beginning, you like to speak of beginnings and endings, in truth the beginning is not a beginning. The beginning is an Isness that with without, outside of time. But in what you will understand within this point of focus, in the beginning was consciousness, was awareness, was Isness. An Isness that did not have to verbalize its Isness, to know itself an Isness of just being, of expansion. And the expansion continues.

As you understand time the consciousness was and still is and expanded in its realization of Isness. And in the expansion touched what you will call thought and wanted to — although wanted is not, it is a concept within this reality — desired within the expansion to know itself in all ways. Beyond even what you can imagine within this point of focus. It was as you would see the leavening within the bread, an expansion that has to be, that will not be denied. An Isness, a consciousness.

And within the holiness of the whole of the Isness, there came forth desire to express. This has been, come into being in many, many realms, many realities — with a small "r". Many dimensions as you call them. Many realities from the one Reality — with a capital "R".

I have called this Isness, the expansion of the Isness the Father, the source of all as you would understand it, the beginning and yet it is beyond and outside of time. And within this reality there has been a most wonderful consciousness to touch this realm, this reality with creativity. To see what we can create. And in what you would measure as eons of time ago, before any recorded history and yet it is deep within the recesses even of the human mind there is a memory of it, we brought forth from the divine energy light which you understand. It is a concept within the physical realm, light.

So the divine energy, I want you to understand it is beyond and more than light itself, but light will do very well as we will understand its working within this plane. For we thought to create within physicality. We thought to bring the stream of consciousness as divine energy into form. First form being light, energy of light for energy itself is within the physical realm. And then we thought to bring forth form out of the light to coalesce the energy of light into various forms which you would look at now and say to be most immense forms, of suns, of stars, universes. A bit here, a bit there, a bit there as there was thought. And we brought forth the physical universes to see as a researcher will do. If I think and with thought I bring forth. And when I speak of I it is more than just one individual. It is in truth the Christ energy. And we brought forth the most wonderful universes within what you understand now to be this realm, this reality and other realities that have not been touched upon or measured yet within this point of focus.

Now there have been some of your seers who have seen other dimensions, other realities and they are true. Having brought forth the most wonderful star which you see every day that rises in your east and sets in your west, we brought forth other forms, light forms which you call the planets to be in association with the star. A most wonderful dance and most wonderful agreement of energy of attraction, of energy of oneness. And our holy Mother the Earth is very much a light being.

You have ones who have spoken of our holy Mother as being a light being, having a consciousness which She does. There is vibration, there is consciousness, there is life, there is reality – with a small “r” and also a capital “R” – come from the capital “R” Reality of our Holy Mother which is your home in this life experience.

And we know yourselves to be creative energy. We as the holy Child creating. And we looked upon what we had brought together and we did call it good. Much as you have done when you have had accomplishments and you have brought something together that you worked upon either for a long time or a short time but you brought it together and you felt good about that. There was celebration. In truth there still is. He has not died. Within this point of focus the celebration has been put on the shelf somewhere most of the time. Celebration lives. It is quite true.

And we celebrated what we had brought forth. And as a consciousness of Being, we came because there is no separation and we lived with the creations within, upon, around our holy Mother the Earth, the other planets, the stars, the suns just for the fun of it. And you were there and you celebrated.

We were as the light that danced within the light of form. And we thought, “What more can we create?” And it was not even a thought that took a split second of time for indeed it was (snapping fingers) that fast and faster and we brought forth the mountains, the valleys, the water, the clouds, the vast oceans that you have upon this plane and we experienced how does it feel to be within the vast ocean? How does it feel to be within the mountain?

You have now teachings that there are masters who live within the great mountains, the sacred mountains and this is true. There is a consciousness of the great masters living within all of your mountains, all of your valleys as well for again every place is sacred.

And we experienced the physicality, the physical world as it was then, bringing it more and more into what you now experience, into a certain density, a fine tuning and you were there. And we thought, "What more can we bring into form to play upon this creation, our holy Mother the Earth," and we brought forth all manner of form, life forms within the oceans and within the dry land and we experienced, "How does that feel to be the form of different life?" And we brought forth forms which you know now in your stories called mythology. Most wondrous forms and you have in this day and time an arrogance that judges those forms and says that they are lesser than what you are now. But in truth those forms were just as wonderful as what you activate in this day and time.

Life in any form is to be celebrated. And we brought forth the trees, the plants, the flowers, the tallest of your trees, ones that you know now. Other trees that have grown and have been forgotten that have come through a certain process of your belief to be used now in another form as energy which of course it has been from the beginning, an energy.

We brought forth the tallest of the animals and the smallest. The tallest of the plant kingdom and the smallest. We brought forth everything that you know now in this day and time and more. Many forms which you have forgotten.

There are certain forms, animals forms that you feel a kinship with. You feel a certain beauty with certain ones, has certain resonance. Know you that you had a hand in the thought that brought forth that form? You are looking upon your own handiwork. Celebrate it. Enjoy it. For in truth all of your creations are there to be enjoyed.

And in the evolution, the ongoing of the process of time we became very enamored with the creations. A certain feeling of pride, of celebration yes, then came to a certain... the celebration moved into pride and the pride moved into competition and the competition moved into separateness.

And you had various ones who said, "My creation is greater than yours. It will run faster than yours. It will chomp yours up." And there were games for we knew them to be games. For as one creation would be swallowed up by another creation instantly we would remake a creation and there was not at that time the sense of loss for there was still the knowing of creativity and the knowing that all it is of life and light, light coalesced into form.

So there was not a sense at that time of loss. A sense of competition, yes. A sense of a game. Well played and enjoyed. But again in the evolution there came to be a forgetting of the creativity and the power of the spirit, the power of the divinity and the focus was upon the creations and more and more distance was believed to be between creations. And some creations were seen to be more powerful than others.

And there came about an evolution of the human form and it was an evolution. You have a teaching that many of the brothers and sisters adhere to even in this day and time, that the animal kingdom is the animal kingdom and that humans were made by God the Father. Having nothing to do with any evolution or process of life forms. That God the Father instantly said, "I will make the human form and it will be above all others."

Now in one way they are right because the human form has been made as an extension of God the Father, by the divine energy of creativity from the one holy Christ being. The one Mind — with a capital "M". But there is a subtlety of arrogance and a judgment, a value judgment that would say that the animal kingdom is below you.

It would shake a few people up to understand that the animal kingdom is in truth a bit more advanced than many humans. Many of your four footed ones know themselves to be one with life. Know themselves to be the extension of the Father, life. Know themselves to be here to give and to be love and they trust. They meditate. They live in a certain place of sacred peace for the most part. There are many who do. There are others who do not have that consciousness so we will speak a bit in a generalization there. Again within the animal kingdom you have consciousness, you have evolution of consciousness the same as you have with ones who activate the human form.

In the process of identification with the creations there has come about a very strong feeling of separateness. A longing deep within. A feeling of abandonment. A feeling of homesickness, wanting to go home. Wanting to be held and loved, nurtured. Wanting to find that place of true love and acceptance. Wanting to remember that which you are in truth.

But you have made such a wonderful scenario of separateness, of competition, of power and lack of power that there has been generation upon generation which has lived in sorrow, in pain and in abandonment as they have seen it.

From time to time within the collective human consciousness there has been a rising up of the still small voice, a rising up of the Christ energy that has said, "I know myself to be more than just the physical." And ones have come forth as great teachers, many great teachers from time to time as they have been called forth by the human consciousness wanting to remember. And these teachers have gone deep within themselves and touched that place, that stream of holy consciousness, that stream of divine energy of Isness and they have brought forth messages, teachings, revelations that they have shared. Messages of hope. Messages that have said, "Look up. Arise up in your thinking. Get the focus off of the small bit right in front of your nose and look up to the light of higher consciousness."

And they have lived, these teachers, lives which have seemed to be miraculous. They have done things that have seemed to be miracles according to the collective consciousness because they were living in that stream of knowing divine consciousness, knowing themselves to be unlimited.

And as time has gone by what they have shared with the friends, the students, the disciples, has been forgotten, put into the background and they themselves have been held as being more divine than the rest and they have been worshiped. Set apart again, separation, set apart. And you have in this day and time many who worship me who do not understand that I spoke of the Christ of all of us.

And their worshiping of me leads to more divisive-ness as they will hold on to their small bit of truth and have to depend that. And they defend it because it is the only past piece of the remnant of truth that they feel they have so they defend it tooth and nail, to the death because it is their clue to the whole and yet they think that that is all there is, just the clue, just that small bit.

And it has led as you have understood your linear history to many battles, many holy wars where ones would prove that my truth is more powerful than your truth My God is more powerful than your God.

Fortunately there is a wave of consciousness which has begun far before what you see this lifetime to be, but a wave of consciousness which is arising up wanting to experience itself as more than just one individual, one lifetime, one existence. There is a wave of consciousness where you have now many teachers which fortunately because there are many voices now speaking that do not have them put upon such singular pedestals and you can listen to what the message is. Many voices that are speaking of peace, of value of life, of going within to listen to the still small voice, of contemplating that perhaps there is more than just what I experience with the five senses. Perhaps there is more in just this reality.

Do you realize what a most wonderful catalyst that thought has been? That thought when it burst from within the human consciousness that perhaps there is more than this reality. That in truth was the turning point of your awakening. It was the point where human consciousness began to see itself as perhaps part of some larger whole.

Now of course with human consciousness being what it has trained itself to be and the belief in duality being as strong as it has been for a good bit of time upon this plane, the understanding that perhaps I am part of a larger whole has been interpreted as how small I am. Not the celebration that I am something of a larger whole and how wonderful that is, but Oh my goodness, how pitifully small I am. I am lost. There are forces out there bigger than I am. I have to, again habitual thinking, I have to defend myself.

So when there has come a point as you have seen within the last century where you have had visitation by brothers of other dimension, space brothers you have called them. There has been within the collective consciousness a reaction, habitual reaction of "Oh my goodness how do I defend? Why have they come? We cannot tell everyone of this because there will be such an uprising of fear."

You have been visited by space brothers, of course. You are not alone in the universes. Praise be to the heavenly Father Source of all that you are not alone. Praise be to the Father the heavenly source of all that this lifetime is not all that you are. You are part of a much larger whole and you are coming, you as the individual and you as the collective consciousness, you are coming to the place of being able to abide with such a thought not in fear but in celebration. To abide with it in welcome. To know that in truth you meet another aspect of your Self – capital “S”. There is no separation. You are not separate from life itself. You are not separate from the divine creative energy which you are. You cannot be separate from that flow of divinity which you are. You can only think yourself to be separate but in truth, you cannot be separate from that divine flow of creative energy. Even as you are using that divine flow of creative energy to create what you see to be separation you are not separate. You are divine. You are an extension of the one Isness, the one Mind and it is most wonderful now that you have many thinkers, many seers who are willing to sit with a new idea and welcome it, to ask, “How can I see this in a new light?” Not to run from it as collective consciousness has done for so many generations and to hide in fear, under a rock somewhere both literally and figuratively. But to sit and to welcome, to say, “I am part of something much larger than what I see right now.” And to sit in a place where there is trust that all is divine and that there is nothing that can threaten or harm the holy child.

The thought that you could somehow be threatened, harmed, comes from the place the belief in separation. The place where you have known so well the belief in duality of good and evil. It grew out of the games we played, the competitions we played and it grew out of the forgetting that as soon as one form would be would what you call, changed, swallowed up, changed another form could be brought forth immediately. You do this now over and over and yet you see it to be such a slow process you bring forth the small forms born of the physical form yes, but you create new life forms for the divine holy child to activate and you say, “But I don’t really know how that happens and it is such a slow process and if the form of the small one is annihilated it takes forever to make another one.” That is the belief in process. The belief in separation and the forgetting that instantly you as you move beyond what you have seen yourself to be as a limited individuality, you can bring forth another form that fast.

There will come a time and it will be within time, when you will remember the games that we played and you will remember magic as it is now termed, divinity as it is in truth, that brings forth form out of divine energy, out of light coalesced into form.

You have your writings now. There is a writing that is most popular even within your last few days. (Harry Potter books) There has come out a writing which has captured the imagination of many. It has also brought up fear and resistance within others because it speaks of extending the boundaries of what you can do. It speaks of magic, of moving beyond what the human consciousness has declared possible. And it takes you back in a remembrance, a divine remembrance when you played the most magical games. You played to borrow a term from this writing, you played the quidditch up in the air. You knew yourself not to be tied to the surface of our holy Mother the Earth, but to be able to lift yourself up quite physically to fly through the air as the light being which you are. Not held by density. Not held by collective belief that life is so heavy. “I can’t move off of it.”

You knew yourself to be light. So this writing which has captured the imagination of many. Wonder you that it has become so popular? It has captured the imagination of many because it is a remembrance that you are not tied to this reality. You are not tied to the physicality. You are the creators of physicality.

Now for many of the brothers and sisters that is heresy. That is far out crazy thinking. That is wishful thinking. And yet if you wish for something hard enough and long enough it becomes true. Of course it becomes true because you are focusing your divine creative energy on it to the place where you get rid of all of your resistances that says it can't be and then you bring it forth. So it is wishful thinking, yes. Most wonderful wishful thinking. Focusing your divine creative energy upon what seems to be yet beyond you. And yet it is not beyond you it is within you.

As ones will read this writing they are taken, transported in a moment into a new realm of thinking. They call it fantasy but it is most wonderful because it feels so good. It feels so freeing. And yet it is your true nature. That is why it feels so good.

There is a most wonderful evolution of human consciousness that is happening. Where you have many who are willing now to contemplate possibilities. To say, "Well that truth that I have grown up with, it has been true — with a small "t" — in the past. But maybe there is more to this truth that I have known. More to this truth that I have been told and there is within the human consciousness an expectancy with this new turning of an age, the new counting of time called the millennium. There has been an expectancy that there will be new things. In the decade leading up to this new turning of the age, a new reckoning of time, there has been, you have witnessed it for yourself, many developments in your scientific fields, your technological fields, your medical fields, every field you can imagine has seen great developments as there has been specific focus. You have had many specialties, specializations you have seen in the last half century or more. A great emphasis upon specialization and ones will specialize within a specialty within a specialty within a specialty to the place where some of you have wondered what is happening. It is most wonderful. It is most wonderful what is happening because you are focusing the divine creative energy, most specifically upon what you have thought to be — you as a collective consciousness — you have thought to be a truth to the place where it is opening up and revealing its treasures to you.

And so you have seen in the decade leading up even to this new millennium, you have seen much of a rapid development within every field of specialization. Things that as you were the small ones were not even imagined. Even if they were written about in some of your fictionalized writings it seemed to be far away from whatever you see in this reality. And yet you have surpassed many of those writings. You have seen developments that is proving to you such as what you have the development where you speak to another one long distance as you call it, by using a small very small piece that you put up to your ear and your mouth and ones walk around in communication with one all over the place everywhere they go.

It's almost like a small piece of invention, an appendage right there at the side of the face and you walk around and you see everyone in communication no matter where they are, with ones that they yet believe to be separate from them and at a distance from them. Most wonderful proof of the non-separation. It is coming in a process of time.

You see it to be first of all with a certain technological piece of equipment, now you see that piece of equipment getting smaller and smaller where pretty soon it will just hang over the earpiece and it will be there with a little mouthpiece and all the time you will be speaking to whoever you want to. It will come to the place where you will not even need the little earpiece over the ear and mouthpiece. You will just speak mind to mind. It is coming to that.

But then, how does one make the golden coins off of that? There will be an evolution.

Workshops.

Exactly. Ha ha, most creative thinker we have here in this front row. Yes, the workshops.

There will be an evolution as to what is valued even where the golden coins will not have the value that they hold now for you. For the golden coins are yet a piece of separation. They are a piece of energy that you say, "I own this piece of energy and I will give you this piece of energy which you can then use for something else if you want to. I'll give you this piece of energy for something that you have that I want and we exchange energy." And it is yet seen to be a bit separate because I have this tangible piece of energy that I give to you either in the golden coin, the piece of paper, the plastic that you run through a certain machine and it records all kinds of most wonderful wisdom and says that you have x amount of energy or oh my goodness, you don't have too much. You'd better restock. Most wonderful what you do.

I poke a bit of fun at it and yet it is to get you thinking. To allow you to move beyond what you have taken for granted being a truth. You are coming to the place, most wonderful place where you will behold bodies as separate and yet you will see the energy that activates the body and you will know that your energy, the divine light energy is mingling, blending, interchangeably with everyone else's.

Already you are sensing that. We have spoken of this in previous times that there are certain ones whom you will meet and you will feel a certain sensing either of resonance or non-resonance or they are feeling certain down, whatever. You can feel a certain vibrational frequency.

So you are beginning even on that level to remember oneness with all life. You have your teachers who speak in this day and time of meditating with a life form such as the most wonderful bush, tree, flower, to the place where there is consciousness of oneness where you can place yourself, your consciousness within a leaf of that plant. Within the petal of a flower and feel how it is to be life in that form.

You can feel yourself expanded beyond the boundaries of the body. You can know yourself to be the beloved pet, be within that one's mind, to commune as they do with you. Sometimes in a most frustrating way. Well I will say a way that requires a bit of patience on their part. But in their wisdom they allow you the patience.

Many of the lifeforms do not know separation the way human experience declares separation. That is why when you do the practice of sitting in oneness with other lifeforms it allows you to move into that remembrance of the creative divine energy of life itself and moves you beyond the separation which you have thought to be true. Also moves you into a less arrogant place of thinking that you are the only power.

Every belief which you hold is rooted in truth even the belief that I am the higher power. I am the wielding power, is rooted in truth in the Christ power. But it has gotten a bit bent, misshapen, a bit constricted, limited, warped in the extension of its belief sometimes, in the expression of its beliefs.

It behooves mankind, womankind, humankind at this point in the collective consciousness to entertain unlimitedness, to play with "I am most wonderful because I am part of a larger whole. I am ready now to remember all of me, all of my other parts. I am ready now to entertain the thought that there are universes within universes and I as the creative holy Child, I have had a part in the creation of all of these universes, all of these playgrounds which in truth they are."

This playground where you play now it is as a sandbox. We have spoken of it as a sandbox that you play in. But you have made it as a sandbox not with the most fine sand but you have made it as a sandbox that has some sand, some boulders, some sharp jagged rocks in it, some burrs and thistles, some things that as you allow your consciousness to rest upon them, they are uncomfortable.

This reality it is most wonderful in its creativity. It is to be celebrated, but it is not the only reality. Don't be so arrogant to think that this is all that your Father would allow to be created. My God, if that were true it would be a tragedy. Well at least it would be a limitation. I will not judge it a tragedy but it would be a limitation.

This is not the only reality that our Father has allowed. There are realities beyond your most wonderful imagination and you are free to play in those realities even while you activate the body. You don't have to worry about having to release the body in order to know expanded Self. You can do that in your moments, in your times of meditation, your times when you are being one with another life-form. When you are sitting there and contemplating, "How would it feel to be the energy of the farthest star, the most powerful energy of the most brilliant star? Star whose light hasn't even reached this reality yet and I am that pulsating energy of that star. I am!" And you are. Play with that for awhile. It will take you beyond what you see this point of reality, this veil of sorrows as it is sometimes because you have called it that. It will take you beyond all of the small stuff and it will allow you to celebrate your being as I do.

Live in joy. Know that in truth the holy child is awakening. That is why we have spoken of this over and over, the awakening. The holy child is awakening to its unlimitedness. Its creativity. Its creations. Not only this realm, this reality but all other realities that you can imagine and more. Live in joy. Celebrate that which you do create and know that there is even more.

Celebrate the Christ! Celebrate the evolution of human earth consciousness for it is coming back to the most divine place of remembering the light which dances yet upon the firmament. The light which cannot be held within density. The light which cannot be held within any form. The light which in truth has been before time began.

So be it.
