Opening meditation prayer

This week, the days that you spend together will be most catalytic for you. They will be as catalysts for remembering who you truly are and it is not by any accident that you are here. Even though you have felt perhaps I am on the outskirts of a group, it is not by accident.

This time you will be together, these days will be most expansive, most wonderful in the realization and knowing of the Christ which you are. Now we have begun speaking of that in a previous evening when we met, of the Christ presence, the powerful Christ presence and the awareness of the Christ of you.

For long enough have you individually and collectively held me to be upon a pedestal way far above you and would worship me as one Christ and to say that I was all powerful Christ, Savior, that I could change everything for you. And you have prayed to me over and over lifetime after lifetime and sometimes the prayers seem to be answered. Other times the prayers did not seem to be answered. At least in the way that you had hoped.

This lifetime your prayers are being answered in a way that perhaps you did not expect. But your prayer, your deepest prayer has been to know, "Who am I? Truly, who am I?" And to come Home to the Father, Come Home to the Christ of you in that realization.

In truth, that is what this lifetime is about. In truth that is what these days together are about and as you have heard it spoken to you, as there will be the realization in you, you will take this realization into the world and it will touch me as the ripples upon the pond as the ripples go out.

For what we will do in these days together will be far reaching. That is why I thank you for the effort that it has taken for you to clear your calendars, to make the necessary arrangements, to put forward the necessary golden coins to be here. For truly you are called of the Father to be here together in these days and it is not by accident that you are here no matter how you see certain relationships or how you see certain age, the years that you have garnered to yourself. You have agreed that you will answer the call, the call of the Father to come Home once again in truth remember. True support and true love. That place where you know no matter what happens in the world, "I am loved of the Father eternally," and you are.

For you, courageous ones, you have said that you will come at this time, a turning of the age. That you will come at this time to do the work and the will of the Father. In a time that yet believes in duality, that yet believes that there is good and not so good in the world. That there are challenges and that there can be a force opposite to the Father's Love.

But you have said, "Send me. I will go and I will do the work of love even in a place that is not loving. Especially in a place that is not loving. I will be the presence of love and I will do for myself as best I remember how, the nurturing that allows me to carry forth that which must be done."

For this time these years now of change, they are not the easiest in your reality, in your world. There is much of upheaval and there will continue to be much of upheaval for some years yet because you, individually and you collectively, have decreed that there will be a realization of the Christ. And as there has not been within certain memory, the knowing of the Christ for sometime there have to be changes and separated ego does not like change. Separated ego says, "Even though whatever I am going through right now is not comfortable at least it is familiar. Allow me to stay with it. I don't want to change." But you are the Christ which you are, you have decreed that there will be change and you have decreed that you will be part of it. That you will be catalyst for the changes and you have added your consciousness, your seeking, your searching, your hope even in the darkest of times, you have added your bit of hope, the collective that has given sustenance to the collective consciousness to keep on searching.

All of you find yourselves in various walks of life where there have been challenges in the past year, the past few months of your timing. All of you have had to do wrestling with issues of the world. Issues that have been deep. Issues that in truth if you could have run from them, change them, glossed them over, you would have. But there was no way to gloss them over. It was time and you had decreed this at a very deep soul level to have those issues up, to look at them and to transform them through the changing of your perception. Through your faith which has been strong in this lifetime and others as well. To believe in the best. To believe in the Christ even though you couldn't perhaps see it. To believe that the next day would be better as you were in the darkest time.

I say this to you this evening that you know that it is truly something you have volunteered for, you have signed on for. It is a work that is in progress already. It is a work which you have agreed to do. It is a work that truly you do not do alone and we will be speaking of that in these days that we spend together. For you have accepted at least intellectually, that I work with you, that I am with you and that I work through you. Many times I work through you to your great surprise for you will find yourself comforting a friend, you will find yourself speaking with one who is challenged and there will be all of a sudden an idea, a realization, a revelation, inspiration if you will, of something that you say to them that is as a light that turns on a light for them. Even though you may not know truly what they are facing. And I work through you as you allow me to.

So you have come to a certain acceptance at least intellectually and deeper than that for many of you. That I am with you always and I work with you and through you. But what is going to be important in these days that we spend together, right now, these immediate days, will be a greater knowing of the other masters who work with you as well.

For you have a host of angels, masters, who work with you all of the time. Ascended masters as you have called them. Ones who have known physical incarnation, ones who have known this reality of humanhood, who have come through all of the challenges that human existence and experience will bring and have ascended in the consciousness above and beyond the limited vision.

So you will know that there are other ones, ascended masters working with you as well. You will feel their presence consciously with you. You will speak with them and they with you in these days and it will be nothing short of a miracle as you sometimes judge things to be. Nothing short of a miracle in your own estimation as to what you will feel by the end of our time together. You will find yourself by the day that we will say will be a parting but not a true parting were you will return to your dwelling places. You will look upon this evening and you will thank yourself for the innocence that brought you here and you will see an expansion of yourSelf, the Christ of you come into your own awareness and a realization of how much help is always with you and how important you are to the unseen help, the ascended masters.

For as there has been thinking in the collective consciousness, the ones who pray to various masters and have done so down through the ages. There has been a reverence given to saviors, Christ presences, ascended masters, teachers, rabbis who have come up over all of the limitation of human experience and there has been a holiness, a reverence ascribed unto them. But I say to you that truly they give to you great respect. For you are the ones who have the courage to say, "I will take upon myself the incarnation one more time. To go into the experience of a reality that yet believes in duality, yet believes that there could be separation from the good.

You are the ones who do the work most visibly and tangibly on this plane. And as you collectively have given to them great love, honor and respect, they give to you in same measure the love, honor and respect for doing your part. But you will know of that in this week for there will be communion, communication with other ascended masters as well.

Truly when you leave this grouping you will leave walking as you feel upon the air. A bit expanded. Perhaps even more expanded and I do not speak of all the good meals that you will be having. There will be those good meals as well for it is wonderful to break bread together and to have the joy of nourishing the body, the physical body as you nourish the soul.

But the expansion I speak of will be the expansion in your awareness as the Christ which you are and the Christ presence which you have agreed to be in this time, this changing time. This time of coming from the place of the belief that there could be a Christ presence into the knowing, the true knowing of the Christ Who is alive and well and walking this plane.

And you will look into the mirror, your looking glass and you will behold the Christ. You will behold in this week, the aura around yourself and around others. You will see that which you have asked to see, the expansion. Even the physical light and more than that, you will know the expansion of the soul of you, the inner light. It will be most radiant.

And when you return to your dwelling places after this grouping, other will see that radiance and they will say, "There is something different about you. Where have you been? What have you done? What special supplements are you taking now?" And you will share with them your joy.

For truly the gift of the realization of the Christ is joy. It is to know that I am the beloved of the Father. I am and I am that which I am from before time began. And to live in that presence everyday, every moment. Not second guessing yourself but living in joy for the being which you are. Living in joy and gratitude. For what you have agreed you will do even in the circumstances that world belief will bring to you, you will find yourself truly in the place of the Father's love and joy.

Now when I speak that this evening there is a certain feeling within you that rises up and says, "Yes, I would like that. Oh, I would really like that, Jeshua." Well I say unto you, it is yours and you will take it with you when you leave this place. It is my promise to you and I always keep my promises.

This week will be a week of deepening awareness. It will be a week of meditation. A week of silence. A week of contemplation. You are saying, "Oh my goodness, I thought I came here not to do that kind of work." But I say to you, it will not be work. The contemplation, the meditation that you will do you will find most easy to do. It will creep upon you when you are least expecting it. When you are doing the activities that you need do for the daily existence. The meditation will be a choice that you make just because it feels good to be in communion with nature. To spend a moment and it need in truth be no longer than a moment, to connect with the vitality of the most majestic mountains, the most vibrant trees. Most wonderful teachers, your trees. To sit with the tree and to ask of it, "What is your truth? Share with me what you see." For so often with the human existence there is much of the pressure to do, to be here, to go there, to plan, "What am I going to be doing this afternoon? Where do I have to be? What do I have to have ready this evening or for the morrow?" And as you will commune with the tree that is well rooted and stands in communion with life force, the tree will speak to you. Do not hurry. Do not rush about. Stand. Breathe. Be. Celebrate the joy of life which you are.

I suggest to you that you pick out a tree and you commune with a tree this week. Perhaps several. You may start out with one tree and there be a feeling, a calling for in truth there will be trees calling to you. The mountains will call to you. Even the smaller plants and flowers will call to you. Allow yourself to sit in communion and see the radiance around a flower. It will surprise the heck out of you. But it is there to see, to behold.

This week that as you look back on it, you will say there has been intense movement and yet every moment will be easy. In other words, what you will feel, perceive, know, realize at the end of this grouping will have been in your estimation quite a movement and yet moment by moment you are already in the process of expanding.

I say this to you as encouragement for in truth there is nothing else you can do except expand. You collectively have decreed that this will be a time of expansion. A time of remembrance. And you individually, you have said, "Yes, let me be there for this. Let me add to it, my song, my vibration, my light, my word of hope, my word of encouragement." Everyone of you, you have a gift to give and you will be giving it whether you recognize it or not. It doesn't matter. Some you say, "I know that I have certain gifts. I have been told and I know that this is something I find my joy in, helping others to find their joy." And some of you say, "Well, this has just been a lifetime where I have been seeking and searching but I don't know if I have much to give." And yet by the seeking and searching and the willingness you have already been giving to others the example that you know, that you believe, that you hope, that there is a bit of optimism, that there is something good in life.

For know you that there are many of the brothers and sisters who go about in this day and time feeling that life -- well this is a term that I have heard spoken, "Life is a bummer. Because after all birth is difficult, growing up is difficult and what do you get at the end of it? Death, as they have said, releasement of the body."

But you, you come along and you say, "Well yes, I understand all of that but I have to believe that there is something else and I know, I trust, I hope." By doing that you give to others a certain clue, a seed if you will, that in time will grow for them and blossom and they will pass it on to others. So that which you do in your life even if you say, "Well I just live an ordinary life." In truth none of you do live an ordinary life. You would not be here. It took a bit of something out of the ordinary to be here, did it not? Well it did, yes.

But even if you perceive your yourself, "That I just live an ordinary life." You are fulfilling what you have agreed that you will do in your own way. For before this incarnation it was you you gathered, a great soul group of you, and you had certain scripts and you passed around the scripts and you said, "Well I think I'll play this one this time round. That would be fun to do." And you looked at the different ones and you said, "Well I think I will teach, I will be one who does physical things. I will be the one who is interested in the movement of the stars and how it has bearing upon all of life. I will be the one who brings together others of like mind and provide for them a place where they can find the spiritual nourishments. I will be the one who provides the books and tapes, all of the beautiful things that they are searching for. I will, this and that." Everyone of you. You have agreed to certain scripting.

"I will be the one who will go into the den of the lions and I will show to them my teeth." Everyone of you. You are living the script that you said you would live and you are playing your part most wonderfully. Even if it be the part as you see it, that takes a bit of a detour here, there and everywhere in your searching. That has been what you have said you will add to yourself as a treasure.

For all of you are the adventurers. All of you had decreed that yes, you will fulfill that which you have agreed to do. But along the way you are going to have the side trips because you know that you are abundantly wealthy as the creative Child of the one Creator, holy Child, and so you have said, "I'm going to go down some of those side roads. I want to have certain relationships and in the world view, the relationships might not be the most harmonious and yet they will be rewarding to me. I want to know what is down that road of smoking the weed and what the experience will be. And I want to not judge myself or others for what I want to experience. I want to know total unconditional love and to connect with the divine creative Child which I am." So you have gone down various side roads for the fun of it, for the treasure of it.

For when you come to that place of choice, of releasing the body and you cast the mind back over the journey of this lifetime you will add up many treasurers of experiences. Things you have tried out just to see what they would be like. Areas of philosophical thought, geographical areas what they look like and what the cultures are like there, the belief systems were. What the various areas of nature would give to you. What the various areas of the coworkers would give to you. Etcetera, and you will look back, cast your mind back over the years of lifetime and you will see how wealthy you have been.

Already you can do that in some measure and you can see that some of the choices that you made and perhaps at the time said with a small bit of hindsight, "They weren't the greatest choices of all. How did I ever get into that situation? Whatever made me choose to go there. To team up with that one? Didn't I know that by teaming up with that one I was going to have all kinds of wonderful adventures?" Yes, you did and yes, you didn't. And it has been a most wonderful journey of treasures already that you can add up for yourself.

This week will be a week of taking stock of doing assessment of where you have been and looking non-judgmentally at where you have been, what you have done. The mistakes, the mis-takes. You have the takes, you know the Hollywood takes. This is a take. And the mistakes and what you have learned in great expansion of self from those choices and to do an assessment. We will be doing that this week, a bit of assessment in nonjudgmental way. To see that truly every choice you have made has added to the realization of the expansion of you, the oneness of you. The greatness of the Christ in its creative aspect.

And then from that place of assessment there will be opportunity to look to what you call the days yet to come and where you want to take those talents and abilities, experiences you have garnered for yourself, where they will lead you in joy and in fulfillment. And then in communion, contemplation, meditation with Self of you and with the ones that you yet see to be ascended masters somewhat apart from you. There will be a certain evaluation game plan I suppose you might call it, for the days that will be at your future.

For the future in specifics is not written. You are writing that. The future as an overall, you have decreed that there will be an awakening, there will be an attunement, there will be the realization and knowing of the Christ. There will be the joy of the innocence where you know that never have you sinned and never have you left the Father. You have decreed that that will be a knowing, a realization even within this reality. Even within time. But the specifics, most wonderful creative you, you are writing the specifics as you go along and it is in truth, wonderful to behold.

I have watched you as you have contemplated what to do. I have watched you as you have wrestled with certain issues and decisions, heaviness of decisions. I have watched you as you have thought there is no way out of this except one choice and I don't want to make that choice and it feels really heavy to make that choice but I don't see any other out of it. I don't see. And all of a sudden you have seen another way within the twinkling of an eye. And you may have opened your mouth say what you thought was going to be the most serious condemnation of self and of others and what has come out has been something entirely different and the Self of you the beholder Self of you stands by and says, "Where did that come from? I didn't know that was an alternative here. I thought there was only one way to handle this." And you have come in that moment to a great place of the realization that you are more than just the single point of light, single point of focus. That truly you are a great light. You are much more than the personality, the individuality that you identify with and that all of Intelligence is with you, accessible to you at any moment.

So I have watched you. I have seen you in your turmoil. I have seen you as you have thought there cannot be any other good way. There isn't a good way out of this and then the miracle has happened. Then you have found yourself smiling as the sunshine that you are, and it has transformed everything in your knowing. Perhaps not in the situation that others were perceiving. In other words the certain results they thought the same, but for yourself it has been a transformation. And you have said, "Well. This is great. I've been downsized now I'm free. Now I can take that trip I want to take. I don't have to report for my 8 to 5 job or 7 to 6 or whatever the hours." I've noticed your hours are getting longer all the time. Seems to be more and of the world asking for more and more of your time. I wonder why that is.

But you have said, "This is great. I've been downsized. Hmm. Okay, now I will go to the Advance. Now I will go to the things I want to go to. Now I am free with a clean slate to choose where I want to be." And the world has looked at you like you have lost your mind and you have. You have lost the world mind and praise be for you have given yourself in that moment the great gift of innocence, the gift of the Father's love to play in the sandbox. If you don't like that sandbox get up and move to another sandbox. There is much of that happening, much of the movement from sandbox to sandbox and the expansion of existing sandboxes.

You are coming to a place and you will realize that more and more in these days that we spend together the sides of the sandbox are becoming pushed out. They are coming to that place where they are creaking and groaning and falling down and cracks in those sides of the sandbox. And some of my sand is falling through the cracks. Great. You are allowing yourself to see that perhaps the walls of the sandbox are not as rigid as the collective belief said that they had to be. That perhaps this reality is fluid. Perhaps this reality is expansive. Perhaps this reality is anything that I make it. And if that is true, I'm going to make it heaven and I'm going to accept the joy of knowing that I do not walk, even this reality, alone.

For in truth you do not. You walk it as the Christ. You walk it in the company of the Christ. And these days that we will spend together will be a growing realization of who and what the Christ is and how it feels to be the expansive, unlimited, all powerful Christ that you are.

Now, having set out a certain outline, a game plan for this week I believe that is enough said in this evening.....
