

Your Personal Code

2004-05

Beloved and holy and only child of our heavenly Father, child of the one Source, child of light, divine. That is who you are. Take it deeply within the consciousness and contemplate what that means. Allow yourself the realization of the divinity which is you. I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, Jesus you have called me, and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen once again to call me forth. Great joy of reunion. Great joy.

I speak to you every time we so meet this way of the joy, because the world does not speak to you of joy. The world speaks to you of conflict, of challenges, of problems, things that you must solve, and you must come up with the right answer that you must have ready, must have rehearsed even, the answers that are going to be asked of you. Your world, your society as you have made it, demands of you that you be ready at all times to respond, to respond in the correct way, the approved way according to whatever society and culture you are in. And it does not leave space for the peace of the soul.

So I come each time and I greet you in great joy. I greet you to remind you of your divinity and to remind you of your innocence; to remind you of the love of the Father/Mother/All That Is, one Source; to remind you that you are the living example, proof, expression of that creative thought.

Last time when we so met this way, we spoke about the origin of your universe, of the cosmos, how it came to be, how out of thought energy, from before time began, you brought forth that creative energy to see what sandboxes you could make to play in. You brought forth the various constellations that you still have in your heavens, and we spoke of how you see the light now from those constellations, and your scientists have told you how long it takes for the light from the constellations to reach here where you can see it; that in truth you are seeing yourself as you were then, as you would see linear time to be, sending forth light as you are receiving it now in what you see this timeframe to be.

So as you look in your heavens you are sometimes drawn to a special star, to a constellation, to the wonderment of all of the lights in your heavens, and you see that light coming to you. And it comes from you as you would see yourself having been, in linear time, in that particular place at that time, and then casting yourself forward into what you call future to be here now to receive that light. What a wonderment!

We spoke of Thought, with a capital "T," and the energy of thought that asked, "What can I create?" and brought forth form out of thought energy, and you do that all the time. You have a thought; you bring it into manifest form sometimes quickly, sometimes more in a process of gradualness; oftentimes not as quickly as you would want it to be. You get a bit impatient, because you want it and you want it now. And the reason that you even have that concept of, "I want it now," is because you remember the lifetimes when it was instantaneous, when there was a thought, and instantly you were there with that thought, whatever you would manifest.

But as we have spoken previously, you built into this reality a bit of safeguard, for you wanted to have time to see how this would unfold before you would be instantaneously into whatever the emotion would be. And you have witnessed that if you could have been into some manifestation immediately as that emotion arose for you, sometimes the resulting manifestation would not have been exactly as you would like it to be had you had time to process it.

So you built into this reality the most wonderful gift of time so that you could do process. You could do a bit of the contemplation before you were instantly into whatever you would manifest. And it is a gifting, even though you chafe against it many times.

We spoke of how you have brought forth the various constellations, how you have lived and played in other solar systems, how you have felt yourself in resonance with some of the other constellations. And you have felt many times that this planet, however beautiful it is – and it is, most beautiful blue planet – is not your home. You have said, "This doesn't feel like home."

And you have recognized through our speaking with you that what you seek for in home is truly to know the love of the one home, the kingdom of the Father/Mother/Creator; to know that home.

But there is also a homesickness that you feel sometimes for the other constellations, the other solar systems where you have been and where you have known companions, where you have journeyed with other companions and friends. And you have left them, seemingly left them, temporarily to play in this sandbox, because you have said, "I want to know; what will it feel like to be in what was seen at that point to be a future time, a future place," a bit like your science fiction gives you now in this day and time.

You wanted to boldly go, and then once you boldly went, you said, "I don't feel all that bold." (Laughter) But you are very bold, and you are very courageous, because as we have spoken many times, it takes a master to choose to live a life that does not look to be of a master, that looks like it could have its frailties and its vulnerabilities. It takes a master to choose to live in this reality which believes yet that there could be other than divinity.

So you have come to play in this sandbox, to play as the lightbeing which you are, to play on the lightbeing that this planet is, to play within the lightbeing of this planet. For first, when you came to this planetÉwell, when you first came to this solar system you were within the sun as thought energy.

And you came and you lived as consciousness within the planets around the sun itself as thought energy brought forth the forms of the planets. And you are still as thought energy bringing forth the planets. You have just recentlyÉyour scientists have told you of a new planet that has been discovered quite far out as you measure distance and time, and there will be more that will be brought to your awareness as time unfolds.

So you see, the thought energy that you are is not set. It is forever expanding. It is forever creating. And you as the creative extension of the one Creator, the one Mind, you are forever expanding in your awareness day by day, moment by moment. And you are creating the most wonderful situations that allow you the certain challenges, to come to a place of rejoicing, celebrating everything you bring forth.

Now the world does not speak to you that many things are worth celebrating. The world will speak to you of the challenges and the so-called tragedies. But the world has a very limited view. You are the adventurers who have brought forth the world. You are the adventurers who are pushing out the sides of the box of what the world has been, the old paradigm of the world. You are the ones who are asking, "What more can there be?"

You are the ones who want to know, "How long can I activate this body? By the way, what is this body?" And you play with it. You have done lifetimes with this form of body, and yet it is relatively new on the evolutionary scale. You are still finding out how it responds, what you can do with it.

And you have various lifetimes where you hone abilities, physical abilities, where you become the most wonderful ballerina. And you have lifetimes where you work on the nuances, where you work on the tone of the voice and you become the most wonderful singer. You work on the athletic abilities, and you become the strongest one to lift the heavy weights, etc.

You play with what the body can do. How fast can I run with it? What does it feel like if I put it into rapid motion? What does it feel like if I go up the stairs backwards? Try that one. You want to know. Inquiring minds; yes, you are. You want to know.

So you have brought forth many, many of the constellations, all of them, in truth. You have played on many of them. You have played within many of them. You have played within this planet.

And then there was thought to play on the surface. What would it be like to take form separate from the surface of the lightbeing of our holy mother, the Earth, and to walk on it, with no thought, as most of the brothers and sisters go forth, with no thought as to what supports this form on the surface of the lightbeing of the planet; no thought that the planet itself is consciousness, thought energy brought into form; that it is a lightbeing; that it has and is intelligence the same as you.

So you play. You play with the physicality. You play to see what you can create and how long you can sustain it; how long you want to sustain it; how you want to use the mind. And you play with what the mind will bring forth and what it will create; not thinking, in truth, there is no separation from the one Mind.

And you draw forth the energy of your mind, individuated mind, from the one Mind, to play temporarily in the sandbox of the ego, the small I Am, forgetting temporarily that you are the Allness of the Creator bringing it all forth. You do this because it is the joy of the Father/Mother to go forth, to expand in joy.

Know you how it feels to be in joy? You feel expansive. You feel really like your whole being expands, and it does, because it can be measured. You feel very much confident. You go with a faith that says, "I AmÉanything, everything, all; I am in joy," when you are in that space. And that, as we have said many times, is yet the tip of the iceberg of the joy of your true nature.

The joy that you bring into this point of focus is but a percentage of the joy of your being. Contemplate that for a moment – the joy that you have known as you have fallen in love, as you have seen the sunset, as you have heard the most perfect note of a tone and it has caught you in that place where you were one with that vibration of a note of music, where you have looked into the color of a painting and you have lost yourself for a moment in the color of that painting, and you have felt yourself to be that vibration, forgetting small self and feeling expanded into the oneness of that connection.

You are playing in a most wonderful garden. You have some of the most wonderful of the flowers, beauteous flowers, around you all the time. You bring them forth; they are known as friends. You bring them forth; they are known as enemies sometimes. You bring them forth as the daisies, the carnations, the roses, the daffodils that are most beautiful. And you bring them forth as the thistles and the nettles and the thorns sometimes on the rose stem in order to know thought and energy of thought, to create.

Now you have much in your timing right now that you are bringing to your awareness of encryption, things that have been hidden that are coming now to the surface to be seen; many codes that are coming to give you a tease of the mind to allow the understanding to take you to a place of remembrance.

You have a novel recently that has been most popular that you have been reading, The DaVinci Code, and it has allowed a lot of understanding to come forth; not only understanding, but remembrance of things that have been set aside, hidden for awhile, a truth coming now to the awareness where ones can play with the ideas in that code, in that book.

You have The Bible Code, the book that speaks of the code that is written within the Bible, and how there is a message, an underlying message that has been written even in the words of that translation of ancient texts.

You have The God Code that is coming to the forefront for ones to play with, again to understand what is, who is, God. What is the God code?

You have your own personal code. On the physical level it is known as the DNA. You have put this within the physicality where each one of you is unique in the DNA. And your scientists have come to realize and to bring forth into the collective consciousness the uniqueness of divinity and the power of the thought energy that can so individualize that energy that each one of you as a physical form has uniqueness about it.

You have taken your individuality to the point where there is a personal code, which is you. And it has seemed to be hidden from you, encrypted in code. For a long time you have hidden away the truth of your being within yourself. You have encrypted it in a code which is now on the physical level being brought to light as the DNA. And you have read that the DNA itself you are changing by change in the thought energy. And you are.

You are making changes even in the collective DNA, and by collective I mean what is shared as a common understanding of the physicality. And yet you keep your own individuated uniqueness of the DNA even as you are evolving as more of a light being. Your personal code is encrypted within you on the physical level as the DNA.

Your personal code on the spiritual level is within what is called the Akashic Records which keep a record of all of the lifetimes that you have claimed to be your individual experiences. And it is kept in a collective memory. It is not in a physical book, but there is a book, if you will, a recording that is kept in the collective memory, soul memory, of each individuated soul of what you have experienced in all of the various lifetimes, whether they be in this form, human, or other forms that you know upon this planet or other forms that are beyond the recognition and realization of this reality.

For you have journeyed, you have adventured many places, many ideas, many expressions. And your personal code, again on the spiritual level, is within the Akashic Records. Think upon that for a moment; that is your personal code.

You have brought in this reality a specificity that is not known in other realities. You have honed throughout much evolution specificity of individuated energy to the place where you now can claim personal code and to say, "I am personal, by the DNA; I am personal, unique on the spiritual, according to the Akashic Records, as to where I have expressed, where I have experienced, where I have journeyed.

You have within this reality done a great miracle of specificity to the place of temporarily forgetting your Allness. It has been a research project, we will call it, and you all get an A+ in the research project, because you have done very well with getting very specific; individuated energy to the place where you say, "Well, this is me, this is my body, this is my personality, this is who I am. I work at a certain place. I have a family that is of this constitution. I was born somewhere. I have traveled somewhere else, etc."

You have a history, very specific, unique. You have a history within the evolution of your individuated DNA that you bring with you from lifetime to lifetime; cell memory, where you bring that with you into various lifetimes to re-experience and to see what nuances, changes you want to make in the scripting. And you are very good at the improv, because each lifetime, even though you may start out with cell memory, you change it as you go through the lifetime. You make new circumstances, and out of those new circumstances you make new choices.

Now, getting back to personal code, you have in the specificity most wonderful personal code of the individuated energy, and on the spiritual level you have the most wonderful personal code of the Akashic Records. But, as we have spoken many times, you do not journey alone.

You are with what you have as a concept the soul group. And we have spoken other times of the point of the soul group. You are, as you see yourself to be individuated energy sitting here listening to these words, listening to the sound of my voice, you are the point of a soul grouping. You are the one at the point who has said, "I will take incarnation, and I will have experiences and expression of the divine."

But what is behind that point is the rest of the soul grouping encouraging, guiding, sometimes comforting, a lot of times inspiring you as the point of the soul group. So you do not travel alone. And as you interact with other seemingly separate points of other soul groups, those soul groups intermingle. For you have all journeyed together many, many times.

So even in the Akashic Records where you would have personal code of history of your journey, you have history of soul grouping which has shared journey with other soul grouping which has shared journey with other soul grouping to the place where there is but one soul grouping, which is the One, the one Mind, the one Creator, One.

So within this reality you have brought for yourself the most wonderful concept of individuated energy out of the Allness of Thought, capital "T," to the place where you can claim and you do manifest personal code. And it is encrypted within you in the DNA. It is encrypted within you as the still small voice that speaks to you of your divinity.

It is not, in truth, secret from you, although you many times journey and say, "I do not know, I cannot see, I do not understand. There must be something hidden." And yet it is within you, in the coding within you, the divinity within you that you placed there from before time began. For, as we have spoken many times, this reality that believes in time, that has the gift of time, is not the only reality.

There are many realities that do not know, would not understand the concept of time, that manifest instantly, that express instantly whatever thought comes, wants to be, whatever thought is desirous, outside of process of time.

This reality, you have agreed collectively, will play within the certain scripting of some of the physical laws, called gravity. And you agree that over time the forces of gravity play their part in how the body reacts. I listen to you (Laughter).

You feel the forces of gravity as you jump up, and you know yourself to be light, and yet you don't stay up. You're back down again on the surface of our holy mother, the Earth. You jump up and you say, "I know how it feels," and you're back down again. You remember how it feels to be able to lift up as the bird yet does and to be above or to choose to come down to surface of Earth and see what is there and then to lift up again and to go as the angel which you are.

But you have agreed collectively that you will walk with a certain heaviness, even the physicality, to do a certain completion with the intimacy of how it feels to know physical laws in order to come to the remembrance of how it is to be beyond those physical laws and to know that you have brought those physical laws into being to play with them.

Now, you remember how it feels to walk through the wall. There is no wall limitation there. You do a certain thought process of vibrational energy and you walk through what is at this point in the collective consciousness a solid wall. I did this a few times in my lifetime when it was of necessity to remove myself from somewhere. You know how to do this. And yet you have agreed that you will play in the sandbox with the other brothers and sisters for awhile, because they are yet desiring to know the completion.

And you have said, "OK, I'll play." Have you ever said that? Of course, you've said that. You said, "OK, I'll play." And you do. You play the game. And you know it is a game. And yet sometimes it feels a bit heavier than what you would like a game to be.

And then something happens, a bit of improv perhaps, and you remember that, "Hey, you know I'm not really held by all of these physical laws." And you do something that is most miraculous. You remember. You say, "OK, I know I have agreed, but I didn't agree to forget." And that is what is important. You did not agree to forget completely.

You did agree to play the game. You did agree to push out the boundaries. You did agree to speak your truths and to shake up others once in awhile by the truth that you will speak; to push out a few of their boundaries or to open a door or a window a crack for them, because you are saying something that sounds so off the wall that they have to stop for a moment and say, "What did she say? Huh? What did he say? Did he really mean? What did he mean?" And you get them to thinking.

So you have agreed that you will play in the sandbox for awhile and that you will accept the concept of individuality, specificity, personal code, that there could be something hidden, encrypted. And there is something hidden and encrypted, but it is not a secret. It is not hidden from you.

It is why you are here in this evening. It is why you are here within the sound of my voice listening to these ideas that many of the friends would say are totally way out. And they are way out, because you desire not to stay within the sandbox or within the box itself. You know yourself to be much more.

But you have agreed, "OK, I will accept specificity. I will know personal code. I will know individuated thought energy. And I will have joy in it," as the still small voice every once in awhile gets a chance to speak of hope, to speak of something that goes beyond what your news media is telling you.

Your news media — we have spoken of this in other times — finds great joy in bringing to you news of fresh disasters. That is where their joy lies. So you allow them their joy and you allow them their game. And you say, "OK, that is part of the collective consciousness. It is part of the scripting that was handed out at the beginning of this play. But for my part, I am going to do a bit of rewrite. And so you do. You pick up all the belongings and you move from one corner of the country to another corner of the country. You pick up all of the old thoughts of the old collective paradigm and you say, "This fits; this doesn't fit; I throw this one out; I don't like that one — wrong color." And you choose anew.

And you choose — how do you choose; how do you know what is true for you — you choose according to what brings you joy.

That is your personal code — joy. Aha! It is as simple as that. That which brings you joy is, in truth, your personal code encrypted within you, hidden for lifetimes and lifetimes; hidden because you gave your authority over to others who seemed to be more wise, closer to God, more powerful.

And so you allowed for awhile — the oversoul of you, the greater soul of you, allowed — "OK, I'll play the game. I know it's only a game. But I'll get in there and I'll play it for awhile."

But the personal code is what brings you joy. It is joy itself. And that you built in from before time began. That is how to use thought energy. You go to that place within where you contemplate. Whatever it is that you are looking at or thinking about, you contemplate options, and you see which one brings you the most joy. It may be subtle, but there will be an indication. That is your personal code, that which allows the heart to expand, to be in joy, to feel lighter.

Sometimes we have spoken to you of the most wonderful little exercise you can do of the flipping of the coin. Heads I do such and such, tails I do such and such. You flip the coin. You see how it falls, and you say, "Darn, it's heads. I wanted it to be tails." It may be a fleeting feeling of, "Oh," or it may not be. It may be a very certain, "Oh, hey, that's really good. I feel good about that."

But the flipping of the coin will give you a clue. It doesn't matter whether it lands heads or tails. What matters is this, right here (indicating the heart area), how you feel about that first instant when you look at the coin and you see how it comes up. This will tell you your personal code; joy.

Did it land on the joy spot or did it land on the unjoy spot? (Laughter) It is a simple way, and yet it allows you to get in touch with the inner feelings that sometimes you have kept boxed off because you "should" be in a certain profession; you "should" stay in the family business; you "should" go to college; you "should" make X amount of dollars; you "should" live in a house that has more than one room; you "should" have a car that is most luxurious; you "should"Éetc.

And so, therefore, you deny your personal code, the joy; you put it aside temporarily until you are faced with the nose right up against a choice. And then you flip your coin and you say, "OK, I choose for joy." Maybe it doesn't have all of the golden coins. Maybe it doesn't have all of the trappings of the big CEO's of corporations. Maybe you don't want those trappings. Maybe you've had them in other lifetimes and found them to be a bit as a ball and chain around you, a heavy weight to drag around.

But you choose for joy, your personal code, built in from before time began. And you begin to remember, "I am joy. I am the innocent child," which you are, "of the one Creator. I am creative." And you are very creative. "And I create now easily, joyfully that which I want to experience."

Then separated ego gets in and it says, "Huh. Look what you just created." Choose you to look in joy upon the pile of shit (Laughter). Separated ego may call it, may judge it, a pile of shit, but you know the value of shit. It is very good manure.

Look with joy upon everything. You have in your Holy Scriptures the writing that God the Father/Mother created everything in a period of the seven days, yes, although the days were not days as you know them now. And it was not God the Father/Mother as separate from you, but you created, as the creative ones you are.

And then He/She/You called it good. You have that in your Holy Scriptures. Remember that, to call it good, to call it holy. For it will be unto you what you judge it to be. It doesn't matter how others may look upon it. What matters is how you look upon it.

And as you see ones who come through great challenges, oftentimes the world will say those challenges are tragedies, that they are horrific, great burdens. And yet the one who experiences it and comes through that challenge comes to a place where they can say, "It is the best thing that ever happened to me. It has brought me to this place of realization of what life is; the beauty, the miracle of life, the resilience of life, the spirit that is beyond the physical; Life, with a capital "L," the spirit that is resilient.

So many times you have the brothers and sisters who speak to you of what they have come through, and you look and the world looks and says, "I sure wouldn't choose to manifest that." And yet the brother or sister who has come through it says, "I am a better person for it. Now, with the 20/20 hindsight I can see the blessing that is in it. I can see the miracle that I am; not only the miracle that happens with the outer manifestation, but the miracle that happens within the realization of the I Am presence, the I Am awareness.”

You have seen this with friends, where they become more alive in the so-called dieing process than they ever were when they were more alive in the living process. You have seen ones take on a glow in the so-called dieing process where they become radiant, and the spirit comes forth. That is the personal code, the joy coming forth.

We have spoken many times, and I will say it again, that to release the body is not something to fear. It is not something to rush into; in other words, I am not advocating that you go out on the morrow and release the body. But it is not something to fear. It is, in truth, a glowing process, a radiant process, a process that allows the spirit to reassert itself over what the physicality has demanded for many years in a lifetime.

The personal code of joy will see you through every lifetime; it has already; through every experience, every journey within every solar system, every constellation, every expanding thought process as you keep on expanding your universe – the physical universe and the spiritual universe; spiritual universe, yes. Does it expand? Of course, it expands. Are you expanding? Of course, you are expanding. Sometimes you say, “Oh, yes, around the hips.” That’s not what I’m speaking of.

You are expanding in the awareness of who, what, where, why you are. Why you are here, why you have been in the other constellations, where you have been and where you are going, and within what you see linear time to be, it boggles the mind, because I say unto you that when you are complete with the process of time you will return to the non-time and keep on expanding.

And your personal code will be as it has always been, the divinity of joy itself. When the world is too much with you, and this happens once in awhile, when the world is too much with you, remember your personal code. Remember joy and choose for joy. Look not with the eyes of the world. You know those eyes. They are limiting. But look with the eyes of joy. Look with the eyes of the heart, the heart that is expansive and that lives forever, beyond this reality into new and other realities that are yet unthought of, unborn.

Go forth. Adventure. Live. So be it.
