

The Year 2012

June 2006

Beloved One, I wish to speak with you now about some of your prophecies. You have had prophecy that by the year 2012 there is going to be a great shift and that everything will be changed, even our Holy Mother the Earth, the planet, will be turned upside down. You have wondered what is going to happen in the next six years.

As it is seen now, the next two years in your timing are going to be tumultuous; there will be lots of changes that you are going to want to sit with and ask for the expanded view: "I want to see with holy vision: what is the holy - w-h-o-l-e - picture of what is going on here?"

Even past what you see to be the next two years of your timing, there are going to be residual changes, because as you change one thing, it affects a lot of other things. There is going to be a bit of the domino effect on a large scale.

Your scientists have come up with a most wonderful concept, a configuration of reality as they see it, and it is likened unto what you would see as the box springs of a mattress. Know you the box springs of a mattress and how the coils are connected one to another, and you have various levels? You have a top level and you have a bottom level; you have the coils in between, and the coils are connected to each other, so that if you put weight on one side, there is going to be an effect felt even on the other side of the coil springs.

You have in this reality many layers of reality, and they are all connected; no separation; all connected. So if you have a thought, it will ripple through the coils of all of the layers in what you understand to be time. Now, in truth, it is instantaneous. But, as you understand, even to speak instantaneous, that speaks of time, at least a fraction of time.

A New Way of Consciousness

You have some who are thinking to move into a new way of consciousness. They are the ones who are ready to ascend in the consciousness, ones who are ready to move into the awakening, ones who are ready to behold the divinity of everything. And those ones are going to be experiencing the Rapture, but not the way the religious/philosophical ones have defined it.

Those ones - and they are you - are going to be seeing the good in everything that happens. They are not going to deny the world and the world happenings, but there is going to be, and is already, a new perception with ones who are willing and wanting to see with holy eyes that which is truly happening. And as those ones begin to see with the holy eyes, there is an effect that is felt in all of the other layers of this reality and all of the connections.

Misc

That will filter across, down, back up again, etc. And it is happening all of the time. As you have a thought to see something differently, as you have a desire to move into a place of joy, that affects all others to some degree. It is, as I have said many times, that you put forward an opportunity for all of the bedsprings to move and respond.

Now, not all of the bedsprings are going to move at the same time. Some of them seem to be most resistant, and it may seem that it may take another lifetime or two or three or ten before one of the bedsprings decides to feel the effect. That is okay.

Your ancient philosophers who made up the time measurement called the calendar were ones who were already at a place of...I will call it higher consciousness. And yet, that is a concept. They were at a place where they were understanding that they were creators of the reality. And they were understanding that they are One with All that happens now or in the past or in the future. So they stopped at a certain year because there was not need for them to see beyond that year, because they realized that all is Now, anyway, so why go on measuring that which is always Now.

So the mystery of the year 2012 has come down through the generations, down through the years to you as a mystery and also as a certain sword over the head that said at a certain point in history the sword is going to descend. But their realization had nothing to do with judgment. It was because they understood that all time is Now, and there is no need to keep on counting years.

However, many of the other layers of the bedspring are going to still hold to time. So you are going to see the year 2013, 2015, 2020, etc., as some will keep on measuring time. There is not going to be a cataclysmic event that is going to happen in 2012 and everything stops. But it is going to be as it has been for eons of time: an evolution, a gradual process where ones are coming to the place of understanding Who they are, how divine you are.

Now, you are going to see many catalysts happening in the next two years, and beyond that. There are, as it is seen now, going to be the events where ones who are in power are going to feel their foundations a bit shaky. And some of you are wanting to see changes, and you feel that these changes are going to be widespread changes, because if you change just a small part of it, that changes the whole picture. As I have said, there is the ripple effect that goes out.

Misc

Energies Are Going To Be Felt

And so by the year 2012, the energies of the bedspring at one corner are going to be felt throughout all of the coils of the bedspring. And the changes that you have prayed for - the changes you have asked for within yourself and that are in process right now - are happening, to the place where in your next six years, when you look back at this year, you are going to see how far you have come, how things have changed.

You are not going to cease activating the bodies. You are not going to be taken up into the spaceships off somewhere with somebody else solving all of your problems, but you are going to have clearer vision. And already this is happening. In truth, the changes that have been predicted and foretold for the year 2012 will be quite obvious even before that time.

As I have said, the next two to three years, especially the next two years, are going to be full of catalysts, and the third year is going to be full of adjustment, and even the fourth year. But that which has been prophesied as the great shift is already in process and will be quite visible even by your year 2010, because you are the ones making time, reckoning how time is, and you are the ones who are speeding up the process. You are the ones who have said, "I understand now how free I am to make my reality that which I want it to be. I am not the product of my parents. I am not the product of my peers. I am not the product of my co-workers or my employer. I am my own person. I am not the product of my mate or any relationship. I am my own person, and I have called to myself all of these experiences for the sheer experience of knowing creativity and delighting in creativity."

The Whole Picture

And sometimes separated ego says, "I don't believe it." I have heard you say that from time to time: "I don't believe it," whatever is happening. And that is good, because you do have choice. Whenever anything happens, you do not have to believe in it. When first reaction comes and you say, "I don't believe it," what you are truly saying is, "I don't see the whole picture." Because when you do see the whole picture, you understand how each part comes from the divinity of the whole, and leads to the awakening.

So, that which you have had as a prophecy and you have been waiting for, THE GREAT SHIFT - capital letters - wait no longer. Allow yourself to know that you do not have to wait another six years until everything is turned right. It is already right. It is just that sometimes you do not see the whole picture of how everything fits together.

Misc

And it is a very human, habitual reaction to have judgment of specific issues, not being able to see the whole picture. When I was a lad, I saw inter-relationships at a certain level. I knew jealousy of my cousin John, the one you know as The Baptist. We were good friends. We grew up together. But I knew envy; I knew jealousy. I could see, at times, frustrations with myself or things, because I had agreed, as you have, to know human experience. So there were times when, yes, I was frustrated with what I could think, learn, do with the body, etc. I knew impatience. I understand the human emotion.

But as I grew in years and as I had opportunity to study with other ones who had also gone through the process of finding all of the human emotions and working past them; as I had the opportunities, as you have had, to walk with masters who have had revelations, I began to remember holy vision.

All Is One

Once you have had a bit of experience, you begin to understand how everything works together for the Atonement, for the realization that All is One. If you will receive it, All is the great cosmic bedspring. All is connected.

So you do not have to wait another six years for someone else to fix it. You do not have to stand in a certain place of subtle fear that perhaps all of the changes are going to be cataclysmic: the volcanoes are going to spew forth; the tsunamis are going to wash away the coastlines; the earthquakes are going to heave up parts of the geographical landmass; there are going to be many of the brothers and sisters who are going to release the body, and only a few of the "chosen ones" are going to be left.

It is going to be as it has been: a gradual and yet speeded up process of evolution, a gradual and yet speeded up process of awakening, because the top layer - and again, to speak of levels in that way, top to bottom, is not right; it is part of the concept, because you can easily flip the bedsprings, right? So that which was on the bottom is now on the top, etc. So there is no judgment in this.

You Are Making the Shift

But the ones, we will take just for example, on the top level of the bedsprings are ones who are making the shift already. You are making the shift already, and have been for some time, as you wrestled with all of the individual challenges of body/mind that came along. You have been in process of making this shift that everyone is waiting for and wondering about, and you are already doing it. That is the good news.

Misc

Now, I am sorry if my message to you has taken away a bit of the titillation that comes with the prophecy that the great shift is going to happen in the year 2012 or 2010 and that there are going to be forces outside of you who are working to make this happen. How could they be outside of you if there is no separation?

You are not pawns, and there is not a power outside of you. There are not entities outside of you who are controlling your destiny. That is a great drama to play with, to think, "Oh, my goodness. There are powers greater than I who are controlling my destiny. There are the evil forces, the powerful ones, who are fighting against the good ones." That idea has sprung from the soil of separation and duality. And it is fun to play with it, because it gets you all excited and titillated about, "Ahhh, what can happen?" But it is not the Truth - capital "T" - of your being.

So I am sorry if this message does not go along with some of the other messages you have been given that have made you worry, "Where should I go? What should I do? Who is going to win this battle? Is it going to be Light over Dark? The leaders who are in power now, are they going to set up, have they set up, a dynasty that I cannot understand and I cannot change, that I have no power over?"

You are not pawns. You are masters. Hear that well. In every moment you affect the coils of the bedsprings. Everything is related. All is energy. Your scientists have already come to acknowledge that all is energy, and behind energy is thought. And that is where you stand powerful, because you think; you have creative thought, and you bring about your reality as it passes and it changes.

So play with that for awhile. Enjoy your power, because truly, it is not the power of the world. As you have seen, that comes and goes. Ones are chosen to be leaders and they are most happy. How long does that last? Fifteen minutes, they say; the fifteen minutes of glory; or perhaps a few years, and then what happens? Reality sets in, and in the end they cease the breathing of the body and they deplete the body. It is temporal, that power.

The Power of Choice

But your power is the power of choice, the power of thought, the power of the creative One. And the shift which has been prophesied has been the prophecy from you. In other words, you have brought forth the prophecy in order to work with all the nuances of "What could this mean?" And so you have said, "This shift is going to change everything. It is going to be cataclysmic. Everything I have ever known and trusted of the known reality is going to be turned upside down and changed, and I just hope I'm going to survive it."

Misc

I have heard you pray to me, subtly and sometimes not so subtly, "I want to be the servant of love; therefore, save me. I do not want to be left behind; I do not want to be covered by the tsunami; I do not want to be standing on the zipper when it unzips; I do not want to be in a place where the body is threatened. Save me."

I cannot save you. You do not need saving. Furthermore, I do not have power to save you. We are equals. We are all the divine extension of the one Creator. Let us, gods that we are, acknowledge the shift that is happening and call it good.

So be it.