

FREEDOM

2017-07-01

Beloved and holy and only Child of our heavenly Father, Child of the one Source, Child of Light, divine. That is who you are. Take it deeply within the consciousness and contemplate what that means. Child of Light. Or, as I like to say, extension, rather than Child.

I am the one known as Jeshua ben Joseph, Jesus you have called me, and it is in great joy that I come to abide with you this evening in your timing as you have chosen once again to call me forth. Great joy always to come and visit with you, great joy to behold the sandals and the beautiful artwork upon the toes. We did not have that two thousand years ago. Well, I speak an untruth. There were certain geographical locations that went in for the painting of the face and of the other extremities; most wondrous they were. You are reliving a lifetime...do you remember? No? Well, enjoy.

Always you live in joy. That is your divine birthright, and that is what you are seeking. That is what you are experiencing even in the midst of all of the other question marks that you may have, and I know that you do have many question marks. I know that every day presents to you a question mark, at least one, and probably more than one. Oh, yes.

But as you will take the deep breath and say to yourself, "This matters, but not very much," and allow yourself to relax and to breathe and to feel the vibration that is you, then all of the world's question marks dissolve into a no thing, at least for that moment. And then in the next moment if you want to pick them back up again, they are right there for you. But oftentimes you do not want to pick them up again. You say, "This feels really good. I like being in this space. I will wait one more minute before I have to pick them up, or five, or ten, or perhaps the whole day."

Have you ever been in a space — and I know that you have — of what is called the vacation, where you did not have to pick up all of the duties and obligations that you heretofore had been handling, and handling very well, but you did not have to pick them up, so you said, "On the morrow, or perhaps if I'm lucky, next week. And you went in your divine birthright of joy, because that is truly your divine birthright, to be in joy, to look upon whatever is transpiring and whatever you have felt your part in it has to be, and to take the deep breath and say, "What the heck; I am going to smile. I am going to be in joy for at least a moment or so." So you allow yourself to connect with your true nature.

Now, this evening I am going to speak about your true nature. I'm going to speak about freedom. And, yes, you are; not that you have, but that you are freedom. You are free, always and every moment free to make choice as to where you will abide, what you will say is important, what you will sometimes wrestle with, and what you will let go.

This is a weekend, I understand, for those of you in this geographical, geo - political grouping to be celebrating the freedom of your country, although as you have been looking at the various things that are transpiring, the various activities, the various decisions, you have been wondering, "Where is that freedom?" And that is a very good question.

Where is your freedom? Your freedom is with your divine nature. Your nature is truly who you are, and you are free in every moment to make that choice to abide in the space of love; love of self, and as you will love yourself and extend to your neighbor that which you want for yourself, then the freedom goes out as the waves upon the ocean that truly your consciousness is. It is the ocean of being.

So you will look upon one and see yourself. When you do that, there is a Oneness, there is a divinity that comes into the consciousness that then will transform everything that you look upon. So allow yourself to know the freedom of Who and What you are.

In this celebration time when you come to...well, right now as you are approaching it, and when you come to the special day, take for yourself the choice: I will abide in freedom. I am freedom incarnate. I am free to make choice and to be happy, not having to struggle to earn it. You already have it. You are already. You are freedom.

So allow yourself to step back from all of the world's cares and demands. I know that there are many in this day and time, but allow yourself to step back and to breathe and to choose that in this moment you will know freedom.

This is the divine birthright of everyone, all of the brothers and sisters. That is your message to take. Sometimes you can express this in words to the brothers and sisters, but most often you have to show them. You have to live it. You have to be the example that says, "No matter what comes to my doorstep, I have freedom of choice, freedom as to how I am going to look upon what is happening."

I would suggest unto you that you take the moment that something comes to you and you breathe and you smile and you laugh. Now, you may wonder what am I laughing about; this is really, really serious, and I have to come up with a decision in the next two minutes, and how am I going to do that, because I don't have enough information to make my decision? Laugh, and the decision will be easy to make.

And in the next moment you are totally free to change your mind and to change the decision if you desire. That is how free you are.

Now, I know from the time you were a small one, you were taught that you had to decide right away, and if you did not come through with an answer, the older ones would say to you, "You have to decide right away. What are you going to say? What do you choose?"

And you would think, "Well, I want to think about this for a bit." But know you, you have freedom in the next moment to change your decision. Now, I know that's not what the world says to you. That is not what the parents say to you. It is not what the older ones say to you. They expect you to know right away your decision and to stay by it.

But you are free. So you make a decision, and you decide, "No, that's not the way I want it to go," and you can change your mind. You can change your decision. If others have a feeling about that, if they make a judgment about that, where does the judgment stay? With them, and then they are free to change their judgment. Of course, probably they like what they decided first, but that's okay. They are the ones who have to carry it, and it can become quite heavy.

Choose you always for the Light. Choose you always to be light - hearted, to laugh at your decisions, and to change them in the next moment if you want to, because truly you are free to do that. The only one who judges you that matters is yours elf, and you are well on the pathway now to releasing self - judgment, the negative self - judgment.

Long enough you have suffered the decisions that you have thought you had to stay with because someone else might not think kindly of you if they see you are changing your mind all the time. Who cares? If you care, then own it for yourself and then change your mind.

In fact, I would suggest that on the morrow you find at least one thing that you change your mind about, and allow the inner critic to be silent. Because I know that oftentimes you will weigh, "Well, should I make this decision or should I go this way, and what happens if they don't like it?"

It doesn't matter whether they like it or not. You are the one who is living with that decision. And if you are free - which I assure you that you are - you can change your mind. I have seen you do this, and then I have seen you beat yourself up and say, "Well, I should have made this decision and stayed with it."

But that is the world talking. That is the generational teaching that has been ingrained in you from the time you could first make a decision, from the time that you were trying to please someone who may not have been in the place of being able to be pleased.

All of you have known growing up ones who were not pleased with whatever you decided. So you twisted yourself into a pretzel , and then after a while you said, "Hey, maybe I'll just go ahead and be myself. I will just make my decisions according to my joy." Because truly when you come to ascertaining everything in your life and you are doing the value judgment, which is very easy to do because it is world teaching, you will come to the place where you understand that nothing is more important to you than being in your divine birthright, joy; being in t hat place of realizing your freedom, the freedom to choose.

If you choose something and then you see that it is not bringing you joy, or it is not being at the place of the energy that flows, what do you do? You change your mind. And if others around you d on't like it, then...you have a saying which I've never really truly understood, but they can either like it or lump it. I'm not quite sure what the lump is all about, But that is okay. I'm sure someone will enlighten me at some point.

Mark: It's like pounding sand .

Yes, pounding sand. I did a bit of that two thousand years ago. Didn't get anywhere with it. In fact, that was one of the times that my beloved father, the one you know as Joseph, sent me out to sit by flowing water to contemplate my freedom and to change my mind. And I did not have to pound any more sand. It is a good exercise - pounding sand, and then the exercise of choosing to be complete with it.

The same as...I think you have a technique . I have heard my beloved friend and teacher, the one you know as Judith, to advocate for people if they have a bit of energy that they don't know what to do with, to pound a pillow, and to choose a pillow that you maybe don't have to answer to great Aunt Mathilda if she happened to give it to you. You can choose one that you have the freedom to do with as you wish.

This time that you are coming to now, this time of celebrating the freedom of your country, is a good time to take stock of where the consciousness is – yours individually and then the consciousness that you see to be the collective consciousness of this geo – political grouping. I have seen many of you struggling with trying to see the Light in many of the decisions that have seemingly been made. They've been tried out; they are not hard and fast. Because you have a most wonderful collection in this geo – political grouping, and truly it is all over holy Mother Earth – it is not just here – of diverse consciousness, diverse opinions.

And yet there is but one thing that is of the collective: everyone wants to live in love – or another word for it is joy – and to live easily with the neighbors, to understand that there may be a difference of appearance, there may be a difference of generational teaching, there may be a difference of value judgments as to what is valuable, and yet at the core, everyone comes from the same Source – capital "S".

Everyone takes their energy from the divinity that you are and that they are. There is truly only One of you expressing. What you want for yourself is the same as the brothers and sisters want for themselves. They want to be valued. They want to be loved, by whatever definition that is. They want to be respected. They want to be able to share their joy and to live in joy, not in fear.

How do you bring that to be? By seeing it, looking through the eyes of love, the eyes that say, "We all want the same thing. We all want to be loved, respected. We all want to understand our divinity." That is what it comes down to. So when you see another one, without any thought of judgment, allow yourself to look upon them and see, first of all, one good thing about them. Pick out – this is how you begin this process – pick out one thing that you can find that is valuable, that you can compliment them on, that you can compliment within yourself as you look upon them.

This one sitting here with the most beautiful eyelashes, I would say unto you, you have the most wonderful bushy eyebrows and the eyelashes to go with. You see? And when you do that, there is a connection that is made. It is momentary, yes, but it changes the energy.

This one grows a most wonderful mustache and the beard that I very much admire; plus he has the sparkling eyes.

Another mustache, another beard, another smile upon the face, and the eyes that twinkle.

And you...most wondrous smile. Look at that. It is a broad smile across the whole face. You do that very well.

You can find with each one, one thing that will bring about an energy change. You can look upon one and see how they smile not only with the mouth, but with the eyes, the eyes that crinkle and say, "Yes, there is joy somewhere within me," and there is. I feel a poem coming on. And that is a wondrous smile that you have.

You, we have complimented already. I am going to speak to my beloved friend and teacher that perhaps she needs to do the artwork on the toes. Of course, she may tell me no.

Aha, more. More toes; most beautiful. Yes, I like. I will recommend. Of course, she will be free to choose. She may tell me to go somewhere else. (She can choose a different color) This is true. She can choose her color.

(Tim: Not so good.) No, what I was going to say is, most manly. Most manly feet. I don't have the manly feet when I'm using this body. You can be my manly feet. Okey dokey.

When you start with changing the energy, when you start to meet ones in a positive place, not worrying about how the rest of the appearance is, whether they wear the scarf over the head, whether they have a beard or mustache, you will admire whatever they have. Allow that Oneness to be in that one point of focus as you meet someone. Give them a compliment. It will change their day, and it will change yours.

Then you keep on doing it until there is a feeling within you, a feeling of expansion, because as you meet another one in a place of the compliment, you receive back from them the Light energy that you have put out. Nothing is ever lost. It is always coming back to you. That which you put out comes back to you.

So I advise you to live in the place of joy. Live in the place of humor, at least to look upon everything with the possibility of humor; not where you are making fun of and trying to put down someone, but in the place of meeting them in something that you will compliment them about.

This then allows an opening for freedom. It is the simplest of things to do, and yet it is the most powerful. So whenever you meet someone, first off, look for something that you can compliment them about. It will change all of the energy. Now, I advise you to mean what you say, but it is always easy to find something about one to be positive about.

You are the movers and shakers. You are the energy changers. You are the ones who have come with a recollection of the divine energy that has allowed you to be here and to express as you are. Yes, I know that there are times in a day when you feel the pressure of something that you have to get done or that you have to decide about, or whatever the world is going to be throwing at you.

But you can also compliment yourself and say, "Wow, you know, I almost got caught up in that feeling." And if you do get caught up in the feeling, allow yourself the compliment of, "Wow, I really got into that," and then you came out of it. So compliment yourself. Allow the energy of positivity to be your touchstone. Go throughout the day feeling free, because you are. You are free in every moment to make new choice.

In fact, if you want to have fun with it, see how often in the space of ten minutes you can change your mind about something. I've seen you do this, but maybe it was not conscious. So take note of how free you are to make new decisions. Revel in the freedom that you have to make new decisions.

The world will teach you that you have to make a decision, and you have to make it very fast, and then you have to stay with it, whatever it is. I have seen you in various lifetimes where you have lived a decision to the place where you gave up the body, because it was not happy.

This lifetime I am seeing you choose to be happy. You are actually making quite good strides to realize your joy. It is not by accident that the grouping that you are going to be having in two weeks' time has as its theme, Joy. It is not by accident. You have chosen that before ever it was put onto paper. You consciously, as a collective consciousness, said, "You know, I'd really like to have fun. I'd like to have time out from the heaviness of the world and maybe a little bit of food to go with it." So you will see to that, because this is something that you know how to do. All of you, in truth, know how to do this.

Allow yourself to feel the energy of freedom. Be conscious of it. Make conscious choice to know that you are choosing. When you decide something, stop for a moment and say, "Hey, I just made a decision. Am I going to change my mind? I might. I can. Hmm, I wonder what that would feel like."

And if you feel like changing your mind, go ahead. Make new decisions. Then if five minutes after that you say, "No, I want to go back to what I decided earlier," yes, who is free to do that?

It is not just the collective consciousness that is celebrating its freedom. It is you, as part of the collective consciousness, coming into your own, coming into that place of awareness of the All that you are, the vast Allness that you are. It is most awe-inspiring when you are in that space and you understand how much freedom you have. Sometimes it can be a bit off-putting, because in the world teaching it feels like a heavy responsibility. And yet it is freedom itself to change your mind.

There is nothing that you have to do, but there is a lot that you may want to do. And blessings upon you as you allow yourself to skip through life as the young one when you felt free. You are free at any age, any time, no matter what the employer wants to say to you, and they will say things to you. They will give you rules and regulations and things that you have to abide by. And within their framework, you still have a big area of choice as to how you will feel about what you are doing and how much Light you are sharing with other ones, and how much Light you are allowing yourself to be conscious of.

All of you are the Light. All of you have come into this awareness wanting to know the Allness of you, the Allness of Light and the power of Light. For many lifetimes you have run from it, because it has seemed too much. Now you are ready, and you can start with small compliments to yourself, because when you are practicing giving compliments to other ones, include yourself in that as well and say, "You know, wow, I have lived X number of years, I have travelled, I have met people, I have made decisions, some that I liked and some I had to live with that weren't all that great, but you know, I did live with them, and when I look back upon those decisions, I can see that truly they were for the best. They've brought me to where I am right now, and I'm much wealthier because I've made those decisions, which at the time seemed really heavy."

You've all come through the heavy decisions. You've all had to make hard decisions, and you have made them, and you are wealthier because of what you have experienced. One of the things that you asked for in this lifetime was to know a variety, so do not judge self if you have chosen and then changed your mind. You have moved somewhere, you have chosen a vocation perhaps, and then you have later on changed and decided you'll do something else. All of you, I can see, you can relate to this, where you have made choices and then you've changed and done other things for the sheer joy of it, just knowing that you could. And that feels very good.

Truly you are free in every moment to make new choice and to play as the child that you are , not having to take heavy responsibility and have this critic just behind the shoulder saying, "Oh, well, you should have. Why did you do that, etc.?" That is old thinking from the time you were small, and for safety's sake, as it seemed at the time, you had to make choice to listen to the other voices. But now you can make up your own decisions. If you don't like the first one, choose anew. If you don't like the second one, choose anew, etc. And who is counting? You are free.

I have been speaking with you for some time now, guiding you in some of your awarenesses, putting out ideas to you as to think about such and such. How do you feel about whatever, a lot of different things, and I have been giving you various texts to read that are as clues to bring you to that place of understanding and feeling and expressing Oneness, the divinity of you.

I have put in your hand from time to time just exactly what you needed and asked to have to read that would be as clues to take you to the next step of understanding. So you have quite a few written words that the mind has been very busy with, and you have taken those ideas that the mind plays with, and then you have said, "But how does that feel? What more does it show me?"

So you have gone from reading the texts to asking questions, to speaking with the brothers and sisters, "How do you hear this? How do you feel about this? What is your take" on whatever you are reading, all of the different words that come to you, until you have come to a place where you have said, "Oh, but that means..." and your whole idea has turned around, where you feel it. You come to that place within you where you own it; not just here with the mind. That's good. That's the first place to start. But then you have taken it to the place where there is a knowing of ownership of it, where you have said, "Hmm, I understand that at a deeper level. I wonder if I have read this before."

Well, yes, you have. There is nothing that comes to you that is totally new in the outer as to a book or a message. There is nothing new that you haven't experienced in another lifetime or another hour ago. But what is new is when you own it and take it within you and say, "This is the truth of my being. I know it, but I maybe can't put it into words." I have seen you do this, which is most wonderful, where you have said, "I understand the Oneness that I am with the mind, but I'm beginning to get a feeling of Oneness with my brothers and sisters. I'm beginning to get a feeling of Oneness with the four - footed ones."

In fact, that is a very good place to start. Start with the mind to mind. The four - footed ones are very good teachers. They love you no matter what you do or what you don't do. They love you. You come back, and maybe they've made a mess, and they look up at you and smile , like, "You do still love me, don't you?" Yes, they do this. They are very good at wrapping you around their little paw, and you smile. And that, in that moment, is the joy of being. Your little four - footed ones who love to have the scratcher on the back, they show you what true joy is, and you become One with them in the joy. It is as simple as that.

But we have been speaking about ideas for some time now, and you have been taking the ideas and pondering them. You have been taking the ideas and seeing where, "Oh, it shows up in this book. That's interesting. I was just thinking about that idea," and then it comes to you in a book. Of course, it does. You are the one who is making your reality. Of course, that book is going to come to you, and it's going to talk about whatever you were thinking, processing.

Then you go a little bit deeper with it. That is what this lifetime is about, going deeper with the ideas of the mind to the place of the feeling, the place of the heart, the place of Oneness, being able to really know it; not just with the mind. You're all very good with the mind, and you will bring to yourself the text that will explain something and talk about whatever you are thinking about.

But I have seen you go the next step with it and say, "Oh, I know that." And of course you know that, going to the place where you really feel the Oneness, the Oneness with yourSelf – capital "S" – the Oneness that defies definition. You may want to explain it to someone, and you will say, "You know, I really caught this idea, and it's really..." And there are no words for it. You can try, and that is good. Try to put it into words to explain it to another one. Really, you are explaining it to yourself.

But the pearl of great price is when you know, beyond words, Who and What you are, and you live from that space. I have seen you do it. I have seen you touch that space where all of a sudden there is a shift, and you wonder, "What happened?" You may feel a little bit different, or not, but there has been a shift within you to the place of knowing, the place of owning Who and What you are and the joy of that being.

And, yes, it may come for a moment or so, and then maybe it escapes, but once you have known it, it will come back. All you have to do is to invite it and to know that it will come. I give you my word that once you have experienced the space of Oneness, the space of divinity, the space of Allness, even for just a second of time, you can bring it back, and you will bring it back.

One of the things that you can do that is most powerful is to look into another one's eyes and to really be One with them, to really feel that, "I know Who you are, and I love that which you are. I know the inner being of you, and it is pure Light, and I feel so Light when I am with you." Then everything that you see in the outer changes, and you live in...(Eva: joy and peace.)

Thank you. You are doing very well with this. I will take you as my companion on the road, and every time we want to know about (Eva: peace and joy)...and how would you say that in Polish?

(Eva: Poqui. Poqui is peace.) Well, how about joy? How would you say joy in another language (I'll have to think about that one) Sounds are wonderful. Think you on that for a moment or so, how many languages upon the face of our holy Mother Earth there are. Same sounds, maybe a little different, maybe they get caught in the throat a different way. Perhaps there is a different emphasis on things, and you get a different meaning with it. I digress, but it is wondrous what you do with sound. It is wondrous what you do with the eyes, just looking at another one, into the eyes deeply and feeling that space of Oneness.

Your freedom leads you to the space of Oneness, your freedom to choose and to choose again and again, and to know truly that which motivates you in to your (Eva: joy) Very good. I think it is catching on. You are all very good.

To live in that space of freedom and to be conscious of your freedom, and to come to a place of knowing that you are making, moment by moment, that which you experience, so therefore choose you happiness.

When you are living in that space of Oneness, Oneness with self, Oneness with all of the other selves that you seem to see out there, and yet they are all as projections of your knowing, allow yourself to revel in the variety that you have populated your world with. What a variety that you see. How wealthy you are in the experiences. How wealthy you are in the variety of expression of the divine.

Think about that for a moment. Everywhere you go, you see that which is your divinity in expression – the brothers and sisters, nature, the animals. Everything that you populate your thoughts with shows you how powerful and how free you are to choose, to choose anew, and to live in that space of non – judgment. For when you are in the space of Oneness, there is no judgment. It is just a space of Allness, a space of freedom that even the mind does not have to understand.

I have spoken with you throughout the ages in ways that the mind would understand. I have given to you texts that you can read, that the mind can play with. I have given you clues that the mind uses as a doorway to understand the Allness that you are. I have said to you to play with ideas, and when I said that, I meant play; not to have to struggle, but to play with ideas and to see how wealthy you are, the variety you have, because you are putting all of that into the gemstone of many facets. Know you the gemstone that is cut in certain ways to reflect the light and has many of the facets, the way it is cut to catch the light?

This is you. This is you, the facets of the gemstone reflecting the inner Light that you are; not only what you would understand to be the light out there, but to allow the Light from within to be seen, to shine forth. And the more facets you have, the more Light. So allow yourself to feel good about all of the “mistakes” you have ever made, because they were not mistakes, all of the experiences that you have had, because they allow more of the reflected Light, the wealth, the treasure of you.

Allow yourself to know that truly there is only one Light. You draw your being from that one Light, and you share it brilliantly. You share it, because you have the freedom to share it. Do not put the bushel basket over the head. Do not put the bushel basket on and hide your Light. Allow yourself to live in joy. Allow yourself to be as the one who discovers the childhood of true joy at the age of 121, or whatever; pick a number. Allow yourself to know that you are young at heart. You are young, and always will be, as long as you choose to know that you are young. I feel another poem coming on.

When I spoke two thousand years ago, some of my words were recorded, and I gave you certain prayer of "Our Father." I spoke in a way that you would understand the love of a parent, true love for the offspring, for the child, the same as what you feel for the four - footed ones, the same as – perhaps easier to understand than even the offspring. Sometimes you get into a place of the judgment of offspring. But the four - footed ones, oh, we ll, maybe you don't like it if they make a mess, but then the next moment they jump into your lap and they're purring or licking your face, and you forget all of the judgment that has come before that, hopefully.

When you are in that space of understanding that love only wishes the best for you... that's all that love can do is wish the best for you, because that's all that love has, is the best. When you recognize you are in that space of love, the mind relaxes, and you come to a certain place of understanding that truly God, as the word , is more than just a father. It is the father's love, the mother's love, the love that you have for others, and most importantly, the love that you have for yourSelf – capital "S".

And you live in that space where God is not a he. It is not a separate personage on high somewhere who is going to look down and take care of you. You don't need taken care of. You are all power anyway. You can take care of yourself, because there is nothing that is going to harm you, so you don't have to be taken care of.

God the Father I spoke of so that you could understand the love, but God is more than just a personage. It is not God, he, so that you have to pray to someone above you. God is you. God is what you are living in. God is what you are swimming in. Every moment you are in God, and God is not separate from you as a being on high. He is below you. He is above you. He is the sky, He is the galaxy. He is the stars at night. He is everything you can imagine in all of creation , because you are creating.

I used the terminology of God the Father, because in the day and time that it was given, it was to express the protectiveness, the love, the taking care of that hopefully a good parent, a good father would do for his children. It was a way of expressing to my brothers and sisters when I gave them what is now known as the "Our Father" prayer, so that they could understand that there is loving presence that will look over, take care of, from which you can draw your strength, because you do; you draw your very being.

So it is not God, he. It is not even God, she, as a separate entity, a separate power that you have to pray to. When you were a child, I spoke to you as a child would understand. Now that you have been hearing me for a while, I take you to the next level of the Allness, the next level of true joy, the next level of understanding that there is no one, no power outside of you. It is all within.

So it is not that you have to go down on the knees and that you have to pray to a higher being . There is no higher being. But you can be higher in your understanding of Who and What you are. This is what I want you to take to heart, to understand in this evening, that God the Father is you. It is the Allness of being from which you draw your strength, from which you draw your creativity. You can pray to that being, but recognize that you are praying to the Oneness of which you are All of it; not just a tiny little part. You are All of God. Heresy.

Two thousand years ago I was given the opportunity to be on the cross, because I spoke heresy. I spoke to you in a way that you could perhaps understand, and I put it in terminology of God the Father so that you in your understanding could feel love. Now you are ready to understand that there is no God above you or below you. There is nothing except what you choose to experience and to say is true.

And you say, "But what do I do if there's nothing that's going to be telling me what's good and what's not good? You are going to tell for yourself what brings you to the place of the realization of Allness. That is how powerful you are. There is no God outside of you.

"But Yeshua, Yeshua, I don't want to know that. I want someone out there to take care of me.

Why? You have railed against the human parents. Why would you want someone outside of you to take care of you? What if they went on vacation? You have all power within you. You are the power. You are that which you seek. You've heard those words. Take them to heart and understand that you are that which you seek. You are the love. You are the power that protects you. You are the power that guides you and allows you to understand your choices and to make happy choices, theoretically, that will bring you to (Eva: the Soischt) Very good. The Soischt? (Eva: the Soischt, happiness) Happiness, joy. Very good.

See how creative you are. You take sounds, and they have meaning in different languages; different way of moving the mouth and the throat, wondrous, creative beings that you are. But that creativity is you. It is not in a personage out there who may give to you or may not give to you, depending on how many of the knees, how many of the Hail Mary's.

My mother enjoys – she lives in joy – your love and your attention, because she lives in joy. But truly she does not need your adoration. She is already all that she is and all that you are. Long enough you have been the child who has been looking outside of yourself. Long enough you have read the books. Long enough you have studied and questioned. Now choose you where you will live.

Every moment you are free to choose. If you do not like what you have chosen, change it. Go for the joy. It can be yours at any time, and it is not outside of you. So you do not have to do ritual unless you see the beauty in ritual and you enjoy it. But it is not that you have to do the ritual and to do it right so that some being outside of you is going to look with favor upon you and say, "Blessed art thou, child." That is why I do not use the word child, because you are no longer children. You are the Allness, the creative Oneness. So be it.
