

The Expanding Viewpoint

Jeshua Speaks about: ENERGY, ET's, AND DEMENTIA

Beloved one, in your human experience you are creating a vortex of Light energy, energy that can be measured. You have scientists who take sensitive readings so that they can study the energy that the body emits, and that the brain emits.

Always, even when you lay the body down to sleep and think that you have turned off most of the systems, not all of them, you are still emitting energy. You are still energizing the brain. It is still working. You may come back the next morning and remember where you have been—in a dream, you call it, and yet it is as real as what you are experiencing in the waking time. The brain is still emitting energy, because you are that energy.

There are times when you have gone to see the big screen and have been caught up in the drama where you are asking, “Oh, is it going to work out? Is he/she going to find the love of his/her life?” And you are almost at the point, especially if you are in the 3D movie, where you feel that you are right in the action...you are almost ready to scream, “Watch out!” because you are caught up in it.

You are playing out in “real” life a most wonderful drama. I have said to you that if you do not like the drama that you are in, stop, breathe, choose anew, because you are the one who is choosing and then judging what you feel the reality—lower case “r”—to be. And all of the time you are drawing the energy from the Reality —capital “R”—to make the drama that you live in.

Now, some of the drama that you live in is happy. It is creative. You enjoy putting the colors upon the canvas. You are making a most wonderful canvas of this life; moment by moment you are putting together the various colors, the vibrations, the aura that is you.

If you were to stand against a white wall and then move away from it, you would leave your imprint on the wall. There is still an energy picture on that wall. It may be for some of you a flash, and then it is gone, or you may look at it even later and see an outline of an energy that has been there.

That is how strong you are, how powerful you are, how alive you are. If you were to place a deceased body up against the wall, it would not have the same effect. But you, because you are breathing, living, emitting energy, taking in energy all the time, giving off energy all the time, you leave an imprint that can be seen.

There are times when ones look at you, and then they look away and can still see you, even though they are not actually looking at you. You have done that, and then you look back very quickly to see, “Are they still there?” Yes, they are still there. It is fun to play with energies.

Beyond the individual, there is a group vortex which is being created. It is being strengthened. You are calling

JESHUA HAS HIS OWN WEBSITE!

In keeping with His desire to be current with all our technology, Jeshua now has His own website, courtesy of Barry Peterson. About a year ago Barry discovered Jeshua’s messages collected into the seven volumes of The Personal Christ series and wrote to us requesting permission to read and record all seven volumes into an audio series. These are now available at audioenlightenment.com.

Through his reading of Jeshua’s messages, including the teachings in The Way of Mastery series, recorded previously, Barry’s love of Jeshua has grown into an intimate friendship with Him, so that when Jeshua’s desire to have His own website to enable people to access His messages directly became clear to Barry, <http://jeshuathepersonalchrist.org> was born. Barry has put together a wonderful website for Jeshua with information about Oakbridge University and Jeshua’s involvement in its inception, with Contact information and How to order the books, etc., as well as quoting from Jeshua’s recent message, “The Teacher Within,” a very basic and powerful message for our times. Thank you, Barry, for hearing Jeshua’s request and responding so lovingly.

other ones who have the same desires, same interests, to come and be with you so that you can play again, play in this dimension, as you call it, to be able to know the true joy of Being. That is the only thing that truly is worthwhile, is to know the joy of Being, to know that Who you are, the Energy that you are, was not made to suffer.

I did not suffer on the cross. I know that a lot has been made of my suffering. I did not suffer. And if I had suffered for you...well, I cannot do it for you. That has been a story.

Now I would speak with you about an expansive topic: the ET's, as you call them. You have seen some of the language that they are leaving for you. You have looked at the pictures of what are known as circles, but they are not always circles, in the crops, and have wondered, "How did they get there? What is their message?"

The message truly is a mind to mind message. It is not something as concrete as your various languages that you have on holy Mother Earth. I know that you study the sounds that are in various languages, and you learn to speak other languages. You learn the sounds and equate them with meaning as to what the name for a table would be, what the name would be for a mirror, a tree, etc.

You learn the various languages, some of which are easier or more familiar to learn, and then the linguists among you say, "Well, let me see about some of the lesser known languages." It is fun to do, and it is mind-expanding. It is moving to the next step where truly you do not need sound for the languages.

I have heard you searching for a word. "I've got it right here. It's on the tip of my tongue. I've got it right here, what I want to say to you, but I can't quite find the word for it."

Well, you are moving to a space where you will not need words. You will not need sounds. You are moving to the place of mind to mind interchange of ideas. When you get to the place where you are mind to mind, all you will do is think of whatever you want to say, and the other person will pick it up as a picture, perhaps, as a knowing, and you will not have to go through the laboriousness of trying to find the right word and the right nuance of word.

It will be something that you project. In truth, you are already doing that as you are standing there trying to think, "Now, what is her name? I know her name. It's umm, uh..." And then maybe a day or two later..."Oh, yes, it's Genevieve." Or maybe it comes to you in the middle of the night.

You already are doing mind to mind communication. You are already sending the picture of what you are thinking, but you have not yet come to the place of trusting that the other person is going to pick it up. But there are some times when it does happen, and you say, "Oh, wow, that's really great. Yes, you got the meaning. I couldn't quite get the words for it, but you know what I mean." Then the other person says, "Yes, I know what you mean," and they do.

The intergalactic Intelligence is a thing which you say to be of the future, as you understand linear time. Now, in truth, time is not linear. All time is contained within the concept of a sphere. What makes it seem to be linear is: you think from this point to that point within the huge sphere of understanding, and what connects those two points is a line; therefore, time must be linear, but it is not.

You are most engaging to watch. Know you that every time you have a thought, it does not stay within what you would call the brain. It does not. It is emitted, the same as your vibrational energy. That thought goes out, and that is why quite often you know what someone else is thinking even before they say it. That is why you are in sync with someones more than with others. You are on the same...well, you have called it the same wavelength. You are on the same wavelength with each other. Therefore, you do not need the words.

Then, because of generational teaching, you have been taught as the small one to make sounds and to change the sounds a little bit perhaps to say the right sound that somebody else will interpret to mean whatever is the commonly shared meaning of it.

And yet—as you have seen with your four-footed ones—you do not have to say any sound. In fact, they do not even hear what you are saying. Your sounds are just like a whole lot of vibrational whatever. They are mind to mind. You think of something, and if they are in the mood, they will understand it. They wonder sometimes why you are not a bit brighter to get the message that they are trying to give you. "What takes you so long to pick up the mental picture I am sending you?" Then they dance around and yip-yap and say, "Pay attention. I'm sending you this picture. I want my food right now. I want to go out. I have to go out," and you had better let them out at that point.

They are doing what is truly your next what-you-will-call advanced step. They are doing mind to mind, and they do wonder why sometimes you are so slow to get the picture, because they are sending it, and they have to send it over and over and over, and then finally she pays attention, or he pays attention, and they may get what they are sending.

You are evolving to the place where you are not going to need the sounds, except the happy sounds of laughter and the happy sounds of music, sounds which bring you joy and allow you to resonate with the vibration. That is why many of you listen to the music that resonates with you.

Now, I know that there are things called music that are quite discordant. Every generation seems to go through a time of doing its own particular sounds. They groove to the certain sounds, and it is truly a groove. It is in the brain, and it is a groove, and they are evolving to the place where they are actually going to leave that behind as well. But meantime they are having fun with it.

On another note (smile), as a whole, as a collective, you are moving to the place where you will not have to worry about and judge dementia. Know you that the ones who are experiencing dementia are actually evolving? They are the ones who have given up being tied into sounds, words, and the meaning of sounds. They are being judged by society as being not as bright as they were earlier when they were very rapid with the sounds. But in truth, the ones who are into the place of dementia are not having to be so mental. They are de-mentia: they are out of being mental, and they are actually moving into a space the human race is evolving into. The sounds will not be necessary. The various configuration of sounds will not be necessary, all of the complexity.

You see, what you are moving towards is the remembrance of Home, the remembrance of Allness, the remembrance of Oneness that does not need all the various steps to make sense. You think now with the small ones that they have to learn the sounds, how the sounds go together, how there is an inflection if you are asking a question, or if there is a certain way of wanting to express something really strongly, etc.

They are learning all of the inflections, and it is quite a task. They are already at the place where—if you were to call it this—they are already at the place of dementia. They do not have to use words. When they are hungry, they let you know. When they want company, they will let you know. When they want the wetness changed, they will let you know. How do you know it? You know it by the picture that is sent to you. Or you may look at the clock and say, "Well, it's probably time they might be hungry." You have already gotten the message.

If you have emigrated from another country and have had to learn another language, at first it may not feel quite right to the ear, but you persevere with the new language, and you store the sounds of the former language in memory, and if someone speaks to you in what was the former language, you can understand the sounds and see what the meaning is. But again, it is more mind to mind than even the sounds.

Most wonderful experiences that you make for yourself, even in something as seemingly basic as language and sounds. But to communicate with the intergalactic ET's and what they are trying to say to you, it is mind to mind. You look at the designs that they make and get a feeling. You sit with it and ask, "What is this about?" Ideas will come to you.

For the most part, the designs that are made in the crop circles are ways of saying, "We are here. We are here with you. You may not see us," because they know how to manipulate energy. They know how to either bring it together in very dense form that you would take in with the sensory eyes—you would see the form—or not. For the most part, they move about in amongst you, and you do not see form. You may feel something a little bit different, but then, for the most part, you are very busy attending to the world so that you do not ponder it too long. But they walk amongst you and, for the most part, you would judge them to be friendly—for the most part.

There are ones who like to play with drama, the same as ones who are activating the more solid bodies. So they may move certain objects that you have in the house, and you may say, "I don't think I put it there. Well, I must have put it there, and then I forgot I put it there." Well, maybe not. Maybe they know how to manipulate energy and put it somewhere else. And then you wonder what is going on. You may say, "Well, the cat did it. The dog did it. Of course, they moved it." (Smile)

You are moving into a most wondrous time. There have been many messages of change, and you are feeling change. I commend you for the intricacies of the realities that you bring for yourself, because you are doing the most wondrous day by day advancement, as you see it, in your technology. Your technology is getting very small. You can carry it around in the pocket. When it dings a little bit, you say, "Oh, I have to look at it." Or it may actually do a ring tone of some sort, and you know you are being called to attend to something. Even if it does not make any sound, you take it out quite often just to check.

Know you what a miracle that is, that you are creating? And it changes. From year to year it changes so that you have to get the new model, right? So you are having fun with your inventions, your technology. You do this in order to keep the mind happy, or not so happy sometimes.

We have spoken in other times of the ways that the mind wants to keep you involved, how everything you see, you want to analyze and understand what the meaning is and take it to the mind. Then you remember after a while to take it to the heart and see what the deeper meaning is, what it has as feeling, what does it feel like?

You will do the same with the language of the circles. What they are trying to communicate to you is, "We are here. You are not alone. We are here. We have intelligence. We are intelligent." It is a communication that is very basic to the feeling nature: "You are not alone, we are all from the same Source."

Even the ones that some of you have said in a preliminary judgment are of negative energy, this is not really true. The negativity is in the eye of the beholder. The basic message is, "We are here; you are not alone." You think that you are encased in a body, and maybe there is energy that goes out twelve inches or more, because ones can photograph the body and see the aura. But you think that is all there is. That is not all there is, and that is what they are trying to say. "We are here with you." They want to be recognized; they are trying to give you the message that you are not alone.

You see, for humans, because there is a delineation of body—in other words, this is where the body ends—you feel alone. From the time that you are birthed, there is an underlying message that you have understood and have grasped for yourself: that you are alone and you have to make your way in the world. You have to learn what is acceptable. You have to learn the language. You have to make decisions for yourself, and hopefully those decisions will be good. And there is a loneliness that all of you feel. It goes with the territory of human expression and experience.

So ones who are a bit beyond that are letting you know that you are not alone. And when you sit in the quietness...I know that some of you have gone and actually sat in the crop circles and been able to feel that you are not alone.

And as you have understood, the interpretation of the energy is to that one person who is interpreting it. If they have a certain inclination towards fear, they are going to see whatever energy there is in that way. If they have been, as you would put it, lucky enough to be raised with a circle of friends, they may be more open to having a wider circle of friends.

But they are here, and they are doing what you are evolving into, the place where you do not need the specificity of sound and language, where you can be as the four-footed ones and just hold that picture of the food dish and say, "This is what's important to me," and hopefully the human is going to receive the message sooner or later.

It is an exciting time to be here as human. I know, because I had several lifetimes as human, and I know how it is to feel alone, to feel apart; not as a part, but to feel apart from others and to feel that you have to make your own way. In one way, that is true, because you are making your reality—lower case “r”—as you go along, but at the same time you are connected by the divine energy of wholeness with everyone you meet and with ones you do not see.

It is a time now when things are changing, and it is an exciting time to know that truly you are moving beyond words, beyond language, beyond the mental and the mind to the place of the heart, knowing that, truly, That Which you are and That Which everyone you see, is an extension of the true Reality. It is exciting.

So, hang on, enjoy the ride.

So be it.

JESHUA Q&A

DYING CHILDREN ARE FULFILLING THEIR PURPOSE

I have come to a level where this world looks so heavy. I want to know, is there a God? Tell me, where is God.

God is in your eyes, in your heart, in your smile. God is not separate from you. God is that energy that goes forward from you, and others feel it. It is what you are searching for, and all at the same time you are being the searchlight that is sending out the beams of Light to other ones who are searching for their own Light. You are the Light. You are the love.

But then why can't I help? Children are dying all over this world from bombs or from lack of food or lack of facilities.

Would you take away from them their tests, their trials, their incarnation of what they have chosen to be complete with? In truth, you cannot. The ones that you can help are there by design and by purpose, but the other ones are there as example, and they are living that example so that others can see how not to be.

That is what they have chosen as their purpose in this lifetime, and you would not take that away from them. In truth, as I have said, you cannot take it away from them. But when they show you, and you open your heart, that allows you to come up higher in the amplitude of your own Light. It is a service that they do for you and for others who have the eyes to see and the heart to open. It is a service that they have chosen to do.

These are not poor little things. These are not weaklings. These are not ones who have to be saved. In your world there is a consciousness that says that “I am here to save the world. I am here to save.” But in truth, I could not save anyone. And if I could not—and I cannot; I can only point the way—these other ones you cannot change, what they have as their purpose. You would not take that from them. It is something that they have said that they will do, and they need—as they see it—to complete it.

Now, in truth, everything is already complete, but that which they are doing is to show to the world that which is not like love. They are doing a good job of it, because it is waking up many people. It is their job, the same as your purpose is to share the Light and to speak from the point of Light. It is their purpose that they have chosen to live a life of completion that does not look very happy.

They are all great masters. I have said often, and I will repeat, that it takes a master to live a life that does not look like it is being lived by a master. It takes a master to live in sacrifice. It takes a master to live in completion of something that they said they would do, and you would not take that away from them, and you cannot.

But you can open your heart to ones who come to you. I have said to you many times that if one comes to your doorstep and is asking for help, or if there is a way that you can use the golden coins to provide for families and little ones who need help, then follow through on that. But for the other ones that you see and you feel powerless to help, know that truly they are great masters and they are living completion, the same as you are doing. They are living their purpose. Cheer them on.

Know that truly if they are caught in the bombing and it takes away the body, where do they go? They go to heaven. They go to peace, to Light, back to the Light that they are. That is where they go. They are not helpless. There are always around each incarnate being at least two what-you-will-call angels. Most often there are more than two, but no less than two around each being that chooses incarnation. And mark you well the choice, the word that I use: choose; because they have chosen.

They have known the script. They have known what would be; not consciously, but they have known at the soul level that they would do this service. They would point out with the most precious gift that they think they have, the body. They will show that the Light cannot be diminished. It cannot be. That is their purpose, the same as you have purpose.

It is a very good question that you have asked, but in truth, I could not save everyone who came to me. In truth, I could not save any of them unless they chose to save themselves. And by that, there are many different forms and variations of being saved. And you have had it written that everyone that I healed died at some point.

COMMITTING SUICIDE

Why do some of us come into this world and quit, I mean commit suicide? Do they have this as part of their lessons, or was this their choice, or is this just avoiding this hard world by aborting the mission because it was too much?

Yes, it is aborting the mission, but they will get another chance. No life is ever lost. Every life is an expression of the divine. It is Light. And if ones find that they do not see their own Light and they want to be out of the darkness that they feel, they have choice. But they also have choice to reincarnate another time and to perhaps change some of the parameters so that they keep on living a little bit longer.

Now, the question would be, does the person who lives 90 or 99 years have a more worthwhile life than one who has lived only a day? In truth, no. If they have been serving their purpose...there are ones who serve a purpose to be born of woman and live only one day to bring to that one person, or two if it is a family, the experience of love, even if it is just for one day. They are serving a purpose. Do they stay forgotten somewhere? No, they turn right around and incarnate again sometimes in the very same family, or perhaps in another family, but they have choice.

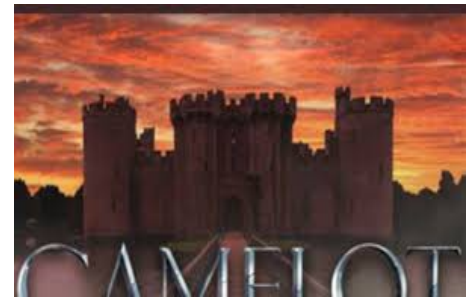

Sometimes they will come and live maybe a week or whatever, for the purpose of allowing ones to open their heart and love. There is no guilt. You cannot take another one's life. First of all, life is on-going. Secondly, you cannot take another one's incarnate form. You can make it look like they choose that they see that they want to allow the body to be gone, but you cannot take another one's life. It is only by choice. That is why you have sometimes on the battlefield two standing right next to each other with the—what do you call that—rapid fire, and one will perish and the other one may be riddled with all kinds of holes, but he survives. You cannot take another one's life.

DID YOU COME TO FULFILL PROPHECY OF THE OLD TESTAMENT?

A question about your lifetime here that you were telling us about. Recently I was listening to a program that talked about how the people who kind of rewrote and repositioned the books of the Bible made it so that it seemed like you did everything in your life to fulfill a prophecy, and that that wasn't necessarily true. And what you said today is that you had a general sketch, but you weren't going according to what was prophesied in the Old Testament, this line here and this line here, that this was something that was invented later on to prove that you were the very son of God (As I am and you are) Right. But the worship part.

Yes, as you have discerned, there is a very broad picture before the incarnation. This is true for all of you. But how you do the filling in of details is up to you, and timing is up to you.

JESHUA AT CAMELOT?

When you were trekking across Britain...there has also been a legend of you being associated with Camelot (Oh, yes) Is that the same time period, or is that true?

Yes. You see, after the resurrection, I knew myself to be unlimited. I believed wholeheartedly and knew I was unlimited. Before the resurrection I understood this intellectually, mentally, and I knew from the teachers that I had had, the masters, that this was something that could be. There were stories of ones who had done such a thing as a resurrection, but it was not commonly known and not commonly accepted, as sort of in this time as well, so then I proved it to myself by doing it. The proof is in the doing, and after that, nothing was off limits.
