Jeshua Speaks About Divinity

October 2022

You are the divinity that you seek.

We have spoken many times about how I gave answers to my brothers and sisters in my family. One of their big questions was about God. They wanted to know, "Who, what is God?" And I have said, "God is Home. God is the Father." And when I use the terminology of the Father, I imagine God as the Source of the flow of divinity: the Source of Being going forth, the divine One that you are, adventuring: Making for yourself the adventures, the different physicalities, the different places to be and the different ways to be.

I called this Essence the Father as the Progenitor of being: the being as you are a child Which comes forth from the union of the male and female in this design. But more than that. You are the flow of divine energy of Oneness. I could have just as easily have called it the Mother instead of the Father. But in the day and time when I was explaining to the smaller ones, it was acknowledged that the father was the source of taking care of all the small ones as is most often the case here. Not so much anymore because there is more equality of the sexes. I diverge a bit: there are lifetimes and demonstrations where the female is the powerful one. There are lifetimes and dimensions where you live life and the progenitor is not at all what you see the male to be. But life and form is ongoing.

You are a most creative being, the God self that you are. You create everything that you experience, everything that you can imagine -- everywhere and every when. You are the flow of God Energy -- capital "E" -- always. And whatever you can imagine, you can bring forth to experience. So, you have been doing that down through the ages and even past time. And, yes, it does boggle the mind. Because the mind wants to be in order, going forward in a straight line, everything organized. And the

Angel Light

Do you know how many angels watch over you? Many more than you can count. They offer their Love and Advice (yes, they care; ask them) and many have had human experience so they can relate to what we may be experiencing at any time. You do not have to know their names (but it is fun to ask and to acknowledge some by name); they will tell you. They will be attending our upcoming Jeshua and Friends Intensive in a few weeks.

We will be having our October Intensive (October 26th through the 29th) this month at the Unity Church in Port Angeles, Washington for in-person attendees and by computer on Zoom. Our very own Angel and Mistress of Music, Reverend Josie Johnson-Rogers will open the Intensive with an offering of her very own music (most powerful), and Reverend Kimberly Marooney (our very own Angel Whisperer) will be leading a workshop on "Transformation is Real" (co-taught by your very own angel) on Thursday. Jan Jorgensen, a definite Light herself, will be leading a "Be the Light" workshop and meditation on the Friday.

creative One -- capital "O" -- that you are takes side trips here and side trips there, and experiences everything which can be imagined and everything beyond as well.

When I gave the "Our Father" prayer which is so well known and has been used down through the ages, it was to acknowledge the Source of the flow of Energy. Not as a male, not delineating it in specificity that it had to be male, but to put it as the Allness Which recreates Itself over and over -- the creative process. So "God, the Father" could have been and could be just as easily explained -- rather than "Father" -- could be "God, the Mother" or "God, the Isness" which recreates Itself going forward.

Sorry if you were hoping that the male was somehow more wonderful. In this civilization, and the history of it, the male has been seen to be the dominant one. But it is not so in all civilizations. And you even know that from your world, that there are civilizations which have been dominated by the female form. And woe unto the male form if it did not see that the females were just as strong and stronger and just as wise and wiser. And so there has been, as is in this day and time, an emphasis on competition.

You are all of the same stream of Oneness. Now to take that a bit further: the Oneness is Love. When you are in the space of love, there is an expansion, a literal expansion of the physicality. You know this. You have felt it. You feel the heart being bigger. The one that you are looking upon, that one makes your heart expand to the place where it seems that is all there is.

You are the essence of life going forward. And when you tire of walking around on two legs and two feet, and you decide to trade it in, you will have a new form that you will play with -- and the beauty of it is you will play with it. That is why when you come to the place of recognizing the playmate, the whole world is your play room. Everything elevates. Everything feels worthy of your attention, of your love, of your joy with this other one. And you give unto them power to, "Make me happy."

But the Truth of the matter is: you are your own maker of happiness. And when you come together, there is a great explosion of energy that goes out to -- as far as you can imagine -- the ethers. And the energy is felt. It could be and can be registered if one were on a meter with it. When you found each other -- and there was a certain knowing that happened --and you felt like, "This is home. This is where I belong."

You are the essence of Love going forward, always and forever.

And when you get tired of this form, you are going to lay it down, trade it in. And you will know Life even more. Always and forever. You have recently witnessed the laying down of the body of someone well known (Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain.) That one is still alive. That one is watching to see, "Now, now where should I go? Now what do I want to do? I think I will fly through the heavens for a while."

That which you can imagine exists and is. Full stop period. And there is a multitude beyond your counting of existences, of forms, of realities brought forth from the Reality -- capital "R". And when you are finished with this body in this lifetime, hopefully you will look upon it and you will say, "Oh, that was kind of fun. Now what can I do? Now where do I go?" And then you will be off to the next adventure.

Whatever you can imagine -- and you are good at imagining -- you can experience. So I suggest that you definitely put the energy into imagining fun things because many, many lifetimes you have completed with the sadness, with the torture, with the other side of things that was non-love. You have been there. Done that. Completed. Now you can be the angel Being that in Truth you are. And you can fly through the heavens to another place where you put the focus of your attention.

You can do whatever you are imagining. Imagine it in Love. Imagine it as Home and it will be thus for you. If you imagine it as a trial and you make torture for yourself as you have done many lifetimes, that is what it will be. But if you say, "Hey, I have tasted a small bit of the exhilaration of love. I have felt my heart opening and my whole body responding to that. I have felt the upliftment and expansion of Love. I want that." I always advise, "Go for the love".

Take it down from the shelf if it is something that you have been saving and you have been saying, "Next lifetime, I'll take it down from the shelf and I'll see how love feels." Take it down now. Take it down and fall in love. Heaven is right here, right now, as you will say, "I am in heaven." You look to the loved one and you are in heaven. Get you very busy loving. Being friends with ones. Feeling the joy of friendship, of being partner with someone or someones. Allow yourself to live in love.

And when I spoke of the Father, I did not mean a sexist being. I did not mean One with a long beard and very wise -- that perhaps if you pulled on the hem of His garment that He might pay attention to you. He is not a "he." He is not a "she". He is not an "it". He is you. And it is Love.

When I said to my brothers and sisters, the young ones who wanted to know, "How do I pray?" I gave to them what has come to be known down through the ages as The Lord's Prayer. It is the Lord of your Being that you are acknowledging; the power that is All. It is the essence of Oneness, of Allness.

And are there angels? Yes, of course there are angels. There are sparks of joy everywhere around you. Allow yourself to tune into the angels of joy. They are wanting to share with you. Every energy is you -- it is there for the taking and the understanding and the exhilaration of being. You have made for yourself a most wondrous form. Use it in love as I see you do when you are come together with ones, and you reach out and say "Hey, it's good to see you," and you do the hugging. And I have always mentioned, "Notice where the heart is when you do the hug." It is right there as One. You are acknowledging the Oneness, the divinity of you.

Love is your true nature -- the expansion of being into that place where you know yourself to have a body but that you are not the body. You have raiment. And you can have all kinds of raiment. And you have danced down through the ages. And you have the essence of being able to pet the form of love on four feet -- that is why you have these small ones, animal and children. They are your teachers. They bring forth the love and the questioning of, "What is life? What is love?" They are your teachers. And you are theirs when you will allow yourself to be as one with them.

Life is an adventure. It is for the sharing. And it is for knowing that you are the creative One – Capital "O" -- having a life experience. That is why I did the crucifixion. I studied -- as you know -- you have the writings about this -- with the Masters in the Far East who knew that the body is a projection of the Godhood, of the God Power that you are. And that, in Truth, nothing ever can hurt that Energy. You may orchestrate it to the place where you say, "Oh, the body is screaming at me -- 'that really hurts'." Well, as you say and as you acknowledge, you are making that reality -- lowercase "r" -- so that you can feel it. But your capital R is you are the Energy which is creating that which you are experiencing.

So, you can do the crucifixion and rise above the body to the place where you know the body to be a collection of energy. It does not have to be painful. You have all known crucifixion. And for many of you it was torturous, painful, very sad. Even sad that your brothers and sisters would want to do this to you as it was seen being done to you. Now, in Truth, you were doing it to yourself. And if, "I am doing it to myself, maybe I have power to change this." And you do. And I did. And the deepest feeling of pain that I felt was not the physical pain. It was the emotional pain of sorrow that brothers would think that they could harm another divinity. And that the brother, sister would acquiesce to that lowercase "r" reality. But apart from that there was an exhilaration of energy. I -- and this is true for you -- AM God; I AM designing, experiencing my Godhood.

Now, I set for you a small task but a very important task: on the morrow, when you awaken --write yourself out a note this evening when you go to bed, so that in the morning, when you wake up, you can bring that in front of you, your face. And you can see it. "I AM God. I AM alive and well. I AM joyous."

Do that when you first wake up, say it to the walls of the room. Say it to your partner. Say it to the pet -- anyone and everywhere. "I AM God. I AM alive and this day is my gift unto myself. I'm taking this day off. I don't have to suffer. I don't have to work if I don't want to. But, you know, it might be fun. And if it isn't fun, I'm going to sit and breathe and acknowledge that it can be fun." And it will be thus. And if someone comes along -- a boss, perhaps -- and they say, "Hey, you know, you didn't do that job I gave you yesterday very well; I want you to do it over." You say, "Okay, that'll be fun. I'll do it over." Then the boss will look at you like, "What? Okay." Allow yourself to be the comic, the one who says what is not expected. And then see the reaction on the face of your friend, of your boss. Try it on for size just for fun.

You are the creative One orchestrating your life. Believe it or not. There are lifetimes which you have set for yourself that were not really much fun. You have brothers and sisters in this day and time who are seemingly homeless. And the reason that they are without the physical home is because within them, they do not know Home. You carry Home with you. Home is not just the walls of a building. That helps if you have certain atmospheric pressures doing their thing, but Home is within. And the ones who may be physically homeless in this day and time, I have seen them smiling and joking with each other. And feeling, "Hey, I didn't think I could feel this free without having to take care of the mortgage payments. I liked my home; I didn't like the mortgage payments. I didn't like to have to do that job with a boss who was so -- well, loud. But now I'm free of that. Free to create. Free to be."

I AM God.
I AM alive and well.
I AM joyous!

And, hopefully, you will find the brothers and sisters who are happy to share their food, perhaps their roof over top of you to give you a place to make the body more comfortable. But what you are trying to make real in your awareness, if you are physically homeless, is that Home is within. And I have seen and you have seen ones who in a short period of time have been made homeless as far as physical home. And they have said, "Oh no, I failed. I don't have the roof. I don't have the home. I couldn't afford the payments on it. Now I'm out. But, you know, some of these friends that I've made recently, they're really good friends. And they have been sharing with me. And I didn't know that life could be -- well, so free. I didn't know the other side. It's not too bad. There are places called shelters. And I don't want to stay there forever. But you know, I'm not as destitute as I thought I was going to be. I've actually made some friends. And, you know, when I was working at that other place, I didn't really have any friends. Everything was competition. And you had to do your best and you hoped that the boss would like you. And now I don't have to worry about that."

Look for the blessing in everything. Be a friend and then you will have a friend. Several. You can do it. And for those of you who have a place, share if you feel led to do that -- or not. It is not something that you have to do. You will know; you will have a feeling for it. And it is not a "should." It is not a "heavy." It is not like, "Oh well, if I don't help this person who has doesn't have a place to stay, then God won't like me". You know that feeling. Of course you do. You have lived lifetimes where you have done things so that the authorities, the leaders, the ones above you -- and in Truth no one is above you -- is going to like you better.

Get you very busy in giving. "But what do I have to give, Jeshua?" A smile. The arm around another one and say, "Hey, I know where there's a free meal. I know where we can go..." etcetera. You have much to share. And if you do not seem to have much at the moment, create. You can do that, too.

You are the God Self in Essence. You are creating every moment. Be happy. Know you that there are many of the brothers and sisters who thought that the worst thing would be to lose their physical home. The worst thing would be to have to live in their car. The worst thing would be that if they did not have a car. And they have come to a m o m e n t o f realizing, "I AM that which I AM. And no one can take that away from me. I can give a smile. I can make some music. Others may judge it not to be music but I like it."

You are God having a human experience. Make the most of it. Be happy. Give love. Always, beloved one, you are the Christ. No one can take that away from you. Only you can close the eyes for a short period of time and say, "I'm a nothing. I don't have anything." And even at that moment, you have energy to say, "I'm a nothing." You are a something saying that you are a nothing. How do you like that for a conundrum?

Beloved one, I love that which you are because I know That Which you are. You are the Christ. There is, always will be, more than one embodied Christ. You are the Christ. Walking on two feet. Walking in the wheeled chair. Singing, playing your music even with a smile. "What do I have to give?" A smile. A reach out of the hand to say, "I acknowledge the God Self of you. I love That Which you are. I love That Which we are together." And come Home in that Love.

So be it

Q&A

(FROM 2015)

Question: I was talking to my dad last week about not feeling whole a lot of the time, feeling almost not even all there. It's always a constant. I think I'm learning to live with it, but I know that's not authentic. I just don't feel like I'm complete most of the time.

Jeshua: Right. Now, I would ask of the rest of you, have you ever felt that way, that there was more of you somewhere, and you were trying to get ahold of the rest of you, not quite complete in the way that the world understands completeness? It is a good blessing, truly, because it means you are seeking. It means that you want to know, "What is the whole of me? Who am I? Not just in the name that I am called in this lifetime and how people seem to know me, not just as the personality that I have developed over some years, but what more is there? Why am I here? What am I supposed to be doing?"

Well, truly, you are supposed to be living from the place of joy. That is the only "supposed to." The world then piles a whole lot of other things on top and says, "Well, you're supposed to do this, do that, make yourself achieve whatever." But in truth, the bottom line is to be happy, is to be in joy, to be in love, and to share love with the brothers and sisters.

You are being blessed by your seeking. So do not put yourself down and say, "Well, I 'should' know all of the answers." You have all of the rest of this life, and probably some other lifetimes as well, to discover the wholeness of you. You are doing well with it, because you are in love. You find that you love other ones who are in your world. You love your father, you love your brothers, you love the mate that you have chosen.

The world always is 180 degrees opposite of the truth of your being. So whenever the world will speak to you and say that you're not doing very well, and you should, etc., know that truly you are doing very well, because the world and its voice is always 180 degrees opposite to the truth of your being. That is sometimes how you can judge it, you can evaluate it. You are whole, and you will feel it. Practice. I will set you a piece of homework. Every day I want you to get a joke book full of happy stories, anecdotes, whatever you call them, and memorize. When the mate comes and you have something to share, tell him a joke. Tell him a funny story (Okay) It will do for you what you have just done. It will bring a smile to the face.

Vickie Dodd, well-known speaker and healer, will share with us a powerful "Sound as Transformation" workshop on the final day, rounding out the week we spend together. You are invited to be there. Sign up now on our webpage and get preferred seating...!

In addition to Josie's very soul-awakening music, we will be treated to B.A. Huffman's keyboard and vocal renderings during the days of the Intensive. Those of you who have already attended our Intensives know BA's upbeat music which stirs the heart and foot (keeping time), and how it heals the questions of the mind and heart.

And, of course, Evening sharings will be with Jeshua, Mother Mary and Father Joseph. Check the schedule of the Intensive and join us as the Angel that you are. We will make beautiful Light together!

In Love,

Judith

You have been given a lot of stories about who you are and Who your Father/Source is. Your religions tell you stories. You are now ready to hear the Truth of Who you are. The Truth will set you free.
