Jeshua Speaks About: THE CORONAVIRUS UPDATE; ORIGIN AND FUTURE OF MOTHER EARTH

APRIL 2020

CHANGES & OPPORTUNITIES

Beloved one, I have been asked to speak on a topic which is much in your “news” nowadays. Now, in truth, we have spoken other times about your news and how it is truly nothing new. What you do is repeat to see how you feel about and react to news that you have experienced other times, other lifetimes, and how you have felt about, reacted to, re-energized the Light that you are.

So this time around, you get the opportunity to play with what seems to be a new topic, what is called the coronavirus, as if it would be an energy akin very much to your energy, having potential to come forth and interact with you, because truly this is what you have invited it to do, to show forth your power, the innate power of the creative One to create all kinds of wonderful drama.

You have seen this on what is termed your news, because it is always breaking. It seems like they want to bring you something new, and yet it is old; it is what you have lived with other times as well. We will speak of it and liken it to all of your creations, because truly there is nothing that you have not created. This lifetime you are re-creating all kinds of interesting experiences for yourself and for the news people so that they can be employed. You yourself have known lifetimes when you were what they called the town crier who went up and down the streets and pathways and cried out the news.

That is what your ones that you see on your square box nowadays are doing, the same as you have done, as they have done sometimes in previous incarnations, and they are allowing you to reinterpret what they tell you, allowing you to take it in and see how you feel about it. They are giving it a bit of the energy, saying that you should have energy about it; therefore, oftentimes you will rise to the occasion and take their suggestion, and your fellow brothers and sisters sometimes take it to the n^{th} degree and get quite upset about it.

This lifetime I will give you the credit of being able to stand back and ascertain, “What does this mean to me? How do I see it?” Not just how it is being portrayed, and as it would be a bucket of water being dumped over the head with your news, but to sit with it and say, “What does this mean? How does it affect me? Why am I creating it?”

Hear me well: truly you do create your reality as you go along moment by moment, and if you do not like what you are creating, you can physically turn off the square box and not listen to it any longer. You can put the earmuffs on if there are other people in the room who want to hear the breaking news. (Smile)

A wise man once said, “Life is a series of changes and opportunities.” – (Otis Deitz Black, 1960). Well, we are certainly seeing changes (and opportunities) now. With the advent of the Corona virus, all that was, is shifting. The Advanced Intensive scheduled for July has now been rescheduled for the third week in October, and if circumstances are favorable, we will have a mini Advance in July, either in person or via Zoom. Stay tuned for updates!

However, along with the changes have come opportunities. For all of us who have been asking for more time at home to do various projects, now we are being ordered to stay home. I have been working from home for quite a while now, since the early 1990’s. At that time Oakbridge’s offices were in our home (and still are...). Now with the new emphasis on working from home and the new energy of change, I have time to begin work on Jeshua’s Volume VIII (working title, “Getting It Together”). (Smile) Stay tuned for updates.

When Jeshua produced Volumes V and VI and titled them, You Are the Power of the Future and You Are the Power of Now, I thought he had them in reverse order, but he knew what he was doing. Those of you who have read Volume VI know that he was talking about the events of Now, 2019-2020. (Continued on page 6)

Everything which is presented to you, you have called forth so that you can look at it and ask, "What is the truth of this as I perceive it? What does it mean to me? Is there a knowing that I have been here, done this before, have known this kind of message and had to sit with it? And what was my feeling in other times when I lived through what was being portrayed as perhaps life-threatening?"

Now, in truth, your life cannot be threatened. The body, the form, yes; many, many times you have laid it down. Many times you have said, "I've had enough. I'm going to rest for a while," and you have allowed the body, the form, to be let go. This lifetime you are still activating form because you want to interact with the brothers and sisters. You have a curiosity about you that you want to know, "Where is this going? What am I experiencing, and why am I experiencing this? What is the deeper meaning?"

You have come to the place where you not only react, but you sit with it and then you act. So you are getting to be quite wise in taking your time about making decisions. You say, "Okay, I will gather information, whether it's new or not." But they always call it new. It is always breaking, a bit like the waves on the shore. You are having a bit of that, wave by wave by wave, bringing you news of fresh disasters.

Now, we have talked in other times of the word "disaster", which truly means "from the stars". That is what is happening. You are calling forth information from the star that you are so that you can know, truly know at some point, how creative you are. So when you see what is happening in the world, allow yourself, first of all, the deep breath. Stand back and watch what is happening. Watch how you feel about what is happening, and then make decision, if there is a decision to be made. Take your time about it, and know that truly you are creating it.

You go to the certain outlet called a store that is selling something. You find that the brothers and sisters have been there before you and cleared off all the shelves of the various products that you were interested in, and everything is open and you are wondering, "Well, why didn't I get here sooner? Look at this; it's an empty shelf. What am I going to do if I need the special paper?" Know you that some of the shelves are empty of the special paper because ones have bought more than one roll or even one package, because, heaven forbid, if you did not have that special paper, what would you do? You would improvise.

So take yourselves lightly. I often have said to you that when something happens, allow yourself to stand in the moment and take yourself lightly. See the humor in every situation; not that which seems to be heavy and drastic, but allow yourself to stand and look at the empty shelves and say, “Oh, my goodness, what am I going to do later if I need some special paper?” It makes for a good meditation.

The coronavirus, as it is called because of its shape, is something that you have created, something so that you can see and behold your creativity. It is not going to do you in. The ones who have been laying down the body—and there have been a number of them, as has been reported—have asked for a relatively simple way of releasing the body.

And truly, as I have said to you many times over—and please hear this and take it to heart—no one releases the form except that they agree to release it; no one. No one can take the form from you, not even in time of what you call war, where it seems to be that many will be mowed down. And yet there will be one—or it might be more than one—standing; may be a bit wounded, but not gone.

Each one who creates a body has the say and decision as to when that body will come forth and when the body will be released. No one—you have this saying in your world—goes before their time. Yes, you may miss them, and you may remonstrate with them and say, “Why are you leaving me? Why did you leave me? I didn’t give you permission to leave me.” And yet the one has gone on and left the form behind. It was their decision. It was their time.

Rejoice with them. Because I will share with you, you have had many stories down through the ages as to what happens to you, as you understand the personality to be, the entity which is creating the form. You have had many stories, many horrible frightening stories. Where do you go afterwards? Well, you go to be purified in the great fire, and you will burn forever until all of your sins are forgiven or forgotten, whichever comes first.

That is not true, but you have bought it and paid rather dearly for it in lifetimes where you agonized over it. And yet once the body is released, there is a feeling of peace. Allow yourself to be at peace about the releasement of the body, whenever that comes.

Some reincarnate right away and have another experience to live. Others will wait a while, as you measure time. For them it is no time, because they are not within the time-frame of time; therefore, they do not feel the passage of time. They are at peace. And when there is a certain calling or a nudging, then they will choose to perhaps have form again or perhaps to be without form and yet, as what you call the angelic spirit, to be aware of what is going on and to bless what is happening and to make visitation.

You have had visitation by an energy that felt loving and you wondered, “Who is that? Why is that?” Yet it felt reassuring, and you have asked, “Can I have that again? Let’s have a repeat performance.” Oftentimes that will be granted to you, where you feel the angelic presence and you feel the blessing of it.

That is why you have created the idea that there could be angelic energy, because a portion of you knows that this, the bodily form, this experience of incarnation is not all that you can create and experience. You would be most humbled, most impressed to see a depiction of who you have been, where you have been, what you have done in other lifetimes, as you call the segments of experience.

You would say, “Wow! I did that?” Well, yes, for the sheer fun of it, for the sheer creativity of proving what the energy of you can do. And being in the certain mindset of judging value, you would say, “Wow, there was a lot of value to that lifetime,” or, “Good heavens, you mean I was the drunkard who lay in the gutter?” Yes, you were, just for the experience of it. And when you got tired of it, you said, “Hm, been there, done that, not doing that again. That wasn’t much fun.”

So you have come again. Is reincarnation true? Yes—lower case “t”—and it comes from the Truth of your being—capital “T”—because you are the extension of the one Creator. So you keep on creating, and sometimes you take time off and rest.

The virus is your creation. Is it going to do you in? No. It is going to do your bidding as to whatever you feel that you want to experience and where you want to be. And your news media is quite happy to bring you the drama of it. It is all drama, and it is all for the knowing of the creativity that you are, so count it all as good, every bit of it. Do the things that seem to be necessary. Wash the hands—it is good to have clean hands. Even two thousand years ago when we were fishing, we put the hands into the sea and cleaned them.

If it is not the time you have chosen to release the form, you will not release the form. This is true for everyone. It seems, with the tunnel vision, that this kind of life that you are living is dictating to you how it will be and how long it will be. But in truth, you can—and you have done this maybe in this lifetime, other lifetimes for sure—you might come up to a certain point and there is the thought that, “Oh, my goodness, I’m going to release the form,” or die, as it is called, and then there has come a certain feeling over you that has said, “No, not yet; there is more that I have to do.”

You know this feeling, because you have come to the place where there was choice to either let the form go or to keep on activating it. You, in truth, have had the experience, either this lifetime or several lifetimes, where there has been a decision and you have recognized it as a free decision where you could say either yes or no, and you have said, “There is something more that I want to experience. I don’t exactly know what it is, but I feel that there is something more.”

You have done that. As a small one, many of you have come to a place where there seemed to be reason to let go of the form. Oftentimes it was called the childhood disease. But you were not ready to let go. You said, “No, I have experiences yet to play with.” So the certain infantile diseases maybe allowed you to hurt for a while, but you did not release the body.

Later on you have had experience again where it was possible that you could have walked through the door and been into another experience. In truth, there are brothers and sisters who have done this and then said, “No, no, I’m coming back,” and have come back. And you have said, “Well, what was it like?” And they have said, “Well, it was very peaceful, but there was a feeling of something, someone calling me to come back.”

So they have chosen to come back. Everything—hear me well—is a choice. Even this so-called threat of a virus can be experienced and walked through and let go; not to release the body, but just to say, “Okay, been there, done that;” not to be drastic, not to be a problem, but just to be able to have the experience of it and let it go. So do not worry.

I have seen brothers and sisters of yours getting quite upset and wondering, “Am I going to be attacked by this little thing?” Yes and no. It is always a choice, even the releasement. As I have said—hear this well—the releasement of form is a choice, and the time of the releasement is a choice.

Update (3-25-2020):

Beloved one, you have had time now to sit with and reflect upon the truth/Truth of the little coronavirus and its relationship to you and your reality/Reality. Much awareness has been gifted to you as you read the words and took the inner meaning of your Creativity and power into your mind (first) and into your reality (later). You create all that you behold for the purpose of awakening to your Holy Self.

Go forth now whole and complete. The little entity known as the virus has played its part on the stage of life and is exiting stage right, having played its part well. Its life term has expired; it is morphing into a form not harmful to you. Much good is coming forth from its appearance and departure, as you will see in what you call your future. Many changes for the good will be apparent. Struggle always births evolution towards the fulfillment of Love.

Drink plenty of water. Breathe deeply. Love freely. Enjoy the sunshine of the Friendship with the true Self. And, above all, WASH YOUR HANDS of anything unlike Love.

So be it.

Now, as we have been speaking of your creativity, let us speak about holy Mother Earth. Where did one get an idea to have what seems to be such a large body that you can have little pieces of life living all over this creation? Truly it came from a thought, a thought in a galaxy far, far away in a time long, long ago.

You had thought to create. As you asked yourself, “What more can I create, what can I bring forth in order to play on, to play with?,” an idea came to you, an idea shared—as you would understand it now—by many of you. It was a conscious thought to create shared by what we are going to call a group consciousness; words are hard to find that truly describe what you have done.

There was a coming together of energy known as Thought—capital “T”. “What can I create that will be most giving to me in the way of experience?” So you brought forth your sun, the energy of light, and you put it into physicality, the heat of the sun. Off of that coalescence came sparks, and then those sparks became coalesced into what you call planets, and you said, “I want to know what it feels like not only to look with the idea of creator, but I want to know, ‘How does it feel to be on that creation and to look from that creation? What would I see?’”

It was not a verbalized desire, but it was a thought to create; not with words, but as an idea. So first of all you created—because of the Light and energy that you are—that which you are: the sun, in another form of energy. And you created that which you see even this day and time as the bodies of energy that are in a certain magnetism to come around that energy. You know this from your science. You begin to understand that, “Okay, I’m living on Earth. There’s the sun. And, oh, there’s the moon.”

Who created the moon? You did. Have you been to the moon? Yes. Will you go again? Probably; sure. Same with some of the planets, as you call them. You have lived on some of the farther out planets, and as they started to cool, you have moved in closer and closer to the sun.

There is remembrance in times when you are in meditation or prayer or just maybe thinking about what you are going to fix for dinner. An idea comes to you. “Ha; I wonder if I have lived on Mars. Hmm, yeah, you know, when I saw that picture of the Mars Rover and what Mars looks like now, I thought, ‘Well, there’s no possibility that I would have lived there. But you know, I can see in my mind’s eye the color green. I can see when there were water and clouds. Yeah, I think I lived there, but not the way it looks now.’” Things mutate, change.

You want to create. Being the extension of the one creative Principle, you create. Hear that well. That is what you are; not just Who you are, but What you are—the extension of the one creative Principle. You create all of your experiences, all of the people that you interact with; the ones that you like and the ones that you do not like. And the ones that you do not like, sometimes they are like sandpaper and they polish you off a little bit.

Holy Mother Earth was created by you by thought, by the thought of, “What would it be like to know certain energies coalesced together, and what would my relationship be to these bodies of energy? How would it feel to be inside?” Have you been inside holy Mother Earth, to the depths of her? You have. When I asked that question, you had an idea, maybe a very fast flash of something.

Yes, you know what holy Mother Earth looks like from the inside. You have been there. It was your thought. It is your thought. Same thing with the moon. Is the moon hollow? Did you design it as hollow? Yes, you have. Is it hollow to other ones? For some, yes, it is. For others, they would say, “Of course it’s not hollow. It’s a body of...well, it’s kind of like dirt out there and elements, but it’s not hollow.”

Your space travelers come back and say, “We dropped a large object onto the moon and it vibrated.” They have concluded that perhaps the moon is hollow. Your scientists would say, “That can’t be.” For some of you, it cannot be, and for some of you, it can be. It makes for great discussions when you have nothing better to do in the wintertime. And all of it is truth—lower case “t”—because you are creating.

Will holy Mother Earth always be your home? No. Has it always been your home? No, of course not. Have you come from other constellations? Have you lived other places, whatever life would be? Yes, of course, you have.

Where do you think your science fiction comes from? It is not exactly scientific, and it is certainly not fiction. That is why you get so excited about your so-called fiction. And yet every piece of fiction is created from experience. Think upon that for a while.

When you watch your moving pictures, when you read your science fiction books and get caught up in them and you know how it feels to get so excited you cannot wait to turn the page over to see what is going to happen on the next page, it is because you relate. And why do you relate? Because you have been there, done that; you have had that thought.

All of creation comes from thought. You thought to create, whether it be conscious thought in this day and time or not. Sometimes things happen and you say, “Well, I didn’t think that was going to happen,” but at some level you played with the possibility that it could be.

Creative Principle being as it is, when you ask for something, it is given unto you. So be careful, as the fortune cookie says; be careful what you ask for, because you just might create it. Ask only for the highest and best, that which is of love. Ask for love to come into your life, and it will be right there.

Ask how you can give love. This is what is missing, sometimes overlooked, by the ones who are on your computer, online where ones go to find love, and they want to know, “Who can I find online who is going to love me?” Or they go out in groups and look around. “Who can I find who is going to love me?” Well, that works, but it works in a backward round-about sort of way, because what you are truly wanting to ask and are truly asking is, “Who can I find to love?”

If the first one does not take you up on the offer, go to the second one. There are many, if truth be told, many who are asking for love. So, “Who can I love? Who can I give my love to?” It is not hard to find. You may not want a certain one in your life because of certain characteristics, but you can still love them. It does not mean you have to set up household with them. “Who can I love?” Everyone you meet is the answer; everyone.

So, holy Mother Earth, the origin and future: Okay, origin—thought; thought to create. When you were in a constellation far, far away—as you measure things now—holy Mother Earth was a thought. Hmm, a body of energy experiencing seasons of change; hot in the summer, or cold if you are below the equator.

“What can I create?” You have created many worlds, many other planets where you have had experience. Sometimes in your dream-time...I have been asked this question: “How real are my nighttime dreams? I dream various things. How real are they?” As real as this dream that you are walking in right now, in truth, because you are creating this dream as well.

Future of holy Mother Earth: Well, your scientists are telling you that things are cooling. You are creating a change over time, in time, where holy Mother Earth is going to change, is going to be cooler. And you will move to another planet, maybe in a galaxy far, far from here; or not. Because you, as the extension of the one creative Principle, will always be creating—in time and outside of time—in something that is familiar to you right now and in something that you have no clue even in the farthest imagination to think of right now. But you are going to experience it; you are going to have fun with it.

Give yourself top marks for your creativity, even when you create something that maybe seems like a conflict. Stand back from it and ask, “How can I see this differently? Maybe if I look at it from a different vantage point I can see something that I understand. And if I see something that I can understand, I will know that I have been there and done that; I have experienced it,” wonderful creator that you are.

When we talk about the creative Principle, that is the Source—capital “S”—of your Being. It is not an energy “up there” as a God apart from you. It is not over here; it is not over there, as separate points. It is you going forth. It is you, the energy that you have understood up to this point as individualized you, but as we have said so many times, there is no separation.

When you realize that you are always in that ocean of creativity, creative Principle, you know, “I can do all things through him who sustaineth me.” Of course, you can. You are right in the ocean of it. Whatever thought you have, you can bring it to life. So if you want to have a pile of golden coins, then you set out to do that, and some lifetime—maybe one lifetime or another—you will manifest it.

If you want to be loved by everyone in your kingdom, you will manifest it. If you want to be the one who can climb the mountain and see the view from everywhere...whatever you desire, you can make manifest in your experience, because you are in the milieu of Beingness, the ocean of Beingness. And you are not the tiny little fish. You are as big as you want to be. Play with that for a while.

So be it.

JESHUA Q & A

HOW POWERFUL WE ARE! POWERFUL ENOUGH TO TURN OFF THE TV?

Thank you for a beautiful message. It was very empowering, and we are all blessed to hear and be renewed in our faith of how powerful we all are.

Very good. That was the intent of the message, is to claim your power once again. Do not be swayed with all of the world energy that is coming at you when you have your square box giving you the same information all the time. You feel a bit bombarded each time.

If ones were to measure your energy as you are watching the “news”, you may not feel it, but it goes down and down a bit, and then you decide, “Well, I have to go to the small room.” So you go to the small room and do what you need to do, and your energy comes back up a bit.

Then you sit down and watch the square box again, and your energy level goes down and down, and then someone comes in the room and asks you a question and you say, “I DON’T KNOW,” because your energy level is struggling.

I would suggest, do yourself a favor. Watch a wee bit of your news daily, and then after that, switch it off. Go out of doors even if it is raining and feel yourself to be energized by the energy of nature. Ones will say, “Well, I have to get out and walk; I haven’t been walking lately.”

In truth, you will do yourself a favor if you just go and stand on the front porch and breathe of the energy of nature, even if you don’t get out and walk a mile or five miles. No, you don’t have to, but do get yourself out of the energy of the square box. There is energy in what is said. There is energy that you are getting bombarded by. Mainly it is the mental energy, but allow yourself to do that magic thing and switch it off. That’s the hardest one: switching it off.

JUPITER-PLUTO CONJUNCTION

Jeshua, can you tell us more about the import of the Jupiter-Pluto conjunction and the reports from others that light-beings are assisting us in raising our vibrations to the fifth dimension? Who is assisting us, and how can we cooperate with this influx of energy?

There is much energy around you that you will identify as individual ones, angels perhaps you will call them; other ones who have incarnated with you many other lifetimes as well who are now the ones looking to help the awakening, looking to bring into the conscious awareness that which you are.

So you have many, and you have much of the signs and portents that say, “This right now is a time of power coming together.” You may attribute it to a certain conjunction of the planetary bodies if you want. You can attribute it to the angelic realms coming to help, which is true. But mainly you can attribute it to your own desire (de sire, of the Father) to come to that place of Oneness, that place that says, “Yes, I’m walking around in an individualized”—seemingly—“body with my family members, things that are important to me. I am living what seems to be an individual life, and yet I feel for you. When something happens to you, I feel it.”

When the energies come together that seemingly are outside of you, it is a message to say, “My inner desires are being made manifest.” You may say that it is because there is conjunction of the planetary beings. You may say that it is because the host of angels is knocking on the door of the human consciousness. You may attribute it to whatever you want to call it, but in truth, it is that surge of Oneness of you as a seeming individual wanting to come Home once again, wanting to know that you are safe, that the powers that be—the conjunction, the angelic realm, your leaders—maybe all of that can serve me as the One that we are.

So yes, this is a very powerful time. You have called forth the crown of thorns, because humanity, as you see it being individualized little dots of personalities all over holy Mother Earth, has said, “I want to awaken. I want to know Who and What I am. And if the planetary bodies come together, that will be an opportune time to feel the power of the Oneness. I accept it. I take it. And the angelic realm, I hear them. I hear the vibration, and it is a perfect time to uphold that which I truly desire, the Oneness of Love in its whole Being, in its holy Being.

So you create for yourself these messages. And if you can create for yourself these messages that say, “We are here for you; we want to bring all of the power together;” if you can create that knowing that, “I am you and you are me; I am you; I understand you; I feel your pain; I feel your love; I feel your desire, because it is mine as well; and leaders, please hear me....” you are going to have an uprising. Hopefully it will be powerful and healing.

Is it one that will bring us closer to having true peace on Earth and ending all wars?

That can be the first step. You have had leaders calling forth for the end of wars, the stupidity of, “I can do away with your body; that will make me more powerful?” No. “Well, if I get rid of tens of thousands of your bodies?” No. That still doesn’t do it.

Coming together in a place of Oneness where, “I feel for you; I know you, because I feel it; I am One with you; I walk in your shoes; I walk as you;” that brings together the holy Child, the holy Being—w-h-o-l-e as well as h-o-l-y. That brings it together, and there is a desire, a very great desire right now to know love, to know wholeness, to know safety.

That is why you yet put your safety out there somewhere in the possibility of the conjunction, in the possibility that there is power outside of you. The angels are not outside of you. That is the most wondrous part. Where are the angels when you think of them? Ha. They're right here with you. When you think of the angels, they are not afar off. They're right here. You do a miracle, and yet you recognize it not.

Speak to the brothers and sisters that which you know, that which you feel, that which is coming as a great truth of your being. Do not hold back. Do not say, "Well, it's an energy outside of us that is benevolent."

It is your energy that you are putting out there with your belief system. It is your energy that is creating the possibility that there would be powers outside of you. Bring it all in and say, "I am creating, and gee, I didn't get struck down by lightning."

Thank you so much, Jeshua. The other questions that have come up have been about, what is the divine plan, the divine order in all of this happening right now. There was a big pandemic in 1918, and did it really change much then? I mean, soon after that we had another war. Is this one going to make the big difference?

It can. Let us answer the question that way. You have the power within you to speak to the brothers and sisters and to say that which is truly truth of being. "I am your sister, your brother; I am you; I understand your pain; I understand your desire, because it is mine as well; I love that which you are." And allow love to reign again.

In the beginning, which seems like a long, long time ago, love reigned; only love. And then there was the question, "What else can I create?" So you have created demons, powers that seemingly were powerful against you. You have created that which is unlike love for the sheer fun of creating.

Now you have come to the place where you want to know your holiness, your Oneness, your power as the one Being, the beloved Child of All That Is, and to claim your kingdom. You are the king/queen of all you behold, because you are creating it. Take that, own that, know that truly everything you experience, you are creating.

"Oh, my God, Jeshua, what a mess I've made of everything." No. You have created, you have experienced, you have completed. That part is finished. What you call your future, you have the power to create. Create it in love. (So be it.) Yes, so be it. You are well and truly loved. That is why you search for it. You are well and truly the ruler of your kingdom; your kingdom as you are making it and experiencing it. Go for health. Go for joy. Go for love. Seek after that which you are, the Oneness of Being, and come Home. So be it.

SUPERNOVA

Could you talk about Betelgeuse? When will it go supernova, will we be able to see it from Earth, and what is the impact going to be on the Earth?

Soon, yes, and very minimal. Yes, you will know about it. You will be able to see it. The impact will be mainly for the scientists who are watching for it. But it is for those of you who have eyes to see, ears to hear, and the inner knowing to know that this is part of the creativity of the Godhood, the God energy that is creating everything.

From time to time you make for yourselves great drama to watch at a distance and then say, "Oh, is that going to affect me or holy Mother Earth or whatever? And if it does, what is the effect going to be?" In other words, so that you can think about all sides of it, and then you say, "I must be quite creative if I am thinking of such a possibility."

You bring it forth in order to know, at sort of a distance, your creativity. You are quite the God energy in bringing about that which may come as information right in front of you, and it may say to you, "How do you feel about this?" And it's, "Oh, my goodness, you know. This could be destructive."

But if it is destructive, what does it destroy? Only physicality. "Can I recreate?" Yes. So it is going to be already full of questions, and there are answers, answers that can be known as ones will sit in quietness and imagine. You have built in—you as the human beings in form—the most wonderful gift of imagination, imagining what can be and getting right into the feeling and getting into the possibilities of "what if". So, yes, it is going to happen, and yes, it is going to have impact, and no, it is not going to be destructive.
