

The Crystal Grid

June 2010

Originally presented on March 6, 2010

Beloved one, some of you recently were in a geographical location [California] where you participated in a grouping that opened a vortex of energy, of divine feminine harmonizing energy that you had closed eons of time ago.

And, yes, I do mean eons of time ago. It was even before what is thought of now to be legendary, the time of Lemuria and Atlantis. All of the western coast, places where you dwell now and even farther inland were part of Lemuria. But even before Lemuria as a gathering energy where ones of you did dwell, even before that there was Intelligence and there were beings—you who came to understand energy. And in the beginning the energy was pure. I have termed it now the divine feminine, but it was in the beginning neutral energy, creative energy.

And then, after what you would call in linear time a passage of time, there was a thought to create something different; we will call that the masculine energy. And by that I do not mean the gender, but I mean the belief in something that would be opposite.

At first it was just thought to create: "What can we create that would be unlike what we already know, the pure energy?" And you as a grouping created masculine energy.

Now, there was nothing wrong with the creation of masculine energy. It was a natural thought to bring forth something different in order to experience how that would be. But you as the pure beings knew that the energy you had been playing with was going to have opportunity to be used in a way that would make the masculine—which was just being birthed—more powerful than a balance of energy. In truth, it has gone over the balance. And you as a grouping—we as a grouping—decided to close the vortex, to seal it, to keep the energy, the pure divine feminine as I call it now, sealed until a time when it would be appropriate to call it forth in order to balance the masculine energy.

The energy of this particular vortex went up the coastline and brought about many shifts in energy. And you have been feeling the shifts in energy. You have been witnessing miracles happening. You have been witnessing ones who were quite resolute in their opinions suddenly becoming more mellow, feeling that they could look at some things in a different way. Ones who had been holding old hurts, old wounds from other lifetimes, found that they did not need to hold those old wounds, recognizing that they could move into another space.

2010

All of you have been feeling a shift in energy and wondering what is happening. Why is this happening? It is because the divine feminine energy within that vortex especially has begun to flow in measured amount up the western coast and across this geo-political grouping, across the other geo-political groupings, across the ocean, circling the globe. Energy has to flow, and once there is conscious clear intention to allow the energy to flow, which there was when the vortex was opened, there is nothing to hold it back. It is truly going, and has gone, around our holy Mother, the Earth, and there is much that is being affected and will continue to be affected by the pure energy that is balancing, that is harmonious, that brings healing to old wounds, and to old belief systems.

So you will continue to see miracles. You will continue to feel changes within yourself and to behold changes in other ones as all of the old parts of yourself which have been closed down now begin to open.

The physical vortex which was recently opened is symbolic of the vortex of energy within yourself. There is much that you have closed down because you felt you had to armor yourself in order to go in the world, especially as the masculine energy was on the rise. And so throughout many lifetimes there was the teaching and the belief system that you had to hold in feelings, you had to hold in the true Self. Because, as the belief went, if you allowed others to see the true being of you, the innocent Child of you, it would get attacked by the world. You have evidenced this to yourself in many lifetimes where you have tried to be open and loving, and all you have received are the hard knocks of the world, so that you have learned to put armor around yourself and to close the vortex within. And now you are getting a nudging that it is okay to open the vortex of love energy within yourself. It is okay to share with others. It is okay to expect love and harmony.

You are as the newborns. You come, you want to play, you want to experience life, you want to know what life is all about. There are small ones being born now who remember, who truly are harmonizing with the physical body. The small ones who are now coming are much more into a place of remembrance, openness. They are your teachers and you are their teachers, as well.

As you allow the vortex within yourself to open, as you become okay with Who you truly are and you trust yourself, you are going to be putting exponentially more and more of the harmonious energy into the world, and you are going to see changes in the world.

Now, the vortex that was opened recently is connected underground to a crystal grid that you placed there, again eons of time ago. Even before Lemuria was thought of, eons of time ago as we were birthing the physical, we brought forth energy as crystalline energy, and we encircled holy Mother Earth with a crystal grid that conducts energy rapidly.

There is no hindrance with the crystal grid. So when the vortex was opened and when there was the clear intention that the energy should go forth at this time—and many of you participated in that, whether you knew it consciously or not; many of you tuned in to it, and some of you were there in physical form, as well—when there was the clear intention to allow the feminine energy now to come forth to harmonize and to balance, immediately the energy was allowed to come into the atmosphere and also was allowed to go into the crystalline grid, and it can be accessed both in the atmosphere and through the underground crystals.

Your holy Mother Earth is a most wonderful being of Light, of energy, very much in tune with the Light that we brought forth in creating the physical. She is very much the birther of what you call your body and the energy that encircles all of you as you stand upon her.

Many of you have followed a tradition of other lifetimes — and it has been recommended to you in this lifetime by me and by other masters — to go out and to stand on the ground, on the grass, on the desert sand, on the beach, and to ground yourself with holy Mother energy. And you have done this to feel Oneness with the energy that has been there as we brought forth physicality, as we coalesced the Light into a form that you now see as a body, whatever shape the body may be, whether it is two-foot, four-foot, or the ones that swim in the ocean.

When you stand upon holy Mother Earth, you stand upon holy ground. Anywhere you stand is holy ground, because you are holy, and as you bring your clear intention to know holiness and to know Oneness, you feel the energy that comes from and back down to the Earth—there is much of what you would call the circle that happens. You will feel the energy rise up within you; you also feel your energy going into the Earth, bringing forth much of attunement.

Now, when that particular vortex and the other ones that you may be drawn to—you may not have been drawn to the one that we visited recently, but there are others that you have been drawn to or will be drawn to—when these were sealed, you left a part of yourself inside the vortex. You left what would be called a vibration of yourself, a tone, if you will, within the vortex that was holy to you.

In the days to come, you will be awakening to and remembering your holy tone, the key to yourself. You may feel it as a tingling, a raising of the hair on the arms, an elevated vibration of excitement when a new idea or feeling is remembered, or you may hear it as a physical tone of sound, of music within yourself. However it presents itself to you, acknowledge that it is a key to the remembrance of All that you are.

You can call the energy of harmony, of divine neutral energy and bring it into play with every encounter, every idea, every topic, everything that you want to see manifest, that you want to see changed. You can bring this new energy, which is actually old energy but is being released now, bring it into your life and then behold the miracles as to the telephone calls you receive, the e-mails that you receive, the stories that come forth from ones that you would not have thought that they could change. They were definitely set in their ways, you thought, but they have opened their hearts and minds a bit – or perhaps a whole lot.

There is a change. It is happening. It is very much what some of your other brothers and sisters have called being born anew. You are being born anew in each moment as you will let the old be dead and buried, and now move into the new energy. Allow that energy to guide you, as opposed to you thinking you have to manipulate and guide the energy. Surrender to the good energy, the neutral energy, the easy energy. Do not struggle. Do not fight. Do not fight even within yourself.

I know the dialogue that goes on within human mind. I know the doubts that come up. I knew them as a man. I knew emotions as a man. So I know what you struggle with from time to time. The world has not changed that much in two thousand years. Some of it has because you have agreed that you will come one more time and you will try living anew, in a new way. But the same challenges in the world that were there two thousand years ago still pop up from time to time in this world. There are still wars and rumors of war, but they do not have to come nigh your dwelling place. They do not have to come into your consciousness.

If you are asked for help from ones who are seemingly in a challenging position, give your help, whatever is asked for, and see them as manifesting the Christ creative Principle. See them as being the masters that they are, creating what looks to be on the world scene a tragedy, and yet it is a freeing experience if they will see it that way.

There are ones who are releasing the body in this time. Your news media are quite eager to bring you news of fresh disasters. Almost every day, every week, every month there is news of a fresh disaster in some part of the world. You may see it first by the appearance as the world sees it, but then you can look beyond that and see that many who are agreeing to release the body are wanting to reincarnate — probably quite quickly — with a new belief system.

And the ones who are still incarnate may grieve for them, for the body that they are no longer able to see, to love, to hug, but they have opportunity then to look beyond the veil and to know that every loved one goes nowhere away from you. Every loved one is part of you; has been part of you on the life journey, this lifetime and many other lifetimes as well, and there is no other place to go, for there is no separation, in truth, and they are with you always.

So as you hear of seeming tragedies, know that it is an opportunity to look beyond the veil, to feel the presence of energy of the loved one, to feel their love that is truly free, free of the body, free of old restraints. And know that there is opportunity, there is possibility, even probability, that they will reincarnate quite quickly to bring a new message that the world is wanting to hear.

And when I speak of the world, it is not the same as holy Mother Earth. The world has to do with worldly activities and the consciousness of the world, not the Earth. There is a distinction there.

Ones have asked, "Did the opening of the vortex recently cause the recent earthquakes or the volcanic activity?" No. The energy of the vortex is an ethereal energy, as opposed to physical energy. The energy of the vortex has to do with opening the vortex within each one. It is not on the physical level. It is an ethereal, very powerful energy, but it does not directly affect your physicality. It affects the emotional being, which then can be out-pictured in the physical.

The earthquakes are very much a natural part of holy Mother Earth shifting; holy Mother Earth moves and shifts. The tectonic plates that we placed in position in the creation of holy Mother Earth move from time to time. Once in awhile holy Mother Earth shakes her shoulders and then you see the out-picturing of it as an earthquake or as a volcano that allows the energy to come forth from within the Earth.

Allow yourselves to tune in to the new energy. You are the ones who have said you are ready for new energy. You are the masters who have said, "I will come one more time into a reality that yet believes that there can be other than love, other than harmony, other than Light, and I will bring my Light, and I will bring my awakening consciousness."

Beloved one, always I and the other masters that you have adored, that you have venerated for many, many lifetimes, walk with you. There is no other place that we can be. There is no place that you can be that we are not; always with you, guiding, suggesting, whispering in your ear, sometimes shouting if you do not hear it the first time. We do persevere.

Always I walk with you. I know and love That Which you are. I know and love That Which we are: the one creative Principle come forth to express creativity and to experience the effects of creativity. Be open to the new energy. Allow yourself to live in joy, for that is your true birthright. Allow yourself to know my love.

So be it.