

JESHUA Q&A

2014-10-04

Now, we continue. I believe we have questions in this evening. I believe there might be a question over here.

Shaheer (Age 10): What was I in my past life?

Jeshua: In your past life you were a scientist. You used numbers a lot. I think it's called mathematician. You liked numbers. You liked the way they fit together, and so you used that as a way to prove how things fit together.

Shaheer: I have one more question. Am I following the right path?

Jeshua: What is your path?

Shaheer: Love (Well, that is the right path) and kindness.

Jeshua: Yes, and you try to explain that and tell that to your friends, right? What do they say? Do they understand or do they say that that's a crazy idea or do they say, "Oh, okay, I'll try it." (Nothing, really) Nothing, okay. You are planting seeds. You are giving them an idea that at some point they'll come back and think about. Sometimes ones feel that ideas are...hm, that's not really in my world, you know, I'm not going to bother with that. But then as they get a little bit older, then they begin to think about those questions. So, what you are doing is planting some seeds when you talk with them (Thank you)

Shaheer: May I change my middle name to Jeshua? (You may if you want to) Thank you.

Jeshua: Yes, beloved sir, what would you ask?

Daniyal (Age 14): I've been having a problem lately in my mind. I am an athlete, and I like to train and everything, but when I'm training, the problem is my brain is always telling me to give up and to stop. But I always push on. But it's getting really annoying. And I wanted to ask first [about] my voice.

Jeshua: Yes, sometimes the brain will come in and talk to you about how it sees things and how you are feeling about things. So you just at that point do what we have been speaking of already. You just stop for a moment, you take the deep breath, and you tell the brain that it is not in charge, but that momentarily if you need to rest, you are going to stop and rest. And there is no judgment in resting. Your greatest athletes know how to balance the effort of training with the balance of also resting, because if you push too hard, then the body doesn't have a chance to regroup, renew. And if you don't push, then the body doesn't expand, so you have to come to a balance. So when the brain says to you, "Maybe we need to rest," then you can rest for a few moments and then you say, "Okay, now we will train more." You are the one who is in charge. When ideas come to you, you evaluate as to whether they serve you or if they are just a nuisance. Sometimes the brain gets very, very busy in being a nuisance, and you have to give it some discipline. You are doing well with this. Do not take yourself too seriously, because the life does not have to be serious. You want to find a balance. That is what you are truly striving for. You do not need to push yourself too far, and yet you will do some discipline because that feels good to you. You will know how to have a balance.

Daniyal: Yes, it's just kind of like...I think it's how you test, and it'll be temporary, and then it'll go away, because I think it's just a test from God, because for the goal I'm trying to get to...

Jeshua: Right, but remember balance all the time. You have many years ahead of you, and in those years you will be wanting to know balance. You will want to have the strong body and you will want to have the strong mind. And there are times when you will do some discipline of the mind in order to be at peace, to be happy with the body. Getting used to the body is not easy. When ones come into a physical incarnation, sometimes getting used to the body...you've seen this with the small children when they are first born. They don't know what to do with the arms and legs and the hands, and sometimes they'll look at the hands and wonder, "What are these about?" And then as you grow older and taller, then you begin to want to use them and do certain things with them. But always you are the one who is in charge with it. But you always want to be in balance with it. So don't push too hard, but use a little bit of sense with it. You are doing well. Do not push yourself too hard. You have many years ahead.

Daniyal: The thing is, I don't ever...like when my brain tells me the bad things like give up, I don't listen to it. I know that that's just a lecture. The brain is going to tell you, you know (Right) And also, the second question I wanted to ask was, this is kind of a big deal. My goal kind of, like what I feel from the inside, what I feel like my past life was... that's what I'm always trying to reach for, always looking back to and trying to be like in the future—my past life—and I just have like kind of the description of what that thing is. And I wanted to ask you if I was like a Viking in my past life.

Jeshua: Yes, you have been a Viking. You have a very strong spirit and a very strong determination. That is why I have said to you to keep the balance. But yes, you have been a Viking where you were very strong, very much into the body and the strength of the body, so some of that comes forth in this lifetime as well. But don't be too hard on yourself. You've already done the Viking bit, so you don't have to redo it; you've already done it. This lifetime will be a little bit like it, but different.

Daniyal: Because I always like have that Viking rage and the Viking like goal, you know. You have to do the task no matter what. No matter what stands in your way, you have to do it. That's like when I always think like being a Viking and just, you know, Scandinavia. I think of that as a better place. And my family, whenever we go down to warmer places, I don't really enjoy it. I like going more north. I always just have that like Viking feeling, and that's what I've always wanted to be—more like a Viking.

Jeshua: Okay, there are two things here. One is, you've already been the Viking and you know it well. It's very deeply engrained in you. But this lifetime is different than that lifetime. It is okay to hold certain principles of what you see as the good points of the Viking, but allow yourself to live in this lifetime slightly different, because you've already been the Viking. You've already completed that one, and it is a good remembrance. But this lifetime you are a bit different. It is going to be a different type of life. So you will want to have the eyes open to see the differences and to know that the differences are good, to enjoy them and investigate the differences as well. Don't keep your mind—and I say this to all of you—don't be so focused on the past that you forget to live this present lifetime. As I have said, you have many years ahead of you and you have many experiences that you will enjoy. Don't push yourself too hard, because you've already completed the Viking.

Daniyal: Okay, I'll stop now, but before I do, like I understand that I've completed that lifetime, but I just want to kind of like bring it out and kind of use it as like kind of a helpful (Yes) and kind of guide people, you know. Maybe this is what you should do instead of the wrong thing to do (Yes, that is good) But still, you know, living this lifetime would kind of bring some of that lifetime back.

Jeshua: Right, you can do that, and that is true for all of you. You have remembrances of other lifetimes, and you take from those lifetimes the good teachings and you bring those into this lifetime and see how they fit. As I have said, you have already completed the Viking curricula, that degree. You've already done that one, and you've done it well. That is why you remember it (Thank you) Yes, thank you.

Shaheer: I have another question. Are all your lifetimes like some parts taken out and then put in to make one big lifetime?

Jeshua: You can look at it that way if you want to. What you do is, you draw from the experiences of other lifetimes in dealing with things that come up in this lifetime. So you can say that this lifetime is a continuation of the other lifetimes. So yes, you could say it is all one big lifetime.

Beloved beautiful one, how are you in this evening?

Halina: Thank you, Jeshua, just beautifully happy to be here, very, very happy to be here with you (Yes, you are radiant) and with everyone here (Very good; did you come with a question this evening?) Yes, I have one or two. And I thank you for being with me in our travels, most especially this summer with all the travel to Poland and near the Ukrainian border as we were going through and feeling the energies of the tension. It was quite intense in some areas. As we see this beautiful panorama around us, we could feel the energy just being consumed even in Poland where the energy around the people was even starting to close down; they are afraid.

Jeshua: Part of this new wave of energy is going through what you would see as the narrow part of the hourglass. There is a bit of the fullness that has been in what you see as history, and now things are changing over and it does not feel too good. But it is going to come again into the fullness. Keep that in your heart, in your visioning for any area of our holy Mother Earth, but especially in certain areas that seem to be going through a lot of agony. So keep in mind the hourglass and how the fullness will be once again.

Halina: And that was what you sent us on the mission to do, you and the Marys (Yes) as I understand all the callings, and going in and lifting up the spirits that had died and through the historic times, the great war and prior to that as well.

Jeshua: This is true. And also to be the Light for the ones who are incarnate at this point as well. You come in as a breath of fresh air remembering history, yes, but also looking to the future, because you are a person of the future. You can see the vision. Yes, you can see what is right in front of the people right now and what they fear, but you can also look past that. So you had a dual mission that you were there for.

Halina: Yes, and in fact I felt like I was time-shifting when I was there (Yes, because you did) It was a little disconcerting, but it was quite the blessing, and we thank you for your love and support so that we could lift those spirits up and make that holy place sacred again in many of the places that had so much sorrow and torture. And the land even felt lighter afterwards. So I am discerning correctly? (You are, yes) Was there more that we should have done?

Jeshua: No; in truth, you did what you set out to do, what you were being asked to do, and you have left your footprints there, quite literally and figuratively.

Halina: It was very interesting that Mother Mary was with us, and I appreciate that very much. And when we went to see her and the lady of Czestahova and the calling there, very strong. But as I looked on her this time around, I saw her shape-shifting, and that's the first time I've seen that happening (She can do that, of course) She looked so different to me from the last time I saw her. I was quite amazed. Is that because the land is shape-shifting and the energy that we were releasing?

Jeshua: And what you were feeling of the history and of the future. And as you have said, you have changed time zones—now, I'm not speaking of the time zones here, but historically. There is much of shifting that happens when you do that. And when you look upon a visage of someone, an image of what you have thought that they were, that can change and does change as well. Mother Mary, as all masters do, change as the energy around them changes and as they are participating in what seems to be a very heavy time, then there will be the visual of more sadness, more sorrow. When they are participating in a time that is the fullness of the hourglass, and that will be, then there will be a totally different visual that you will see.

Halina: And I just felt like I was the only one seeing that (That could be true) and I just felt so blessed that that was given to me, and I appreciate that very much (And I thank you for making trek to go there and to bring pieces together for healing)

My other question is of the future. I have been told I will be making more treks and the calling will be there (Oh, yes) and it's time to go to France to reacquaint with Mary Magdalene (Yes, you will do that as well) Can you tell me a little bit more about the path and where I'm at?

Jeshua: It will be for you to discern (But give me some hints, please) I will say one hint. It will be southern France. That is as much as I will say, because you are going to make the trek yourself as to places where you are called to be (And they're all on the right path that I'm going on) Yes, you will know; you will feel it. There will be a resonance that says, "Yes, this fits." You will have fun with it (As I do, following your footsteps) Yes, thank you (And I thank you and adore you) Most welcome (Thank you)

Beloved beautiful one, how are you in this evening?

Pat: I'm wonderful, thank you.

Jeshua: I have heard that you have done some most wonderful manifestation of the cooking.

Pat: The pears did it themselves. I really don't have any great questions. I just want to thank you for the expression of love that you give everyone here, because it teaches me how to love in that way. It provides such an example to me. And then when I'm in those positions, I immediately remember what you said and what you did. It's so easy for me now in that way (Good) And I know whatever I'm going to ask, you're going to say Yes (Well, try me, try me) I don't think you would ever say No.

I had a situation a couple of weeks ago and I was in a class, and I had a very strong reaction to someone who was in the class; a very deep judgment. I didn't want to be near the person, and I don't feel that very often. So I looked at that...I grew up in a house where you very quiet, and so to have someone who is of a very strong personality, especially a woman, and very outspoken and very what I judge to be opinionated, it was difficult for me. And I looked at that for a day or two, but it could have been less time, and I asked what I was looking at in myself, you know. Why was this so upsetting to me? I normally thought, "Well, that's because you weren't allowed to speak as a child," so obviously speaking out loud and someone who speaks that way might be upsetting. What came to me was that, "No, you were beheaded for speaking." And I thought, well, if someone lost their head for speaking, you'd be hesitant then to have a very strong _____ voice. So I guess, you know, I wanted to ask you if that was so (It is so) and so you're going to say Yes.

Jeshua: Of course, I must say No first, but yes, it was true.

Pat: I don't see great value in looking in the past, but I think it does provide some insight so that we learn to remember who we really are (Right) so we can love ourselves better (This is true) and get rid of guilt and judgment (Right) of ourselves and others.

Jeshua: Looking into the past is a clue, and then you can relate it to where you are in this lifetime, and it explains a lot that then you can release the judgment of self and of others because it falls into a pattern and you can see the sense of it, why you have a feeling. So yes, it is a good clue.

Pat: And since the children are so adventurous to ask you anything, I will be too. I think I told you that...and I don't know if this is what I need to feel or now, but my son who transitioned in February, he's always saying, "I'm still here and I can talk to him whenever I want. And the love is always surrounding you; that never leaves." So a month or two ago I asked him if he had come back, and he said, "Yes." And I said, "What's your name?" And he said, "Alan." I said, "Where are you?" He said, "I'm in Ohio." And so this morning I asked, "What's your last name?" And he told me his last name. I don't know what value there is in that. I'm not happy or unhappy that I know that. I don't know what I'm supposed to do with it; nothing (Right) I don't really want to look him up (Right; he would be surprised if you did) Yes. I was surprised that there were people with that name in Ohio, and there was more than one. I don't know why there is a need to know that, because if he hadn't come back and I didn't have a name for him, it wouldn't matter. It's a nothing. And so I don't know why I entertain or play with those things.

Jeshua: It is for the fun of it, for expanding the mind. But truly the one you have known is still around you as that person, as the one you have known. And the loved ones can reincarnate quite quickly if they desire, or maybe lifetimes will go by before they decide to reincarnate. And it may be in this country or another geo-political place. But the energy of the one that you have known remains always. The energy that reincarnates is not the same energy. It draws out of a pool of divine energy, out of what I will term the soul group. And the soul group is vast, so that the one that you have known is always accessible as that one. They never leave; in other words, they are around you; they are not activating the body, but they are still around you and accessible to you. And even if they say that they have reincarnated, it is not the same personality and person that you have known. But you can bring it forth and ask the question, because you are a questioner. You are one who wants to play with ideas and how does this work. So you ask a question; immediately an answer comes; you ask another question; you get an answer. And then you say, "Well, how can that be, or should I look this one up?" And if you did, this one would be most surprised, because they are not the same as the one that you have known and loved and still do love. So there would be a feeling of distance—let's put it that way. So it is just fun (Thank you) Good question.

Beloved holy sir, do you have a question in this evening?

Charles: Actually no. I know it's a surprise...a relief. No, it's been a lot of fun to banter back and forth the last few months, but I'm just in a place of great peace and I don't have any questions. Just happy with how things are (Yes; blessings upon you) Thank you.

Jeshua: Beloved beautiful one, how are you in this evening?

Eva: So happy to be here with you, Jeshua. Thank you so much. And how are you? (Excellent, thank you for asking) I'm so glad. Do you have any insights or any message for Judith that you or Tom wish to give her at this point?

Jeshua: Her beloved is saying that he is very proud of her, that she is being very strong in keeping things together. He understands her frustration. He understands that she is making great progress in patience, which has never been her long suit. And it is testing her sorely to have the patience waiting for the pieces to come together that she truly has faith will come together. But since they are not right in front of her eyes, there are times when she gets a bit vociferous. He wants her to know that he loves her even more now, because he sees her even in a more loving way than when he was here, which she will find hard to believe. But he is very much with her, smoothing out the crooked places, and she does feel that. She knows that truly he is working with her and for her and putting things into place as much as he can, because there is a divine order that must be allowed. He sometimes cheers her on when she chooses for patience, and other times he will soothe her ruffled feathers as much as he can. Thank you for asking.

Eva: Glad to hear that he's around her.

Jeshua: Yes, she does feel him, and she very much wishes that he were here with the energy of physicality so that he could lend a hand with some of the physical things that need to be done. But she is very pleased that he is with her. When she asks for a sign, he does come through with a sign which she does recognize. And so all is well.

Eva: Thank you. Was there anything about the incident with her friend that she needs to know about? That was so confusing.

Jeshua: Ha, ha, ha. It is truly what she already suspects, that she had a right and almost a duty to speak her mind and not to feel guilt about it, and to know that truly this is a friendship that has been for many years and will come again as is needed. But in the meantime, it is not needed.

Eva: For myself, I just want to thank you for the message of hope today. You make it sound so simple and so easy, and I for one am going through a lot of heaviness in completing my work.

Jeshua: Right. You are one who is very sensitive to energies. You have acknowledged that; you have known that from a long time ago. You are feeling this new wave of energy that is clearing out the old stuff, and the old stuff doesn't want to go. It's hanging on by fingernails sometimes. And the ones who are into old thinking and old ways of "this is how it has to be", they are fighting for their belief systems. They are fighting for the very life of those belief systems, so of course they are going to be a bit like the brick wall when you try to interject something softer into it. Do not be dismayed. You are making inroads. You may not see the change in this time period, this year, but you will see it, because what you are working with and for has to come about, this peace among brothers and sisters, the working together. It will come, and it is a true vision. But as I have said, the old thinking, the old ways of being die slowly.

Eva: All I want is to have harmony in the workplace.

Jeshua: Right, but there are others who have what you call the different agendas, and when you come up against the different agendas, then some of the sparks start to fly. But they do not catch fire; not with you. You are one who has the tears on the inside that put out the sparks of what would be fire. Allow yourself to take a good feeling from that, to take heart from that, to know that truly all is working out, and others are going to try very, very hard to keep the old way because it is what they have always known. It is what they feel secure with even in their insecurities. For you, do your best. Allow the tears outwardly, inwardly to put out the sparks that are flying around you and know that truly these ones are like little children and they are going to duke it out for a while, but you don't have to be in the middle of it. Stand to the side if you can.

Eva: I keep just saying, "I wish to see this differently. I wish to see this differently, and this too shall pass."

Jeshua: Yes, especially the last part, and then you will see it differently.

Eva: Jeshua, would you touch my heart to take away the heaviness?

Jeshua: I will. You are wearing the heart, the jade heart which is very, very powerful. Breathe...let it go...and breathe...and let it go...and breathe...and let it go. So be it. Thank you.

Beloved brother, how are you in this evening?

Mateen: Feeling better (How is the foot?) Thank you so much for healing it (Good) Yes, it's wonderfully healed now (My pleasure; it was easy) And now I know you were/I am touching it away (Yes; I am sneaky that way) Thank you. My foot is doing wonderful; I'm not limping any more (Good; what would you speak of in this evening?)

Well, two or three questions. First is, it seems like I'm in Round 12. My opponent has been giving me a lot of punches (Aha, yes) I have to win this one on points to win the battle. I know you talked of a few things tonight. I felt they were addressed to me (For you, yes) I know it's a battle I have to win. I have to come out of it. It's probably... maybe not the lost battle, but I think it will be the battle that will help me to understand the rest of my path.

Jeshua: Right, that is true. There is value in the battle. You will learn from it. You will learn patience from it. You will learn that there are others who support you. And you have felt...many lifetimes it has been your life's plan of having to do it all yourself—having the idea, having to make it manifest, and you have felt and it has been reinforced by your culture and by your parents and even by some of your peers that you were to be the strong one out front. A lot of time in battle, you were the one who said, "I will go first," and sometimes it was off-with-the-head. You came back and you said, "I will go first." And others let you do that, because they figured, "Okay, he can do it."

But you do not do anything alone. Always you have the help of the higher realms. Any idea that comes to you comes from the larger Source, a pool, if you will, of other energy that wants to help that is truly involved in it. So many times humans feel alone. Many times you feel, "I have to do it all myself; otherwise it's not done right." Know you that feeling? It has been taught to you many lifetimes, and so it is a heavy, but you don't have to feel that, because you have much help—unseen help and also seen help, ones who want to be helping and want to have a share in the vision.

Do not hold the vision just to yourself. Allow it to be shared with others and have others involved in it as well, because it is their joy also. You see, you do not want to deny them their part in it. You would go rushing ahead, first out in the battle one more time, and you take all the battle scars or whatever. You don't have to do this now. You've already done that. It is as we spoke to the Viking. That has already been completed. You have already completed the times when you had to be first in the battle, first always, and sometimes not always to the betterment of your physical self or even spiritual self, because you've taken a few knocks and blows.

This lifetime call upon the unseen. Know that you are surrounded by unseen energy that wants to make manifest the vision that you have. Then open the eyes and look around and see there are others ones who want to share in the vision. They want to have the same feeling of excitement, same feeling of accomplishment that you have as you work through the various ways of fitting this into the world. So do not deny that to them. Rest easy. The vision that you have will be. That is a foregone conclusion.

Mateen: That is beautiful. I needed to hear that (Yes) And I already—and you probably know that, how I've been feeling about you about a few weeks (Ah, yes) and it was time I felt you sitting next to me on the bench (Oh, yes, of course) And there were times that we took the whole day off, I felt (I did not really, but that was the perception. I do not need time off) That's the way I felt, and I've been struggling with that. I don't want to give myself a day off without you (Right, I am always with you. You can count on that)

I feel like what Rumi said, "I haven't even entered the battlefield, and I'm already wounded." (Yes) "I haven't even drunk from your cup of wine, and I'm already drunk." (Yes) I already started to touch people with your Light. I meet strangers who are going through a lot of pain, and all of a sudden, I don't where the words come from, and I feel some of them cry, and some of them give me hugs and they say they feel your Light. It's wonderful, it's so beautiful, and I want to keep doing it. I really want to do this. This is what I want to do for the rest of my life.

Jeshua: Good, yes, and you will. You can count on that. And always I will be with you. Many, many times I will speak through you, and you will wonder, "Where did those words come from? Where did that idea come from, the right idea that will help someone who is in pain and suffering?" You have already seen that happen. Whenever you are in a place of love with the heart wide open and you want to help someone, I will speak with you and as you and through you.

Mateen: Can I ask you one last request? (Of course) Can you also touch my heart?

Jeshua: Of course, yes. I will touch your heart. It is a very large heart. Breathe... and let go...and breathe...and let go...and breathe...and let go. So be it.

Beloved beautiful one, how are you in this evening?

Rose: I'm very, very good (And very, very beautiful) Feeling much, much better and so much blessed (Yes, it shows) I asked for your help last night, and you came to my dreams (Yes) I want to share this with everybody. You cleared each and every question I had in my mind (Good) My brain was really disturbing me for the past week, and I was trying to make it calm down. My heart was feeling peace and sound, but it needs to have connection. It has some positions though. I did call you and asked you and your friends to help me, and they did come and showed me the pictures and idea and everything, so I am very blessed. I'm feeling so much peace in my mind now (That is good. It's very good) It's following my heart (Yes, that is all you need do is just to allow. And always we are with you) Yes, and you answer so many things. You already felt I found those answers too, and I'm stamped from you now with those, so thank you so much (You are most welcome; thank you) You're welcome.

Eleena: I have no questions.

Jeshua: You are a beauty. You allow your energy to go forth to heal the plants, the animals, even the friends who sometimes don't understand, but they feel your energy. You are a beautiful one. Continue to be (Thank you) Thank you.

Sheyaun (age 12): I want to know what my last three incarnations were, if I was an animal, parasite, or human. And I would like to know if I was a human or I had a name and what country/continent I lived in.

Jeshua: My, you have a lot of questions, yes. Well, first of all, your last three incarnations, two of them were human, one was an animal. This is for the edification of many who think that the humans are the only ones who can reincarnate and make any difference in the world. But animals also have spirit. Animals also have lives, hopes, dreams, things that they want to experience. And they come back as different animals, which you have done from time to time. And there is a feeling that you have, a kinship with the animals. That comes from having had incarnations as an animal different times. So yes, you can claim that. No, you were not a parasite (Laughter)

Sheyaun: Like what animal?

Jeshua: You were one with the four feet. You raced very fast. You had the fur coat and you felt very prideful—there's a clue in that (A tiger?) Not quite (Oh, a cheetah) That can be, yes (I was going to guess a horse or something) No, but you have done that also. You have been the horse that raced very fast. But not every lifetime, because sometimes you said, "Now I want to try human," and so you have come back with the different cultures, the different place of being born, the different families. You come from the same soul group, so that you have known the family that you are in, but it has not always been of the same country and same culture, because you have wanted to know, "How does it feel?"

Sheyaun: And what were the two humans?

Jeshua: Ah, one human was when you were what they called the religious person who was seeking. Probably in your language there is another word for it, but it would be as the monk, the one who studied and was the quiet one who observed and who knew the Oneness of all life and all life forms. The other one—you will laugh at this—you were the shoemaker. You made sandals and shoes (But I just don't like sandals) That's okay. You are complete with that lifetime. You see, you came, you did it, you're done. But other people needed the shoes and they needed the sandals, and so you made them for them (How much did I charge for it?) It was a reasonable cost. It kept your family in food and shelter. So did you have a family? Yes, of course, you had a family (Thank you, young sir)

Beloved beautiful one, how are you in this evening?

Raynel: Wonderful to be here with you all (It is very good that you have made trek to be here) Yes. The divine principle speaks of the restoration providence in history. It would speak of causes behind events that happened (Yes) And so I ask, during your life, though it gave explanation of meaning behind words in the Bible, yet I have heard through other sources that it may not be accurate in what your life was like for you during your life on Earth as Yeshu'a. So I welcome comment on that, and I ask about, with all the efforts going on today, the importance, or whatever is the importance of this information for today or not. That's my question.

Jeshua: It is important for today for the ones who want to know more. Many of the brothers and sisters are very focused on what they feel they have to be doing in this lifetime, and so this is a question and a topic that they do not feel relates to what they are having to do. But other ones such as you have the open mind and the questions that go with the open mind and wanting to know more. So my lifetime, as you have discerned, was much more than what is recorded in your holy writings. I knew myself to be the creative One to come from Source and to be able to change the body into different frequencies to be able to express as the divinity that I am.

And so for ones who want the simplicity of being told what to believe, there is a certain tale that is told, and it is in your holy writings, and it is given forth at least once a week for the ones who just want to have it told to them. They go with their empty dish, and they say, "Fill this empty bowl. Tell me what I should believe." Other lifetimes they will come back and they will say, "That doesn't look like what I want to believe," and so they will throw that away and maybe for that lifetime and others they will just leave it all thrown away. Other lifetimes they come and they want to know, "What are all the answers? What more can there be? There has to be more. I know that he was and is the Christ. Maybe I'm also the Christ. Maybe there's something I can learn. Maybe there are questions I can ask."

So the divine Principle says, "Of course, you are the creative One. You are the one who is creating everything that you experience. Why not ask for more?" So you come into a group such as this and you ask for more. You say, "Okay, tell me more. I want to know more." And then there is excitement of being. Then ones comes alive, and then more and more questions come up. Oh, but they are good. They are good; it expands (Thank you) Thank you for asking. It is very important.

Beloved one, I see you have the footbox.

Lynne: I do, and it works wonderful.

Jeshua: Yes. My beloved friend and teacher believes in the footbox.

Lynne: I am having a great time here tonight. I'm so happy to be here (I am so happy that you are here, yes, welcome; do it more often) Yes. And how are you this evening? (Excellent, thank you. I am having fun) And I'm thinking I have questions, and I don't have a question, and I do have a question (Which probably already has an answer) Absolutely. So let me think. Peace. I am so grateful for you sharing more about peace and getting that peace into our heart so that it can be all that we are and all that we be. That is my biggest wish, and to see it in our world and to see more of it in our world. You answered so many questions, and you model it all the time, and I too am so very deeply grateful. Thank you.

Jeshua: Thank you. Thank you for radiating the love, for having the smile on the face, and the eyes that crinkle because they have smiled so often. Allow yourself the peace that you are and the peace that others are seeking. You help so many by just being the vibration of love. Even as you pass by, ones feel the vibration of love. They look upon your face and they see love. You are doing very well, and I thank you for the visible expression of love.

Lynne: Thank you, as I am just wrapping Judith in lots of love right now too (She does appreciate that. Thank you. She feels that. And she has been calling out, as you know, for some wrapping of love. (Inaudible comment) She is a very good wrapper. Oh, you should see her in the music store) Anyway, I love you. (And I you; thank you, beautiful one) Thank you for being in my life (Thank you for being in my expression, yes)

Jeshua: the Light; how is the Light this evening?

Gerry: I am just fine; I'm just great (Yes, you have made trek here and had fun doing it) We did. We had a good time. I just want to thank you. Thank you so much for helping me feel so secure...in my insecurities (I understand, yes. That is a very human expression, thank you)

Beloved jokester, how are you in this evening?

Jim: I'm doing mighty fine. I had a great shift when I was in the Methow Valley a couple weeks ago (I hope you were not part of the earthquake) No, that wasn't the shift we were talking about (Right, I understand) I don't know what the results of that are going to be (Of course) but I feel they are going to be pretty good (And they are already)

So I called upon the joke fairy tonight. Usually she puts on her roller skates and goes around to all the files until she finds a joke, and she refused to do that tonight (Oh dear, she hadn't oiled her skates?) In fact, she took her skates off, and she says, "I'm not going to do it tonight." (Well, then did you come up with one yourself?) Couldn't find one. All the files are locked (Well, you know the key) Well, I know the key, but the key doesn't work. It's kind of like somebody I know who put their key in the ignition and it didn't work (I have heard, yes. That can happen) But she turned the key around and it did work. I tried to turn the key around and it wouldn't even go in (Heavens, how can we have a situation like that?) So what we're saying here right now is there are no jokes (Oh)

How are you doing tonight? You're looking mighty fine (Doing mighty fine, yes) Okay (Very good. This is a great job that I have. The pay's not bad, hours are great. What more can you ask? Good retirement plan) Yes, how can we get in on that? (You will) Oh, okay. By the way, I have been asked by the Confluence Gallery in Twisp to do an art show with my photography (Good idea) I get to be able to put my photography into an area that is called The Looove (Any relation to the loo?) Well, that's how they spell it—l-o-o-v-e (I see) And it's going to be interesting (All of your work always is) Yes. So anyway, that's all I have for tonight (Very good. It has been my pleasure to laugh with you) Thank you.

Jeshua: Beloved holy scribe, are you in the questioning mode?

Ted: Yes, a couple. You always say there are no coincidences (Right) If so, then the reason I got a nudge to leave home two hours earlier than I had planned was because five hours later I had to be following an 18-wheeler which lost a railroad tie which I hit at 72 mph (You were going over the speed limit) 2 mph...blew out two tires and ruined two wheels and more; had a wrecker take me to a tire shop in North Bend where I slept in the car all night waiting for repairs this morning. If this was not a coincidence, what is behind it?

Jeshua: You were (Laughter) That's why you hit the railroad tie; you were behind it (Laughter)

Ted: I don't do things like this on purpose that are so expensive. Was it a coincidence?

Jeshua: No, it was not a coincidence. In truth, you created it to see how you could come through it with only monetary diminishment; in other words, the vehicle was not completely totaled. You were not completely totaled, and you wanted the experience of it. Now, granted, you are not one who enjoys putting out the golden coins. However, compared to other results that could have been, perhaps the cost is minimal.

Ted: It's getting to be a hazard coming to this group here, because less than two years ago I hit the deer and totaled that car.

Jeshua: Yes, what is it with you and cars? (I don't know) If it is any aid to you and any softening, truly you took the place of someone else coming along who could have been involved in it. It was not truly an accident that you left a little bit early. It was not an accident that you were in that place at that time. It was not an accident that you saved someone else from going through what could have been much worse for them with a different vehicle.

Ted: Mm Hm. Good. Good answer (Oh, thank you) I have one more. There are statues of the Pharaoh Akhenaten, of his mother Tiye, and his wife Nefertiti. This guy named Freeman has taken the pictures of these beings, of these statues, cut them half down the middle and substituted half of living persons today. These persons are Barack Obama, Michele Obama, and Beyonce. You can hardly tell that he's done this. It's like one person. Now, he thinks that they have found the mummies and have cloned these three beings, but if that were the case, why does Barack not have the cone-head and the pear-shaped body? Or what is behind this? Not a coincidence?

Jeshua: What is behind it is a lot of mental gymnastics that is a lot of fun to play with. And if ones want to believe that this is how ones reincarnate, then there is such a thing as the DNA testing (He doesn't say reincarnate. He's saying they took the DNA from the mummies and cloned them) Well, yes, wouldn't you call that, if they are not incarnate, that it is a re-incarnation, incarnate?

Ted: I don't know about that. It wouldn't have to be the reincarnation of those three. It could just be the bodily...the cloning. It doesn't mean the beings would have to be there, does it? (What is your definition of cloning?) When you take a cell of a body, the DNA of it, and create another physical body (And to activate that body, would there not be a spirit energy?) Yes, but it wouldn't necessarily have to be Akhenaten or Nefertiti (Oh, it would not be, but it might be the reincarnation of the soul energy) Could be. But you're saying it's not the case; he's playing games.

Jeshua: I am saying it is a case of mental gymnastics which is a lot of fun. What we are doing right now, you and I, is mental gymnastics—definitions and implications. It's fun. Is it important?

Ted: It just seems like it's highly coincidental that you could take three of this one family and put them in another family alive today [and that they would look exactly alike].

Jeshua: In truth, beloved holy scribe, it happens all the time, and it is called reincarnation.

Ted: Are you saying that Barack Obama is a reincarnation of Akhenaten?

Jeshua: I'm saying that it is possible. (Oh, I know everything's possible) As a thread, a strand of reality, and there are many strands. That is why I am defining it as mental gymnastics, because there are many threads, many possibilities. You have witnessed over the years many ones asking, "Have I been such and such a personage?" And the answer is, if you feel a familiarity with that, a resonance, then yes, you have been, because you have been all things; all people, all personages. There is but One (I know that) And so the One oftentimes can appear as the many; not only in this timeframe, but in historical timeframe and in the future timeframe.

Ted: Okay, thank you again for that non-answer.

Jeshua: It is an answer. It is an answer that says you are much more than what you are right now. You are much more than what any scientist is going to take of a picture and cut it in half and say how it fits. You are much more than that. You are the Christ. You are the energy of life in any form and every form. That is your answer.

Ted: I know that answer, and that's why I hesitate to ask questions any more (Laughter)

Jeshua: But everyone enjoys your questions (It's the only reason I do it) It is magnanimous of you (Thank you) I do enjoy playing with you.

Yes, beloved one. Do you have a follow-up?

Eva: Yes, I do. Our brother Don is not with us in the room today. Would you have any message for him?

Jeshua: Yes, I would tell him to hold onto hope, that truly he is making progress, even though it seems very slow. But he is going to, within this next week, even within the next ten days, I suppose—your timing is very slippery—but within the next ten days or so he is going to get the physical boost that he needs (Can we all give him one tonight?) Yes, please send him the energy of healing (Thank you) There is power in and with all of you, healing energy. For anyone who is seemingly having a down time physically, there is healing energy for all the emotional that ones are going through; there is healing energy in love.

Now, beloved ones, it has been my great pleasure to play with all the questions and to speak with you about the peace where all answers may be found—five minutes to ask, “What the brain is telling me, is it true?” Five minutes to ask for visioning. Five minutes to connect with the essence of you. Blessings to all of you.

Mateen: (asks for a photograph of him with Jeshua)

Jeshua: Of course. This will be most interesting. You have a picture of a tall man and a short woman, and yet I will try to let my essence come through. Thank you. I still think it will be a tall man and a short woman.

Beloved ones, go in peace, go in joy. Know that always I walk with you. Know that always I walk as you. So be it.
