Volume 6, Chapter 20

“You are a starseed of Light. You have come from a planetary mass that knew Light and knew itself to be Light, and you desire to know that again. That is why you seek. That is why you pray.”
Jeshua

Introduction

Jeshua continues to bring the same message to us about being starseeds and beings of Divine Light. Each time he adds in something deeper and more profound, as we are able to receive his meaning.

“You have played with everything and as everything that you can imagine. You have the computer programs in you for all of the experiences of anything you can imagine. If you can imagine it, you have already lived it.” This statement of Jeshua’s blew my circuits wide open. The implications are tremendous for how multi-dimensional we are and the breadth and depth of our experiences as eternal beings, who have lived and played as light. I also wonder if his statements about internalized computer programs, mean that perhaps our lives are holographic simulations, which are coupled with the intensity of feelings to give us the illusion of reality. I wonder.

If so, we are in a training hologram and our dramatic life experiences are the lessons in “the most wonderful playground called the world, to try our various techniques of remembrance, various rituals, various teachings to see which ones resonate and bring forth the most light feeling within you. That is what you are seeking to know.”

The power principles of “Starseeds of the Future” are:

- Take a deep breath and come to a place of peace.
- Open the door to the remembrance of living as Light.
- Remember how it feels to live in harmony.
- Give up belief in suffering.
- Know that “anywhere you are, you are home, because you are Home. You carry it within you”.
- Know that you have purpose. Let your Light shine.
- Choose your thoughts. No one controls you.
- Get to know yourself. Celebrate yourself.
- Take yourself lightly, because you are Light.

Discussion Questions

- What passage in this chapter touches your heart? Your mind? Your imagination?
- Jeshua tells us that “if you can imagine it, you have already lived it.” What is it that you imagine, that perhaps is exciting to you? Can you believe that you have already lived it? Describe it as if you are telling the story of your life. What surprises you? Is it something you would like to “re-live” with a new twist?
- Jeshua advises us again “Do not worry”. This time he points out “that which was deemed to be most beautiful and most desirable changes. It is arbitrary and temporary”. Do you have examples in your present life of changing norms, standards of beauty, people, objects or values which have caused you to reexamine your goals or life style?

Affirmation for the Week:

“I choose only thoughts of Love and Light.”

Assignments

- Jeshua gives us an assignment: “Look in the mirror and behold the Light that you are. See yourself as I see you. Know that you have purpose. Know that always you will be that which you are, the Light come forth to express and to experience the divinity of you, beloved Starseed of Light.” Journal about it this practice. It’s enlightening.

- Meditate on the remembrance of “how it feels to live in harmony, how it feels to be in Light and to feel light; even on the physical level to feel lighter than air and to know that you are the creative One who creates every experience.” Practice encircling yourself inside a bubble of light, which only Love can penetrate. (Anything unlike Love bounces off of your bubble.) Consciously walk around with it in your daily life. Notice the subtle reaction of others you meet up. Write about it.
- Affirmation: “I choose only thoughts of Love and Light.”
