Study Guide

April 1, 2020

Volume 6, Chapter 23

“There is a necessity right now for Love upon this plane; otherwise, there is going to be what you see as an upheaval, the like of which you as humans have not seen in a long, long time. I charge you with the directive to change the direction of human life in the time.”

Joseph/St. Germaine

Introduction

In this chapter we get to hear from Joseph/St Germaine representing the Council of One. It is a very moving appeal for the great need for LOVE, that goes right into the heart, if we are open to it. He gives us “the directive to change the direction of human life in this time”!

What is so poignant, is the urgency with which this message was delivered, an important point being that Mother Earth “is mirroring for you the war that is going on within the groupings and within each individual.” Plus, we are at a pivotal point in our history for choosing for Love or for the collapse of our civilization. He tells us that successful civilizations have had a vision of unity and a “respect for all life”. But when the forces of “judgement, separation, ego, greed and temporal power” became dominant, the civilizations go into “devolvement” and sink into divisiveness and collapse.

Hence, the need for the power of love, beginning at the individual level and spreading throughout the planet. So it is imperative that we include everyone in our “family of Love”.

The power principles of “The Necessity for Love”:

- You know how to love. Honor it. Feel it. Practice It.
- Give love instead of fear.
- Begin with what you understand love to be and what is easy to experience as love for a mate or friend.
- Live in that space of love and expansiveness, which allows the small self to be loved in expansiveness.
- Give out love and inclusion to the point that you find yourself living in a “bubble of love” the whole time.
- Consciously speak to others how much you appreciate them, how happy you are that they are on this journey with you.
- “Everything that you would seek is within you.”

Discussion Questions

- What passage in this chapter touches your heart? Your mind? Your imagination?
- This chapter seems especially appropriate for these times of “Corona Virus” pandemic and all the fear and divisiveness that are being generated. However, there is also a great opportunity for extending love and inclusion even in the midst of a call for isolation and suspicion. How do you see this epidemic or any kind of crisis, (like climate change) affecting your life and the life of our family and/or community? How does it affect your resiliency?
- Have you ever had the experience of living in a “bubble of LOVE”? Can you see that your life is “already perfect” when you live from that point of view? How do you make that “shift in perception”?

Affirmation for the Week:

“I am the power of Love from before time began. I am divine Intelligence and I send it forth.”

Assignments

- This whole chapter is a big assignment to expand our Love for each other and for the planet by the Council of One (of which we are all a part). Practice living in a “Bubble of Love”, speaking of comfort and appreciation to everyone. Do this for the next month, especially with the awareness that many are living in fear. Do not deny their reality, but suggest that there might be a more loving way to see things. Include them in your energetic bubble.
- Practice letting go of the “petty concerns” and see those things that “seem so big when you are right in the middle of them, are but passing and temporal and do not mean anything more than dust.”
- Do the “sending out of Love” exercise (page 174- 175) with your hands in the “L” shape, along with the breath of power and love from your heart into the world. Do this at least once a day, until it becomes second nature whenever you hear of a person or place that could use Love. Feel the power of that gesture and write about that experience in your journal.
- Affirmation: “I am the power of Love from before time began. I am divine Intelligence and I send it forth.”
